S.F.U. Game Trip Planned At Rally Committee Meet

Jazz Orchestra, Organized Rooting Section May Feature Contests

Deciding on a student excursion to San Francisco, a fifteen-piece jazz band for six of the home basketball games this year, and the possibility of an organized rooting section, the rally committee met last night to discuss plans for the quarter at the home of Bob Free, committee head.

Although the problem of just how they will go is as yet undecided, either a bus or train will lead the Spartan invasion into San Francisco when the basketball team plays S.F.U. there on February 12.

TWO RALLYS

Two rallies are planned for the winter quarter. They will be held on January 12, and February 4.

To help raise the Spartan spirit this winter to the level it reached during the fall an organized rooting section may be assembled for home games.

JAZZ BAND

A jazz band of fifteen pieces will be hired to play between halves and in time-outs, according to Frances Cuenin, school publicity director of the general committee.

Through the cooperation of Mentor Dud DeGroot, President T. W. MacQuarrie, and Publications Head Dwight Bentel, most of the downtown publicity for games may be handled through the rally committee, and Ernest Nelson, downtown publicity committee head.

Sub-committee heads of the rally group are Jack Wiles, games; Jane Dangberg, rally programs; Francis Cuenin, publicity; Jack Gruber, excursion; and Ernest Nelson, games publicity.

CLASS CHOOSES JANUARY 29 FOR HOP

San Jose's civic auditorium, new and spacious locale of social, business, and sporting activities, has been engaged by junior class officials for the 1937 annual traditional dance, the Junior Prom, January 29.

Recently recognized by San Jose State students as an ideal hall for dancing, the auditorium was rented by the junior class only after it had been decided upon that more money would be spent financing this year's Junior Prom than has been spent for any previous class dance.

BEST EVER

In attempting to advance the position of the Junior prom to the level it enjoys among the social affairs of other colleges and universities, the Prom committee, under the direction of Chairman Jack Marsh, has laid plans for the January 29 affair which it believes will start a tradition for all future classes to go by.

Fully convinced that the combined attraction of the civic auditorium as the place and a nationally recognized dance band as the medium would set a high enough standard for the annual Junior Prom, members of the committees are dickering with several Los Angeles and San Francisco orchestras.

BAND TO BE NAMED

The name of the orchestra will be announced this Friday in the Spartan Daily, according to John Diehl, orchestra committee head.

"No theme will be used save that of 'Junior Prom'," stated Jack Marsh yesterday.

"Because of the fact that the Prom will be a program dance, decorations will be used only to

Students Invited To Try Out For California Hour

Musical Numbers Wanted; Those Selected Go South For Radio Broadcast

Men and women on the campus with a gift for entertaining will have the opportunity to air their talents on the radio in the California Hour program when San Jose State will participate in a broadcast over a nation-wide hookup from Los Angeles, January 17.

Preliminary tryouts to select the school's best entertainers are to be held afternoons and evenings on January 11 and 12 in the music building.

CONTACT OTTERSTEIN

Soloists, duos, and quartets, either instrumental or vocal, who wish to participate in the auditions are asked to contact Mr. Adolph W. Otterstein, head of the music department, immediately.

A trip to Los Angeles is indicated for the participants, with cash ranging from $40.00 to $75.00 to be awarded to winners, who will be chosen by the radio audience through mail votes.

FINAL CONTEST

A final contest will be held with prizes ranging from $80.00 to $115.00 being awarded. After the final contest a prize of $100.00 will be awarded the one winning act.

Record Crowd Attends New Year's Eve Party In Men's Gymnasium

One of the most successful affairs of the past few years was held Thursday evening in the men's gymnasium, when a happy crowd of over 1000 students attended the first New Year's Eve party ever to be held on the campus.

Dancing to the music of the Stanford Ambassadors, featuring Miss Agnes Madden, second quarter freshman, the students and their guests divided their time between the large and small gym.

Games under the chairmanship of Spartan Knights were organized in the small gymnasium.

Co-chairmen of the affair, which was a highlight of the social season, were Paul Becker, student body president, and Harold Kibby, fall quarter social affairs head.

Hike Club Meets Today

There will be an important meeting of the Hiking club at 12:15 today in Room 20. Anyone interested in hiking is invited to attend this meeting.

