Leap Year Dance Last Of Quarter; Starts At Nine

Lowell Jones' Orchestra Supplies Music For Dog-Patch Dancers

By IRENE MELTON and PEGGY RICHTER

"Lil Abner, will you-all honah' me by bein' mah guest at the 'Sadie Hawkins Shag' tonight?"

Comic strip conversation similar to this will be heard around the campus today as palpatatin' Daisy Maes 'pop the question' to bashful Dogpatch blades in efforts to fill the Men's gym to capacity tonight when the last student body dance of the quarter is given from 9 o'clock until midnight.

DANCE PROGRAMS

Yokums galore will cavort at the Dogpatch county seat in such intricate dance patterns as "Hairless Joe's Hop", "Daisy Mae's Dip", "Mammy Yokum's Mazurka", "Salomey's Slink", and "Pappy Yokum's Polka", thus described on the dance programs.

"Anything goes at tonight's shindig," says Dave Atkinson, Social Affairs chairman, "from 'hawgtyin' yore partner', to Daisy Mae costumes. Wear whatever you can dig up out of the attic or basement, 'cause we don't want any Bluenoses hangin' around."

Lowell Jones' orchestra will supply the music for the dance, and patrons and patronesses will be Dean and Mrs. Paul Pitman, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Brakebill, and Mrs. Helen Plant.

VEGETABLE CORSAGES

The women are requested to refrain from buying their dates corsages beforehand, since the "weaker sex for the evening" will be honored with nosegays of carefully selected garden vegetables.

Admission to the hop will be by student body card, and 25 cents for outsiders. Gay Van Perre is decorations chairman for the dance.

Course Changes In Spring Class Schedule

The following changes have been made on the course schedule for next quarter, according to the registrar's office:

Courses dropped: Biology 1C—General Zoology lab. 10-12 MWF—Grant.

Courses added: Physics 10C—General Phisics (pre-engineering) lab. 2-4 TTH—Brubaker.

Times changed to 7-9: P.E. 68A, Social Dancing—T.—Wilson, 68B, Social Dancing W.—Tucker, and 68C, American Country Dancing M.—Wilson. Also P.E. 90B, preliminary Water Safety Instruction—Pool T.—Tucker. The lecture hour will be arranged.

Free Glee Club Concert Sunday Afternoon

A program of all-American music will be presented by Bel Canto, women's glee club, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Little Theater.

Of particular interest will be the Gershwin Piano Concerto in F, played by Wilda Enos, blind music student, and Dorothy Currell, who has appeared frequently in student programs as pianist and organist.

There will be no admission charge, according to Miss Alma Williams, faculty adviser, and the public is invited. The program follows:

- Far Off I Hear a Lover's Flue, Opus 45, No. 3..... Charles Wakefield Cadman
- Deep River, Opus 19, No. 1..... William Arms Fisher
- My Love Has Gone to Sea..... Frances Hopkinson
- Variations on American Folk Themes..... Daniel Gregory Mason
- Tarantella..... Ernest Schelling
- Ah, May the Red Rose Live A-lway..... Stephen Foster
- 'Twas April, Opus 5, No. 3..... Ethelbert Nevin
- Piano Concerto in F, Second Movement..... George Gershwin
- Time Was When I in Anguish Lay..... Charles Tomlinson Griffes
- To Outer Senses There Is Peace..... Charles Tomlinson Griffes
- I Love Life..... Mana Zucca

Marine Head To Interview Sophomore Men

Lieutenant-Colonel W. K. MacNulty, U.S.M.C., will be in the Controller's office on Thursday, March 14, to discuss with prospective applicants the Platoon Leaders Class of the United States Marine Corps Reserve, according to Captain Neil Thomas, controller. This is the second visit the Lieutenant-Colonel has made to the campus; he visited here February 14.

