Novel Spartan Stadium Lighting System Tryout Set For Thursday

Rally Will Be First Pep Meet To Be Held On San Jose State Turf

BAND TO PERFORM

New Fight Song, Yells To Be Tried; Program Of Exhibitions Assured

An "under the lights" rally, scheduled for Spartan Stadium and held for the purpose of testing out San Jose State's new "nite-lite" rooting system, was announced today by Prexy Marsh as scheduled for this Thursday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Entirely novel, the rally will be the first Stadium pep meeting of its kind to originate in the college. Originated primarily to test out the use of 300 flashlights recently purchased by the student body, those attending will be treated to a program which includes a variety of acts from wrestling and boxing exhibitions to a mock football game.

NEW YELL LEADERS

Presence of the band was assured late yesterday by Mr. Thomas Eagan and Johnny Knight, elongated band leader. The new yell leaders, stocked with new yell stunts and a new fight song by Jack Wiles, last year's fight song contest winner, will be introduced to the San Jose State college student body.

Most important of the rally events will be the preview of the "nite-lite" rooting section which will preview Friday night's between-halves stunts for the Northern Arizona State-Spartan football clash. With five stunts worked out for the rooting section, Spartan supporters will get their chance to see the lights in operation.

TRANSPORTATION

"While the rally is said by some to be too novel to be successful, I believe State supporters will turn out as they did for the College of Pacific excursion," Prexy Marsh said late yesterday.

Bob Free also assured Spartan rooters a chance to attend the rally by promising transportation. According to tentative plans, members of campus organizations who have cars will meet at Fourth and San Fernando at 7:15, where those who are without transportation will ride in a procession to the Stadium, led by Johnny Knight and the band.

Senior Class Election To Be Held Thursday In The Little Theater

Two popular seniors, Dick Lane, past junior class president, and Jack Gruber, council member, will contest for the office of president of the senior class when a runoff is held in the Little Theater Thursday.

The meeting will be turned over by Jack Marsh, student body president, to the new vice-president, Frances Scott, who will have charge of the election. The runoff follows a close election held during senior orientation last Thursday.

WOMEN STUDENTS HOLD BARBECUE IN STADIUM

With a chance to see just what the Spartan football team looks like in the daytime as an extra feature of the evening, the A.W.S. is holding a barbecue Wednesday afternoon from 3:00 to 5:00 in the Spartan Stadium.

Tickets are available from Alberta Gross, ticket chairman. Amy Silva, A.W.S. president pro-tem, advises all girls to come prepared for a good time, dressed for the occasion. It is a privilege to be permitted to sit in on the football practice," she said.

Pacific Air Flight To Be Subject Of Talk By Dr. Kaucher

"Wings Over the Pacific" will be the subject of Dr. Dorothy Kaucher's talk at the Y.W.C.A. association dinner which will be held in Scofield hall, third floor of the Y.W.C.A. building, at Second and San Antonio streets tonight.

Miss Mary Frances Hill, YW secretary, announces that for the comfort of those attending, it would be advisable to bring a pillow on which to sit during the "oriental feast", which will be served on the floor. There are about 175 members of the organization, and this will be the beginning of a membership campaign.

Miss Hill further states that for atmosphere and interest girls are urged to bring their own chop sticks and to get into the spirit of the occasion.

Frosh Education Group To Hold First Meeting

"Pre-Pros", freshman education club, will hold its first meeting of the quarter in the Morris Dailey auditorium one week from Tuesday at 11 o'clock. Sponsor William G. Sweeney of the education department announced yesterday.

OLDEST STUDENT EIGHTY, STUDIES VIOLIN AT STATE

Although he's not really State's oldest freshman, as one newswriter styled him (he's really a special student of violin), Fred C. Haverton, 80, is the oldest undergraduate in point of earthly years on the San Jose State college campus.

After a long and exciting career as sailor, adventurer, and traveler, Mr. Haverton registered at State last month to study the violin. He came to the campus from Bremerton navy yard in Washington, where he recently retired.

The eighty-years-young son of State not only plays violins, but he makes them as well. Since he first began making the stringed instruments as a hobby, Mr. Haverton has constructed and sold several hundred of them, for each of which he cut the wood himself. The violin on which he now plays is also of his own construction.