Plans for a snow hike and for other trips to be made on alternate Sundays will be discussed at this time.

KIBBY NAMED TO COUNCIL; UNION FLOOR PLANS VIEWED

'Dutch Dates' Okayed By Males

As might have been expected, "Dutch Treat" dates are more popular among men than among women students which was revealed by Joy Storm's "Student on the Street" broadcast, conducted from 12 to 12:15 yesterday over Station KQW.

Every Monday at this time Storm carries his portable microphone up and down San Antonio street in front of KQW's offices interviewing passing students.

MEN ANSWER

All except two of the men students who were asked the question, "Do you believe that a girl should share in the entertainment expenses when she goes out with an escort?" answered in the affirmative, although some qualified their statements by saying that it depended on the girl.

GIRLS OPPOSE

On the other hand the girls were almost evenly divided in opinion, when they could be coaxed into expressing themselves. Eager to hear their ideas on the question, Storm pursued some of the bashful groups (most of the girls walk arm in arm in groups of from four to eight) into the street or for the length of the cord of his portable mike before he succeeded in making them talk.

Carl Drexel New Senior President

Officers of the senior class for the winter quarter were elected last Thursday.

After a painful silence of some moments in which no candidate was nominated, Carl Drexel was named president of the class of '37 to succeed Jim Welch, senior head during the fall quarter.

Also chosen on a white ballot to the office of secretary was Winifred Wilkinson. In the only contest of the election, Myer Ziegler defeated Cecil McDonald for the job of vice-president.

Following the nominations, Miss Lydia Innes, appointment secretary, spoke to seniors on the subject of recommendations and interviews.

Educator Is Visitor

An observer on the campus throughout last week was the Woodland, Washington, superintendent of schools, Herbert Heath, who is a brother of Harrison F. Heath, college psychology department instructor.

"I am especially impressed by the unique courses offered here, such as photography and police work," said the visiting superintendent of schools.

Bishop Report Shows Slight Surplus From Football; Hawaiian Trip Pays

Frances Cuenin was last night appointed Sparta's new social affairs chairman and Harold Kibby, former social head, was named to the student council for the winter quarter, at a regular meeting of the executive group held in the council rooms.

The matter of the social committee chairman was carried over from the final gathering of last quarter, but the council last night accepted the appointment unanimously. Miss Cuenin has worked as an able assistant on the rally committee during the fall quarter.

KIBBY APPOINTED

The naming of Harold Kibby to the governing body came as the result of a leave of absence by Robert Doerr who is doing student teaching this term. Kibby has been very active in student affairs and served as social affairs head during the past quarter.

Gil Bishop, San Jose State graduate athletic manager, gave a report on the football budget situation, and stated that though proceeds did not come up to estimates, constant cutting of expenses has allowed a surplus of $955 at present. However, he stated that awards and other incidental expenses must still come out of that sum, but the athletic department would turn over some money to the Associated Students after all bills have been met.

Mr. Bishop also emphasized the fact that the Honolulu trip for the football team did not involve any expense to the college, as is the opinion of some members of the student body.

Romantic Trinkets Hobnob With TEXTBOOKS, WEARING APPAREL At Quarterly Lost And Found Sale

By CHARLES LEONG

Poignant strains of the old song ... "I live in memory ... among my souvenirs" ... seem to form the musical theme of the quarterly Y.W.C.A. lost and found sale held last Friday, when among the motley items on sale was a man's purse, fondly enclosing a kiss-proof lipstick.

RINGS AND GLOVES

Another forgotten fragment of young love among the various bits of things-put-astray was a tarnished ring, with the inside of the band proclaiming forever the love of "C. V. to F. J." Sheer, feminine evening gloves, one of nine pairs of gloves on sale, trinkets and rings, binders, books, and wearing apparel comprised the bulk of the lost and found offerings. A survey of many quarterly sales shows that usually the coeds are more forgetful about where and how they leave their apparel, with just one man's hat represented in the matter of masculine clothing this sale. But the brawnies, however, are more neglectful than the femmes in hanging on to their text books, say the sales officials, for the majority of lost books have masculine signatures. QUARTERLY SALE

Once a quarter, at the Y.W.C. one could purchase almost anything, from a scholarly text book to a broken mosaic of romance in a trinket or ring, for a song. "Y" salesgirls have promised a lost elephant for sale next quarter.

