Saunders' Comedy Opens Tonight

Last Student Body Dance Friday Night In Men's Gymnasium

CAMPUS GROUPS TO BE FETED AT INSIGNIA AFFAIR

The last student body dance of the year will take place this Friday night in the Men's gym from 8 until 12 o'clock. Featuring the music of Henry Marten and his orchestra, the dance will be in honor of the on-campus organization at San Jose State college. The theme will be that of "Insignia Dance" and Social Affairs Chairman Steve Hosa requests that all on campus groups construct a sign three by four feet in size bearing the insignia or crest of their organization. These signs will be hung around the gymnasium and all groups should have their sign in Miss Dimmicks office by 6 o'clock Friday.

One intermission feature is provided by the dance committee which includes some of the best of the campus talent, this floor show will be presented during the course of the evening and promises to be a real hit, according to Hosa.

Stage will not be admitted to the dance and there will be no charge for couples with student body cards.

Militarization Of Youth Topic Of Open Forum

The militarization of youth will be discussed in the Open Forum meeting today at noon in Room 27 of the Home Economics building. Reverend Stephen Peabody of the First Congregational church and Mr. Frank Peterson of the Aviation department will be the leaders on the topic, "Is Youth Being Militarized?"

How great is the extent of militarism in Youth? If there is a trend, is it good or bad, and what causes it? These and other questions the forum group may ask will be answered.

The meeting will conclude the Open Forum discussions for the year, and all students and faculty members are urged to attend and take part.

Education Majors

A request that all education majors who desire to hold conferences concerning their fall programs come to Room 61 or 161 before the last week of school has been issued by the education office. Teachers will not be available for these conferences during the last week, Miss Alice Whittenberg, education secretary, said yesterday.

College Choir Gives Concert Friday, June 9

The A Capella Choir of San Jose State college will sing a half-hour concert for the Music-Arts program in the Little Theater on June 9.

Directed by William Erlendson, voice director of the Music department, the group of sixty voices will sing modern popular compositions. The program will be announced next week.

This concert is the last of the Music-Arts programs presented every Friday noon during the school year from 12:30 to 1:00 in the Little Theater. There is no admission charge.

National Installation Of P.E. Frat Saturday

LOCAL CHAPTER TAKES IN 45

San Jose State's Alpha Epsilon chapter of Phi Epsilon Kappa, national men's physical education fraternity, will hold its installation ceremonies in the Scottish Rite Temple Saturday evening, Dudley S. DeGroot, athletic director, announced yesterday.

Under the direction of Carl Trieb, grand vice-president, the local chapter will accept 45 members. Twenty-seven of this number will be active members while the remaining 17 are alumni who have been invited to join the group as charter members. Six faculty members will also be installed during the ceremonies.

Acceptance of San Jose by Phi Epsilon Kappa came in April following a visit to the local campus by Trieb. At this time the grand vice-president stated that facilities at San Jose State were excellent.

FIVE ON COAST
When ceremonies are completed Saturday evening, San Jose will become the only State college west of the Mississippi to belong to the organization. With 39 chapters throughout the United States, the fraternity lists U.S.C., U.C.L.A., Occidental, Oregon, and Washington State as the five active members on the Pacific coast outside of San Jose State.

The following members of the local chapter will be installed in the national fraternity:

Louis Antognani, Robert Berry,

POLICE SCHOOL

32 Students Direct Memorial Day Traffic

Thirty-two members of the San Jose State Police School, under the guidance of William A. Wiltberger, Police School head, and Chief John N. Black of the San Jose police department, handled all downtown traffic for the Memorial Day parade on Tuesday.

Offering their services as patriots, the students also learned valuable experience, as well as giving more local officers an opportunity to march.

Monday evening at the Traffic Safety parade, sponsored by the San Jose Junior Chamber of Commerce, police students will march at the downtown parade.

The parade is being given as a result of a traffic research which had recently been taken by C. E. Bobbett, from the National Safety council in Chicago.

La Torre Will Be Distributed Within 10 Days

Informal Pictures Are Featured In 152 Page Book

Bigger and more colorful than ever, the 1939 La Torre, student yearbook, is expected to come off the presses ready for distribution sometime within the next 10 days.