WORLD WAR PROBABILITY

DISCUSSION SCHEDULED WEDNESDAY AT FOUR

A thorough study into the possibilities of a new World War, and where it may possibly break out, is intended for the San Jose State college International Affairs club, which will reorganize at a meeting scheduled for Wednesday at four o'clock in Room 24.

Complete examination into the Far Eastern crisis and the ever-present Spanish situation will be carried on during the sessions of the organization.

All persons interested in international affairs, and the outlook of war or peace in the world today are cordially invited to attend tomorrow's meeting, Dr. William Poytress, adviser of the club, declared. Election of officers is planned for the meeting.

'Call It A Day' Cast Rehearses

With what is considered an ideal cast by Director Hugh Gillis, "Call It A Day" went into rehearsal last night in the Little Theater.

The cast features nine newcomers to the drama at San Jose State college. Among these "new faces" are Patricia Ironsini, Sylvia Flanner, Wilmar Tognazzini, Marie Carr, June Moore, Garret Starmer, Beatrice Rees, Barbara Powell, and Donald Bloom.

From a technical standpoint the production is, with the exception of Peer Gynt, the most ambitious attempted by the college drama group, according to Mr. Gillis.

Football Game, Dance To Be Main Feature Of Homecoming

A football game, a dance, and the renewing of old friendships will be the main events of the fall alumni home-coming, which is being planned for October 22 and 23. An informal atmosphere will prevail. It is the desire of those in charge that the alumni return to their alma mater to mingle with the students and teachers, both old and new.

Membership in the alumni association is $1.00 per year. This fee admits members to all affairs with no charge.

Ronald Linn is the new president of the organization.

Sid Ormsby Chosen Forestry Club Head

Sid Ormsby was elected president of the Forestry club at its second meeting Thursday afternoon. Other officers elected were C. Wheeler, vice-president; R. Sperry, secretary; G. Hoffman, treasurer; and George Rau, sergeant-at-arms.

According to Mr. Allen Jacobs, forestry instructor, there has been an addition of many new names to both club and class rolls, indicating an increased interest in the field. Forestry majors and all other interested persons are invited into membership by the club and its officers.

FAR-EAST WAR, POYTRESS TOPIC

At today's meeting of the Behind The News class, Dr. William Poytress, social science head, will discuss the present situation in the Orient, the relationships of Western Europe, and the rest of the Orient to China.

Dr. Poytress will also discuss why Japan chose the present time to carry on the undeclared war.

The Behind The News class meets at 11 o'clock on Tuesdays in the Little Theater.

New Taylor Craft Plane To Arrive This Afternoon

Twenty Members Of Aviation Club Will Buy Plane, Plan To Use Radio Instruction

The Taylor craft plane recently purchased by the Twenty Flying club will arrive at the San Jose Airport this afternoon, declared Mr. Frank F. Petersen, head of the college aviation department, yesterday.

Purchased on the cooperative plan by the twenty members of the club, the ship will cost $1495, of which more than half is paid up, according to Doris Shields, club secretary.

NON-CAMPUS

Although composed solely of college students here the club is a non-campus organization.

Plans are being made at present to instruct students by use of radio, which is a new and novel way of giving solo flight instruction.

Since the club is run on a cooperative basis, cost of flying time is reduced to 45 cents an hour which, according to Mr. Petersen, is $4.50 less than the regular rates.

THREE TEACHERS

Flying instruction to aid the students in receiving their private pilot licenses will be given by Mr. Petersen, Sumner Dodge, and Hillis Ashworth. To date Dodge has had almost three hundred hours flying time and Ashworth over 500 hours. Both are aviation students here.

The club to date has enrolled within its roster two girl aviation enthusiasts, Doris Shields and Mary Sawyer. Both girls have some flying time to their credit.

Yell Leaders To Be Selected Wednesday 8 CANDIDATES

Election of student body yell leaders has been postponed until Wednesday because it was impossible to get the election booths from the county clerk, announces President Jack Marsh.

The polls will be open Wednesday from 8 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the evening.