Behind News Class To Hear Graham On Far East

Substituting for Dr. William Poytress, conductor of the weekly Behind the News sessions, Dr. Fredrick Graham of the social science department will open a two week discussion of the present antagonistic conditions brewing in the far east when the class meets at its usual time of eleven o'clock today.

Dr. Graham, who conducts classes in history and eastern relations, will divide his talk into two divisions. The first section will be given today, and the subject is to be concluded at next Tuesday's meeting.

Today's subject will be concerned with the events leading up to the present situation. The probable outcome, and its effect on American and English interests here and in the far east will close the topic next week.

Kappa Delta Pi Alumni Members To Speak At Friday Night Meet

Honor Society Grads Will Reveal Teaching Experiences At First Social Function Of New Quarter Friday In Education Room

"What I learned about teaching not mentioned in books" is a question alumni members of Kappa Delta Pi, national education honor society, will be asked to answer when they attend the society's first social function of the new quarter Friday night.

SET FOR FRIDAY

Though originally scheduled for Tuesday night, this meeting was postponed until Friday to make it easier for teachers who may live at a distance from the college, to attend, Bearce, vice-president of the society who is acting in the capacity of president this quarter explained. Lela O'Connell, president, is off the campus this quarter doing student teaching.

Ronald Linn, principal of Evergreen grammar school and popular president of the student body in '35 will have charge of the evening's program.

Dolores Freitas, who was editor of the Spartan Daily last year, and who is now teaching in the Santa Clara grammar school is among those who will reveal teaching experiences.

Robert Troutner, a last year's graduate, who is now director of Recreation at Roosevelt Junior high school, is another who will take part in the program.

Robert Rath, graduate of '35 who is now a music instructor at Herbert Hoover Junior high school, will entertain with piano solos. Many others have been sent invitations through the mail and their answers are anticipated in the next few days by Gussie Hintz, program chairman of the affair.

Miss Berta Gray, assistant director of publications, will supervise the games and entertainment for the evening.

KQW Airs Campus Affairs In Series

Airing all the "what-and-why" of sports, social and administrative news of San Jose State college, Bob Robb, transfer student from Fresno State college, was heard over Station KQW last night from 8 to 8:15, giving the first of a series of Monday night broadcast featuring all the latest of campus affairs.

Opening his quarter hour commentation by explaining the purpose of his program, Mr. Robb said, "This program was not instituted for the purpose of attacking individuals or groups of individuals, and if any news pertaining to certain persons is disclosed it should not be misconstrued, but should be taken in the sense that I am only attempting to bring all the news to all of the students."

The first minutes of the broadcast were given to sports, and it was stated that the football team was assured another visit to the Hawaiian Islands when Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie signed a contract to that effect, which was proffered by the Shrine committee responsible for the team's two former visits to the Islands.

He concluded sports with a short resume of the basketball team's efforts during the Christmas holidays.

Banquet Planned For Spartan Daily Staff; To Visit Print Shop

In order to more gratefully express its thanks to those members of the editorial and printing staffs who seldom gain any material recognition for services rendered, the Spartan Daily will sometime in the near future hold an open house and banquet in their honor.

According to Editor Frank Brayton, plans include a supper banquet to be held at one of the downtown hotels, with entertainment provided by various staff members. Following the banquet, the entire personnel of the paper will be invited to the plant of the Globe Printing Co. to watch an issue of the Daily being "put to bed".

It is hoped that this experience will enable the aspiring journalists to better understand the methods employed in the editing and printing of a college daily. According to Editor Brayton, many of the staff members fail to realize that the issue is only begun when it leaves the typewriters.

That this action would promote a more intimate relationship between members of the reportorial staff and employees of the Globe Printing Co., who print the paper, is the hope of Dwight Bentel, director of publications.

Journalism Society To Present Program For Patrons' Group

According to plans released recently, the journalism department will present part of the program at the next meeting of the Patron's Association. The gathering is set for the latter part of this month.

Each year the journalism department presents a novel program to this group, and the present year will be no exception. Sigma Kappa Delta, honorary journalism society, has been again delegated to take over the responsibility for the presentation, and President Louis Walther promises something interesting for the Patron group to witness.

