ANNUAL CARNIVAL SET OFF BY BOMB AT NOON

No Derby?

Portal Breaks Old Spardi Gras Custom

Today the biggest tradition on the campus outside Spardi Gras itself will be broken. Boxing Coach DeWitt Portal, who has worn a racoon coat and a derby hat for the past eight Spardi Gras', will appear without the derby.

A genuine, imported Korean fur-cap, relic of the boxing team's invasion of the Orient, replaces the ancient headpiece. According to Portal, the new cap will be more in keeping with his theme, "dressed in fur".

No substitute for the familiar coonskin coat has been discovered by Portal. "My great grandfather first wore the coat on his Iowa farm, and I shall continue to uphold the family tradition," he declared.

'Weather Man' Looms As Threat; Festival Will Not Be Postponed--Payne

By VANCE PERRY

Spardi Gras! Sharply at noon the explosion of a bomb will transform the magic word into a reality and the festivities of the 11th annual San Jose State spring festival will get underway.

Last-minute preparations were completed last night and this morning under the constant threat of a downpour which might drown the high spirits of Mr. and Miss San Jose State, built up to a fever pitch over a period of several weeks.

RAIN PREPARATIONS MADE

"It can't rain," said Chairman Bob Payne wistfully yesterday afternoon, as he gazed out the Publications office window and called the weather bureau at frequent intervals.

Nevertheless, preparations were made to move the concession booths into the corridors and to hold the Spardi Gras Feed in the Men's gym, in case Payne's prophecy failed to come true. Tickets for the feed sell for 5 cents at the concession ticket booth.

CORONATION AT NOON

Rain or shine, the coronation of Queen Margaret and King Stanley will take place immediately after the opening gun on the platform in the north-east corner of the Quad. At the sound of a trumpet fanfare, the royal pair will make their appearance at the south entrance and proceed to the platform, where they will be crowned by Dr. William Poytress, "Archbishop of Poo-Poo". The "Archbishop" is said to have participated in the first Spardi Gras.

WEATHER BULLETIN!

With the fate of the 1940 Spardi Gras hanging on the outcome, the Weather Man is doing his best to hold off the heavenly moisture until it can do no harm, according to the forecasts. Predictions are that it will be fair until late this evening, with showers tonight.

Second Performance Of Revelries Tonight

MUSIC FITS MOODS AT TWO DANCES

Spardi Gras' novelty double dance in the Men's and Women's gyms tonight will close festivities for the day to the fading strains of music from the bands of Sheldon Taix and Al Davina. Dancing will start immediately after the Revelries.

Aiming to make the novelty idea of two dances on the campus at the same time an annual Spardi Gras affair, the Social Affairs committee has promised San Jose State dance fans music to fit all moods.

'SWEET' AND 'SWING'

Sheldon Taix and his band, who are playing for the Revelries show, will provide "sweet" music for those who prefer it that way in the Men's gym. Taix and his newly-organized band have been playing for most of the noon and afternoon dances and are well known on Washington Square, according to Social Affairs Chairman Don Anderson.

For dancers who like the "swing" music and care to cut a few rugs and "kick the gong around", Al Davina and his 12-piece band will swing out the music in the Women's gym.

According to Anderson, refreshments will be sold at both dances. Students will be admitted upon presentation of student body cards; outsiders will be charged 25 cents. Anderson emphasizes the fact that no stags will be allowed at either of the dances.

WILL RAIN UPSET REIGN OF SPARDI GRAS RULERS?

Committee heads have held final conferences, concessions have been planned, and the program and contests have all been scheduled. The stage is set for one of the wildest Spardi Gras' in history . . . but suddenly an uncued actor has stepped into the scene, a wilful, careless and very temperamental actor . . . the weather! Students watch with tense faces, the bleak, uncompromising sky; weather bureaus are flooded with phone calls: "Well, will it or won't it?"; and General Chairman Bob Payne casts anxious glances at the Quad where gay, paper-festooned booths are already under construction—because this actor may destroy a tradition as old as the celebration itself . . .

In the eleven years of Spardi Gras, it has never rained. The weather man won't commit himself: "It'll be cloudy today with a southerly wind." Bob Payne holds a cheerful outlook: "It'll be the hottest Spardi Gras in history." And everything hinges on the question . . . will it rain? Well, will it or won't it? . . .