Those who are candidates for this office are as follows:

Bob Swanson, frosh, and former head yell leader at Oakland High school; Jerry Girdner, last year's Spartan head yell leader; 'Pinky' Garcia, former assistant yell leader; Billy Newby, frosh, and former head yell leader at San Jose High school; Ray Brunton, former member of DeWitt Portal's boxing squad; Louise Rosacco; Byron Lanphear; and Susan Shaver, former girl yell leader at San Rafael High school.

Photographs taken by Lester Brubaker and Dr. Oscar Brauer, physics professors, and George E. Stone, photography professor, are now being exhibited in the hall of the Art building and in Room One.

The exhibit also includes pictures by members of Mr. Stone's advanced photography classes of last year. Mr. Brubaker's subjects are in general along the scientific line, dealing with close-ups of insects for scientific use and identification.

Landscape photos of Crater Lake and vicinity were taken by Mr. Stone.

START COUNTING MR. BAILEY

About the "alarming situation" which threatens to turn the beauty of San Jose State's campus into a stretch of arid land due to the loss of its leaves, well—it is advisable that Jim Bailey start counting the leaves on the trees.

When he has finished doing that, and is old and grey, Jim will have realized that the time will never come when co-eds will have him shinning up tree tops to get "that last little leaf".

No, there are hundreds of leaves to each tree, and the Nature Study classes use them for only the first two weeks of the fall quarter. It also seems that the leaves have served their purpose by now, and are falling this time of the year.

Dr. E. Atkinson Announces Test

Applications for temporary, full time, or part time jobs must be filed today between 9:00 and 12:00 A.M. in Room 139 for those students desiring stenographic or clerical work, announced Dr. Earl Atkinson, head of the commerce department, yesterday.

At this time classification tests will be given those desirous of clerical jobs. Boys filing applications for accounting or selling jobs will not be given a test, their ability being judged individually by members of the commerce department.

All students in need of jobs in this field are urged to make out their application at this time, according to Dr. Atkinson.

Tests will be given through the commerce department in conjunction with the placement office.

New Faculty Members Honored At P.E. Tea

Tau Gamma, women's honorary physical education society, honored the new faculty members of the Physical Education department and the incoming majors at a tea at the home of Mavis Crowell, president of the society, Sunday, October 3 from four to six o'clock.

Those honored were Dr. Irene Palmer head of the department, and Miss Vivian Fraederich. Others in the receiving line were Miss Tucker, adviser of the society, and Miss Amaral, a member of the Physical Education faculty, and an alumna member of Tau Gamma.

LOW SPOTS OF HISTORY
A CAVEMAN'S FINESSE, HIT BY THE DECK

The memoirs of one of our ancestors, Albert Smith (10,892-10, 811 B. C.) gives us a very informative account of the passing of the days of the caveman.

DOMESTIC BLISS

To quote a few passages from the diary:

"October 17, 10864 B. C.: Gladiola asked for a new leopard skin. Swung her against the wall by her heels."

"June 6, 10,862 B. C.: Gladiola burnt the biscuits tonight. Tapped her skull several times with war club."

These days, as one can readily perceive, were of that excellent type which envious moderns describe as "good" and "old". But these days were about to be gone forever.

ELI OR ELY?

It was a prophet named Eli who changed things. This prophet, acting on directions from above, introduced a new pastime which was played with bricks on which were chiseled various numerals and figures.

Albert and Gladiola were much enthused over the new game. One evening they invited the Johnsons over to play. It was during this evening that Albert reduced his status in the household to that of a worm.

Albert knew that he was doomed even before Gladiola hit him with the deck.

GOING UP TO THE GAME

the car I was riding in was comparatively quiet—quiet compared to a boiler factory. A bunch of the frosh were whooping it up—they were giving their favorite high school yells.

THERE WAS A BANG-UP Game going on in the stands.

Some morons were shooting off firecrackers.

AFTER THAT RATHER discouraging first half, one disconsolate Spartan was bemoaning the sad state of affairs.

"Aw State's still got a lot on the ball," said his friend attempting to cheer him up.

"OH, I was wondering where they've been keeping it," the sad one retorted.

DURING THE HALF TIME INTERLUDE some alleged motion picture stars were introduced over the public address system.

"Yes," snarled one of the fans, "they've been playing 'cricket'."

CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN

TRUE SPORTSMANSHIP

Editor Spartan Daily

Dear Sir:

Football season is here, and with it comes color, glory, and the cry of sportsmanship. Banners flying from the sidelines, pom-poms swishing back and forth in the bleachers, all this a picture of color and glory, but what about sportsmanship? Do you have to be sitting in that crowd to be a real sport? On the other hand, will your presence at an athletic contest mark you as a sportsman?

HONOR AND DIGNITY

All these things are exciting, colorful, and add to the zest of school spirit, but why not make a good job out of it while we are about it and be a friend and a sport at the same time. Let's look with honor and dignity at the ideals of true sportsmanship.

RALLY AROUND

Let's drop a friendly word as we go. Let's be upright, honorable, and loyal to our school, our class, and ourselves. Let's be ladies and gentlemen, let's be real sports.

Let's rally 'round the flag of San Jose State and shout for victory for the school, and build victory for ourselves.

Oh for the days of chivalry, oh for good old Sir Walter Raleigh—where has chivalry gone? To be truthful, it's gone with the wind. Nevertheless, one certainly needs a Sir Walter Raleigh when trying to cross the small flood in the cross-walk at the entrance to the Co-op.

Many a time I've stood on the brink of about two inches of water, wondering whether to just stand there and be lady-like, or jump and lose my prestige. It hasn't always been I either, for other campus co-eds have been pondering over the solution. Never does one see some polite young gentleman lay his coat in the puddle, such as did Raleigh, for a pretty lady.

WHO TO BLAME?

No one really knows who to blame for this situation. Is it the gardener's fault for putting the sprinklers too near, or is it the sprinkler itself? There should be some way out—we can't be puddle-jumping all the time, especially with white shoes on. When the rain comes, it will be worse than ever.

Gridmen Prepare For Lumberjack Game On Friday

Arizona Men Tougher Than Tigers, Says Coach Hubbard

Almost recovered from the scare of their lives at Stockton Friday night, the Spartan gridgers again settle down to intense practice sessions this week. Into San Jose Friday night will come a powerful Lumberjack eleven from Northern Arizona State at Flagstaff. The visiting team boasts two straight victories over Whittier College and Caltech, and will be primed for the night game at Spartan Stadium.

The close call Friday night at the hands of the College of Pacific dispelled any overconfidence in the ranks of the Spartan squad, according to assistant Coach Bill Hubbard. The tight game also pointed out that San Jose could be beaten by an inferior team, stated the backfield coach.

ARIZONA STRONGER

Hubbard witnessed the Flagstaff-Whittier tussle and College of Pacific-U.S.C. game, and he claims that the Lumberjacks have a tougher team than the Stockton Tigers. This fact means that the Spartans will have plenty of drill on fundamentals, as the Flagstaff outfit boasts a much heavier line than did the Pacific team.

Little Al George, Bengal halfback, aside from being the first opponent to cross the Spartan goal line, saved the Friday night game from a rout when he again and again stopped Spartan backs near the Pacific goal line. Owen Collins, quite a speed burner, himself, was nabbed after taking a long pass, and Leroy Zimmerman was stopped twice after he was into the clear.

FLASHY PUNTING

The punting of the Pacific halfback was a highlight of the game. He constantly set the Spartans back, where they were forced to start their attack all over again.

Bob Drexel, veteran tackle, saw a few minutes of action Friday night. It was his first part in competition this season, an injured shoulder keeping him on the sidelines. Gene Rocchi, hero of the 1936 Pacific clash, likewise entered the game for only a few minutes. A hip injury sustained in practice last week forced Coach DeGroot to take no chances with his speedy halfback.

TEAM CONFIDENCE NEED OF SPARTAN SOCCER ELEVEN

"Lack of confidence in their scoring power was the only thing that kept them from winning Saturday's game." That is the opinion of Charlie Walker, regarding the 4-2 defeat received by the San Jose State soccer team at the University of San Francisco Saturday.

Walker, coach of the Spartan water teams, handled the soccer team in the absence of Hovey McDonald, regular mentor of the squad.

"After the team finds itself and scores on a couple of opponents it will be all right. But at the present the fellows just haven't confidence in themselves," he added.