Just Among Ourselves

By Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie

We have all reacted rather happily to the change in schedule. Our enrollment is 2740 at the present time, and that is just about 100 more than we had at the corresponding time last year. The decrease is normal and to be expected. The second quarter is always less than the first and the third less than the second.

I wish I could find a way of closing a little earlier in the spring in order to compete with the University in getting summer resort jobs. The trouble is partly that we are in session a full thirty-six weeks. That is a week or two longer than any of the Universities. May I thank you for the fine spirit you have shown in connection with the change. I do appreciate it.

A few smokers, no doubt newcomers, are chiseling in on the rear quad. Let's not have any smoking in the main or rear quads. A decent division or area between smokers and non-smokers is desirable and proper. You are welcome to the north, south, or west campuses for your lift, and we'll try to overlook as much as possible of the untidiness there. (I wish I could get more of you to use pipes. They have so much more character than cigarettes. They're more of an institution. On the end of a pipe you look as if you were actually thinking.)

I've been reading the clippings from Hawaii. The newspaper men evidently ran out of words or they would have said more. I am almost afraid to see our people go over next year—afraid we'll lose some of them.

Three business men of San Jose, Mr. Bookwalter, of the Garden City Chevrolet company, Mr. Arno Bachrodt, grain leader, and our old friend Gene Grattan, attorney, accompanied the team over and back. They hadn't many words of praise for the Pacific going and coming, but they had a good time there and on the train trips. They returned full of enthusiasm for the team and the publicity that came to San Jose because of the happy and successful trip. Those gentlemen came in to see me yesterday, sort of a committee as it were, to make me realize what a fine thing it had all been for the college and for this community. Their enthusiasm was contagious and now I am prouder than ever over my connection with this fine old institution.

A number of students have been in recently with some of their personal problems. I don't know whether I was able to help out very much, but I was glad to give them what I had in the way of counsel and encouragement.

Don't ever get to feeling sorry for yourself. No one here is down on you. Come in and let us talk it over. I may be able to help, and if I can't I'll send you to some one who can. Your spirit now will have an important bearing on the success of the whole quarter.

—NOTICE—

There will be a meeting of the San Jose High School freshman entertainment committee in the Morris Dailey auditorium tomorrow promptly at 12.

—Doan Carmody.

Wiltberger Talks To Monterey Kiwanis

"Police Training" was the topic of the talk given by William A. Wiltberger, director of the San Jose State college police school, before members of the Monterey Kiwanis Club Thursday, December 31, in the Del Monte Hotel.

Mr. Wiltberger was asked to speak at the luncheon by City Manager William Pardee and Chief of the Monterey police department, Fred Moore.

EXPLAINS LOCAL SCHOOL
 The police school head explained the significance of police training and he also explained the work done in the school here.

The Monterey police department is planning to give courses for their regular officers in the methods of modern criminal investigation and in addition to the training of the officers, ordinary citizens are to be trained to become police officers and after that course is given, advance work will be provided for by Mr. Wiltberger in the police school.

Mr. Wiltberger was shown the Monterey police department and the old jail that was at one time the first state penitentiary.

FAVOR SAN JOSE

The Monterey police department favors the training of officers in the methods of criminal investigation that are provided by the San Jose State college police training school.

Players Prepare Drama By Barry

Planning future productions for winter and spring quarters, San Jose Players held their initial winter quarter meeting under the gavel of Harold Randle, president, yesterday noon in Room 53.

Chief interest at the present time is the play "Spring Song" by Philip Barry, which goes into rehearsal next week under the direction of Hugh Gillis. He will be assisted in direction by Bill Gordon, veteran member of Players.

GIRL'S COLLEGE

The cast has not as yet been selected for the comedy, which will depict goings on in a girl's college, providing many complicated laugh situations.

The play will be presented as one of the winter and spring series, and is due to go on the boards during the second week in February.

TWO MORE

Planned a month apart, the two following plays to be presented will appear in the second week of March, and the second week in April. They are "Cassilis Engagement", and "A Murder Has Been Arranged", to be given at the above dates respectively.

Discussion was made of "Pere Gynt", which may possibly be given as the Players' contribution to the success of the jubilee program planned for the 75th anniversary of the school.