Spardi Gras--A Great Day

Rain or shine, San Jose State college's traditional Spardi Gras opens officially today at 12 noon in the Quad.

On the shoulders of a few—such men as Bob Payne and Bill Van Vleck—has rested the tremendous responsibility of preparing the day's festivities for the hundreds of students who will pour out into the Quad today in full masquerade regalia to join in on all the fun and excitement of the annual Spardi Gras day. And along with these students will be numerous faculty members who, for this one day of the year, "let their hair down", and with the spirit of an undergraduate, enter into all this festivity.

One must realize, however, that the student body will not be unanimous in its support of Spardi Gras. No—there will be a great number of students who skip over to the coast, go home for the week-end, or go fishing, to name a few anti-Spardi Gras activities. Unfortunately this is true, but it is not surprising to realize that this type of student is seldom present at any of the other numerous, if less important, college social functions. We might well ask what sort of memories they will carry away with them from their college days.

But for the rest of us, Spardi Gras is a great day—one to be remembered and relived in the future and to be enjoyed to the full in the present. And we do hope that "we" represent an overwhelmingly great majority.

Co-operative Book Selling. . .

With the "go ahead" signal given to the cooperative book exchange committee by the student council at their meeting last week, students will get more of a square deal in selling their used books beginning next fall.

Through this cooperative system, which includes a Book Mart plan and a card index plan, students will sell books themselves and will not have to pay out to another agency for the handling of their books.

Through the Book Mart, one day will be set aside each quarter for students to sell their books through a non-profit organization run by members of the various service groups. The only cost to students will be a three-cent fee per book to cover the cost of running the exchange.

With the advantage of being able to put their own price on the books they wish to sell, students will not have to accept any figure offered them. At the present time, students receive a 50% discount on new books which are sold at 75% of their original value, the margin necessary for the ordinary business to carry them.

Through the plan this additional 25% will be given to the students, most of whom can ill afford this charge under the present system. —Wold.

Will Europe Go To War? Read One Guy's Views

By CHELT N. HAMM

"The war," declared Dr. William "Wild Willy" Pot-Roast over his poached egg this morning, "has definitely divided itself into two separate factions. There can be no doubt in my mind that one side is fighting the other."

He unrolled his newspaper, discarding the front section and searching feverishly for the comics. "There seems to be a diversity of opinion as to whether or not the United States will be dragged into the conflict by the lure of profit." He pointed dramatically to Superman, ripping an enemy war tank wide open. "It that dope doesn't stop poking his nose into other people's business, we'll all be wearing capes and jumping over battle-ships."

He paused thoughtfully, looming over the toaster like a ferry boat. "The best way to stop one country fighting the other is to have each nation fighting itself. Obviously then, all our Committees for World Peace will have to do is to induce each country to become a democracy, divide itself up into political parties and hold an election."

"The chaos would be something wonderful—imagine every nation in the world a democracy! Americans, without anything else to brag about, could give the country back to Columbus."

He smeared jelly on a piece of toast. "Well, don't just sit there—pull up a cup of coffee."

SLUMMING IN THE STACKS

By "BUBBLES" GRAHAM

(This ought to be explained. Was given an assignment to do a little outside reading and finally, with the help of a senior who seemed to know just about everything, managed to locate the library. All the time I've been here, they've led me to believe that the library was just an appropriation.)

Blew the dust off an old book today. Came to find out it was a librarian . . . my mistake! A termite invited me to join him in a light lunch during the afternoon . . . we thumbed through a play of Shaw's and demi-tassed on a bit of Freud.

I note a surprising increase in the financial pages of late . . . it seems the newspapers have taken to printing Blondie and Superman on the other side of the stock quotations.

And this fees system they've got, about charging so much per minute on an overdue book. I borrowed a library book from a friend about two years ago and forgot to return it. He just got a card . . . "You are charged with Orgstrof's 'Economy in Flight'. Fine: $36,-$86.04."

Had a noisy little argument with a stranger in the reading room yesterday, much to the disgust of several students at stall Number One. Leaving at last, I slugged her chummily on the arm and grinned, "And what might your name be?" She smiled sweetly: "Miss Backus!"

Oh well, I was getting tired of the library anyhow.

NOTICE

Riding club members, don't forget the meeting Monday at 4 o'clock. Anyone interested in joining the club may also come.

Just Between Ourselves

By TURBULENT WATERS

Just a few little items which you may read over to help kill time during one of your lectures this bright spring morning.

