SAN JOSE STATE ON AIR TONITE IN NEW SERIES

7:30 KQW

Radio Speech Class To Dramatize School Activities

San Jose State college goes on the air over KQW at 7:30 tonight in the first of a new series of half-hour programs prepared and supervised by the Radio Speaking classes under the direction of Mr. William B. McCoard.

Tonight's broadcast will introduce the listeners to the radio speaking classes, and each week following, some department or class will be presented in a novel way before the microphone. Next Wednesday Willis Green will present a dramatization of the chemistry department and will interview Dr. P. Victor Peterson.

COLLEGE HISTORY

On the night before the Diamond Jubilee celebration, tentative plans call for a dramatization of the history of the college, written by Jim Bailey.

This series of programs will serve as a climax to the year's work of the radio speaking classes. Members will prepare all the skits and entire continuity.

PLAY TONIGHT

Tonight's program will serve as an introduction to the series. Featured will be a radio play, "Spare a Little Kiss", adapted from a short story of the same name. Miss Dorothy Leverenz of the advanced radio class wrote the radio adaptation and will play one of the leading roles. Others taking part

SKD Meets Today For Concession Discussion

Sigma Kappa Delta, honorary journalism fraternity, will hold a meeting today at 12 noon to discuss Spardi Gras activities of the organization.

Slated to come under discussion will be the celebration day bottle breaking concession and the Vinegar Jug, "razz" edition which SKD is sponsoring. President Charles Leong asks that all members be present.

R.O.T.C. TO BE DISCUSSED

"R.O.T.C. in State Colleges" will be the topic for discussion at the Peace Demonstration meeting to be held Thursday in Room 1 of the Home Economics building at 12:10.

Speakers again will present their views on the matter. Time will be allowed for questions and discussions. All students are invited to attend and bring their lunches.

NOON DEADLINE FOR CONTEST ENTRY

With only two days left before Spardi Gras on Friday afternoon, all attention of students and organizations has been turned to preparation for the annual half holiday.

Noon today marks the deadline for contestants in the Cinderella and banana eating contests. Close to fifty girls had been signed in the contest yesterday afternoon.

SPARDI GRAS REVIVES FACULTY CONTEST

Reviving an old custom, a special contest for faculty members will take place on Spardi Gras day. Chairman Jack Gruber announces that a prize will be given to the most originally dressed male member of the faculty and another to the most originally costumed woman member.

Chairman Gruber announces that the entire Spardi Gras committee will judge this contest, which will climax the other contests of the day.

CONTINENTALS TO HIGHLIGHT BIG SHOW

With promises of a bombshell act the "Four Continental Brothers" will be featured as main comedians in the Spartan Revelries Friday night at seven sharp in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

The mainstay of the program declared Jim Bailey, director of the annual show, will be the play "The Trail of the Lonesome Pint" from the wise-cracking pen of Ben Melzer, starring the brothers,

BLANKETY-BLANK-BLANKS !!

As they would advertise in a neighborhood theater, "BLANK NIGHT". But these madcap Continental Brothers, right to left, or up and down, (it's all the same to them) Hobo, Hogo, Hugo, and Homo, already have the Marx Bros. buying green pajamas to match their (the M.B.'s) dispositions. At least, this is the mad claim of these antics—children, dear innocent children of nature, who will vie for your laughs as millions jeer (printer: please read jeer; not cheer) during the Revelries Friday night.

—Watch-the-birdie by Anello Ross.

With every available inch of standing room taken, Orchestris, honorary dance group, will present its new, unorthodox recital tonight at 8:20 in Morris Dailey auditorium.

The widespread renown of the group is made evident by the number of demands for appearances that have been made recently. Orchestris is one of two college groups asked to appear at the San Francisco Museum of Art in the Sunday afternoon dance concert on May 9. Tonight's program will be given by request at the Salinas Junior college and high school on Friday afternoon.

The program, in which over fifty dancers will participate will be a technical demonstration of dance movements.

Featuring accompaniment by the composers of the dance music, many talented soloists and dancers, some of whom are making their last campus appearance, and explanatory speeches by Miss Mar-

Costume Makers Want More Help

Construction Of Peer Gynt Garb Proves Difficult

Girls are wanted to sew on the more than ninety costumes being made by the Home Economics department for the Diamond Jubilee production of "Peer Gynt", it was announced yesterday by Miss Velma Hamilton, in charge of costume construction.

