Win Keeps San Jose In Second Place

Kotta Paces Locals With 12

By PONY SWENSON

San Jose held on to its second place in the Northern California Intercollegiate Basketball finale last night with a 43-38 win over the St. Mary's Gaels, after a wild game at Spartan Pavilion.

Both teams were guilty of playing spotty basketball, but Bill Hubbard's locals put on the pressure in the closing minutes of play to turn back the Gaels.

GAELS STALL

Eccentric Harlan Dykes, St. Mary's gray-headed coach, was up to his usual form last night, and the Gaels "keep-away" style of attack during the first quarter of the ball game kept both teams from scoring until seven minutes had passed.

Finally, Ken Meitz sneaked behind the Spartan defense to break the ice. From this point on the Gaels were more liberal with the ball, and both teams fought tip and tuck to a 15-15 tie at half time.

SPARTANS GRAB LEAD

San Jose got away to an early half time lead, and built up a 24-17 margin before the second half was five minutes old. Allen, Thomas, Kotta, and Berry were the Spartans who riveted through the San Jose points during this session.

St. Mary's came back into its own at this point and slowly but surely, with the aid of Meitz, MacPhail, Noonan and Kaiser, worked the Spartan lead down to a 30-29 score.

SPARTANS SHINE

St. Mary's bluff to overtake the Spartans was called, however, when the Spartans began to show signs of playing good basketball and put on an impressive scoring splurge. The Hubbard crew employed crafty ball control to send Berry, Allen, Anderson, and Kotta in for field goals to pile up a 42-33 lead.

But San Jose hit another cold streak, and the Gaels closed the gap with a field goal and a free shot by Meitz and another bucket by MacPhail, which melted San Jose.

Frosh Education Council Giving Program Today

Six campus entertainers will be featured on the Freshman Education council's program today, according to Jerry Fear, council president.

Marie Carr and Wesley Young of "Beggars on Horseback" fame, Tommy Gifford, last year's Revue star, Jimmy Fahn and Frank O'Connor, campus tumblers, Len Baskin and Mel Weyand, comic pianists—all of these will be highlighted on the program, which is to be held at 12 o'clock in Morris Dailey auditorium.

Happy LaBee, director and emcee of the all-frosh program, will officiate again today. Admission to the affair is set at one cent, which will help pay expenses of the program.

Comedy 'Dulcy' Presented In Little Theater Tonight

Long, Davenport Take Leads

By BILL RODRICK

San Jose Players' second presentation of a Kaufmann-Connelly comedy this season goes on the boards tonight with the opening of "Dulcy" at 8:30 o'clock in the college Little Theater. A second performance will be given tomorrow night.

The two major leads of the play are taken by Roberta Long, in the title role of the "dumb but beautiful and dumb as she is beautiful" Dulcy, and Raber Davenport, the husband "Gordon Smith"—a business man trying to make a success of things despite his wife's volunteer assistance.

BALANCED CAST

Directed by Miss Margaret Douglas of the Speech department, the hilarious comedy boasts a finely balanced cast of veteran Players talent in supporting roles, including Howard Chamberlain as the temperamental "C. Roger Forbes", William Craddock as the wise-cracking brother of Dulcy, "Bill", and Olivia Allen, the romantic "Angela".

Though rather old, the hilarious farce has become one of the most proverbial of the domestic comedies. "Dulcy", wife of a rising young business man, tries to take a hand and help her husband in his business affairs—it is nearly disastrous—but being a comedy, not quite.

CLIMAX

The climax of the hectic comedy comes in the second act when Dulcy gives a party to better her husband's chance at business, and the guests turn out to be sworn enemies of each other. She has invited entertainers—one a scenarist from Hollywood who reads an absurd surd to the accompaniment of impromptu music from the piano.

A Capella Choir In Program At Carmel School

The San Jose State college A Capella choir will present a full program in Carmel on Friday night, March 3, according to Carlton Lindgren, member.