The candidate must be a sophomore in college and meet the physical and moral standards of the Marine Corps. Candidates will be given summer training for an annual period of six weeks between their sophomore and junior year, and a second period of six weeks' training between their junior and senior years at the San Diego Marine Corps.

Students selected for application are enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve for a period of four years, and the applicant is to understand that during peace times, if he requests, he will receive a discharge from the reserve corps, Captain Thomas said.

Players Present 'Kind Lady' In Final Showing

Tonight's San Jose Players presentation of "Kind Lady", which played to a full house last night in its first appearance, will officially conclude the major dramatic production calendar for this quarter.

"Kind Lady" is a psychological melodrama adapted from a Hugh Walpole novel by Edward Chodorov, and it is directed by Miss Margaret Douglas.

Wendell Johnson, technical director of the Speech department, designed the sets and their construction was handled by Peter Mingrone, former student and now Mr. Johnson's assistant.

"Trifles", by Susan Glasbell, a one-act play dealing with justifiable homicide, will be presented by seven members of the San Jose Players as a free program next Friday at 12:30 in the Little Theater, announces Mr. Hugh Gillis.

Student Cards Visaed March 26

The photograph student body cards designed to be used for two quarters this year, must be brought by the student registration day to be visaed for the spring quarter, student body card chairman Steve Hosa announces.

The cards, according to Hosa, will be visaed when the student receives the registration booklet. Approximately 100 student body cards remain unclaimed in the student body president's office.

Symphony Gives Original Version Of 'Moon Love'

San Jose State college music lovers will be given the opportunity of hearing the popular hit song, "Moon Love", in its original version when the Symphony orchestra conducted by Adolph W. Otterstein, head of the Music department, gives its quarterly concert Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

"Moon Love" was taken from Peter Tschaiakowsky's "Romeo and Juliet", which is expected to be one of the hit numbers of Tuesday night's formal concert, according to Conductor Otterstein. One of the outstanding features about the concert will be the variety of music offered. Opening with Handel's "Overture in D", the Symphony will play Beethoven's "Symphony No. 4 in G" with Mrs. Bernice Jacka as piano soloist.

SPARTAN DAILY STAFF TAKES FINALS TOO

Due to the fact that Spartan Daily staff members will be taking final examinations next week, there will be only two editions of the paper published during that time. Papers will appear on the campus Tuesday, March 12 and Friday, March 15. All notices and stories for the paper must be in by 2 p.m. the day previous to publication.

Revelries Board Meets Tuesday At 2 O'Clock

The Spartan Revelries directors' board of student and faculty members will meet Tuesday at 2 o'clock in the student body president's office in the Student Union to discuss progress of the annual show with Revelries Director Bill Van Vleck.

Representing the faculty on the board are Hugh Gillis, Miss Joyce Backus, and Dr. Raymond Mosher. Councilman Steve Hosa, Mary Frees, and Margaret McCarthy represent the student body.

Library Will Open On Sunday

The college library will be open Sunday afternoon from 2 until 5 and until 10 o'clock every night next week, it was learned last night from Miss Joyce Backus, head librarian.

The move is in the nature of an experiment, Miss Backus said, to determine whether or not students will really take advantage of the extra time.

Extra Library Hours . . .

Late yesterday the library officials took a step which will be welcomed by a good many students of the college. It was announced that the library will remain open from two until five Sunday afternoon, and one half hour later than formerly every night next week.

This move is undertaken, we understand, as an experiment with an eye toward making it a permanent policy. If enough students are interested and take advantage of the additional time, there is a strong possibility that the policy will be put into regular operation next quarter.

Most of the students attending San Jose State college are here over the week-end, and we venture a guess that much of the studying during the period is done on Sunday afternoon and evening. Those who work Saturdays are at a disadvantage, and many times students find that some needed reference work is held up because of the inaccessibility of a library.

Since it is the routine of the city library to remain closed also on Sundays, we urge that the commendable move taken by the college staff be made permanent if possible.
—Perry.

