Honor Awards To Be Given At Recognition Meet Today

PRESIDENT-ELECT MARSH, COUNCIL TO BE INSTALLED DURING SPECIAL MEETING

Scholarship, Service Certificates, Athletic Memorials To Be Awarded Students; Winners Of O.A. Hale Essay Contest To Be Announced

By MAXINE WALTHER

Sharing honors with leaders in campus affairs, and with Washington Square's newly elected political machine today at a Recognition assembly at 11 o'clock will be the unsung heroes of the study hall who will have their brief moment in the spotlight.

The certificates, to be presented by Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie will go to ten members of the student body having the highest grade average. To be eligible, the student must have been enrolled for the past three quarters carrying a minimum of 12 units each quarter.

Fall Quarter Big Sisters Wanted

Volunteers Being Accepted For A.W.S. Service

Volunteers are now being accepted in the annual call for upper division women to act as "big sisters" to incoming students this fall.

The A.W.S. is sponsoring the service, and needs 200 women students who intend to participate in school activities.

All those interested should leave their name, address, and phone number in Dean Dimmick's office or with Jeanne Ewing at Ballard 7439-W. Those who sign up will be notified of their duties before the fall quarter.

Home Ec. Department Announces Six Courses For Summer Session

Six educational courses are to be given by the Home Economics department during the summer session this year.

Miss Martha Thomas will give a course in foods and table service that has proved quite popular in past years, and will also give courses in consumer education and a seminar course in methods for teachers. The course in consumer education teaches the economics of clothing and textiles.

Taking Miss Vera Temple's place during the summer session, Miss Eva Scantlebury will be in charge of the nursery school and will teach a course in problems of child development and one in parent-child relations.

Faculty Members Notice

All members of the faculty are requested to assemble Friday, June 18, in Room 24 at 3:00 p.m. for commencement. The line of march will start at 3:45 sharp. —N. O. Thomas.

DOLORES FREITAS

Former Editor Named Publications Aide

Miss Dolores Freitas, former Spartan Daily editor, has been appointed Publications office assistant and Alumni Bulletin editor, according to word released by Mr. Dwight Bentel, director of publications and publicity.

The former Spartan Daily editor of 1936 has been teaching the past year at the Jefferson Union Grammar school, after her graduation last June. She is well-versed in all phases of college life, having been a member of various campus honor societies, among them: Black Masque, senior women's society; Kappa Delta Pi, national educational group; Pi Omega Pi, commerce club; and Sigma Kappa Delta, journalism honor society.

For the past four years the post has been filled by Miss Berta Gray, who leaves to take over YWCA work in the city of San Jose and Santa Clara county.

New Women's P.E. Teachers Named

Dr. Irene Palmer To Replace Mrs. Maude Knapp

Drastic changes in the Women's Physical Education department here will be made for the coming school year, it was disclosed recently by Mrs. Maud Knapp, present head of the department.

With Mrs. Knapp, Margaret Jewell, and Miss Catherine Worthingham accepting positions at Stanford University, and Miss Doris Dean going to Sequoia high school in Redwood city as head of the Girls' Physical Ed department, only Miss Gail Tucker, Miss Marjorie Lucas, and Miss Evelyn Amaral will remain. Mrs. Sarah

New Student Union Promised By Fall; Committee For Decorations Chosen From Art Department Interior Decorator To Assist

By MARY MONTGOMERY

Re-appointment of Charles Leong as editor of the Spartan Daily for the Fall quarter, and the assurance that the new Spartan Union will be occupied in the next school year—these were the two things spotlighted by the new student council in its initial conference last night as President Jack Marsh waded through a myriad of new San Jose State college student body business and new appointments to various campus activities.

Edits Again

for the Fall quarter. Charles Leong, reappointed Spartan Daily chief for the second consecutive quarter by the student council.

Arthur Van Horn, assistant editor, succeeded Robert Rector, senior, as editor-in-chief of La Torre, yearbook record of college activities.

With the evacuation of the present city library, the student executive board last night rolled up its shirt-sleeves, in anticipation of a strenuous campaign to have the new and long-awaited Student Union, by suggesting a plan to have a Union committee, comprised of the following persons: Mrs. Ruth Turner, head of the art department, Sal Merendino and Louis LaBarbera, art students; Barbara Harkey, Carlyn Walker, Mr. Neil Thomas, controller of the college, members of the student council, and a professional interior decorator.