First of all, I think it's time someone was saying something about this smoking nuisance. It's so disgusting to see so many cigarette stubs lying around. I'm afraid we just aren't being good citizens. May I suggest that in order to cut down on the number of these unsightly butts you take up chewing. My only request is that when in the class room, please shoot for the OPEN windows.

Another thing is this matter of these sneaking Young Republicans who are trying to "Bore from within" into our student body. As you know San Jose State college has always stood for those principles which seek to better the welfare of society. Apparently these Young Republicans haven't the guts (yes, I mean GUTS) to come out in the open with their fallacies of individualism, patriotism, etc. Instead they deface certain of our walls with their slogans and misstatements. May I suggest that all you boys and girls wear red bandanas or ribbons to show your loyalty to our principles.

As a last item, may I suggest that when you eat your lunch on San Carlos street, please don't throw your garbage on the sidewalk. Just the other day I slipped on somebody's discarded pie crust and came down right square on my hip pocket and cut myself. If you can't at least throw your refuse as far as the lawn, please confine yourself to eating doughnuts—the holes are not nearly so unsightly when left scattered around.

The FATE Of Things

By JIM DASH

Yesterday's flurry of rain, which may continue to dampen this year's Spardi Gras festivities, has given Chairman Bob Payne more than just a little to worry about. A number of things have developed as a result of this, which may prompt the head man of today's celebration to change his entire plans.

For instance, last night the more mercenary inclined organizations having booths in this afternoon's carnival kept the phone in the Payne home busy with calls asking for the right to run umbrella and various other concessions that would profit by a downpour today.

Sports Editor John Healey, who has led an editorial fight to place rowing in the orbit of San Jose State college athletics, has suggested to Payne that if the precipitation is heavy enough to flood the Quad, the juniors and seniors can use the erstwhile site of the carnival for a crew race.

Steve Hosa, last year's Social Affairs chairman, believes that it would be highly appropriate and unique for citizens of Sparta-towne to don bathing suits for a "Jupiter Pluvius Ball" in the tennis courts.

Dr. Earl Campbell, the faculty's sharpest dresser and an authority on clothes, predicts that 90 per cent of today's costumed revelers will attend today's Spardi Gras attired as Donald Duck . . . if it rains.

The Woman . . . TARDY TIPS

By Conrad LACY-DRAWERS

(Ed. Note: Mr. Lacy-Drawers has just returned from Paris where he has been studying a broad and has kindly consented to write these fashion hints.)

With the Spartan Revelries on tap this evening, and the Spardi Gras dance following, Lacy-Drawers' tardy tips to the feminine are in order.

For the dance, something simple is MOST FETCHING. A neat CALVESBREATH BLOUSE, with PIGSKIN CULOTT, PNEUMATIC HOSE, and accessories to match will be appropriate.

In FOOTWEAR, some of the downtown shoppes have the bottle shaped HURAUCHAS a la TEQUILLA and MINNEHOOHOO MOCASSINS. For those without a costume this afternoon, a sweet little BLUBBER-LINED sealskin with a crew neck.

And oh dearie me, I mustn't forget those PEPPY new sweaters that accentuate the WIDE PACKARD WAISTLINE and traditional FRILL so coveted by many COEDS. They come in the most DELICIOUS new spring colors . . . STRAWBERRY, RASPBERRY, CHERRY, ORANGE, LEMON, and LIME. And look for the big red letters on the BOX. I know you'll just ADORE them.

Then there are the SWEETEST little saucer hats, with CUPS to match. Among the modes of the moment is the new SPRING CHAPEAU worn over one eye with a saucer (or glass) of CHAR-TREUSE STRAW, and a sugar-bowl of GAY, GAY FLOWERS.

For formal wear, TENNISSE NETS WITH SHIRRING over the shoulders are just the RAGE. A PLEATED RUFFLE slip with the new sensational French weave, TRE BARQUE, and a hoop skirt adds that DEMURE touch. Styles are available in BILE GREEN, QUINCE, SALAMI PINK, FISH-BELLY WHITE, and all the YUMMIEST colors.

Goodbye until next time, girls.

Spartan Netters Invade Oregon For Four Games

SEVEN-MAN TEAM IN ONE WEEK TOUR OF NORTH

Bleishmen Have 33 Straight Victories

Climaxing the greatest season in San Jose State history, Coach Irwin Bleish's varsity tennis team invades Oregon next week for a series of four matches against the highest competition the Northwest can offer.