Speaking Of Finals...

At long last, or perhaps all too soon, final week is here with the resultant rush on the part of many students to catch up loose ends.

What are we going to do? We have more things to catch up than there is time, is the plaint of the procrastinators. Some students make a valiant effort to do two months' work in one week and succeed. Others decide that they can't accomplish everything that should be done and give up with resultant repercussions from the Registrar's office. Still others madly rush around trying to do everything at once and lose themselves in a maze of loose ends.

Of course, the saintly moralist tells of the wise student who spreads his efforts out over the quarter and avoids last minute cramming and burning of the traditional midnight oil. However, it is too late to moralize now on the benefits of industry throughout the quarter. What is the best thing for the student to do who is buried beneath a maze of work with insufficient time to accomplish everything he wishes?

We pass along the advice of Dean of Men Paul M. Pitman who is a wise and helpful man in a practical way.

"Take one thing at a time and sit down and finish it. You will be surprised how much you can accomplish by concentration of effort."

We think this is good advice. Why don't you try it?
—Regan.

The Point Of View

By Bart Maynard

Since the age of advanced education came into being, students have been pummeled with the question, "Why do we go to college?". Various answers have been given to the question and constantly the question has arisen only to go down once more. Recently another answer was found by two university professors, Dr. Leonard Cottrell Jr. and Professor Ernest W. Burgess.

After a statistical survey of marriage which involved the questioning of 526 couples and took seven years to complete, another answer to the old query was reached and the following conclusions formed:

College graduates, of both sexes, are more successful in marriage than grammar and high school graduates.

School teachers seem especially well fitted to marriage.

Professional men make the best husbands.

Co-eds who desire a successful marriage should grab one of the following types of men: chemical engineers, ministers, college professors, athletic coaches, students, high school teachers, engineers, electrical engineers, wholesale salesmen (not traveling salesmen), education administrators, managers, accountants, civil engineers, office workers, physicians, bankers, and newspaper workers.

For those gals who are not very particular, there is a list of men who rank rather low: laborers, mechanics, carpenters, plumbers, real estate salesmen, musicians, gas station employees, skilled workers, bond salesmen, truck drivers, farmers, and barbers.

The survey, which appears in "Predicting Success or Failure in Marriage" by the two professors, states that the degree of happiness of husbands and wives as rated by themselves is: 79 per cent "very happy" and "happy" and 2.4 per cent judged their "very unhappy".

Speaking of housing—

At a certain central California college, the housing board absolutely forbids students from staying in basements of private homes. Home owners, trying their best to cooperate, moved to the basement and gave the students the run of the upper portion of the house. This is really cooperation on the part of the home owners. Maybe the housing committee can persuade some of the landlords here to move out all together.

It seems during a cold spell in southern California (one of the few, I understand) a student attending a prominent junior college, returned home one night to find his bed covers too cold for comfort. Deciding to eliminate the trouble, he took a lighted study lamp to bed with him. The lamp seemed to do the trick, and finding it so comfortable the tired student soon fell asleep. He awoke in the morning to find a neat hole in his blankets where the lamp had burned its way through. This might eliminate the coal and gas bills, but tough on the blankets.

In a recent edition of a well-known magazine there appeared a cartoon with the following underline—"A California boarding house law prohibits more than five persons from using the same bathroom". Let's see, in the cooperative houses there are . . .

Thrust and Parry:

Dear Editor:

Although sympathetic with Frank Carter's stand on fraternity initiation, we feel, however, that Dr. MacQuarrie's reasonable accusations warrant an intelligent defense, rather than Mr. Carter's blatant asininity, of which no fraternity man would be guilty.

Any well-informed person realizes that there is an historical justification for fraternal initiations. The knights of old, for example, underwent gruelling tests of physical endurance, such as the vigil, abstinence, and fasting, to purify and ready themselves for knighthood to come. So with the novitiate of the Roman Catholic church, who fasts, prays, and meditates, and finally, submits to a complete tonsure.