"It has been a dream of the student body of San Jose State college, for many years, to have a Student Union," declared Prexy Marsh, "and now that the opportunity is here, the students will do their best to make the most of it."

Following this declaration, Marsh decided on the coordinating committee.

Leong, the present editor, will occupy the editorial chair again, and with the distinction of being

Dr. Hunt Remains On Social Science Staff; Dr. Gilliam To Return

Dr. Victor Hunt, instructor in the Social Science department for the past term during the absence of Dr. Olive Gilliam has been permanently added to the department staff. Dr. Gilliam, on a year's leave of absence, will return for the autumn quarter.

The new instructor received his A.B. at College of Pacific and his M.A. and Ph.D. at the University of California. Before coming to San Jose State college he taught at Western State College at Colorado.

"San Jose State college is an educational institution of which the community and the state can rightfully be proud and I am very happy to be permitted to remain here. I am also well pleased with the courses with which I am associated and of the department in general," Dr. Hunt said yesterday.

FLASH

Free copies of La Torre, college year book, will be available after 1:00 this afternoon to all students who have been registered for three or more consecutive quarters. They may be obtained in the Publications office, Room 17.

A charge of four cents, to cover tax, will be made on each La Torre, and student body cards must be shown, according to Bob Rector, editor of the present edition.

Summer Plays Named

ENGLISH COMEDIES SCHEDULED FOR SUMMER SESSION PRESENTATION

To be produced on a project basis, two English comedies will be undertaken by students in the School of Theater during the coming summer session.

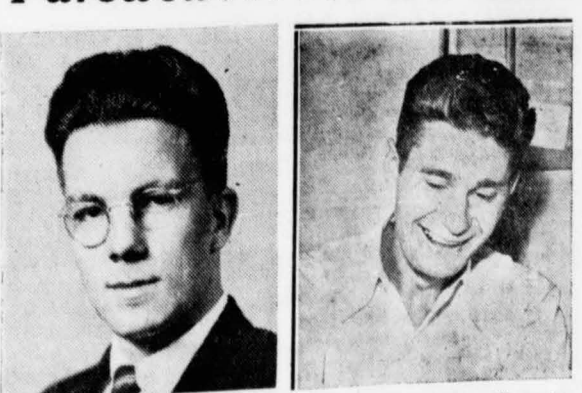

Directed by Mr. Hugh Gillis, the plays will be presented in cooperation with the theme of English Comedy that is being sponsored this summer at Stanford University. All other institutions in this locality have been asked to work on this field.

"Baux Strategen", by Farquhar, written in the eighteenth century, will be the first comedy to be presented, while a choice between the modern comedies "Quality Street", "The Distaff Side", or a Launsdale comedy will be the second play.

Five classes in the School of Theater will cooperate in each play. They are Play Producing, Makeup, Voice and Diction, Acting, and Laboratory Theater. The other course to be offered is Motion Picture Appreciation, which was quite popular this quarter, Mr. Gillis states.

Farewell . . . . . Welcome

Stepping Stones

REPRESENT A PET PERPLEXITY

To SYBIL HANCHETT

Music instructor . . . author of "Late Harvest", a recently published novel, . . . poet . . . faculty adviser to Pegasus, campus literary society.

ONE OF THE curious and interesting things about living is that occasionally one gets a big thrill over the discovery of some fact that practically everybody else has known all about from infancy. This has happened to me enough times to make me wonder if I am not still wandering about in a fog, with ninety percent of the fascinating facts of life still to be stumbled upon.

HOWEVER I know that I am not the only person on this campus who cherishes a certain pet perplexity. This particular bewilderment is shared by many, both faculty and students, or comparatively BROBDINGNAGIAN intelligence. (Dear proofreader, Brobding-nagian, please!)

Briefly, just what mathematical or psychological research is responsible for the distance between the stepping stones that lead across the Rose Court to the Little Theater?

I WENT about asking people.

Here are some of the answers: "If the stones had been placed to fit human steps they would have been walked on and worn out. Economy, my dear!"

"They are quite practical for walking. All you have to do is take two at a step and don't break your stride."

"There is an esoteric significance in the measurement. Leading as they do to the Education Department, the steps typify an attempt to fit a theoretical average."

MANY A TIME I have seen a youth or maiden come loping across the lawn with a wild free gait, only to falter with a strange unease when the feet encountered these artfully placed stones. It is a sort of test.