Editor-In-Chief Dorothy Curry pointed out some of the outstanding features of the annual, among which a five-page history of Spardi Gras prepared by Arthur Van Horn, Ben Johnson, and George Place, stands out. Last year the student council suggested that a Spardi Gras history be prepared and the five-page section in this year's La Torre is the result of a year's research and gathering of old photographs from as far back as 1929.

The 152 pages which make up the book tell the story of the college year with formal and informal type pictures crammed every page. Emphasis is laid on the informal type of layout wherever possible. Surprise shots of the faculty in action occupy the top spots on the formerly strictly formal faculty page.

Players Present Final Production In Little Theater

TICKETS ON SALE IN ROOM 49 FOR BOTH PERFORMANCES; SELL-OUT PREDICTED

John Monks Saunders' hilarious comedy of Virginia Military Institute, "Brother Rat" opens tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the college Little Theater for a two-day run.

The presentation of the comedy marks the final San Jose Players production of the 1938-39 nine-play season—largest and most ambitious in the history of the organization.

Group To Have Folkdancing On Friday Evening

Camp Leadership group on the campus announces an evening of folkdancing at the Centella Methodist church gym on Friday night from 8:00 until 10:30 o'clock.

Lawton Harris, executive secretary of East Bay Church Federation, will lead the dances for the groups. The Camp Leadership group recently held an enjoyable evening of dancing under the direction of Mr. Harris.

Admission will be 25c with refreshments being served, announced Ruthadele Taylor, president of the Camp Leadership group.

Men and women students and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

LARGE SALES
Though large ticket sales this week have considerably depleted the supply, good tickets for both nights may still be purchased in Room 49, according to the speech office. A sell-out for the performances is predicted.

Primarily a man's play, the balance of the action centers in the military academy with Rabor Davenport as the dashing Billy Randolph, Jack Knapp as the bewildered Bing, Tom Pagenhart as the much persecuted under-classesmen Mistol, and Leb Shortino, in his first college dramatic appearance, as Dan Crawford.

RANGE AS "JOYCE"
Major women's roles in the play are taken by Virginia Range who will play Joyce Winfree; Mary Morissette as Claire Ramm, and Annette Owen as Kate Rice who

Senior Ball June 10

DANCE TO BE SPRING FORMAL

Seniors will have today and tomorrow only to have first preference of bids over lower classmen, according to Bob Goshen, chairman of the annual Senior Ball.

The dance, which will be held in the spacious romantic setting of the Olympic Club at Lakeside in San Francisco, promises to be the most spectacular affair of the year, and plans are now completed for June 10.

This is the first time a senior class of San Jose State has ever had their dance in San Francisco, let alone the Olympic Club, which is restricted to members only.

Buddy Maleville, who will furnish the rhythms, is noted among fraternity and sorority circles for his sweet music and good entertainment. Maleville formerly played last summer for the Rio Del Mar Country Club, and recently ended an engagement at Sweet's Ballroom in Oakland. He also furnished the music for the APO Full Moon Hop last Saturday.

To carry out the theme of graduation, clever bids have been made to duplicate a tiny diploma. They are rolled and tied with a gold cord.

Adding to the glamour of the evening in conjunction with the beautiful surroundings of the club itself, and the tiny winding walks around the grounds, will be the moon—in its last quarter, carrying out the traditional moon which always seems to appear at the Senior Ball.

This year's Ball will be spring formal. Those who have tuxedos may wear them. However, light coats and tux trousers, as well as all white suits or light colored ones are also acceptable. Co-eds will wear formals.

Decorations of the club will be small because of the already present beauty of the place; however, plants from the Olympic greenhouse will enhance the comfortable lounges available to those who prefer to "sit out a few".

SWEEPINGS

By BEN MELZER

You may not be aware of it, but—someday soon there's going to be a social revolution—and from a direction which you totally unsuspect! We, personally, in the quiet of our lonely room, have seen it creeping silently, nearer and nearer, for a long time now, but not until we saw a cartoon appearing in a coastal publication recently did we realize how universally dangerous such manifest signs of it have become.

This cartoon shows the interior of a large, officious-looking bank. In its center, jumping up and down in the throes of raging frustration, is a gentleman, who, were it not for the extremity of the occasion, would otherwise be an ordinary peaceful citizen. In each up-flung hand he has a gun which he is firing wildly into the air. The tellers in their cages about him appear to be watching his one-man revolt with that imperturbable indifference of which only bank tellers and other publicans of the type are capable.