The Parent-Teacher's association of San Jose is sponsoring the program, of which Mr. J. A. Bardarson, principal of the Sunset grammar school in Carmel, is in charge.

Songs planned for the evening are the same ones that are to be presented in the annual concert of the A Capella choir. Entertainment for the group following the program will be handled by the P.T.A.

ANNUAL CONCERT

On Tuesday evening, March 7, at 8:15 p.m., the choir will be heard in its annual concert in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

There are various new voices in the group this year, many of which are outstanding, according to Mr. William Erlendson, music instructor and director of the choir. Several veterans who still remain in the group, however, will form a nucleus of excellent quality, according to the director.

The choir was organized in 1931.

AIR TRAINING MEN REPORT TODAY

All candidates for the civilian aeronautics training program are requested to report to Room 111A some time today, according to Mr. F. F. Petersen, aviation instructor.

This includes all those whose applications were sent to Washington, D.C., and is not limited to the fifteen whose names were recently announced.

Lights Provided For Campus Corridors

No more dark nights—at least not around San Jose State college.

A step toward better illumination of the college is being advanced by the installation of new lights in the corridors.

Of an ultra-modern design, the lights are being installed by the state, as part of the school improvement program.

JOINT FACULTY RECITAL MARCH 4

William Erlendson, pianist, and Maurine Thompson, contralto, will give a joint recital in the Little Theater Saturday night, March 4, at 8:15, it was announced yesterday by the Music department.

Miss Thompson will be accompanied on the piano by John Andrews.

This annual recital is open to the public, free of charge.

Treasure Island's "Portals of the Pacific" swing wide Saturday noon, opening to the world the gathered splendor and wealth of the west in a gigantic display of modern miracles.

With that opening the bridge city climbs to new and greater heights. San Francisco has told its story to the world many times before, always with a touch of western hospitality and a fair for the color and glamour of the Golden West.

This time, with the Golden Gate International Exposition, San Francisco supercedes itself, eclipsing all that, heretofore, the west has ever accomplished.

San Jose, as a neighbor city, enjoys the reflected glory of this "Pacific panorama" and is anxious to play its part in making the Exposition a crowning achievement of western enterprise.

Here at the college, such names as "Tower of the Sun", "Port of the Trade Winds", and "Court of Pacifica" have become familiar by-words, but little has actually been done to take an active part in the celebration.

Yesterday a Thrust and Parry, which appears on today's feature page, was handed in suggesting active participation on the part of the college in spreading the "Fair idea".

One item mentioned offered the suggestion that the typical western regalia, now being worn throughout the bay area, be used as campus attire.

A suggestion that sounds good to us would run something like this:

Being that San Jose State Day at the Fair is April 1, one week after spring quarter registration, make that week "Fair Week".

During the week all students could wear the outfit that consists of jeans, bandanas, 10 gallons, etc. Let the male element take a couple of days' head start and carry the regular facial adornment.

Throughout the week such affairs could be staged that would be appropriate to the "Fair theme". And then on Saturday, culminating a week of celebration, the entire student body could climax that celebration on Treasure Island in a gala all-college affair.

It's a long time off, but in the meantime if you have any ideas, we'd be glad to hear them.

San Francisco Exposition . . .

Planning to welcome an opening day crowd of 350,000, San Francisco this week began a series of celebrations which will terminate with the opening of the Golden Gate Exposition at noon Saturday, February 18.

Proximity of the San Francisco World's Fair gives San Jose State college students a splendid opportunity to view many interesting displays. Many of the latest devices and conveniences of the mechanical world, as well as other fields, will be shown.

Such displays should be worthy of observation by students attending the Fair. Added interest for local students will be the fact that April 1 is San Jose State Day on Treasure Island. On this day, Washington Square will be honored by the Golden Gate Exposition. In keeping with the theme of the day, San Jose State college will present a symphony orchestra concert and variety show, as well as exhibiting work of the various departments of the college.