Then too, the Jews, Negroes and Italians still celebrate entrance into manhood by sanguinary and medieval rites.

Moreover, it has long been recognized by leading psychologists that in the consummation of any noble aspiration, the ultimate endearment to the personality is in direct proportion to the amount of discomfort accompanying the

Hodges Cuts Two Top Platters

Johnny Hodges, sensational alto man with Duke Ellington, recently cut two sides for Vocalion under his own name that will soon have the disc hounds shoutin', for Hodges is considered to be one of the greatest exponents of the sax and his work on "Dream Blues" is no exception. Johnny's alto courses are super, having a mellow quality all of his own that will soothe even the most eccentric Gandy Dancer. On "I Know What You Do", Johnny's imagination runs wild with a trolley ride on his horn that will impress even the meaniest of ickies.

"Pinetop's Boggie Woggie", the original is worth hundreds of dollars, is being reissued by Columbia Master Jazz works. All those lovers of the peckin' ivory work will be enraptured as they ear the most famous of all "Roll 'em" adoptions. Pinetop's life in the dives of New Orleans where he played from dusk to dawn clearly shows his lazy, hazy and somewhat crazy interpretations.

MILLER-HAWKINS FEUD

Recently there has been much argument revolving around the jivin' "Tuxedo Junction" (Little Ghost Town in Georgia). Followers of the "Twentieth Century Gabriel of the Trumpet" claim that his "Junction" is the bonified as he was the first to cut it. Miller's alligator friends, on the other hand, claim exemption from any of the "Race" record stuff and feel that Glenn's solid jump is finer in feeling and "Commerciality". Thank heaven, though, that money hasn't influenced any of the true jazz that has come out of the south and the kind of stuff that Ellington, Goodman, and the white Ellington, Charlie Barnet, play.

The fraternities feel, too, that certainly no red-blooded youth would forego the fine traditional exercises that make him worthy of his society on the mamby-pamby grounds of so-called "brutality".

Spartan Daily Sports

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, MARCH 8, 1940

With the completion of each sport season comes the selection of customary all-conference or all-something or other team that gives those making the selection nothing but headaches and makes his chin a target for criticism from those supposedly in the know.

Being no different than anyone else and always willing to oblige I give you my selection of an All-Conference Collegiate Athletic Association basketball team.

FIRST TEAM

- Milt Phelps.....F.....San Diego
- Tom Guerrero.....F.....Santa Barbara
- Lowell Steward.....C.....Santa Barbara
- John Allen.....G.....San Jose
- Lloyd Brewster.....G.....Santa Barbara

SECOND TEAM

- Gus Kotta.....F.....San Jose
 - M. Harris.....C.....San Diego
 - A. Echle.....C.....San Diego
 - D. Delauer.....G.....San Diego
 - H. Hodgetts.....G.....San Diego
- The difficult task was in selecting the two forward positions. Kotta, who is capable of good basketball when right, lost out to Guerrero and Phelps by the narrowest of margins. Phelps, despite his injuries that slowed his game down considerably in the San Jose State series, has been the main cog in the Aztec offense. Guerrero on the other hand was the sparkling of the Gaucho team. His fine defensive play coupled with his brilliant ball handling on offense made him the logical running mate for Phelps.

TRACK STARTS WITH TRIALS, WORKOUTS

Spartan track performers began workouts in earnest Wednesday when the first time trials of the year were held. No outstanding marks were recorded as bad weather has kept cinder artists from getting into condition.

Dave Siemon, varsity hurdler, led the field in the 120-yard low hurdles in the mediocre time of 13.6 seconds. Sammy Miller, frosh football sensation, topped the dash men with a time of 10.6 in the 100-yard dash. Trials for middle distance men were held at odd distances.