IVOR THOMAS LEADS STATE FIVE TO WIN

Number One

Spartans Open Loop With Decisive Victory

By JACK MARSH

Long-legged, spidery Ivor Thomas one-handed San Jose State's Spartans to a crushing 42-19 victory over the bogged-down Colgate of Pacific N.C.I.B.C. quintet in the conference opener here last Saturday night.

The N.C.I.B.C. stands for the Northern California Intercollegiate Basketball Conference, and the win over Pacific last Saturday night meant that Coach Bill Hubbard's full-strength successors to the "Mighty Mites" of 1936 have overcome the initial obstacle in their first race for any conference title since the Spartans' withdrawal from the Far Western Conference in 1935.

PROVES SPARK

Lanky center Thomas, as has been true in pre-season vacation practice games and as one of the "sensational Thomases" of freshman fame, proved the spark which kindled San Jose's offensive fires to a total of 19 field goals and four foul throws to Pacific's seven field goals and five penalty shots.

A brother act made up of Mickey Parsons and Beck Parsons, center and forward respectively, scored the majority of the named Bengal Tiger's points with 13 counters.

Forward Parsons was the outstanding floor man for Pacific, scooping three from the floor for a total of six points.

EARLY LEAD

Aside from a field goal by brother Mickey Parsons in the opening minutes of the ball game, State was never headed by the out-played, out-aggressed, and out-classed team from Stockton. Paced by their captain, Mel DeSelle, San Jose State for the first time displayed their full strength by demonstrating a smooth-passing, leads up floor game that left the customers in no doubt as to who would be on the bulging end of the score at the final whistle.

GOOD COMBINATION

As usual, Coach Hubbard used practically every man on his squad in an endeavor to find a workable combination. The unit which clicked unusually well Saturday night consisted of Crawford and DeSelle at forwards, Thomas at center, with Carroll, Mann or Hermann at the guard posts.

With these boys working on the hardwood of Spartan pavilion, scrappy "Captain Mel" directed the attack around the long-legged Thomas, feeding into the spot where Thomas would either meet his defensive opponent off balance preliminary to a one-handed spot shot attempt or a pass to the guards or to DeSelle or Bill Crawford, forwards.

Lanky Thomas was, as in the past, exceptionally effective in taking the ball off both the defensive and offensive backboards, following in with tip-in attempts in the latter case.

CRAWFORD SHINES

Crawford took advantage of two openings from the field and a penalty shot to swish five

C.O.P. TO OPEN STATE GRID SEASON

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1937

PRESS BOX PARADE

By JAMES MARLAIS

New Awlyun's transplanted Rose Bowl football game again brings us to the subject of these ruling moguls of the Pacific coast conference. How well this little Spartan, who, on July, 1935, boldly announced to the world his "feed-the-athlete" plan, only to see reigning czars of the coast, slowly, but determinedly, choke it out of existence. How well we remember this very calm ruler who, after sticking the Rose Bowl into his pocket, tilted back his chair and nestlin' his ponderous dogs on the necks of non-conference members, calmly announced his freeze-out plan of the Pacific coast independents.

How well do we recall, too, this overgrown Gadzook, who, filled to the ears with the fruit of the coast, suddenly clamped his teeth on his big black cigar and shivered in his boots at the sudden wave of protest that greeted Washington's selection of the Golden Pitt Panther. He did manage to crack that map into a smile when the Bowl sold out in a week, as if it was his fault that thousands poured into Pasadena for the unsurpassed mid-winter festival.

Big round tears fell upon this old typewriter and sizzle up into a cloud of steam as I pound out apologies for the greatest of this column's great predictions. We missed the Rose and the Sugar Bowl games by 34 and 27 points respectively, but yours truly was never so happy in his life when the Golden Panthers opened the conference czar's mouth in surprise with a smashing win and the Santa Clara Broncos completed the day by shoving that big black cigar down his throat with a brilliant 21 to 14 victory.

So happy am I that I include a little letter that made it's way into the office. So strong it is in parts that you'll have to use your imagination.

"My dear Mr. Marlais:

"As a sports writer and editor you're a How do you get that way picking Santa Clara to get trounced by 20 points and imagine, anybody picking the Huskies to win 13-0.

"Listen, you punk, someday you might learn to pick scores. Take a squint at my predictions, Pittsburgh 14, Washington 0; Santa Clara 21, Louisiana State 7."