LEAVE TOMORROW

The seven-man Spartan team will leave San Jose with Coach Bleish tomorrow morning and is slated to play the University of Oregon contingent Monday afternoon.

Making the trip are Ed Harper, Jack Dixon, Vic Ehle, George Eggen, George Quetin, Captain George Kifer and Ken Boscacci.

WILLAMETTE TUESDAY

Willamette University of Salem, Oregon furnishes the opposition Monday afternoon when the Spartans tangle for the second time in two years with the Bearcats. Last year the Washington Square racquetballers knocked over Willamette.

Wednesday afternoon little Linfield college will tangle with the white and gold netters in the third match of the tour, while Friday evening the seven-man Spartan team meets the Oregon State.

NORTH STRONG

According to Coach Bleish, the University of Oregon and Oregon State squads are the strongest of the four schools. Whether they can stop the locals' winning streak remains to be seen.

At present the San Jose aggregation has a win streak of 33 consecutive games extending over a period of four years. The trip will bring a fitting close to the four-year performances by several members of the Spartan squad.

Entering as freshmen four years ago, five members of the first team began their amazing careers. Ed Harper, number one singles man, George Egling, Captain George Kifer, George Quetin, and Ken Boscacci are the senior veterans. John Krysiak, member of the team for three years, was declared ineligible last month after performing as first singles man for two years.

The squad will return to San Jose sometime next Saturday.

Spartans Jim Kerr, left, and Vin Ruble, right, will play an important part in tomorrow's final dual meet of the season against Santa Barbara. Ruble, who has set two new school records this year, will enter the half mile and mile, while Kerr will perform in the 220 and 440. Both will run laps on the San Jose relay team.

Warner Enters Movies, Plays In Football Film

Margaret Hull might be Bing Crosby's choice, but it wasn't this lovely Spartan Miss that signed to play a big part in a forthcoming movie, "The Life of Knute Rockne".

San Jose State's latest contribution to the cinema is no queen, but the king of the gridiron, Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, who last year returned to the Pacific coast to help pilot the Golden Bombers of Sparta to a new scoring record.

Along with three other leading coaches, the veteran football mentor will play his own part in what is billed to be the greatest gridiron picture of them all, portraying the life of the late Knute Rockne.

BOMBASTICS, CARROLL'S CUTIES LEAD LEAGUE

Cubs and Oaks made scores that looked more like football results than softball in this week's intramural game, with the Cubs smashing out a 25-12 win.

Dodgers had a field day, swamping the Seals 22 to 2. Bombastics bombarded the Yankees to the tune of 15 to 1, while Carroll's Cuties downed Tau Deltas, 6-3.

Sports Contribution To The Phelan Contest

ODE TO FORMER CAPTAIN KINCAID

Jim is a boxer; yea a fighter bold,
 He wages his battles like a knight of old,
 But 'neath an exterior that seems so cold
 There beats a heart of purest gold.

*While in the ring he is vicious and cruel
 Yet in the heat of battle he is always cool,
 For to him each bout is a personal duel
 And the squared circle is no place to fool.*

In spite of his profession he is handsome still,
 A true testimony of his consummate skill,
 For the punches he has taken in all his fights
 Can be counted on the fingers of a hand closed tight.

*And although he is a huge success
 There are several things I must confess,
 He is bashful and shy as all get out,
 And a smile from a gal quickly puts him to flight.*

He's as modest and quiet as the great outdoors,
 And has no faults except that he snores,
 Yet in spite of these things in the final summation
 There is no one as good in all this nation.

Seven Seniors In Final Performance On Spartan Field

Vasconcellos, Sunzeri Lead Spartans In CCAA Contest

By HANK LITTEN

Track and field bows out of the Washington Square sports picture tomorrow afternoon when Coach Tiny Hartranft's varsity cindermen tangle with the Santa Barbara State Gauchos in the final CCAA dual meet of the season at Spartan field.

Field events begin at 1:30 with the mile run slated to get underway promptly at 2 o'clock.

Varsity, Alumni Soccer Stars Resume Annual Rivalry Today

Clash On San Carlos Field At 4:00

Still stinging from the defeat handed them by the varsity soccer team last Spardi Gras day, the alumni will be out for revenge this afternoon at 4 o'clock on San Carlos field.