Field performers did not compete as trials were limited to track men. Coach Hartranft is waiting for further trials before selecting San Jose entrants in the Long Beach Relays March 16.

James Cummings Buys Junior Pan

Tossing or pulling leather, Jim Cummings, freshman boxer and latest quad wit, yesterday announced his coming into the possession of Junior Pan of the Mrs. Alexander Pantages stables and his intentions of training the thoroughbred race horse himself in preparation for the coming opening of Bay Meadows.

Cummings, who has local pugilistic fans wagging and comparing him with former greats such as Don Walker and Willie Radunich, is locally known only as a boxer, but has for many years rode the range of the lettuce valley and in Watsonville is known only as the "Fearless phantom of the Pajaro".

Frosh Boxers In Salinas Junior College Tourney

Entry of Coach DeWitt Portal's freshman boxing team in the Northern California Junior College boxing tournament to be held at Salinas J.C. March 29, was announced by the Physical Education department yesterday.

ANNUAL AFFAIR

Plenty of action is promised Portal's mittsters, as junior college entries from San Mateo, Modesto, and Sacramento are already in. The meet, sponsored by Salinas in an effort to build up boxing interest in northern California, promises to be an annual affair. Salinas J.C. has held informal boxing workouts with San Jose's freshmen and reserves for the past two years, and met the 1939 novice champions last year.

VARSIETY GETS SET

March 29, as the frosh meet the junior college team, Portal's varsity tangles with the strong UCLA Bruins in Los Angeles. Tonight and tomorrow in San Diego, a mixed varsity and reserve team competes in the California Collegiate tournament.

Spartan Athletes Compete In Winter Carnival Tonight

Boxers, Wrestlers Favorites To Throttle Other State College Aggregations

San Jose State's traveling caravan of Spartan athletes show their wares before San Diego sport fans tonight and tomorrow in the second annual California Collegiate Athletic Association Winter Sports Carnival.

BOXING, WRESTLING

San Jose delegates are favored to repeat their performances of last year, when they won all the boxing and wrestling matches that were held. San Jose's chances of another clean sweep appear bright, with boxing and wrestling coaches Dee Portal and Gene Grattan taking strong teams into the Southland.

Racquetees Will Engage Tigers Tomorrow

San Jose State's tennis team, after weeks of intensive practice under the watchful eye of Coach Erwin Blesh, plays its first scheduled matches against College of Pacific at Stockton tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Coach Blesh refused to name a team, but the probable starting lineup will be: John Krysiak, Ed Harper, Victor Ehle, Jack Dixon, Captain George Kifer, George Egling, George Quetin, and Ken Boscacci.

What the Spartans have in the way of "stuff" will not be determined until after the COP matches. San Jose has had little trouble dumping the Tigers in the past, and despite the lack of practice, Blesh is confident his team will give a good account of itself.

NOTICE

Will all those students who plan to do Student Teaching during the spring quarter of 1940 please make application with Mary-Ethelle Schweizer in the Education office, Room 161.

Anyone wishing ride to Stockton, leaving 2:30 March 15 (Friday), leave note in Co-op box (L).

VARSIETY NINE PLAYS FRESHMEN TODAY IN UNIQUE BALL GAME

Well pleased with the showing of his team against St. Mary's Tuesday afternoon, Baseball Coach Walt McPherson is looking for bigger things in a series of games planned next week.

This afternoon at Spartan field the varsity will tangle with the frosh in a unique game, in that the varsity hurlers will toil for the frosh, and the yearling chuckers will pitch for the varsity.

Tuesday afternoon at Spartan field McPherson's squad meets the University of San Francisco. Wednesday afternoon on the same field they do battle with San Francisco State. On Friday and Saturday, Santa Barbara State opens the California Collegiate conference when they come to San Jose for two games. Then on Sunday the Spartans head south for their Easter trip and two games each with San Diego State and the San Diego Marines.