The complexity of some of the costumes will make it difficult for the number of those working on them to finish in time, according to Miss Hamilton. At present faculty members, students, and outsiders are aiding.

Unbleached muslin is used for the costumes, the material being dyed before cutting and sewing. The Art department is decorating the costumes and designing headgear.

VERSE SPEAKING CHOIR PRESENTS SCHOOL PROGRAM

Fifteen members of the Verse Speaking choir travel to Hayward high school and the Frick junior high school in Oakland today, where they will present unison readings under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Jenks, Speech department head.

A varied repertoire will be utilized by the group, including nursery rhymes, novelties, and more serious readings.

Tomorrow, the women's choir will entertain at a tea given by the Trinity church women of this city. Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, also of the Speech department, will be guest of honor at this time.

Behind The News By EMMET BRITTON

Explaining the now famous Wagner Act, recently declared constitutional in the momentous 5-4 decision of the Supreme Court on April 12, Dr. William Poytress addressed his Behind the News class in their weekly meeting at 11 o'clock yesterday.

"It is an attempt to carry over the labor provisions of the NIRA," Dr. Poytress said.

LABOR UPHELD

He explained that those provisions gave labor the legal right to bargain and organize collectively without any interference from employers.

"The burden of proof is on the employer and he will hesitate to refuse to carry out the act," Dr. Poytress said in reference to future labor disputes which may arise, after inferring that before the passage of the act the burden of proof was carried by the unions.

SIT-DOWN STRIKES

In closing his talk the economist said he believed that the cause for sit-down strikes was gone, and that the country could look forward to a definite diminishing of this means of procuring bargaining rights.

NOTICE

There will be an important meeting of the sophomore class Thursday at 11 o'clock in Room 11.

Revelries Spotlight

"FOLLOW ME" WITH BENNY MELZER

Benny Melzer. The name smacks of a Tin Pan Alley tone. You know, like Al Dubin or Sammy Fayne, just to mention a couple of the boys who make it a profession of setting music to words, or words to music.

But, you says, what has the austere Mr. Melzer, who is better known on the campus as a guider of campus destinies (councilman to you), captain of last year's boxing team, and a campus Mencken, got to do with making a bow in the Revelries Spotlight?

Well, just "FOLLOW ME". And you will see. The illustrious Mr. Melzer (just call him Benny) penned the motif, the main theme, the whole satirical slant of college life, the Revelries "FOLLOW ME". And thereby dispelling the hoi-polloi's notion that good boxers use their hands only to wear mauling gloves.

And really, we don't know he does it (maybe he doesn't either), but the Mr. Melzer, er-Benny, also knocks out song tunes. He modestly admitted that he wrote the theme song, "FOLLOW ME", with embellishments by Harvey Brooks.

How does he get that way, being so versatile . . . thinker, song-tinker, student council-man, boxer, ad infinitum. We pinned him down, and says maybe he is in love. Or something that gives such versatile inspiration. He merely smiles, and says, "FOLLOW ME!"

So his "Let Em Eat Cake"

He writes for our sake . . .
I wish to hell he'd cut it out!

* * * * *
"Greener Pastures" as seen by Vic Carlock

Reads like it came from a mill block;

So the junk that he sells
God knows how it smells . . .

Should be ostracized and room made for a good column like O. O. McIntyre and Bailey's columns.

READE AND WRITHE

By BILL GORDON

SO I'M GOTTA pinch for Randy Fitts, is it? So I casually inquired, by way of conversation, as to type of column desired. So he says to me, "Using own judgment, kid."

So, let's away.
If it weren't necessary to make the item sensible, it would not be necessary to recall the fact that San Jose Players recently presented the Emlyn Williams melodrama, "A Murder Has Been Arranged".

Now, Mr. Williams also has written a play called "Night Must Fall". This play is a study of a criminal mind, inspired by a composite real life story. It has been filmed by M-G-M with Rosalind Russell and Bob Montgomery, and it is said that Montgomery does the best job of his career in his part.

Both this part and that created by our own Mr. Randle in "Murder" were written by Mr. Williams for himself. All of which seems to give basis for some sort of comparison, but we'll just let it pass.

COMING TO the Curran for a limited engagement starting May 17, is that bang-up social drama by Sidney Kingsley called "Dead End". Robert Benchley says it's "A play you simply have to see."

We've read it, and we agree. It's to be presented by the New York cast, and the prices start at fifty-five cents in the gallery and go up as the seats go down. But then, there's a certain freedom in the gallery that we always enjoy.