SOMEBODY FROM the personnel department should be crouching in the lilac bushes with a stop watch to record the length of time it takes each subject to decide whether to trip, leap, mince, straddle, or walk on the grass. This information, together with the height, age, and probable sex of the subject might be reduced to a graph and entered in the archives.

I present the suggestion to the college.

Candid Camera Entrants Must Call For Pictures

All those who entered pictures for the candid camera contest please call for the prints in the Publications office.

Hither, Yon & Back

By RANDY FITTS

PROBABLY no one group of performers has caused as much comment (pro and con), attracted more zealous admirers, and been written about—biographed, as the original BALLETS RUSSES. Most of us think of ballet as something Russian or French that has existed many years on a more or less even tenor, but in reality the changes within the art have been amazing as has been its lack of change also.

PEOPLED WITH

fiery temperaments, its history is anything but apathetic. Dating from the time Serge De Dieghileff took his troupe abroad the financial aspect of the art has been comparable to that of any third rate stock company: schemes were promoted at high stakes and usually won, but not from one season to the next did the dancers know security. Since the death of Diaghileff about fifteen books have been written, dealing with the collaborators in the great work.

AND GREAT

has been the quibbling over the talent and importance of the key artists. Probably none of the books is as fair as Prince Peter Lieven's Birth of the Ballets Russes, and none so prejudiced and biased as Romola Njinsky's tome about her husband.

The existing DeBasil Ballet is supposedly as good as any that existed according to authorities in the field, but it is hard to believe that the tired straggling company that we see from season to season is as top-notch as the group which we read about—such is the glamour of the past and the power of the printed page.

THRENOLOGY—

I suppose that somewhere is this potpourri I should become blatantly sentimental and slobber a bit about this being your scribbler's SWAN SONG (It may not be—there's many a slip between now and the time I draw that blank diploma.) But it does occur to me that there are so many things I should like to have done and people I'd like to have known before quitting ye old institution—and at the same time it also occurs to me that practically everyone feels the same way about leaving a group of people and things to which one has become adjusted and enjoyed so there is nothing to say that is particularly coherent.

THE LURE of what is on the other side of any mountain is something pulse-quickenning—new people, new situations—all to be enjoyed. Philosophical wheezing—better tuck in my beard before I trip on it.

TRIVIA—

Life on the main stem — Ray Wallace dining in a two-bit cafeteria—and PICKING HIS TEETH IN FRONT OF O'BRIEN'S.

Just Among Ourselves

By Dr. T. W. MAC QUARRIE

College evolution is reflected in the La Torre. I looked over the last ten volumes recently and was struck with the changes that have occurred, not only in the appearance of the plant, but in the activities of the personnel. Time was when Newby and Poytress were very much in the feature pages dressed up in all sorts of outlandish garb that just about stole the show upon occasion.

Now both of them seem to be getting dignified. Mr. Newby is playing a round of golf occasionally and discussing the weather, while Dr. Poytress spends long, anxious hours in his garden and conferring with the experts in the Science building on the best method of capturing rodents.

THIS FRIVOLOUS FACULTY

I noticed in one picture that Dr. Wood was sporting a mustache. It was a pretty good looking one, too, not the feeble attempt that you see occasionally, but one with personality. He evidently doesn't need it anymore now that he has Ph. D. from Yale, but I supposed it served its purpose in its time.

In two or three pictures, Miss Dimmick was on parade dressed up in appropriate gala costume. She rode around with the gang and actually carried on. It's a bit difficult to realize that, but the record is in the pictures.

HAZING IS IN THE PAST

It did me good to see those pictures of the bonfire and freshman hazing. I can't tell you how glad I am those stupid institutions have faded out of our environment. Blisters and blood poisoning and neglected work followed in the wake of the bonfire. Freshman hazing was such a silly thing. It merely gave certain of the cruder sort a chance to hurt somebody. I am sure most of us were glad when it disappeared.

There is evident quite a development in the uniforms worn by the young women in their physical education activities. ONE HESITATES TO GUESS WHAT FURTHER PROGRESS MAY BE POSSIBLE.

THE COLLEGE THROUGH THE LENSES

The photography of recent years is a great improvement over the past. Our photography department and the publications group have certainly put old S. J. through the lenses. I have no doubt that the years will note a steady improvement with a consequent increase in the value of our memory books.

