

It sounds like the old army game to us! Conflicting reports in local papers indicate that Barbara O'Connell, State co-ed, DID have a date with Private James Stewart, late of Hollywood, and DIDN'T. Seems to have Moffett Field officers wondering, too, since the army's star private has supposedly been in quarantine since his arrival at the field. And so Barbara, with a twinkle in her eye, remains non-committal and lets the papers argue and the army wonder. She knows!

REVELRIES REHEARSALS BEGIN AT 7:30 TONIGHT

First rehearsal of Revelries, annual spring show, will be held tonight in the Morris Dailey auditorium at 7:30, it was announced yesterday by director Major West.

The entire cast is expected to turn out for the session, including the band, Ero Trio, Male Quintet, and Kathleen Bearce, co-writer of the original script, who has a part in the production.

The 30-piece band, which is made up of students in different departments on the campus, will furnish the background music, and will accompany singers, as well as introduce the original compositions.

Original musical contributions for the student-written program should be in as soon as possible. The deadline for the compositions is April 11, it was announced.

Something new in souvenirs for the evening will be an eight-page booklet containing pictures of stars, highlights of the production, and a history of revelries and forward, as well as the program of the evening. These will be distributed free to the audience, announced Harrett Mannina, who is in charge.

Campus organizations are being contacted by the committee, headed by Mannina, and efforts are being made to contact downtown groups for support of the campus production. Directors feel that this is the biggest affair in "Spardi Gras - Revelries" history and should be brought to the attention of the community. Posters and feature boards will be placed in conspicuous places, it was decided.

The program will take place in the Morris Dailey auditorium May 1 and 2, which is a little more than three weeks off. Tickets for the student-written, student-directed, and student-acted production will go on sale the latter part of next week.

APPLEBY'S BAND PLAYS FOR DANCE TOMORROW NOON

First quad dance of the quarter will be held tomorrow noon from 12:30 to 1 o'clock in the main quad, announced Harrett Mannina, in charge of quad dances.

A five-piece unit of Clyde Appleby's band will supply the music. Appleby will be featured on the clarinet, Allan Furgensen on the piano, Bob Alcorn on the trumpet, George Morris on the string bass and Nick Maggie on drums.

"Since this is the first dance of the quarter, and the weather is so nice, we ought to have a big turnout," Mannina states. "If we have a big turnout, the dances will continue every three weeks, if not, they will be suspended."

This is an opportunity for lower classmen to show their enthusiasm and spirit by attending en masse, it was stated.

Senior Interviews

All seniors are asked by Ed Haworth, appointment secretary, to consult the schedule posted on the bulletin board in front of his office. The interviews will be given from April 14-18.

BILL PASSES COMMITTEE

COLLEGE OFFICIALS AWAIT DECISION OF ASSOCIATION

College officials were awaiting last night the verdict of the examining committee for the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools on this school's application for recognition as a member of the association.

Following the investigation of this campus last week by three college representatives of the association, these delegates, A. C. Roberts, president of San Francisco State college, Walter Redford of Southern Oregon College of Education, and Prof. Kenneth Potter of Fresno State college, presented their findings and recommendations to the accrediting commission last night.

Unofficially, college administrators expect the attitude of the commission to be favorable. "The examining committee was very friendly toward our application," Dr. MacQuarrie declared last night. Dr. Raymond Mosher of the Personnel board represented San Jose State at the meeting of the commission.

The college has already applied for membership in the American Association of Universities, in order to allow students now enrolled to join some branch of the military service which requires that applicants have a certain number of quarters in a recognized school.

The committee for the national association will require two years to examine the application, however, and this move to join the Northwest group will be an added recommendation, according to Dr. MacQuarrie.

AWA Date Bureau Promises Dreams Will Come True

Special for men students: Picture soft lights in a moonlit tropical island with pulsating tom-tom rhythm in the background, and you swaying to the music with a beautiful girl in your arms.

This will all come true for the first 150 or so men students who sign up in the Date Bureau in the Dean of Men's office for the AWA convention dance April 19.

Specifications of the lovely "strangers" are available in the dean's office; height, weight, age, color of hair, and major in college are all included. They are all guaranteed to be expert dancers.

The dance will be carried out in a Hawaiian motif complete with grass shacks. Twelve hostesses will introduce men students to the "conventionees" at the Men's gym where the dance will be held.

Think of it, men! A beautiful girl and an evening of dancing without expense or transportation worry. It's all yours for the signing up!

ASSEMBLY ACT CALLS FOR ADDITIONAL FUNDS IN EXPANSION PROGRAM

By HARRY GRAHAM
Spartan Daily Associate Editor

Marked with a "do pass" notation by the assembly committee on state colleges, Bill 2249, granting an additional $1,199,330 for buildings and improvements at San Jose State college, was presented to the State legislature Saturday.

Although the committee, appointed to investigate college budget requisitions, officially approved the bill, the assembly ways and means committee presented a revised budget yesterday which would cut the college's biennial support from $1,058,481 to $1,010,401.

Designed to aid in the school's expansion program, the bill would provide money with which to erect a $350,000 music building, purchase the Technical high school property for the expansion of the college's own Industrial Art's department, purchase the present Student Union building from the San Jose State college corporation, and extend the new library building, already near completion.

The money would also allow for the purchase of a practice house for the Home Economics department and provide for the addition of class rooms and administrative offices in the present buildings.

Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, who attended an informal meeting with several of the state college presidents in San Francisco yesterday, expressed the opinion that the formal approval of the state college advisory group was of more importance than the assembly committee's proposed budget cut, according to the attitude of the college presidents.

The woodwind section of the department is being represented in the conference by both the Symphonic Band and the woodwind ensemble. The band, under direction of Thomas E. Eagan, played for an opening session at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and will play again tonight at 8 for a general session.