TO GET ATTENTION
The legend underneath quotes him as shouting, "My name is Horace J. Quimble, and by G—, the next time I want to cash a check, you'll remember me!"

This cartoon represents just one more among the many protests that all of us who are consumers—either of merchandise or of public services—have at one time or another felt against clerks or officials in public business houses, and are increasingly feeling, from day to day.

The two humorist-seers who have written oftenest and most effectively about this undeclared war between the humble consumer and his age-old antagonist, the distributor, or "public servant", are Stephen Leacock and Robert Benchley. "My Financial Career", one of Leacock's best sketches, deals tellingly with his experience in trying to make a small deposit in a bank. But do not be deceived by the facetious note; such writing is ominous: It secretly predicts social change!

SMUG MIDDLECLASS
For the license to mangle the timid ego of the consumer population is not the sole property of bank clerks. It appears also to be a natural prerogative of salesgirls, shoe clerks, soda fountain boys, chief floor-walkers, sales managers, and executives.

That farcical phrase, "public servant", so blithely used to describe them, is pure and simple wish-fulfillment thinking on the part of a long-suffering public. It was probably originated by some desperate buyer who, having been overcome with shame by the staring, fish-eyed hauteur of a supercilious clerk, had fled from the store, failing in his third attempt of the day to buy a pair of shoes.

He went home, defeated, and to massage his thwarted ego, referred those clerks acidly to his wife and children, as "public servants", spitting vindictively at the fireplace. Soon friends and neighbors, having suffered similar experiences, took up the label, and finally it came to be a sort of national war-cry, like "Down with Capitalism!" and "Free Tom Mooney!"

So you see what comes of fooling with the masses. They'll stand for just so much, for just so long, and then they'll rebel. Look at the French Revolution. Look at the Boxer Rebellion. Look at anything. We hate to think of the gory day when all the consumers will rise against all the publicans, and run them out into the oceans at both ends of the continent.

But we do think of it—and personally, we think it would be a darned good thing!

Ben Melzer

FIFTY YEARS FROM NOW

By CULVER WOLD

Henri Steinmère, Central European historian, has unearthed what he calls an "exceedingly curious" book called "Mein Kampf" by Adolph Hitler, administrator of what was formerly Germany.

Written in a dry, and witty manner, Steinmère declares Hitler's natural style of humor would be an overnight sensation in the present day.

Joseph Murphy, clergyman of San Jose (a suburb of Los Angeles) declares that the youth of today are going to the dogs.

The clergyman said that youth of today spend too much time running around in the stratosphere and don't keep their feet on the ground.

He also admitted to reporters that the abolishment of human labor in industry might have something to do with the matter.

The International Daily of New York last week announced the installation of a new press. Due to a new theory of press construction, it can turn out a million and a half, one-hundred-page newspapers a minute.

Lemuel M. Delovey, chief superintendent of the plant, praised the new press in an interview yesterday.

"It is a wonderful invention, and is a great step forward in the progress of newspapers. We have experienced but one difficulty in its operation, though.

"That is, we have yet to figure out a way to stop it!"

Hiram Johnson, California senator, spoke before reporters this week on his recent re-election to Congress.

"Californians have become so used to voting for me," he declared, "that I have received the majority in the last two elections because people just can't realize that I am dead."

A "Roosevelt Era" WPA worker (Works Progress Administration) was found asleep leaning on a now almost extinct hand-shovel on a long unused road in Nevada yesterday.

When awakened, he expressed surprise to learn that no one was working. When informed that human labor had been abolished, he flashed a knowing grin and exclaimed:

"Oh, now it's a dole? eh?"

A Call To Arms

During the next three or four weeks more than 120,000 students will be graduated from colleges and universities throughout the United States to join that legion of youth which has had the benefit of so-called higher education.

In other great nations of the world similar youths are likewise going forth, but to answer a call to arms—to serve a training period in some army in preparation for a war to come. Thank God, the United States has not yet come to this.

There is a call to arms for the youth of the United States, however. Its tones are no less clarion than the bugle calls in England, France, Germany, Italy. But the arms are not of steel and powder and poison gas. Our weapons are the greatest, the most enduring weapons of all—tolerance, freedom, clear thinking, a sense of justice.