It was interesting to me to note the change in the size of the orchestra. It was a very modest affair, and compared with recent developments could hardly be given very much of a rating. There is evidence in the more recent books of the steady increase in the size of the student body, and particularly in the percentage of men in the pictures.

I have sometimes wondered if men are not more anxious to have their pictures taken than the women. I SUPPOSE IT IS NATURAL FOR THE MASCULINE INDIVIDUAL TO SHOW OFF.

New PE Class In Officiating Starts Next Fall

Year's Course Will Train Officials And Referees

Coach Dud DeGroot, director of San Jose State athletics announced recently the addition of a new course in officiating which is to go on the schedule for next quarter.

This new course will be listed on the Physical Education program as course 142A for the Fall quarter, 142B during the winter quarter, and 142C in the spring quarter.

LARGE CLASS EXPECTED

The course, stated DeGroot, is expected to draw large numbers of students which will undoubtedly include almost all of the P.E. majors.

For the fall quarter the course will deal with football, basketball, soccer, and water polo. DeGroot stated that there would be lectures on these sports on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. DeGroot will give the football lecture, Bill Hubbard the basketball, and swimming coach Charlie Walker the soccer and water polo.

Students of the class will act as officials and referees in the lightweight P.A.L. teams, and will also officiate in Spartan soccer and water polo practice.

During the winter quarter the class will deal with basketball, swimming, boxing, wrestling, and baseball, with the respective coaches of each sport handling the lecture classes.

In the spring quarter, track, golf, tennis, baseball, and softball officiating will be taught to complete in a year's course all of the sports wherein the need of more officials has been felt in the past.

After the completion of this course, stated DeGroot, the members of this class will be eligible to act as referees and officials in the local prep circuit as well as for the regular San Jose State college games.

NOTICES

By MARY MONTGOMERY

The Women's P.E. club elected Evelyn Murray as president for next year and Ruth Holmes as secretary-treasurer at a recent meeting. The possibility of combining meetings with the Men's P.E. club was discussed. Meetings have been held monthly and were of the professional rather than social variety. Two of this year's meetings were held in conjunction with the men.

RAY LaCLERGUE TWO-YEAR ALL CONFERENCE SOCCER MAN ON SPORTS POLL

By JACK MARSH
(Spartan Daily Sports Writer)

Voted two years as an all-conference fullback in a league which includes Stanford, California, and University of San Francisco. Ray LaClergue, is said by Soccer Coach Charlie Walker to be the finest defensive player he has ever coached.

LaClergue is another Graham Peake place winner whose early athletic training was obtained in San Jose high school. Football was the only sport to attract Ray, and in his senior year he alternated at the center position. While outstanding because of his slight build, LaClergue early demonstrated the fighting ability which would serve him well later as captain of San Jose State's soccer team.

HIGH SCHOOL

Bright spot in his high school career: with the score tied, LaClergue centers the ball over the back man's head for a safety and victory for the opposition.

Ray was attracted to soccer as the only sport which would give him time for outside duties, which consisted of putting in long hours in the employ of a local gas company.

His love of battle and the evident fierceness of his defensive play marked him as a sure-fire fullback, and it is at this position that Ray has cavorted thereafter.

For the past three years LaClergue has proven, both in his role as captain and a member of the team, a spirited leader of the soccer fortunes of San Jose State.

ALL-CONFERENCE

Voted the last two years all-conference material, it is his long kicking ability and unhesitating defensive play which made him feared and loved by the opposition and teammates, respectively.

His sensational sliding type of play and team generalship puts him among Sparta's immortals. Ray, a one-sport man in college and known only to those limited followers of a minor sport, is a worthy holder of a Graham Peake Award placement.

Plans Near Completion For Next Fall's Early Start On Grid Sked

With the completion of actual practice for next year's football, athletic manager Gil Bishop and head coach Dud DeGroot are completing plans for the running off of next season's games.

DeGroot stated that the installing of the lights in the Spartan Stadium will begin sometime during this week or next week. This summer, will, according to reports, make the stadium field one of the best night fields on the coast.

REGISTRATION DAY GAME

The lighting system also makes possible that which may very likely be the feature of next season's grid offerings—namely the registration day game with the College of Idaho.

"Until it has been proven to the contrary," stated Dud DeGroot, "we will claim to be the first school in the country to have ever played a regular football game on the first day of school."