Next week's games against U.S.F. and S. F. State will give McPherson a chance to look over four pitching prospects who have been looking good in practice, namely, "Lefty" Stubenrauch, Ray Cressio, "Truck" Tornell, and Irv Taggart.

Police Student GOT HIS MAN On First Case

Louis Gurlinger, police school student, applied his police education to good advantage last week when he used his "Sherlockian" senses to capture two youthful car thieves in Santa Clara.

Gurlinger noticed a car stuck in a ditch near his home and got Sheriff William Emig's O.K. to investigate. He checked the fingerprints and license number, found the owner of the car and questioned him and found that he suspected two boys of taking the car.

Gurlinger found the boys and, after some questioning, they confessed. He reported his first case successfully closed.

A Cappella Choir Invited To Sing At Conference

San Jose State college's 64-voice A Cappella choir directed by William Erlendson will receive national recognition as a result of a special invitation received yesterday from President Louis Curtis of the National Music Educators Association to sing over a national radio hook-up as the representative of the west during the association's conference in Los Angeles, March 29 to April 6.

Choir Director Erlendson wired acceptance of the bid late yesterday making a total of three San Jose State college musical organizations that will appear at the conference. The symphony orchestra, led by Adolph W. Otterstein, head of the Music department, and the Woodwind choir directed by Thomas Eagan will also present concerts and demonstrations at the conference.

The college A Cappella choir received the special invitation to the Los Angeles meeting because of the favorable impression made on President Curtis of the National Music Educators Association at a concert-demonstration at Los Gatos last week, according to Director Erlendson.

Tentative appearances in addition to the radio broadcast, March 31, include a concert at the Los Angeles chapter of the American Guild Organists, a concert at the luncheon meeting of the sectional conference of the National Music Educators Association; and an appearance at a Los Angeles high school.

Freshmen Defeat Sophomores In Debate Tournery

Freshmen defeated sophomores in the second Interclass Debate Tournament contest held in the Little Theater Tuesday morning on the topic, "Subsidization of Athletics".

Taking the affirmative view, the two freshman speakers, Ronald Maas and Heber Nelson, presented points strong enough to convince the three judges, Dr. William Poytress of the Social Science department, Miss Mary Hill, campus YWCA secretary, and Ralph Eckert, member of the Speech faculty, that the freshman argument was superior to that of the sophomores.

Award winners in the weekly Nu Iota Chi contest to determine outstanding journalistic achievements were announced yesterday by Bart Maynard, editor.

Last week's seven awards were divided among five Spartan Daily staff members, with two candidates each winning a pair of prizes. The double winners were Bill Rodrick for the best news story and the best column, and Sports Editor Frank Bonanno for the best sports story and the best sports make-up.

Vance Perry's Thursday paper was named as having the best front page make-up, and Irene Melton's leap year feature appearing the same day won the prize for the best feature story.

The editorial picked as the week's best was written by Bill Regan.

College Tea Room Ends Seventh Year Of Operation March 12

The college Tea Room will close Tuesday for the year, according to Mrs. Sarah Dowdle, head of the cafeteria.

Under the direction of the Tea Room management class, the room was open for luncheon to students and faculty twice a week. This quarter was one of the most successful quarters—having special luncheons such as faculty men and women's day, leap year luncheon, and the Swedish Smorgasbord. Mrs. Dowdle said.

The Tea Room has completed its seventh year of operation, and will open again next winter.

NOTICE Social Affairs committee meet today at 4 p.m. in the Men's gym.

COLLEGE BENEFITS

"The whole college benefits from commercial football," Nelson, of the winning team, pointed out. "The football player is the same as an employee and should be paid for his services."

The two freshmen will meet the junior team of Gene Rocchi and Kenneth Wallace some time next quarter. The committee in charge of the tournament will meet before the end of this quarter to decide the time and the place.

The winning team will receive a trophy engraved with the names of the team members, and the two speakers will be awarded individual service pins.