But how are we to use these weapons and the knowledge that we have gained? To be able to make a living is of course essential. Much of our training has been for that sole purpose. Equally important, however, is to be able to contribute our bit to civilization.

From past generations we have inherited technological inventions, progressive, moral, and spiritual standards, democratic institutions. We are today living on fruit from seeds sown by our ancestors. Civilization is like a fruit tree—it must be constantly nourished or it will perish.

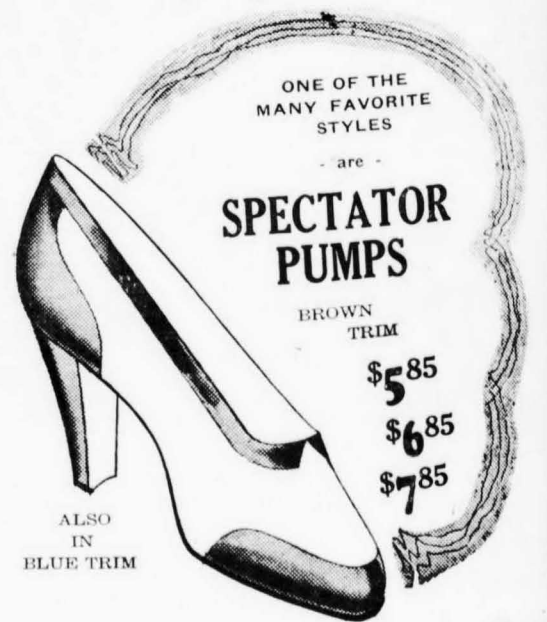

The individual who takes his bread and butter from society without contributing something to the enrichment of civilization for the benefit of our own and future generations is a leech upon the social body.

Civilization is not a static thing. It is dynamic. Having had the benefit of higher education, we are the ones upon whom leadership should largely fall in directing this dynamic organization forward.

We have an obligation to heed this call to arms. Our answer must not be in terms of mutilated bodies rotting on some battlefield. Our answer must be in contributions—social, moral, or aesthetic—to that society which we cannot allow to die.

—Gardner Waters.

Spartan Tracksters Finish Workouts For Junior P.A.A.

By SVEND HANSEN

The San Jose State track team had its last stiff workout in preparation for the Junior P.A.A. track and field championship meet, which will be held at Spartan Field Saturday, yesterday at Stanford University.

In this meet San Jose is host to the cream of the track and field crop from almost all of the schools in this area. The Stanford Indians, defending their title in this meet, are expected to repeat their performance of last year by the authorities that be.

The Spartan track coach, genial "Tiny" Hartranft, believes that several existing records will be broken by the participants. Among those expected to fall are the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Tom Nelson, of Fresno State, is expected to break the records of 9.7 and 21 seconds respectively which were set by young Harold Davis of Morgan Hill last year and who also will be on hand to defend his marks Saturday.

Last night at midnight was set as the deadline for entries, and while there won't be as many entered this year as last, Hartranft stated they will be of a better quality.

There will be a special meeting of the Rainbow club today at 12:15 in Room 1 of the H.E. building to discuss final plans for the Pot Luck supper with the Yal Omads on June 8.—Edith Riley, pres.

Fortune Masdeo Elected Captain Of Wrestlers

Fortune Masdeo, Pacific Coast Intercollegiate champion in the 145 pound division, was elected captain of the 1940 wrestling team last night at a dinner in honor of the team which holds the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate championship this year.

Also honored at the affair was Sam Della Maggiore, who received the annual Robert Roumasset award, which is given to the member of the wrestling team judged highest in character, ability, and scholarship. Della Maggiore also received from Coach Gene Grattan the medal which he won as second in the National Intercollegiate championships this year.

Dudley S. DeGroot, Spartan football coach, was the principal speaker at the affair which was held at the home of J. D. Crumme.

Four Players Seeded In Tennis Tournament

Four entries in the all-college women's tennis tournament now being sponsored by the women's P.E. department have been ceded first-rate players.

Jean Hooker from Hanford, Alice Starry from San Jose, Charlotte Sutfin from Corning, and Ethel Hamby from Watsonville are expected to offer stiff competition in their matches.