The San Francisco game opened the conference season for the local squad which travels to San Mateo Saturday for its second game.

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1937

SAN JOSE AQUA-DUCKS MEET DOLPHIN POLOISTS THURSDAY; WALKER MAY SHIFT LINE-UP

After successfully opening their league season last week by defeating the South End Athletic club, Coach Charlie Walker's Spartan water polo artists enter the second round of league play when they entertain the Dolphin club Thursday night in the local pool.

San Jose and the Dolphins met twice last season, and both games spelled victory for Sparta. The first game was played in Spartan plunge, and San Jose won, 6 to 5, in an overtime affair. Later Coach Walker took his team to San Francisco, and came home victorious to the tune of 14 to 7.

CHANGES POSSIBLE

After last week's game, Coach Walker indicated that he may make several changes in the Spartan lineup. Ron Gordon who was in the water for the first time for the game will be tried out in a couple of different positions, according to Walker, in an effort to strengthen the team.

Many strong points were noticed in the play of the locals, as the Spartan forward line of Jack Butler, Frank Savage, and Martin Wempe was continually sprinting away from the South Enders to have the game under control from start to finish.

GARCIA OUTSTANDING

Bob Garcia, sophomore guard, was a demon on the defense for San Jose as he repeatedly made brilliant stops in front of the goalkeeper's cage to prevent South End club scores.

Coach Walker was also pleased with the showing of his freshman team. Sparkplugged by Dick Savage at the goal and Dean Foster in the sprint position, the young Spartans upset the dope by defeating Jim Eva's Sequoia high school team, 4 to 2.

Savage was recognized as tops in prep school polo circles, and bids fair to become one of the best goalies State has had. The frosh play the Dolphin "B" team in Thursday's preliminary affair.

DeGROOT ELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT PACIFIC A.A.U.

Word has been received concerning the election of Dudley S. DeGroot, head of the San Jose State physical education department, as 2nd vice-president of the Pacific Association, Amateur Athletic Union.

DeGroot succeeds Kenneth Priestly, University of California graduate manager, to the A.A.U. position.

This is the first time that a man from a school outside of the larger conferences has been named to the high job, and according to DeGroot, it marks a new trend toward recognition of the growing colleges.

"The appointment is a distinct honor to San Jose State," stated

ATHLETES ON PARADE

By DAN O'NEILL

Let's take a peep at Glenn "Pop" DuBose, captain of the Spartan footballers. Papa DuBose is an A-1 guard measured by anyone's yardstick. His inspired play so far this season marks him as a positive standout, and unless things go into reverse, DuBose should find himself playing in the East-West grid classic New Year's Day at Kezar Stadium.

DuBose matriculated at Mission High school in San Francisco. His coach had ambitions of making a backfield man out of him, but at the season's end Glenn was picked all-city guard. "I was just a shrimp too," declared DuBose, "I never weighed more than 150 pounds." Glenn also participated in baseball and track but never attained the stardom he enjoyed in football.

FROSH LEADER

1933 marks the date of DuBose's entrance into San Jose State. The Spartlets had a great team that season, losing only one contest—that to Stanford's yearlings. It was Glenn DuBose who captained the frosh too, if you please.

Bronko Nagurski is DuBose's idea of a superb player. Of the long list of pigskinners he has played against, Glenn unhesitatingly lists Ray Petersen of U.S.F. as the toughest. Petersen played fullback and won national reputation a few seasons ago.

GREATEST THRILL

DuBose will tell you that his greatest thrill came when he was elected to lead the present Spartan clan. He believes much credit for the fine start the team has made, goes to the students.

"The spirit of the students has been fine," comments DuBose, "and as long as they continue to attend the games we can't help but have a successful season. Honestly, the support has been wonderful."

So there we have Captain DuBose, a mighty guard and a great leader.

Bobby Tichenal Wins Most Valuable Player Award For COP Game

The man that played consistent ball throughout the College of Pacific game, and the man who blocked the punt that paved the way for the first Spartan score—Bobby Tichenal, who holds down the center spot—was yesterday named the most valuable player in the Friday night game. He will receive an "all-American sweater" from J. S. Williams, sponsor of the contest.

