Dramatists Give Season's Most Expensive Play

MARGARET DOUGLAS ADAPTS STORY FOR STAGE PRODUCTION

The San Jose Players' production of Charles Dickens' "Christmas Carol" is the most expensive play to produce of the Players' season, Mr. Hugh W. Gillis announces. "The costume bill for this production is tremendous," Mr. Gillis says. "It will absorb all the profits made on 'Twelfth Night' and 'Our Town'."

GOOD JOB

Mr. Gillis states that Miss Margaret Douglas, play director, has done a wonderful job in adapting the story to the stage.

The part of Scrooge will be played by Howard Chamberlin. Elena Lindeman will portray the part of Scrooge's sweetheart. Louis Daniel will play Scrooge's nephew, Fred.

OTHER PARTS

James Hendricks, of Roosevelt junior high, will play Tiny Tim. Mr. Fezziwig will be played by Lowell Heath and Mrs. Fezziwig by Eleanor Wagner.

MUSICAL RECITAL BY DEXTERS TOMORROW EVE.

Mrs. Dexter, wife of San Jose's new piano instructor and concert pianist, Mr. Benning Dexter, will join her husband in a cello-piano recital free to the public tomorrow evening at 8:15 in the Little Theater, announces Mr. Adolph Otterstein, Music department head.

Mrs. Dexter, the former Betty Barbour, studied at the Julliard School of Music in New York from 1935 to 1938, and often appeared in concert and with the Julliard orchestra while there.

Mr. Dexter, who is already known to the college through his presentation by the Music department in concert on October 17, also studied at the Julliard school.

Council Discusses S. B. Cards, Band Uniforms

San Jose State college's student council meets again tonight at 7 o'clock in the Student Union with a number of important items to consider including the questions of student body cards, and band uniforms. President Hugh Staley announces.

Members of the committee on student body cards will present a report advocating the adoption of cards similar to those used at the College of Pacific, according to Chairman Steve Hosa, which will have a photograph of the student set in the cards.

The adoption of this type of card, says Hosa, should eliminate the illegal use of student body cards which has plagued athletic and student administrators throughout this season.

Also under consideration will be a proposal to turn profits accruing from the annual Spartan Revelries over to a fund to purchase new band uniforms. The plan was advocated in the Revelries directors board meeting and will be referred by them to the council.

Publications Toy Pile Growing; Ten Days Left To Contribute

By CULVER WOLD

Christmas is here! Anyway, evidenced by the growing number of toys in the Publications office at least, the spirit of Christmas is here, in the minds of San Jose State college students.

Any students so imbued with the spirit had better hurry his toy to the fifth annual Spartan Daily Toy Pile for the benefit of needy children as there are only ten more gift-giving days until the Christmas holidays.

Sainte Claire Scene Of Affair; Dr. Cassidy, From Mills, Speaker

San Jose State college women will meet at the Sainte Claire Hotel at 6:30 tomorrow night for the joint W.A.A.-A.W.S. Christmas banquet.

Main item on the evening's program will be an address by Dr. Rosalind Cassidy, convener of education at Mills College.

TOPIC OF ADDRESS

Topic of Dr. Cassidy's address will be comparative lives of the college girl in America and Europe, according to Virginia Moore, W.A.A. president who is working with A.W.S. President Audrey Morrell in arranging the annual affair.

Tickets for the banquet sell for one dollar and may be purchased from any member of the two councils of the two women's organizations.

TICKET PRIZE

Offered as a prize to the girls selling the most tickets is a tennis racquet donated by Gordon's Tennis Shop, according to Miss Moore. General chairman of the affair is Mildred Moore. Ruby Freitas and Jane Lovell have charge of decorations while Billie Starrett and Barbara Jean Wallace are arrangement chairmen.

OTHER COMMITTEES

Other committee heads are program, Mary Frees and Jane Desmond; gifts, Charlotte Sutfin and Jean Warren; and publicity and tickets, Mary Lou Dougan.

'Sampson' Sheared After Spartans' Successful Season

CHAUNCEY GETS THE AXE!

By CARLTON PEREGOY

"Sampson" Benevento, he of the lengthy golden locks who saw the Spartans through an undefeated, untied season, is no more.

The senior grid manager is again just plain Chauncey Benevento, or when associated with his partner, Walt Mazzone, is the "Ball" of the "Screw-Ball" combination.