NOTICES

Attention Wrestlers: Will all those who have been out for wrestling for the past year please be in the gym, Wednesday, June 16 at 5 o'clock sharp. It is necessary for you to be there.

Another new item in regard to next fall's football, as was announced by Gil Bishop recently, is the season's pass book, which will be instituted for next season.

PASS BOOKLETS

These pass booklets which will go on sale soon, will be good for all the home games except the one with Santa Clara. This game will be kept open to first come first served.

It is very likely, stated Bishop, that the booklets would be of two types. One would be good only for the night games and the other would include admission to all home games with the exception of the one just mentioned.

Council Also Appoints Olson, Free, Cilker To Offices

the only Spartan Daily editor to have taken the position for two different school years. He is the only Chinese college editor in the United States.

Bob Free was re-appointed Rally chairman, Marian Cilker was picked to succeed Frances Cuenin as Social Affairs chairman, and Bill Evans will replace Jack Reynolds as Publications Business Manager. Frank Olson will be the new Business Manager of the Spartan Daily in place of Burton Abbott.

President Marsh called a special meeting of the council for Wednesday to discuss plans for the new Co-op. A furniture committee and an alteration committee have yet to be chosen, he said. Marsh also re-emphasized his desire for a wide open policy that would make it clear to the students the financial status of the student body. It was decided that a written report of student body funds be submitted for publication at the beginning of each quarter.

SPARTAN DAILY STAFF!

Last meeting of the Spartan Daily staff this year. All members please be present. Due to the Recognition Day program, staff meeting will begin at 10:30 a.m. Room 25. Director of Publications, Mr. Dwight Bentel, will speak to group. Thank you, —the editor.

Senior Week Activities

Rector Leads Group In Final Trip, Banquet

Four years of college are almost past history and 200 seniors, led by President Bob Rector, are swinging through a final week of activities culminating in graduation Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

This afternoon at 3:30, private cars and the Mount Hamilton stage will leave the Fourth street entrance to take seniors on the traditional trip through the famous Lick Observatory. The dollar fee will pay for transportation, ice cream, and coffee.

Tomorrow evening, from 8-11, graduates will be received by the faculty during the annual formal faculty reception at the San Jose Country Club.

The closed senior banquet is to take place Thursday night at the Elk's hall at 6:30 p.m. Girls will be expected to wear formals and men, dark suits.

Spears Sell Ice Cream

Spartan Spears, sophomore women's organization, will again hold an ice cream sale in the quad all day Thursday.

"The Story of an Inspiring Past", a history of San Jose State college by Mrs. Estelle Greathead, will be offered for sale at the same time at a fraction of its former price.

Scholarship, Service Certificates, Athletic Memorials To Be Awarded Students; Winners Of O.A. Hale Essay Contest To Be Announced

partments, these students will be presented certificates by President Paul Becker. Making a drastic cut in the number of honorariums of this type this year, only 16 will be given for service in one specific field and 20 more to those contributing in two or more ways. In past years there have been as high as 50 awards.

"Those receiving awards this year should be justly proud of the recognitions," Becker stated.

With the inauguration of the new student body president, Jack Marsh, and his council and the farewell of the old council, women's service societies, Black Masque, and Spartan Spears, will be formally installed.

Dr. MacQuarrie will address the assembled student body, and student leaders are due to make short speeches.

Concluding the program, the O.A. Hale essay winners and the senior awards will be announced.

Spartan Knights Elect Officers At Luncheon

New Spartan Knight officers will be elected today at the last regular luncheon meeting of the quarter, announced Grand Duke Jack Gruber yesterday.

Gruber requests that all Knights and Squires wear their Spartan Knight sweaters to the meeting as individual and group pictures will be taken.

This year's out-going officers will preside at both the meeting and luncheon.

They are: Grand Duke, Jack Gruber; Earl, Bob Free; Scribe, John Diehl; Chancellor of the Exchequer, Harold Wise.

Students Startled As Fallen Telephone Pole Blocks Street

Students in front of the Science building at the Fourth street entrance were startled yesterday about 3:30 o'clock by the spectacle of a telephone pole falling over the street.

The pole cracked completely through at its base and fell directly across the street, but was caught and supported by wires on that side.

Several wires connected with the pole were brought down to the street level and all cars passing through that portion were flagged down by students and police.

Quarter. Rush dates for next fall are to be chosen. This must be done before school closes.