Captain-elect Fred Albright thinks the alumni is dishing out a lot of "baloney" when they tell how they will put the undergraduate sprouts in their places today. "We'll make them wish they never heard of San Jose," was Albright's comment. "We'll run the ex-stars ragged."

Sweater Measurement

Will the following report to Frank Carroll's office for sweater measurement on Monday, from 12:30 to 1:00:

STRONG SPRINTERS
 Coach Roy Bohler brings to San Jose an aggregation lacking in all-around strength, but with several outstanding performers. In Hovis Bess, Riverside J. C. transfer, Bill McArthur, second place winner in the conference 100 and 220 last year, Burgette Ghandy, ex-Long Beach Woodrow Wilson star, and Lewis Putman, another Long Beach prep sensation, the Gauchos present one of the most formidable arrays of sprint talent in the conference.

Aside from the dashes, Santa Barbara has little to offer in the way of competition.

CO-CAPTAINS PERFORM
 Performing for the last time on the Spartan field cinderpath will be seven San Jose cinder artists. Leading the list of graduating lettermen is Tony Sunzeri and Ticky Vasconcellos, co-captains, who will make their final appearance in San Jose colors on the home front.

Sunzeri and Vasconcellos have just returned from a successful invasion of Des Moines, Iowa where they annexed two second places in the famed Drake Relays. Sunzeri will compete in the pole vault, while Vasconcellos may be held out of the broad jump by Coach Hartranft in favor of an injury.

RUBLE IN LAST HOME RACE
 San Jose's record breaking distance star, Vin Ruble, will compete in the half mile and mile and may lower his new school record of 4:27.5 in the four laps race.

Ed Grant, consistent javelin thrower, will heave the spear for the last time in San Jose, while other parting seniors are Hank Vasconcellos, Don Presley, and Bob Woods.

CERAMICS CLASS DISPLAY EXHIBITED IN LIBRARY

A dazzling turquoise rooster struts proudly beside a shiny red hen and two tiny yellow chicks; while a blue cow with long lashes stands solemnly before a family of curious-appearing birds.

These are but a few of the bright-hued animals now on display in the library, not real creatures but products of advanced students of Herbert Sanders' Ceramics class.

Tiny bug-shaped buttons, made by Miss Selma Kann, contribute something new in the fashion world, and solemn, owl-faced pins repose beside buttons carved in the likenesses of Bluebeard and his wives. Miss Averill Gross originated the owl and Bluebeard pins.

The rooster family, together with the blue cow, are the work of Mrs. Ruth Griffiths, who also made the large statue of the girl in the exhibit.

Claude Horan contributed a blue green vase and an inlay tobacco jar to the display. A red bowl by Thelma Byerley and two vases by Leon Sparrow are also shown.

Miss Ruth Humpert constructed the curious bird family, and Miss Gail Hayes made several bowls for the display. Three of the pieces in the exhibit, several bowls and a plate, were made by Mr. Sanders himself.

Season Ticket Holders Asked To Reserve Seats For 'Hay Fever' Today

Student season ticket holders must make reservations for "Hay Fever" in the Speech office today as they will not be admitted on their books alone, emphasized Hugh Gillis, head of the Speech department, yesterday.

This drawing room comedy, one of Noel Coward's best, according to Mr. Gillis, will be given four nights beginning Tuesday, in Room 1 of the Art building. It is the second major production of the San Jose Players for the spring season.

Featuring four faculty members in the leading parts, the farce is also highlighted by the novel type of presentation planned. The stage will be set up in the center of the room and the audience will be seated around all four sides.

Miss Margaret Douglas, who will play the part of Judith Bliss, actress and leading figure in the hectic Bliss household, is also directing.

State College Students Argue In San Quentin

Dick Woelffel and Charles Leach, San Jose State college debaters, travel to San Quentin prison Sunday to argue the prison debate team on the question, "Resolved: that reciprocal trade agreements lower American standards of living".

Each speaker will talk 10 minutes and will exchange three questions at the conclusion instead of having a rebuttal. The winners will be decided upon the intelligence of the answers to these questions, according to debate officials.

Woelffel and Leach, taking the negative side, will try to prove that trade agreements help farmers by giving them a greater foreign market for their goods, and that they provide more jobs for the American people. They also help to solidify various countries, which aids in bringing about economic and commercial peace, the debaters contend.