BOTH STANFORD and Santa Clara universities are coming up soon with productions. For the first, it's "Lady Precious Stream", to be given next Friday and Saturday nights. And for the second it's "Murder in a Cathedral", in which our verse choir is doing an interesting bit of work.

At the Alcazar in San Francisco the F.T.P. musical, "Swing Parade", is in its second week. Somehow we like to attend these Federal Theatre productions. Perhaps because we can sit in the dress circle for the same price as the afore-mentioned gallery elsewhere.

HEARD THE inaugural play of the new KQW drama series last Sunday. As a fellow columnist would have it, ". . . an orchid . . ." to Viv Wood for her work in it. An ambitious gal with much talent. Also an orchid to the rest of the cast. And to the station. And to you, and you, and you.

And with that, the curtain falls.

NOTICES

Sports Scribes Cast Next Ballot For Graham Peake Award Winners

Today the Marlais Sports Poll will take another step toward completion as that intrepid group of individuals who are allegedly "in the know" as to what is happening in the athletic world, commonly known as sports scribes, will cast their ballots.

SPORT WRITERS NEXT
Sixteen incumbent, ex-officio, and would-be sports writers will vote today for their choice of the logical winners of the Graham Peake Award and All-Spartan eleven certificates. It is generally expected that although the order of the names submitted during the captains' ballot may change considerably, the list will not change to any great degree.

Lowell Todd, due to his fine showing during the Drake Relays, is expected to advance to a more favorable position on the list. At the close of the last ballot Todd was reposing in eighth position with 23 points. Since that time he has come within seven-tenths of an inch of breaking Frank Cunningham's school javelin record.

VOTERS

Leading the list of contemporary sports writers who will cast their ballots are such prominent names as Steve Murdock, one time Daily editor, now writing for the Mercury Herald, Jim Marlais, originator of the poll, Charles Leong, Daily editor, Dick Edmonds, exports editor, also working for the Mercury, and Bob Work, the present Sports Editor.

Results will be published tomorrow.

SPARTAN GOLF TEAM IN U. S. F. TILT THURSDAY FOR NCIA TITLE

San Francisco Squad Favored Over Sparta To Win Championship

Spartan golfers hit the fairways of the Stanford golf course tomorrow in the last and crucial game of the NCIA series when they play the University of San Francisco for the conference golf title.

For the first time in the current series, the San Jose State golf team will enter a match as underdogs, since the Bay city squad is favored to take the title by a safe margin of points. In placing two of their men, McGlashan and Gowan, one-two in the NCIA individual tourney finals, U.S.F. established itself as theoretically the strongest team in the league and favorites to win a play-off.

After two weeks of inactivity in connection with the possibilities of such a match, officials of State and U.S.F. got together and arranged the expected, but long deferred tournament for the conference championship. Through the courtesy of Stanford University, the Stanford golf course is being loaned Thursday morning for the title tilt.

Coach Bill Hubbard will send up the team of Phelps, Parton, Marlais, Hern, Hickey, and Hornlien, which lost but one game all season and swept its way into the co-holders position in this initial NCIA championship tournament along with U.S.F.

Football Fete Climaxes Spardi Gras

Three Squads, The Golds, Blues, And Reds, To Take Part In Three-Way Grid Contest

By BOB WORK

Three squads of Spartan Footballers will get their first taste of active football for the season when Coach Bill Hubbard, in the absence of Head Coach DeGroot, runs the squad out onto the San Carlos street turf this Friday for their part in the Spardi Gras celebration.

Three squads, the Reds, the Golds, and the Blues, for which captains have not yet been chosen, will each play twenty-minute halves.

DRAW FOR FIRST

Just before starting time the three teams will draw to see which two squads are to take the field first. The winning team of these first two will stay on the field to meet team number three. After the second twenty-minute period the team that has been on the field for both periods will leave and the first losers will meet the team that remains on the field. In this way each outfit gets a full forty minutes of playing time.

The scoring, according to Coach Hubbard, will be practically the same as it was last year. Six points for a touchdown and one point for a first down.

STRONGEST BACKFIELD

The Golds' strength in the backfield is balanced by a quartet of exceptionally strong ends on the Blues' lineup. At left end it will be either Willie Radunich or Johnson and at right end either Reginato or Pete Bolich.

The Reds have their strongest spots in the tackles and guards. The tackles are headed by Willard Berry, the 270 pound line plunger from Marin. The other tackles are Harry Baehr, Doan Carmody, and Gordon Ballard who all played on Coach Dee Portai's exceptionally strong freshman line of last year.