All first and second round matches should be finished by this afternoon, with the third and fourth round played off over the week-end.

DTO's Lead 1000 Club, 1-0, In Softball Race; Nats In Front

The mighty 1000 Club, defending champions of the Intramural softball tournament and present contenders for the title, are trailing the DTO's, who are resting in sixth place in the race, by the score of 1 to 0, at the end of the fourth inning.

ZIMMERMAN ON MOUND

Leroy Zimmerman, on the mound for the fraternity brothers, had the club team at bay during the entire afternoon. He allowed three hits, which was the fault of poor support on the part of his teammates.

Rex Pursell, who plays football for Dud DeGroot in his spare time, accounted for the one run, which he tripled to centerfield over the head of Swede Smersfelt. The DTO's reached Chucker Al Linder with comparative ease, and had him in hot water constantly.

INTERNATIONALS LEAD

In the meantime, the Internationals, tied for first place with the 1000 Club, went into a hitting spree and scored three runs in the first inning to take a commanding lead over the Darkhorses. With four innings left to be played today, the Darkhorses must come from behind if they expect to stay in the running for the title.

The result of the Stooze-Left-Over game was not available yesterday, and therefore the standing for third place is still a battle between the Darkhorses, Stoozes, and Jugglers. All games started yesterday will be finished up today, according to an announcement made by Gil Bishop.

EXPERIENCED STATERS IN SANTA CRUZ SWIM

By CHRIS JENSEN

Excitement, good sportsmanship, and fighting spirit are all enacted in one of the best swim marathons on the Pacific Coast, namely the Santa Cruz open water swim. Last year many of the swimmers emerged from the sea, blue with cold. Although it is one of the toughest of races, these men will be back again to swim this year.

Just how many of those who have signed for this swim will actually appear on Sunday is the biggest worry of Coach Charlie Walker at this point. Walker also explained yesterday that it will take speed as well as stamina to finish near the top.

Last year the dependable Martin Wempe was the first Spartan to finish and was in fifth spot. Wes Hammond, Dean Foster, Al Wempe, and Jack Windsor were the next four Staters to come in.

Frank Savage, Howard Withycombe, Jack Butler, Jim Kirtley, George Devins, Bill Johnston, Bob Titchenal, Dave Titchenal, Fred Duttweiler, Keith Birlem, Nelson, Tom Gifford, Frank Mazzone, Bernard Emerson, Max Crittenden, and John Freedman placed in that order to cop the trophy for Sparta.

To the average person this does not mean much, but to one who has been following swimming on Washington Square, this sheds an optimistic light on their chances of State's winning this year.

Only a few of these swimmers are lost to the team for next Sunday's swim and a squad of 18 swimmers experienced in open water swimming should help San Jose's chances tremendously in making a repeat performance of last year's winning team.

Radunich's Pro Debut Delayed

Professional boxing debut of Bill Radunich, former San Jose State college fighter, which had been scheduled for next Tuesday, has been postponed until a later date, it was announced yesterday.

The proposed bout was cancelled after Radunich's handlers and local fight promoters failed to come to an agreement on the terms of the fight.

John Burdick, Radunich's trainer, met the postponement with approval, since he believes that the former Spartan ring ace needs more schooling before his first outing.

BILL ROBERTSON SAVES WOMAN FROM FALL ON GEOLOGY TRIP

By JACK DUTTWEILER

Bill Robertson, San Jose State student, figured prominently in the saving of a life while on the geology field trip to Yosemite last week-end.

Hiking to Half Dome with other class members, Robertson stood to one side of the path to make way for a young woman coming in the opposite direction. Due to loose gravel on the pathway, she lost her footing, and would have fallen over a precipitous cliff were it not for the fact that Robertson and a companion of the girl grabbed her and pulled her back to safety.

This incident occurred on Sunday, the second day the group was away from school.

On Saturday the geologists spent most of the day in the floor of the valley, visiting such places as Yosemite Falls, Mirror Lake, and Sierra Point.

Early Sunday morning the party hiked up through Vernal and Nevada Falls. Here the group split into three parties, one leaving for Merced Lake, another to Half Dome, and the third to Cloud's Rest.