An added incentive for Washington Square Spartans making the trek to Treasure Island is the fact that the student council has approved a special train for the San Jose State Day. Reduced rates will make it possible for local students to attend at a saving.

Interest in the Exposition is mounting as the date of the opening approaches. Rumors about the campus have indicated that Spartans may don ten-gallon hats and dungarees as a means of exhibiting interest. —F.M.

BONNIE DOON ANKLETS . . .

We've been hearing lately about matching and contrasting skirts and sweaters or jackets and skirts in a wide variety of colors. But what are we to do about extending that harmony to our socks or anklets—or whatever you call them.

Have you had difficulty in finding anklets to match your new Fuchsia skirt? If you have, you will undoubtedly be interested in the new complete stock of Bonnie Doon Anklets displayed on Blum's Main Fashion Floor.

If you're going to the Fair you'll want to save your feet and stockings. Comfortable and colorful socks are the answer. Active sports in the spring will also prove to be a heavy drain on your stocking budget, if you pass these socks by.

A MULTITUDE OF COLORS . . .

A collection of colors that is bewildering, yet exciting, is offered in Rabbit's Hair for cool days and Cotton for expected warmer weather. Of cuffless style—they complete the college outfit. They are decidedly new . . . in color, style and price—low as 25 cents, 35 cents, and 50 cents.

CYCLAMEN . . . CHERRY . . . Sage . . . Gold . . . FUCHSIA . . . DUSTY PINK . . . Natural . . . Shocking Pink . . . KELLY GREEN . . . LIME . . . Fjord Blue . . . White Maize . . . Grey . . . CHOCOLATE and PORCELAIN BLUE . . . These and many others are the colors you can find.

Voice of Reaction

By BILL MCLEAN

No matter what happens to you it may be turned to good account. So said, in a little different way, Walt Whitman. There are a lot of people here at college who are doing things which seem to them of no particular value. For instance, many students who take courses in literature or English, are not interested, often are bored, finding the matters brought to their attention neither engrossing as objects of curiosity, nor of any practical value.

I think the reason subjects such as I have mentioned gain so little enthusiastic attention from students is that they are presented too much as if they were neatly tied boxes of gum drops. They are separated from other aspects of life. And life presented in sections, so to speak, often becomes unrecognizable as life.

Everyone is interested in the aspects of life that seem to be associated with himself in some way. Thus future teachers are inclined to regard as a waste of time things taught them which are not related to teaching. Future engineers tend to think nothing of practical value to them but engineering. And so on.

But every course in this school should be of interest to every student here. And if in the teaching of a course the relationship could be clearly shown between the matter taught and the living of life in general, the course would be interesting to students who otherwise would see nothing in it, because living, after all, is the main business of these thousands here.

I think that students studying any particular subject, psychology, chemistry, history, dress designing, anything you like, should at all times be made to realize that it is merely one aspect of the entire, complicated architecture of Man's thought. And only as the part relates to the whole is it interesting, or has it any value educationally.

Subjects taught in schools are too defined, too independent. The student should be helped to coordinate the mass of his knowledge, see things in their right relations, then he is truly educated.

AT the University of California they have hit upon a very original idea, but what purpose it serves is somewhat of a mystery . . . it is a plan by which the students grade the professors. Each student is given a card on which he rates the prof on the following five points: attitude toward students, tolerance, presentation of subject matter, power to stir intellectual curiosity, and general interest.

LOOKING into the future . . . Santa Barbara State is making tentative plans for a Santa Barbara State Day at the Golden Gate Exposition on October 28 . . . this date being chosen on account of the San Jose State-Santa Barbara State football game scheduled for October 27 . . . so the people from down south can kill two birds with one trip.

"CO-EDS ARE REASON MEN BECOME MISOGYNISTS" — so read a startling headline in the University Daily Kansan recently. So in case you don't know what a misogynist is, like I didn't . . . Webster says very simply that it is a woman hater. And the writer of the article went on to give a list of the many, many faults of women of the co-ed variety, anyway, among said complaints being one that went like this: "They capitalize on current styles by sitting in the front row of a masculine prof's classes. This is excellent grade insurance, but perfectly unfair to the poor guys who have only their brains to pass the course." Poor little fellows.