FULL BACKS

All three squads are well fortified in the full-back spot. The Reds have Leroy Zimmerman who played "iron man" football for the frosh last Fall. The Blues have Perego who has pushed the other fulls consistently during last week's practice sessions. The Golds with both Lewis and McPherson are expected to gather many a point on first down plunges.

Ray Abernathy will act as Umpire. The other officials will probably be Hugo Boschetti, head line man; Jack Martin, timer; and Luke Argilla, referee.

Lower Class-Men Tug-O-War Friday

Captain John Knight, 6-4 club president and leader of the freshman tug-o-war team has made the statement that, "The sophomores are in for a severe dunking on the Spardi Gras day tug-o-war."

Loyal sophomores are already rallying to the cause and are reporting to Keith Birlem their intentions of putting the upstart first year men in their places.

Postponement Of C.O.P. Tennis Tilt Caused By Rain

Rain yesterday caused the postponement of the tennis match scheduled with College of Pacific at Stockton. No new date has been set for the tilt but Coach Erwin Blesh stated that May 13 will be the only date available to the Spartans.

Tomorrow the local netters will clash with the University of San Francisco Dons on the San Jose Tennis club courts in the final regular conference contest. The USF aggregation and the Bleshmen will meet again in the championship playoff on the Palace of Fine Arts courts in San Francisco next Saturday. The Spartans are doped to top the Bay city outfit tomorrow but regardless of the outcome the playoff between the first and second highest teams is necessary due to an unusual ruling of the conference.

Successful Swimming Season Ended

* * * * * TWO DEFEATS RECORDED * * * * *

Frosh Undeclared In Dual Meets

The Spartan swimming season is over, and as far as Coach Charlie Walker and the members of the team are concerned it was a very successful year.

Only two defeats were suffered during the course of the season, thereby ending the year with a percentage of .930. Very good! Not bad at all—in fact.

TWO CHAMPS

The two defeats were suffered at the hands of two championship teams. Early in the season the Spartan frosh and varsity were defeated by Stanford in a triangular meet while later in the competition Fullerton junior college took the locals down the line by a small score. Stanford is the conference champion of the Pacific Coast while the Fullerton team is the southern California junior college winner.

COMBINED SCORES

By combining the scores of the two San Jose teams, it is found that the Spartans defeated Fullerton by several points and lost to Stanford by the narrow margin of seven digits. This is, of course, unofficial as the San Jose teams were competing under Pacific Coast Conference regulations which prohibit freshmen from participating with the varsity team.

FROSH RECORD CLEAN

Triangular meet triumphs were registered over Occidental college, Southern California Conference champions, two wins against Menlo junior college, Athens club, the San Francisco YMCA, and Stockton junior college, which is the lower division of the College of Pacific.

The freshman team led by Captain Martin Wempe went through an undefeated record of seven consecutive dual meet victories. The Stanford freshmen, Stockton junior college, San Jose, Palo Alto, Sequoia, Burlingame, San Mateo, and Montezuma high schools make up the list of teams conquered by the yearlings.

There are no seniors on this year's team and if all of the junior college students transfer to the four year school, Coach Walker will be looking forward to another banner year in the water sport for San Jose next year.

Three Speech Students Employed Steadily, Part Time At Radio Station

Several students of San Jose State college are now working all or part time at radio station KQW, which has cooperated with the college in providing speech students with an opportunity to demonstrate their talents.

Harold Randic was the first student to work with KQW, and he is now working part time as announcer, covering special Spartan broadcasts, such as those to take place Friday afternoon in the quad and during the Spartan Revelries program that evening.

Randle also has been heard in other weekly features of the local studio, including "Safety Lane" and "Curtain Time".

Bob Robb has announced that he will leave college at the end of this month, and will act as time salesman for the station, as well as taking over part of the announcing, and working with Randle on the "Student on the Street" program.

Florence Murdock, member of San Jose Players, is now engaged in secretarial work at KQW, and in addition, she is heard on the "Better Business" program, "Parents Forum", and "Curtain Time". Starting tonight at 7:30, KQW will present a series of half hour programs dedicated to the Diamond Jubilee celebration, written and presented by members of the college Radio Speaking classes. Work of various departments will be demonstrated each week, culminating on the eve of the celebration with a half hour dramatization of the history of the college.