—"A Sports Fan"

Mr. "Sports Fan" did very well indeed, slipping up only on the fact that he wrote the letter on the back of another he started to write, dated January 2.

After all, who is this Pacific coast conference? Quoting Damon Runyon, dean of American sports writers and columnists, we find: "Outside the Rockies and especially in the East, they don't know there is such a thing as a Pacific coast conference." Again, paging Mr. Runyon: "The Rose Bowl game was regarded for a long time as an award of merit to some high class team in another part of the country, until the Rose Bowlers finally made it rather clear that the show is their personal property, and that they feel they are entitled to pick the participants to suit themselves."

Odds 'n ends of some scraps of the day that come under the title "Squawks from the bleachers". San Jose State was under the University of Arizona basket, pushing and tapping the ball and missing one set-up after another until one elongated State rooster, tired of watching them make about ten tries, stands up and yells, "Get a funnel!" The East has their IC4A and NCAA but here on Washington Square we have our NCIBC. We agree, it doesn't sound half as good as those eastern combinations or that 42-19 wallop our cagers handed Pacific in the first game of the new Northern California Intercollegiate Basketball conference.

points through the netting, while guard Carroll, playing a brilliant defensive game also, tanked three from outside the circle area and one foul throw for a total of seven points.

Aside from the absence of Bendich, forward, who received a nasty cut in the back of his head

Junior To Battle Frosh For Heavy Crown Thursday

Potent right hands and vicious left jabs will fly Thursday night as Coach Dee Portal's boxing proteges meet in quest of the all-college championships.

Exceptionally fine battles are expected in the heavy and light-weight divisions.

Don Walker, heavyweight champion of the college for the last two years will meet a young gentleman on the way up in the person of Don Pressly, a giant freshman from Monrovia.

Pressly, 230 pounds, six feet, four inches tall, is surprisingly light on his feet and packs a punch in proportion to his size. Walker, who also towers six feet, four inches, will concede 40 or 45 pounds to his ponderous opponent, but is expected to make for the weight shortage with experience.

Barring a severe upset, George Latka and Paul Tara will meet in the finals of the 135 pound division. Tara, a converted south-paw, is an unorthodox boxer who bobs and weaves in a style that would make Jack Dempsey ashamed of himself. A knockout punch in either hand, and an ability to throw them from any angle is the chief threat of Tara. Latka, a finalist in the Golden Gloves championships, is a more conventional boxer. In addition to a dynamite right hand, Latka is very clever defensively and has a decided edge in experience.

BADMINTON

According to an announcement made by Dick Rundle, President of the Badminton club, there will be an important meeting of the club today during the noon hour in the Women's gymnasium to discuss plans for a tournament during the quarter.

Something new in the way of tournaments will be tried which should prove of great interest to the members.

All students who are not members, but who would like to join are urged to be present as the membership is limited due to the number of courts available.

JUNIOR ORCHESTRY

Junior Orchestry will hold its first meeting of the quarter on Tuesday, January 5, at 5 o'clock in the Dance Studio. The group is open to any girl in college who is interested in dancing and all are cordially invited to attend.

TIGERS MEET SPARTANS IN OPENING TILT

Night Game

Hawaiian Officials In Unanimous Choice

Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of Pacific Tigers were definitely announced as San Jose's opening game opponents yesterday afternoon, following previous day's word from Hawaii that started initial plans for the 1937 Spartan football schedule.

San Jose's traditional rivals and Far Western conference champions play host to Coach Dud DeGroot's gridders in Stockton on Friday night October 1.

Along with opening game announcements, it was revealed that four Island sports editors, the mayor of Honolulu and a host of writers and celebrities unanimously agreed to invite San Jose State at a meeting to choose the 1937 representative for the annual Shrine benefit.

"This is quite a high compliment to San Jose State," the happy Spartan mentor remarked. "The University of California and Southern California's Trojans have had previous engagements on the Islands and Shrine officials had the whole country from which to choose a team."

Masefield Novel Among New Books Bought By School

"Eggs and Baker", a new novel by John Masefield, the well-known English writer, is included in a large group of fiction and non-fiction books newly purchased by the college library.