BETTY CO-ED—
How fat she are
She used to wasn't
The reason is
She daily doesn't.

A UNIVERSITY of Alabama student answered a particularly difficult question of a mid-term this way—"I don't know the answer to this one, but I do know a good joke that I can write in its place." Whereupon he scribbled off a 150 word yarn, and at the conclusion wrote: "I think you ought to be worth some credit, don't you? God bless you if you do, and God bless me if you don't."

Spring has come
Winter has went,
This was not did by accident.
The birds have flew,
As you have saw—
And this was did
By Nature's law.

If one looks very closely at the above bit of, shall we say "jargon", one might detect a bit of philosophy, or something.

JUST to make it more complicated, at Northwestern, a poll was held before the Second Semester Stamp to find the three most popular songs of the day among the students . . . The words to the winners are then flashed on the screen during the hop, and everybody sings while they dance . . . Maybe these people who sing all the time while they are dancing are able to get it all off their chests at once that way . . . or then again maybe it encourages them.

THE WORLD'S FAIR

Dear Thrust and Parry:

What is the matter with San Jose State? Someone has evidently overlooked the job of informing us that there is to be a World's Fair in our neighboring city which begins Saturday. All other schools and cities up and down the coast are doing something in keeping with the Western theme of the fair. Can't we do our bit by putting aside at least one day of next week to all turn out strong in Western garb. There's nothing to it. The fellows can add a bandana to their jeans and plaid shirts, and there they are. Let the girls rely on their ingenuity to originate something.

This is to be a California World's Fair, and after all, we're part of California. We should be part of the fair.

Could one of the Spartan Daily's seven sons take this into consideration and appoint a day or something. Let's all get behind whatever they (the Spartan Daily) plan. I think they can work out an appropriate idea.

Fair-minded Frosh.

FOR HANCHETT

Dear Thrust and Parry:

I am certainly grateful that Miss Hanchett has told us that Aileen O'Brien sympathizes with General Franco and the Falange cause. In that case, I will certainly go to hear her speak. I am for anyone who fights against communism, whether he is French, Italian, English, or German.

I think every American should mind his own business. What Franco is winning the civil war in Spain, or the Loyalists or kill priests, it is not any of our business. The sooner the Communists, Socialists, Nazis, and Fascists get out of this country the better off we Americans will be.

Frosh Hoopsters Win Ninth Straight

FROSH SWIMMING DUO, MACK AND HATCH, BETTER STROKE TIME

Arousing considerable comment in northern California swim circles is the meteoric rise of San Jose State's freshman breast stroke duo of Mack and Hatch that has dared to challenge the superiority of P.A.A. defending champion Jim Werson.

Times themselves seldom lie, and in the case of the Spartan frosh both men have bettered the time of the 1938 University of California swim captain and National A.A.U. champion. However, they have never been entered in the same meet, and tonight the Spartan's representatives in the Hayward P.A.A. championships will fall before Werson or fight it out to be the first San Jose Pacific Association champion since Withycombe won the dorsal event in 1937.

The Washington Square tankmen are still looked upon as dark horses in these meets by the Olympic Club, Stanford, and California who have long dominated swimming in northern California. Therefore, when the locals can present a man to completely outdo any members of this "hot shot" group, it usually comes as a surprise to the moguls of this section and it is then and only then that they sit up and take notice. Up to meet time, Werson, and the Stanford frosh, Nip Dudley, will probably remain the favorites to cop the 100 meter title.

Other locals, with the exception of Pillsbury in the back stroke and Foster in the breast stroke, will be just in the "traveling" class as the competition in the 100 meter back and free style events will be of record-breaking calibre.

The University of Oregon advance notices publicize a really great Webfoot aquatic team consisting of a well balanced squad that will more than entertain the Spartans in the college pool this Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Well balanced in the sprints and distances, the northerners have two great breast stroke swimmers who have both reputedly broken the Pacific Coast Conference 200 yard record in practice.