FINALLY CLIPPED

For twelve hours after the Spartans made it thirteen straight and assured themselves of an undefeated season, Chauncey stepped into the barber's chair, and one hour later emerged looking like the Chauncey of old.

In three months, the popular little guy who has handled the equipment of the football team during its three most successful seasons, has let his locks grow and grow, and grow. He had a haircut just before reporting for work at the start of the season and refused to get a clip-job for fear that without his long locks the luck of the Spartans would not hold out.

EXPOSED TO CLIMATE

But now that the "pressure" is off and San Jose State has realized its first undefeated, untied season in history, Chauncey is braving the oncoming winter, with several pounds of hair removed from his cranium. He should be cautioned to wear a woolen hat and ear muffs until his skull becomes accustomed to being exposed to the cold air after being shut off from the outside world for so long.

Chauncey and his "screwball" partner, Mazzone, have kept the spirit of the team keyed to a high pitch all season and deserve nearly as much credit for their good work as do the players themselves.

Revelries Board Will Name Show Director Today

Four Men Considered; Music, Libretto Work To Begin At Once

The Revelries director board of student and faculty members will name the director of the annual Spartan Revelries at a meeting today at three o'clock in the offices of President Hugh Staley, board chairman Steve Hosa announces.

The board will pick the director from among four students who submitted written applications for the job last week and were given an interview at a meeting of the board Wednesday afternoon.

Work on music and libretto for the annual show is expected to begin immediately with the appointment of the director.

On the board representing the student council including chairman Hosa, are Mary Frees, Margaret McCarthy, and Bob Bronzan. Representing the faculty are Mr. Hugh Gillis, Dr. Raymond Mosher, and Miss Joyce Backus.

Next Quarter's Class Schedules Now On Sale At Co-op

Class schedules for the winter quarter are now on sale at the Co-op for ten cents, Co-op heads announced today.

Besides schedules of classes next quarter, the bulletins contain registration instructions, course fees, faculty directory, and a map of the campus.

DAY EDITOR This Issue HARRY GRAHAM

These Band Uniforms . . .

For years Revelries profits have either been practically non-existent or have gone to serve no very useful purpose. Now we have a proposal coming up before the student council tonight which would put this money to a very useful purpose and help to alleviate a long standing need which every student must be well aware of—a proposal to turn over Revelries profits to a fund with which, when it grew large enough, band uniforms would be purchased.

The student body must be well aware of the need for new band uniforms, especially when the college's fine organization comes up for comparison with the bands of any of the colleges or universities we have played this season. Musically, the San Jose State college band is tops, but their uniforms will scarcely stand comparison with those of any high school organization in the country.

It appears that the only way the college band will ever be decently outfitted is by some such means as starting a fund for their purchase from Revelries profits, and such means have been used successfully for the same purpose by other colleges on the coast.

The Spartan Daily sincerely hopes that the student council will take some action on this matter.

—Rodrick.

A New Setup . . .

It has been gratifying to see the interest that has been shown for the formation of the new cooperative house to be established next quarter. With this movement one can readily see the trend for more modern living conditions while attending college.

With present conditions such as they are; little heat, old houses and sanitary facilities far from being up to standard, one can see that this change not only aids the student financially but presents a more healthful situation.

For quite a number of years a major problem of the student has been to choose a house that would offer him the least of these harmful conditions. Even the houses on the "recommended list" could be improved tremendously if the owners took it upon themselves to do so. With rent as high as it is anyone has a valid reason for asking such improvements, but previous attempts have shown this to be useless.

With the cooperative house designed to be an established fixture with the college, a majority of these inexcusable conditions will be banished. The students, being a part of the house itself, will make it their business to see that all improvements are kept up and will not have to depend upon a "landlord" for the better conditions that they deserve.

—Maynard.

Co-eds Don't Like Corsets

The modern college girl is proud of her slim waistline, but she isn't going to go through the agonies which the "girl of yesterday" endured to acquire one.

This is the belief of the Misses Pauline Lynch and Dorothy Manchester, home economics style instructors.

CORSETS, NO GO

Today's college girl just won't go for the corsets which manufacturers are attempting to bring back to fashion and place on the market, they declare.

"Most modern co-eds are willing to endure girdles and other foundation garments for dress affairs, but they are too practical-minded to wear more torturous artificial devices to gain a slim waistline.