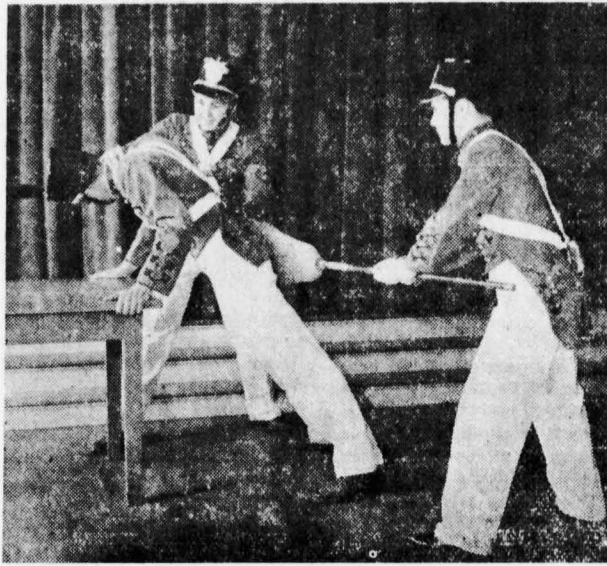

An hour and a half was spent in a museum on Monday morning, the group looking over various exhibits. The Staters then took to their automobiles and motored to Bridal Veil Falls, through Wawona Tunnel, to Glacier Point, where they had lunch, and then to the base of Sentinel Dome. Here they left their cars and went on foot to the top of the dome, collecting quartz and feldspar. That night they camped at Mariposa Big Trees, and a group from each automobile was responsible for a contribution to the evening's festivities around the bonfire.

Leaving the park on Tuesday morning, the group arrived at a ranch east of Madera at about noon. After eating and swimming as guests of the ranch owners, the geologists drove on, arriving at San Jose before dark.

Wayne E. Kartchner, geology instructor, accompanied the group, which totalled about forty.

Presbyterian Campus club meeting at 12:15 today in Room 1 of H. E. building. Dr. Saunders will speak for us. This is last meeting, so please come.

Brother Rats . . .

Wielding the broom on the unfortunate Tom Pagenhart is Leo Shortino, who with the help of Frank Wilson, enacts one of the scenes for "Brother Rat", hilarious comedy which San Jose Players present tonight as their final effort of the season.

DEBATE CLUB GIVES PARTY

Annual barbecue of the Spartan Senate, debating society, will be held tomorrow afternoon from 3:00 to 7:30 at Almaden, according to Audrey Lassere, president of the group.

Initiation of new members into Spartan Senate will be featured at the gathering, to which all alumni and members are invited. Price of admission to the barbecue is fifty cents a person.

Newhouse Goes East To Kappa Phi Convention

Dorothea Newhouse, president-elect of Omega of Kappa Phi, will be one of the group from the San Jose State campus attending the National Convention which is to be held in Northfield, Massachusetts, from June 21-28.

Others attending the convention from this campus will be Mrs. Myrtle Calkins, sponsor; Mrs. Florence Bryant, faculty adviser; Tressie Richards, Frances Faulds, Verna Coonradt, Betty Mae Calkins, Ruth Plumb, and Dorothea Bernsdorf. Roberta Gibbons, an alumna of Kappa Phi who was graduated from San Jose State last June, will join the group in Sacramento.

Others in the cast include Johnson Mosier playing Slim, Marvin Leedman as "Tripod Andrews", and Bob Gray as "Newsreel" Scott.

JOHNSON DESIGNS SETS
Sets for the play, designed by Mr. Wendell Johnson and constructed by the Stagecraft class, have been pronounced by Mr. Hugh Gillis, head of the Speech department who directs the play, to be one of the season's best.

Peter Gilli is stage manager and Mary Breass heads the properties department.

TAU DELTA PHI TO CHOOSE OFFICERS

Election of officers will take the attention of the Tau Deltas tomorrow noon when the honorary scholarship fraternity holds its weekly meeting in the Tower.

Urging all members to attend Grand Magistrate Tom Hardiman stated yesterday that elections would probably require at least two meetings for completion.

Fifteen neophytes will be honored tomorrow evening when Tau Delta Phi members and alumni hold their annual spring pledge party. With the Redwood Estates set as the scene of the barbecue, the Tau Deltas will enjoy an afternoon and evening of entertainment, Hardiman stated.