The Wempe brothers still remain out of the pool and are definitely out of the Hayward meet, but Coach Charlie Walker is hoping that Martin will be back to bolster the distances and Al to lend a much needed hand in the all-around varsity back stroke section in the Oregon meet. This meet will be triangular, between the local varsity and frosh and the visiting tankmen.

Boxing Team To Meet Real Test On Canadian Trip

Eight members of the San Jose boxing team will leave Monday morning on an extended tour that will take them into Canadian territory, where they will meet some of the finest competition in intercollegiate boxing circles.

The first matches are scheduled with the Grand View Athletic club, a Canadian team that earlier in the year came out even with the powerful University of Idaho squad.

The real test for the local glove tossers will come at Moscow, Idaho, when they tangle with the Idaho team in person. With Idaho boasting a national intercollegiate champion at 135 pounds and a former captain of the American Olympic boxing squad at 127 pounds, the Spartans will be in for a busy evening.

The eight men slated to make the trip are Don Pressley, heavy-weight; Pete Bolich, 175-pound class; Gene Fiske, 165; Bill Bolich, 155; Captain Jim Kincaid, 145; Dale Wren, 127; and George Kono-shima, 120 pounds. The 135 division was decided yesterday when Charlie Kerwin defeated Gabe Velez for the right to make the trip.

Takes Mitmen North

Coach Dee Portal is all smiles over the trip his boxing team is going to take into Canada, leaving next Monday. The Spartan fistic mentor will entrain with eight of his best leather tossers.

Ehle Wins Over Ken Boscacci

Victor Ehle gained the number five position on the varsity tennis ladder this week by defeating Ken Boscacci 7-5, 6-0. In the first set with Ehle leading 5-2 Boscacci rallied to take the next three games, but his advance was cut short and Ehle went on to win the next two games and match.

Boscacci, apparently fired up after his defeat by Ehle challenged Walt Nasif for number six position and emerged victorious, 6-2, 6-4.

Another challenge match is scheduled for this afternoon with George Kifer meeting George Quetin for the number two spot.

Postponed from last Friday the practice matches with San Mateo J. C. will be held tomorrow provided the sunny weather continues.

Freshman Baseball Prospects Bright, Says Coach MacDonald

Starting with the biggest collection of pitchers and catchers in the history of frosh baseball at San Jose State college, Coach Hovey MacDonald begins practice this week.

Four complete "combinations" have shown up so far. However, their value has not been proven, and according to MacDonald, he will have to experiment with all of the possible partnerships before he most efficient is found.

Gaelets Victims Of 37-32 Upset; Carter Stars

By FRANK BONANNO

Coach Walt McPherson's freshman basketball team defeated the highly touted Saint Mary's frosh last night in the Spartan Pavilion 37-32, and in doing so stretched their winning streak to nine consecutive games, and avenged the defeat suffered two weeks ago at the hands of the Gaels.

It took Mac's boys five minutes of the first half to get underway, and then it was the pint-sized Stu Carter sinking two field goals and two foul shots that put the yearlings out in front, where they remained for the rest of the game.

Preps For Gauchos

Coach Bill Hubbard sends his charges back to work today in preparation for the Santa Barbara Gauchos who come here for a pair of ball games. The Spartans and their Southern foes play on Friday and Saturday nights.

NOTICES

CARTER SHINES

Carter, playing his best game of the year, showed plenty of fight both offensively and defensively. He played circles around the supposedly air-tight defense of the Gaelets, and continually stole the ball away from his opponents to gather points for the Spartans.

Mac's combination of Figone, Carter, Ford, Maestri, and Sturz worked smooth and used their fast breaking game to good advantage in the first half. Ford and Maestro stood out on defense, and looked impressive when handling the ball.

The Gaels returned in the second half with the score 17-13 against them, and held the San Jose frosh to a single point in the first five minutes of the second half, while they proceeded to come within three points of tying the score at 20-17.