"The co-ed of today is ever so much more practical-minded than the girl of several years ago, and she will not stand for the dictates of manufacturers and other so-called style experts scheming to place their product in a favorable light on the market by means of mass psychology in starting in a fad," they said.

WAISTLINE WIDENS

Their athletic life just doesn't give them the slender waistline their mothers probably had with the aid of vise-like corsets.

"Of course co-eds will continue to wear clothes designed to emphasize a small waistline—that is if their hips are not too large—but they don't particularly worry too much over it, and they have certainly become practical-minded enough not to 'torture' themselves for the sake of a slim waist," they affirm.

NOTICES

All kindergarten-primary students are invited to attend the WAA and AWS Christmas banquet tomorrow evening at 6:30. We are planning on having the group sit at a special table. Please come and have a good time as this may take the place of our regular Christmas party. All girls planning to go notify secretary in Room 161.

Will the members of the Yal Omed, Rainbow Girls, and Job's Daughters please sign up on the bulletin board for the annual Christmas party at the Lions' Den December 8.—Richard Ormsby, chr.

Will all students planning to take observation and participation next quarter please register in the Education office sometime during this week. Please make out your entire program before signing up for this course.

WASHINGTON SQUARE Merrick - Go - Round

By FRED MERRICK

When the student council meets tonight, members of the governing board would be performing a worthwhile service if they would give some thought to the granting of some special award to the seniors of the football team.

Although it would be appropriate if all the members of the squad could be presented with an award, some consideration should be given the seniors. These players, members of the team during the past three years, closed their third outstanding season Thursday night. They made their best record in their final year, an undefeated season.

It may be difficult for the council to reach such an end, especially when two members of the council are seniors on the football squad. In such a case, the other members of the group must take the initiative.

Awards cost money and the council has been striving to maintain the budget figures, but after such an outstanding season at least San Jose State's senior gridgers are deserving of some award, and the entire squad if possible. Two years ago, members of the team were voted gold footballs, and the record of this season far surpasses that of 1937.

Playing better teams and a long schedule, the Spartans came through unbeaten and untied, the only team on the coast with a perfect record. With such an outstanding record, it is only right that some consideration be given to the men who have brought attention to San Jose State college by their football achievements.

Everyone is acquainted with the record of the Spartans, but will anything besides a "nice going, gang" be given these players? We hope there will be something.

(Ed.'s Note: For the benefit of those students who have been submitting Thrust and Parry's of 250 to 300 words or more, the Spartan Daily again states that no contributions can be printed running over 150 words or thereabouts.)

Go Elsewhere, Jitterbugs—

Dear Thrust and Parry: That was a good idea, the dance at the Hotel Sainte Claire after the Drake game. It was a first class affair except for one thing. I mean those two fellows dancing together. That sort of performance appreciably detracts from the quality of a dance and I think it a shame that we should have to contend with it.

Not only did these people forget about the looks of their performance but they had no scruples about bumping into other couples.

Incidentally, the fact that they wore band uniforms adds nothing to the prestige of the college.

My suggestion is that any all-male couples wishing to show off their jitterbugging abilities confine such exhibitions to where their talents will be more appreciated.

SPARTAN DAILY, MONDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1939

IMPRESSIVE RECORD AMASSED BY GREAT SPARTAN ELEVEN

With Coach Dud DeGroot ordering his undefeated, untied grid team to return to practice a week from today, it's a cinch that the Spartans are certain of a post-season game. The Sun, Cotton, Orange, and Sugar Bowl situations should come to a head in a day or two, enabling the San Joseans to make a definite move.

ONE BOWL LEFT—Of the aforementioned post-season classics, San Jose's best bet looks like the Cotton Bowl game in Dallas, Texas. The Sun Bowl game will probably find the host team, Arizona State, inviting Catholic University or Rutgers; Georgia Tech favors Missouri as its Orange Bowl foe; and the two Sugar Bowl foes will be drawn from Tulane, Texas A & M, and Tennessee.

OLYMPIC BOWL—If the Spartans get the cold shoulder in the major New Year's Day battles, our best bet for a post-season skirmish is probably the Olympic Bowl game in Los Angeles, the sixteenth of this month, against a formidable foe from the East.

Financially the southern California game seems favorable enough, with promoters of the affair sure of a $100,000 gate, of which the Spartans would collect a profitable chunk.