Fee Deadline Moved To Monday, May 6, Due To Celebration

Due to the Spardi Gras celebration today, the Business office will not be open for the payment of fees after 12 noon, and the deadline has been subsequently lifted until Monday, May 6, announced Harry Brakebill yesterday.

Failure to meet this new deadline (Monday, May 6) will mean a late course fee of $1, which must be paid with all fees before Friday, May 10. After this date any student still failing to pay his fees will have his registration cancelled.

Dr. Campbell Speaks On Civil Liberties In Open Forum Today

"Civil Liberties in Wartime" will be the topic on which Dr. Earl C. Campbell of the Social Science department will speak at the Open Forum meeting today at 12 o'clock in the Little Theater.

This talk is the second in a series of three on civil liberty which are being sponsored by the Open Forum group. The third will be given next week when Dr. William H. Poytress will discuss "Pending Legislation That Would Restrict Civil Liberties" with the group, according to Marie Tinkler, Open Forum chairman.

All students are invited to attend the meeting and hear this talk which deals with a subject pertinent to all, according to the chairman.

HORSE SHOW TOMORROW AT SAN MATEO

Men students are invited to enter the co-educational San Mateo Horse show which is scheduled for Saturday evening at 7:00 at the Gymkana club there, announced Miss Evelyn Amaral, P. E. instructor, who is adviser of the Riding club.

Women participants must be members of the club. Students who are interested should sign their names on the entry list in the Women's gym by today if they wish to take part in the show. Eight students will be selected to enter the contest, stated Miss Amaral.

Nominations In Morris Dailey Tuesday; May 13 Set For Election

Registration of students who will enter the race this month for seven student council positions will close today at noon and open again Monday at 12 o'clock, councilmen announced yesterday.

POSTPONE SIGN-UP

Decision to postpone the sign-up deadline to Monday was made by the council to allow aspirants to next year's student executive posts a full five days to register. Spardi Gras festivities will officially close down student and administrative offices at 12 o'clock today.

John W. Winkler's Painting Picked By Art Society

The American College Society of Print Collectors announce selection of John W. Winkler's "Bermondsy Bridge" plate as the twenty-first of the Society's publications, according to Marques E. Reitzel, head of the Art department.

San Jose State college is the national headquarters of the Print Collectors' society, according to Reitzel, who is national chairman for the organization. The organization was recently moved from its former headquarters at Rockford college, Illinois.

The society was first formed to make available to university and college students important work by distinguished masters in the field of contemporary graphic arts. Each year the organization publishes several important works of modern print makers.

Permanent membership in the society is limited to art departments of universities and colleges, and furnishes fine quality prints to members at prices impossible to obtain in the open market.

The Winkler print is not for sale, declared Reitzel, and may be obtained only through membership. "As the published prints are worth many times the annual fee, the members are expected to keep them for their collections and are not to sell them for financial gain," Reitzel said.

Sterling Young May Play For Senior Ball

Plans for the Senior Ball to be held at the Olympic club on June 8 were discussed at the senior class meeting yesterday. Tentatively scheduled to play for the group is Sterling Young's orchestra.

Chairman Leila Gulmert reported on the progress being made by the Junior-Senior Mixer committee with plans for the affair to be held Monday evening, May 13, immediately preceding the official inauguration of Sneak Week activities. Dr. Frederick Graham, Social Science instructor, spoke to the group on the European situation.

NOTICE

Organizations which have ordered prizes from the committee should arrange to pick them up between 11 and 12 a.m. in the Dean of Women's office. Refills will be available during the afternoon in the same office. All unused prizes are to be returned as soon as the booths close.

Registration of students who will be nominated for council positions Tuesday will be moved from the student body president's office to the Controller's office for today and Monday's sign-ups.

Nine more students signified their intention of running for the posts yesterday, bringing the total number of council aspirants up to 20. New names on the list included Bill Van Vleck, Leonard Martin, Tom Griffin, Happy Bailey, Verne Williams, Sidney Webb, Jack Sarkisian, Wendell Hammon, and Bill Sellers.

Councilmen stressed the fact that all nominees must have at least a "C" average in their scholastic work in order to be eligible to run. Students who register this week and Monday morning must be nominated by supporters at the Tuesday nominations assembly at 11 o'clock in the Morris Dailey auditorium, student officials said.

Election of the seven council members will be held on May 13 with the run-offs for student body officers held on the following Friday, May 17.