In the remaining minutes of the game the Saint Mary's babes started one last effort to overcome the fast stepping Spartan frosh.

Tobin and Boyle each sank a field goal closing the gap to 29-37, but McPherson sent in new reserves to stop the desperate Gaels. Carter took scoring honors with 14 points, Texdahl made six digits, while Tobin hit the hoop for eight points for the Gael frosh.

THIRD BRONCO GAME

The yearlings will play two games over the week-end, but as yet no opponents have been picked. According to McPherson, he will try to get the Santa Clara frosh here to play the third and deciding game of the series. The Broncos won the first game and the Spartans came back later in the season to knock over the high-riding Broncolets.

The frosh hope to win their tenth and eleventh consecutive games on Friday and Saturday nights of this week when they play two preliminary engagements with unnamed opponents.

GWLADIS LULOFF GIVES RECITAL FEBRUARY 21

Miss Gwladis Luloff, who has gained an international reputation as an authority and interpreter of "Olde Musick", will give a recital here on February 21 at 8 o'clock.

She will feature the music of the clavichord and the virginal, and will conclude with piano music.

WEARS COSTUMES

Enveloped in the spirit of the 17th and 18th century music, Miss Luloff is hailed by music critics as the reincarnation of the spirit of Johann Sebastian Bach. Miss Luloff is said to be a unique personality, graceful in costumes designed to complete the charming picture she makes seated at her old instruments.

The daughter of Russian parents of musical ability, Miss Luloff began as a pianistic prodigy, later studying with many of the famous pianists of today; and her work has been enthusiastically received by the foremost artists and critics of this country and abroad.

PLAYS CLAVICHORD

The clavichord and the virginal are both forerunners of the modern piano, and on these instruments Miss Luloff will present old music, the most modern of which will be the music of Bach and Handel.

Tickets for this concert will be 35 cents for students, and 40 cents for the general public.

Players Present 'Dulcy' Tonight

Typical line: Dulcy asking guests into dinner, "come, let's hurry before the grapefruit gets warm."

The play has a galaxy of good comedy parts including that of "Vincent Leach", the "ultra sophisticated" played by Tom Pagenharp, the self-styled "advertising engineer", "Sterret", taken by John Knapp, and that of "Schuler Van Dyke", as played by Carlton Lindgren.

GILLI'S DEBUT

Peter Gilli makes his debut as an actor here tonight as the ex-convict butler "Henry", who is accused of stealing some jewelry from some unsuspecting guests. He designed and built the sets for the play.

Hilda Hanchett appears in the role of Mrs. Forbes, and Frances Pearson plays the mystery man, "Patterson".

A few tickets still remain in the main speech office, Room 49, at 25 cents to students and 50 cents to faculty and the general public.

DR. MASON SPEAKS MONDAY

Unemployment Is Bliss To Reporter

By JACK DUTTWEILER

They say the life of a reporter is a miserable one. Well, here's proof:

The other day when covering my beat I nonchalantly wandered over to the office of superintendent of grounds and buildings.

"Hello, Mr. Stillwell," I said. "Have you got anything for me today?"

"Work?" he replied.

Ugh—the very sound of the word does things to me.

Then to top things off I went over to the Art building where carpenters were at work. I told them I was sent by Mr. Stillwell and started asking questions.

"Do you want work?" I was asked.

Result—I don't think I'll cover that beat.

Two Hundred Bricks Used Yearly By Library For Book Ends

By BILL REGAN

Mighty structures from little bricks grow; but a different use for bricks has been found by the San Jose State college library.

USED PEACEFULLY

Over two hundred bricks are used every year by the college library, according to Joseph Stillwell, superintendent of buildings and grounds. My inquiring mind immediately wonders if the librarians go out on dark nights and throw bricks through greenhouse windows. However, there is another possible use for 200 bricks. Perhaps the librarians use a suggestive looking brickbat to coerce stubborn fugitives from a library fine. Yes, that must be the solution.