Meeting an Eastern team with a reputation in the Olympic Bowl would also be a boost to Sparta's football prestige, win, lose, or draw. A game with Gonzaga University for the "championship of the independents" wouldn't offer the Spartans too much to be gained in fame, outside of the Pacific coast, where San Jose's grid prowess is already recognized. Then too, a 19-0 defeat at the hands of St. Mary's doesn't stamp Gonzaga as being a "great team".

SPORTS NOTES—Chuck Johnson, a mighty sweet end who hasn't had the credit he deserves, probably played the best game of his career against Drake last Thursday night. Several times he trailed plays running to the opposite side of the line, bringing the ball carrier down from behind.

Dud DeGroot says that Carlton Perego is every bit as good as All-Coast Fullback Leroy Zimmerman. "Perry" and "Jimmy" are buddies, and each is full of praise for the other.

If San Jose plays a post-season game, there ought to be enough money in the student body till to give the entire Spartan squad a fitting reward for services rendered. The third, fourth, and fifth stringers can't be overlooked either.

Fairley Is Finalist In Badminton Tourney

The final round of the annual San Jose State intramural badminton tournament will be played this week, according to Coach Tiny Hartranft who is in charge of the tourney.

Jim Fairley, who was victorious over Dick Urhammer, 15 to 4 and 15 to 9, in one of the semi-final battles last week, is one of the finalists.

He is slated to battle the winner of the Nickel-Webb match for the college championship.

Varsity Football

All varsity football players and managers please report to Spartan Stadium at 4:15 this afternoon for athletic award pictures. —Dud DeGroot.

Grid Choices Of The Week

By PEREGO & BONANNO

Sports Editor Pony Swenson, pinch-hitting for your grid choicers this week, gave our batting average a decided raise. Figuring this to be the week-end of upsets Pony picked all darkhorses. All came through except the Washington Huskies, who were nosed out in the last minute of the game on a long pass by the Rose Bowl bound Trojans.

Here are the results of our choices from games all over the nation.

- *Denotes team we picked to win.
- *Navy 10, Army 0.
- *Duquesne 10, Detroit 10 (surprise).
- *Fresno 28, Hawaii 2.
- *Tulane 33, L.S.U. Tigers 20 (what a battle this was).
- *Colorado 6, Occidental 33 (upset).
- *Washington 7, U.S.C. 9 (lucky Trojans).
- *Stanford 14, Dartmouth 3 (what happened, Tiny?).
- *S.M.U. 14, Texas Christian 7.
- *Baylor 10, Rice 7.
- *Muhlenberg College 3, Albright College 0.

Freshman Cagers Practice For Season Opener

Coach Frank Carroll is putting his freshman basketball squad through the toughest workout they have had so far this season in preparation for their game with Marin junior college on Saturday night in the northerners' gym.

The early season squad of over 75 men has been cut to thirty, and, according to Carroll, another cut may take place within the next two weeks if it becomes necessary to narrow the traveling team down to about 20 players.

Practice sessions have been devoted entirely to the various fundamentals. Passing, dribbling, and shooting drills have been emphasized as well as offensive and defensive tactics.

Bronzan Tops State Linesmen

To Senior Bob Bronzan goes the cleaning and pressing job donated by Georgie Latka of the Portola Cleaners, for his outstanding line play against Drake University on Thursday night.

Bronzan, playing his final game of his college career for the Spartans was a tower of strength on defense and showed exceptional blocking ability coming out of the line.

With nothing else to do but sit back and await the most acceptable bid for a post-season game, San Jose State's unbeaten and untied football team can now take pride in its record without fear of impairing its mental attitude.

GREAT RECORD

For the "Pop" Warner-Dud DeGroot coached Spartans have completed their regular season by amassing the greatest football record in San Jose State history.

Laurels they have earned the right to rest on include:
1. They are the only unbeaten and untied college football team on the Pacific coast, and the first in San Jose State history.

HIGH SCORES
2. For the second straight year they are the highest scoring college team in the nation, having amassed 324 points in 13 games, two more than the 322 they scored in 12 games in 1938. In three years the Spartans have scored a grand total of 942 points.

3. They have played 39 games in three years, lost but three (two of those by one point) and tied one.

C.C.A.A. CHAMPS
4. They are currently undisputed champions of the California Collegiate Athletic Association, having beaten by a sound margin the three co-members of the new conference, San Diego, Santa Barbara, and Fresno State colleges.