RESEARCH GROUP RE-ELECTS MISS DAVIS SECRETARY

Miss Corrine Davis, psychology instructor and member of the personnel office, was re-elected secretary of the California Research Association at its annual meeting held last week-end in Fresno.

Miss Davis has served as the organization's secretary since its beginning in 1923. Dr. James C. DeVoss, now head of the psychology department, then a new member on the San Jose State faculty, conceived the idea of the research association.

At the recent Fresno meet Dr. Brant Clark, also of the psychology department was appointed to a remedial reading committee.

Surprise Skits Will Highlight Revelries Dance

Featuring the music of the Stanford Cavaliers, the student body dance which is to be held following the Revelries on Friday promises to be an outstanding dance, according to Frances Cuenin, dance chairman.

To be held in the men's gymnasium, dancing from 10 until 1 o'clock. Surprise contests and leading campus entertainers will be the highlights of the evening.

Novel decorations in keeping with the carnival spirit which is to prevail on Spardi Gras day will be used, and a gala time for all students is promised by those arranging for the dance.

All non-student body members who attend the dance with a student body member will be charged 30 cents. The new price raise will be in effect at all dances hereafter. The falling off of dance revenues for the past two quarters has necessitated the price raise.

E. Markham Book Presented To College By Retired Teacher

A book used and owned by Edwin Markham, San Jose State's illustrious graduate, when he was attending school here in 1870 has been presented to the college by Miss Margaret Kelly, a retired teacher of El Dorado county.

The book, "Rudiments of Grammar and Rhetoric", is autographed by Mr. Markham, in the flowing hand writing style of the day.

Received by Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie with a letter accompanying it, the book will be placed in the school's library along with other relics.

Miss Kelly was a pupil under Mr. Markham in El Dorado county and later taught in that county when the poet was the county superintendent of schools there.

The trials and tribulations of the Scrooch family, a group of hill-billies who find themselves besieged by a modern Shylock demanding his pound of coins for back rent due will be the theme of the play.

Papa Scrooch, Mama Scrooch, and Ezra Scrooch comprise the family with Claude Spillwater cast as the villainous landlord.

"March of Time" is another skit which will be done by the brothers, along with a satire on the San Jose State college campus activities and organizations.

TRAPEZ ACT

Trick unheard of before will be performed by the brothers, according to Bailey, when they present their trapez act, death defying feat, a three man murder leap.

Tickets for the Revelries will be on sale in the quad and in front of the Morris Dailey auditorium during Spardi Gras Friday and will cost 35 cents.

Maybe It's Love AT LAST For Ray Wallace

Ray Wallace, Spartan Daily columnist, president of the Hitchhikers Association etcetera, who doesn't believe in hiding his light under a bushel, was caught bragging again yesterday.

Mincing coyly into the Daily office at noon he delved into papers on the copy desk for a feminine reporter's purse. Immediately questioned about his action, the bachelor Pegasus brazenly replied:

"Well, circumstances are that there might be some lipstick on my face."

Ho hum. Can it be that the iconoclastic erstwhile Pegasus president, will after all, tamely follow the matrimonial tradition of that organization?

College 'Y' Groups Hold Conference During Week-End

College YMCA and YWCA groups held their annual Redwood Lodge Conference during the past week-end with "Implications of Christian Conviction" the theme of the conference.

Holding talks, discussion groups, and a panel discussion, labor, politics, race, peace, and the cooperative movement were considered in their relation to religious living.

According to Agnes Rittiman, San Jose State student chairman of the affair, the entire week-end challenged those attending to an increased awareness of social trends.

TOWNSEND ESSAY RULES AVAILABLE FROM DR. BARRY

Literature on the Townsend Essay contest, including a copy of the General Welfare Act of 1937, may be obtained from Dr. Raymond Barry, head of the English department.

The contest in which prizes totaling $50 will be awarded for the three best essays on "Why the General Welfare Act of 1937 should be enacted into law at this session of Congress and why it would benefit every American in America" will close on June 1.

The prizes of $25, $15, and $10 will be donated by the local Townsend club No. 9.

New College Series On KQW

ANNOUNCERS

Also featured on the program will be a brief dramatic history of the college introducing the series. Written by Wilbur Korsmeier, who also wrote the entire continuity, the brief sketch will relate happenings from the founding of the school up to the present day, with emphasis on the Diamond Jubilee and progressive education. Korsmeier will handle part of the announcing as will Jim Bailey, Bob Robb, Vic Carlock, Willis Green, and George Ryan.