Tichenal is a transfer from Glendale Jaycee, and he stepped into the first string pivot position when Clyde Voorhees, veteran center, suffered a chipped ankle bone in the College of Idaho game.

Teachers Handle Coaching Duties Plus P. E. Classes

New Enrollment Tops Former Mark By More Than 300

By WILBUR KORSMEIER

The announcement that over 1500 registrations in men's physical education courses have been made this year was recently released by Dudley S. DeGroot, head of the physical education department. This is a new mark in San Jose history.

The former record of 1175 was surpassed this year by more than 300 registrations. The total number does mean that 1500 students are enrolled in physical education classes, but many students are taking advantage of the excellent equipment and have signed up for more than one class. Many who have completed physical education requirements are also taking added courses.

FIFTY CLASSES

The list of classes this quarter contains some thirty-seven different physical ed courses. Many are given several times during the day, which makes the total number near fifty.

The interesting and important fact regarding the large registration is that the men who coach the Spartan athletic teams are the same men who teach the other classes.

COACHES TEACH

Head football coach Dud DeGroot, assistant football and head basketball coach Bill Hubbard, assistant football and head boxing coach DeWitt Portal, soccer coach Hovey McDonald, frosh football and head track coach "Tiny" Hartranft, swimming and water polo coach Charlie Walker, graduate athletic manager and head baseball coach Gil Bishop—these men teach the entire group of physical education courses, including activity, instruction, and theory classes.

At many other large colleges and

SPARTAN BOXER LEAVES FOR HOME

George Latka, 135 pound boxer at San Jose State college, an outstanding contender for a Pacific Coast Intercollegiate boxing crown, was forced to return to his home in Gary, Indiana, according to an announcement made by Coach DeWitt Portal recently.

Latka may return to haunt collegiate lightweights during the winter quarter. If he should fail to appear, his loss will be a severe blow to Coach Portal's hopes for a championship team. In his place will be Paul Tara, who, according to Portal, is as good a man as Latka but is bothered by a "glass right hand".

So when San Jose State college physical education teachers are finished with their classes for the day, they spend three or four hours more with their various teams.

Beauty PLUS Brains . . .

Statistics compiled from the Personnel tests taken by all entering freshmen show that members of the class of '41 have a higher intelligence rating than previous freshmen classes, according to Miss Daisy Matthews of the Personnel department. The four freshmen shown above who have combined intelligence with beauty are Evelyn Danielson, Margaret Farmer, Billy Stewart, and Mary Ellen Stevens—Photo Courtesy Mercury-Herald.

BIRD PHOTOS

WILD LIFE PICTURES ON DISPLAY IN HALL OF SCIENCE BUILDING

Photographs of birds seldom seen but always on and around State college campus are now on display in one of the hall show cases in the science building.

From the collection of Dr. Gayle Pickwell, the wild life pictures have caught for inspection many feathered creatures in unwary positions. Snapped in a corner of the vine shrouded tower, one photo is of a covering barn owl as he draws back threatening wings like a vampire of the legends.

Another picture is of five baby owls who were raised on the ledge around the college tower. Other pictures are of cliff swallows, which nest under the eaves of tall campus buildings, and of the somewhat rare western warbling vereo, an inhabitant of local elm trees only during the spring.

Radio Announcing Contest Offered State Aspirants By Local Station

Contestants Must Be At KQW Thursday

FIRST PRIZE $50

"Students who are interested in radio announcing are asked to participate in the radio announcer's contest being offered by San Jose's radio station KQW and the radio speaking class," stated Mr. William McCoard, of the Speech department, yesterday.

The contest, which is being held for ten weeks, is open to the student body and no talent is necessary. The participants are required to give a commercial announcement, a news announcement, read poetry, and 'ad lib' for one minute from a situation built up for them.

THURSDAYS
The contest will run every Thursday for one-half hour beginning at 7:30 p.m. at KQW. Auditions will be given the day before at 8:00 at the studios of the station.

Prizes for the contest will be $5.00 for each winner of the weekly contests—the winners will then try for the three semi-finals, with the winner of each of these also receiving $5.00. The person placing first in all three finals will receive $50.00, the person placing second $15.00, and the person placing third $5.00.

Anyone seeking further information is asked to see Mr. McCoard of the Speech department or to call at KQW.