5. This is the first Spartan team to produce an "all coast" player in Leroy Zimmerman, who is also slated for "Little All-American" honors.

NATIONAL RECORD
6. In beating Drake 12-0 Thursday night the Spartans completed a unique intersectional season which includes victories over teams from all parts of California and additional foes from Montana, Texas, Nevada, Oregon, and Iowa.

Spartans Await Bowl Bid Offer; Duquesne Sought

The prospects of a bowl game or a post-season affair with some outstanding eastern eleven for the undefeated, untied Spartan football team has brought no new developments over the week-end.

STILL HOPEFUL
The powers that be at San Jose State college are still hopeful of securing a New Year's Day engagement for the Spartans in one of the major bowl games, and have adopted the policy of watchful waiting.

Coach Dud DeGroot still has the invitations to the Olympic Bowl and the post-season game with Gonzaga University for the Independent Championship of the Pacific coast on his desk and both offers are still seriously being considered by Spartan officials.

DUQUESNE ASKED
Word comes from Mr. Larry Sunbrock, chairman of the Olympic Bowl committee, that Duquesne University has officially been extended an invitation to face the Spartans in the Los Angeles Coliseum on December 16. Duquesne officials have taken the matter in hand and await judgement from the Athletic Board before making a decision.

No word has been received from the Orange Bowl officials other than that the Spartans are still being considered as one of the teams to play in the New Year's Day classic along with Texas A&M, Tulane, and Georgia Tech.

SUN BOWL
San Jose State is still hopeful of getting the bid to face Arizona State from Tempe in the Sun Bowl of El Paso, Texas. The Spartans defeated the Arizona team, coached by Dixie Howell, last year, but were forced to drop them off the schedule this season because of conflicting dates. Arizona, winners of the Southwest conference, will be the host team in the Sun Bowl on January 1.

Rishwain Wins Grid Award

Joe Rishwain, outstanding gridder in the Drake-Spartan game, won the $5.50 meal ticket donated by Archie's Steak House which has been awarded weekly during the current season.

Rishwain, who plays quarterback for the Spartans, was outstanding for his blocking and defensive work. A junior on the team, Rishwain took over the up-man position when Dave Titchenal was injured.

Women's Swimming Club Holds Final Meeting Tonight At 7:00

Frosh Face Seniors; Sophs vs. Juniors

Final meet of the Swim club tonight at 7 o'clock will feature competition between freshman and senior women and sophomore and juniors, according to Miss Gail Tucker, swim instructor.

All girls are urged to come out and join their respective class squads. The class with the largest squad has the obvious advantage, points out Miss Tucker. The only requirements are an O.K. from the Health department and a swim cap.

Members are planning an informal get-together after the meet, says Miss Tucker.

Eta Epsilon Holds Christmas Party In H. E. Building

The annual Eta Epsilon Christmas party and dinner will be held in Room 1 of the Home Economics building tonight, the society head announces.

The price of admission is 15 cents and tickets may be obtained from Doris McCullah, Helen Matthews, Ethel McFadden, Frances McFadden, and Louise Cowen.

Annual Orchestis Dance Program December 14

Based On Christmas Carols, Legends; No Admission Charge

Dances based on legends and carols typifying the Christmas spirit and ways in which people respond to its appeal will be presented by Orchestis, women's honorary dance society, in their annual program on December 14.

Serious mood of the program will be found in the scene from the "Juggler of Notre Dame" in which the poor juggler offers his dance to the Madonna as the only gift he is able to bestow.

ORGAN PRELUDE

An organ prelude will introduce the number, only portion of the legend which will be included on this year's program.

A light, gay mood is captured in the opening dance, intended to carry out the general theme, and in the second number on the program, a pantomimic dance portraying activities of servants in preparing for the feast.

NO ADMISSION CHARGE

There will be no admission charge for the presentation, which will be given in the Morris Dailey auditorium from 4:30 to 5:30.

NEW CO-OP HOUSE OCCUPANTS TO BE CHOSEN SOON

All men interested in living in the new cooperative house to be established next quarter are asked to leave their name and address and deposit $1 in the Controller's office by Wednesday noon, December 6, Irwin Blesh, committeeman in charge of the house, announced Friday.