"Say, Mr. Stillwell, what does the library do with 200 bricks?" I asked, with a knowing wink. And then he told me the story of the bricks, shattering my dreams of uncovering skulduggery in the library.

BUY 200 BRICKS

"Every year we buy 200 bricks; wash them, cover them with mastic paper, and paint them with two coats of green paint. Then what do you think the library does with them?" asked Stillwell.

Er—ah-hum. They throw them through—!!

"No, they use them for book ends on the shelves. And they make very fine book ends too," commented the buildings and grounds superintendent.

And so 200 bricks sit in the library and smell the books and dead silence all day long.

35,000 ton battleship, Bismark, and hailed it as indicative of a return of Germany to world naval power.

Governor Culbert L. Olson, with his military aide, Col. Charles Henderson, went into a huddle yesterday to determine an answer to the disputes over the relocation of the Delta Railroad between the CIO and the AFL. Henderson indicated the question would be for the governor to decide whether to call the National Guard should the construction company start work with AFL labor to guard against a clash with CIO pickets.

Declaring the international situation to be "volcanic", the House of Representatives yesterday passed and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing expansion of the army air corps to 550 planes. That is 3180 more planes than the army now is authorized to have.

Assailing the war secrecy of the President, Senator Johnson of California yesterday stated that any war "will be fought by the common people who will have to do the dying" and not by the President. "The people of the land have a right to know whether they are being led into war. There is no way to excuse this secrecy."

FOREIGN DEVELOPMENTS

LONDON—Members of the British cabinet decided yesterday to recognize the Spanish nationalistic government in principle, but actual granting will be delayed pending further consultations with France.

BUDAPEST—Because of opposition to his proposals to regulating Jews and afterwards startling his party members by announcing that he himself discovered he was partly Jewish, Bela Imredi, Premier of Hungary, resigned yesterday.

BUENOS AIRES—Argentina yesterday announced its intention to reduce the importations of United States commodities to what it was four years ago because the imports far over-balanced United States purchases of Argentina goods.

OLD AGE PENSION

Members of the House of Representatives were told yesterday by Representative Martin F. Smith of Washington that the Townsend old age pension is the most effective method of promoting business recovery because it would provide adequate volume and velocity of money.

One big boss compliments another. This happened yesterday when the official paper of Italy, "Popolo Di Roma", blazoned news of the launching of Germany's

MACHINES ON TRIAL NOW

On trial for an indefinite period in the Business Machines room are two 1939 models of the Allen Wales adding machines and a Monroe calculator, according to Barney Woods, assistant in the Business Machines classes.

HAVE INCREASED SPEED

Both electrical and hand models of the Adding machine are on trial. The advantage of these new models is their increased speed due to the fact that they require less finger movement, according to Woods.

New in the course this year is the rotary model of the Ditto duplicator which is used in colored advertisements for inter-office communication. The older duplicator, a flat model, is also used in the class.

IMPROVES DICTION

The Ediphone Dictator machine used in the class is of great value to persons desiring to improve their dictation, according to Woods. By listening to the sound of their own voices they can determine where improvement is needed. Records for the machine are scraped after each recording is made on them and may be used as many as one hundred times.

Other machines used in the course are the Comptometer, Book-keeping, Banking, and Transcribing machines.

SAN JOSE STATE COLLEGE

SPARTAN DAILY
SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA

Students:

We have in San Jose a large number of merchants who are interested in the students here at San Jose State College. Their interest goes beyond the idea of selling merchandise to you. A good many of these merchants have gone to school here, they have seen our school grow and want to see it continue to grow.

These merchants have tried to help us by buying advertising in the Spartan Daily; in return we have given them advertising value for their money. Inasmuch as they have invested something in our school, why shouldn't we try to help them.

If you will PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS I am sure that they will continue to give you their support. When making purchases, whether large or small, think of the people who make it possible for you to have a daily paper.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE PLACE,
Business Manager.