In the former class is also "Valiant Vagabonds", by Charles Finger, a collection of stories written in a popular manner which tell of the adventures of a group of interesting and less known early explorers of Europe.

"Carry Over" is a popular book of fiction by Ruth Suckow which is now in its fifth edition.

"THE STONES AWAKE"

"The Stones Awake" is a fast-moving novel of Mexico written by Carleton Beals. Mr. Beals has written many books interpreting Mexico and her people, in addition to two biographies, one "The Story of Huey P. Long", the other called "Porfirio Diaz", concerning that famous dictator of Mexico.

"Glory's Children", by Brown, is a modern novel with its action taking place on the West coast of India.

Fannie Hurst's latest novel, "Great Laughter", is also among the group of fiction books purchased.

Among the non-fiction books, one written in a popular manner is "How to Worry Successfully", by David Seabury, an interesting psychological book which discusses the American tempo and has a chapter called "Making Work Easy". Mr. Seabury's theory is that "successful" worrying is not harmful.

PSYCHOLOGY BOOKS

"How to Use Psychology in Business" is another book of the same type by Donald Laird. At least one chapter in this book, called "How to Tell When Someone is Lying", should be of general interest.

Another new and practical book is called, "An Actor Prepares", by Stanislavski, which should be interesting to those taking speech work.

"The Art of Playgoing", by John Brown, is a book designed to further appreciation of the art of the theater.

All of these new books may be borrowed by students from the library.

Sophomore Class To Meet Thursday At 11

An important meeting of the Sophomore class will be held Thursday at 11 o'clock in Room 24.

According to President Benny Melzer, election of officers will be held and it is necessary that all members of the Sophomore class be present.

Among the important things to be discussed is the coming annual Sophomore dance.

Pegasus Members Will Compose Epigrams

Members of Pegasus, the literary honor society, have discarded their sonnets and epics, to compose epigrams and epigrams to be read at a dinner held tonight at the home of June Wright at 1468 Martin avenue.

Each member is required to bring an epigram or epitaph of himself or another member, and President Norman Dahlke explains, "We just want to see what happens when we let our hair down."

For He's A Jolly Good Fellow

Snow on the hills of the eastern ranges gave a lot of fun to many State students, as is here exemplified by the two co-eds above, who seem to be having a hard time making their snowman warm up. The girls are (left) Caroline Walsh, '39, and Virginia Bates, '40. The photo was snapped last week-end by Spartan Daily Editor Frank Bayton for a local newspaper.

Final Enrollment For Winter Reaches 2652

Some 65 students registered for classes yesterday, making the final enrollment 2652, according to Joe West, registrar.

The split holiday was responsible for the late registration of the students, West said. Final registration day usually has around a dozen students signing up for classes.

The 250 decrease in enrollment from the Autumn quarter is a natural development, as indicated in the registration book.

Half Of Females Favor Pooling Resources

Opposed to the "Dutch Treat" system are many girls who feel that it is enough expense to buy clothes, while others feel that it depended whether the court could afford all the expense necessary to have a good time. If not, the girls could chip in and thus eliminate financial worries.

About half the girls favored "Dutch Treat", joining with men in pointing out the possibility for a better time through a pooling of resources.

For next Monday's game, Storm and his associate, Clark have chosen "What is your favorite hobby and how did you become interested in it?"

groups who sponsored the inter-college games came the expenses for the Hawaiian trip," said the graduate manager, "and we didn't have to pay for a thing," said Bishop.

WILLSON REPORTS

Mary Willson, who was appointed by president Paul Beasly as Health Cottage representative from the college, reported on increased attendance at the banquet this year, and told advances of now having the annex to be isolated cases.

An important part of the meeting was the presentation of the floor plans of the new Student Union by Neil Thomas, college controller of student affairs. Much discussion centered upon rearrangement of offices and general planning of the various rooms.

TENTATIVE PLANS

Tentative plans call for the removal of the floor to house the Soda fountain, while the floor will be used for the student body offices, controller's office, counting office, council room, A.W.S. section, and the main lounge as general lounge and room to handle the overflow of the congested library.

The interior will be rearranged that afternoon and dances may be held in the section with little work and moving of furniture. Further plans on this idea will be forthcoming.

Council members were urged to inspect the present City Hall and report back as to their views concerning arrangement. Within short while, final plans should be completed.