By December 8 the final selection of men to live in the house will be made by the faculty committee and published in the Spartan Daily. Those selected must deposit $4.00 more by noon, Wednesday, December 13. As the house will only hold about 25 men a few may not be among those selected and may receive their dollar back after the final selection is made.

Occupancy of the house is expected to start at the beginning of the next quarter or possibly sooner. Location of the new house is at 60 South 12th street.

"Examiner" rating for camps, city pools, and beaches will be abolished January 1, and requirements will be changed to Water Safety Instructor for swimming jobs next summer, according to word received by Miss Gail Tucker.

College students may qualify for certification for this new rating by classes offered by men and women physical education departments this winter and spring quarters. The new requirement, "Preliminary Training Course for Swimming, Life Saving and Water Safety Instructors" will be offered in the spring quarter. It will be open to men and women students, and will carry one unit of college credit.

MEET TUESDAY NIGHTS

The class will meet on Tuesday nights at the pool and one hour during the day for lecture and class discussion. Coach Charles Walker and Miss Tucker will be in charge of this, the first co-ed swimming class at San Jose State college.

Students must have passed the Senior Life Saving and Water Safety Course within the last two years in order to enter this class. In addition candidates must be 19 years of age and must have in mind a place to teach Swimming and Water Safety.

Students expecting to take this course in the spring may take Life Saving and Water Safety this winter quarter.

Pegasus Nominates Officers Tonight At Seven-Thirty

Nominations for officers will be made tonight at the last meeting of Pegasus, literary honor society, in the Spartan Stag room at 7:30.

Any student desiring to apply for membership in the organization is urged to submit an original manuscript to Dr. James Wood, adviser, or any member of the society, according to President Mary Belick.

TOY PILE

Created to answer a need beyond the jurisdiction of various community charities, the Toy Pile is open to contributions by students, faculty, and organizations of San Jose State college.

So, if you have any toys you don't happen to be using now, they would be very much appreciated by members of the Spartan Daily staff. If not, even a small contribution in the form of a new toy would find a good home.

USELESS TOYS WANTED

Any old toy which is useless in its present condition, be it slightly damaged or battered to a pulp, will be as readily acceptable as a new one for they will all be turned over to the San Jose Fire department to be repaired and distributed to charity organizations throughout the city.

DEBATERS MEET SANTA CLARA TODAY AT 4:00

Harold Smith and Leonard Bock, members of the San Jose State college debate team, will take part in a non-decision debate against Santa Clara this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Room 49.

The Spartan debaters will take the affirmative on the question: "Resolved, that California should adopt a unicameral legislature in 1940".

This debate will be of special interest, Dave Atkinson, publicity chairman, explained, because the bill will probably be introduced in the legislature or put on the ballot next year.

There will be a meeting of the Freshman cabinet today at three o'clock in Dean Pitman's office. Virginia Ring, please, your list.

Nursery School SIREN PREFERS Duo-colored Hair

Deciding that a change in hair-do was needed, two little girls in Miss Winifred Reynolds' Nursery school recently made use of water colors to paint the hair of one of them half red and half yellow.

They tell us that some people once believed that a child's future career could be determined by placing him among a group of articles at early age and allowing him to choose at random from them. Whatever he chose, book, comb, or pencil, this would indicate his future career.

If this is so, Willoughby Ann and Leslee should be pushing a comb in the beauty shop around the corner some of these days.

Cosmopolitan Club Meeting Tonight At 7:30

Featuring a program which is representative of several foreign countries, the Cosmopolitan club will meet this evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Ann Peabody, member of the YWCA Advisory Board.

A discussion on Persia will be given by Mrs. S. G. Wilson, who lived there for many years, according to Kathryn Determan, chairman of the club.

In addition, songs of their native land will be sung by a group of Filipino students, a piano duet will be played by Japanese students and Mexican and Spanish songs will be sung. Persian tea and cakes will be served as refreshments.

Transportation will be provided to Mrs. Peabody's home at 70 South 17th street. Those desiring it should meet in the 'Y' room at 7:15 this evening.

Pre-Legal Club Hears Att'y Perren Today

Members of the San Jose State Pre-Legal club will convene today in Room 25 at 12:30 to hear Attorney Vernon E. Perren of San Jose give a speech on the mental qualifications for the study of law according to Owen M. Broyles, adviser.

Perren, a former Spartan student body president, graduated from the Stanford School of Law and is now practicing locally, it was pointed out.