The woodwind ensemble played yesterday noon for the Good Fellowship luncheon meeting, with Eagan as director and Melvin Buford, oboe player, as soloist.

The Brass choir, directed by Frank N. Elsass, provides musical entertainment tonight for the Instrumental Banquet.

Final Run-Off In Junior Election Tomorrow, 8-5

Final run-off for election of Junior class officers will be held tomorrow from 8 to 5 in front of the Morris Dailey auditorium.

Two offices remain to be filled in this class. Wilbur Scott and Gerry Fear are running for president, and the secretary-treasurer will be chosen from Ed Chambers and Ruth Wool.

All students who served on the election board during previous elections are asked to report at the same time. Any other juniors who have free hours are welcome to serve.

Bob Hamill was elected sergeant-at-arms for the Junior class at run-off elections held last Friday.

Conference Seven Music Recitals Given For Convention

A total of seven programs will have been presented by San Jose State college's Musical department offering a variety of instrumental and vocal music, by the end of the four-day convention of the California Western Music Educators Wednesday.

The 110-piece symphony orchestra, largest musical group in the school, played a coast-to-coast broadcast concert over NBC's Blue Network on the Music and American Youth program. The symphony will be presented a second time Tuesday evening at 8 for a general session of the conference.

At yesterday's opening session in the Civic auditorium, the college's A Cappella choir, which gave its annual spring concert last week, sang.

The woodwind section of the department is being represented in the conference by both the Symphonic Band and the woodwind ensemble. The band, under direction of Thomas E. Eagan, played for an opening session at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and will play again tonight at 8 for a general session.

The woodwind ensemble played yesterday noon for the Good Fellowship luncheon meeting, with Eagan as director and Melvin Buford, oboe player, as soloist.

The Brass choir, directed by Frank N. Elsass, provides musical entertainment tonight for the Instrumental Banquet.

In the process of building at the Aeronautics laboratory is a monoplane wing which, when completed, will be installed upon what was formerly a bi-plane, according to the Flying club's faculty adviser, F. F. Petersen.

Incorporating new designs, the wing was planned by Leonard Grantham and is destined for a de Havilland Moth, 110 horsepower plane belonging to Leo Garbini of Gilroy.

The actual building is under the direction of Arthur Monti and Herbert Dennis and will be complete and ready for testing June 1.

A second project also at present under construction is an airport radio equipment with Paul Robbiano continuing the work started by Jack Bisby and Ronald Mongeon.

Program Petitions

Students who have petitioned for programs of less than 9 or more than 16 1/2 units are asked by the Registrar's office to check the bulletin board.

Student Exhibits Serve Double Purpose

From time to time various classes or groups of students place displays in the showcases in the different buildings on the campus. These exhibits fill a double purpose. First, they provide actual bits of interesting information for other students, and second, they show what is being done by these various classes.

Exhibits in the Science building, for example, have, in the past, dealt with certain scientific phenomena such as liquid light, black light and hydro-ponics. To the majority of students, these phenomena are something entirely new and different and therefore very interesting.

Displays in the Home Economics building show new ideas in dishes, textiles and household gadgets and provide an interesting exhibit. True, they may be of special interest to Home Economics majors, but they are interesting to the other co-eds as well.

These exhibits have certain bits of information to impart to students on the campus, but they also give the students an idea of what is being done by those in other departments.

All too often we become so engrossed with what our own special department is doing that we forget that other groups are doing things too. These exhibits serve to remind us of this.

They show us what our fellow students are able to learn today just because education has broadened to such an extent during the past few years that its scope is no longer limited to a few fundamental subjects.

And because these displays do show us what others are learning, we are able to learn something new too.—Irwin.

We Outgrow Our Short Pants

As these lines are being set in type, the accrediting commission of the Northwestern Association of Secondary and Higher Schools is considering the application of San Jose State college for membership in the organization. College administrators expect the decision of the commission to be favorable, and are unofficially ready to announce to branches of the military service and to associate members of the organization the membership of this college.

If the commission grants us recognition, San Jose State college, ironically enough the oldest state public educational institution on the Pacific coast, will outgrow its short pants. A leader in proportional enrollment and in expansion, both in the teaching staff and in our facilities, this college is one of the last major institutions of its kind on the coast to join the association.

Our application for membership in the Northwest Association is an important step toward assuring us recognition in the roles of the American Association of Universities; but more important than the guaranteed recommendation, the former group will present in our behalf to the national organization, is the fact that several important barriers will be lowered to students now enrolled in the college.

In order to join certain branches of the military service, applicants must have had a number of quarters of instruction in an accredited school. Because we have hitherto been unrecognized, our applicants have been automatically discarded. There are a great many governmental positions, consulate, personnel and quasi-judicial, which have demanded graduates from recognized institutions. Depending on the commission's decision, we now have that prerequisite.

Whether such recognition will lead eventually to our becoming a university depends upon a future chain of circumstances that cannot even be remotely considered; but we will now have the approval of the important national and local factions and will be at long last an accredited college. —Graham.

Hawaiian Influence Seen In Co-eds' Play Togs This Spring

With all co-eds anxious to wear their newest in spring styles it is a shame that the good old Sol won't stay out long enough to bring out the campus women's plaid's and pastels. Anyway by hook or crook the gals are getting tans . . . or should we say . . . their noses red?

The Hawaiian influence is marked in play togs for the season . . . with large floral prints in dirndles, play suits, and beach slacks being displayed in many downtown windows. Pique holds its own in play-suits, and with a colorful embroidery or scallops and dots for trimmings the two-piece pique would certainly please m'lady.

Naturally a spring wardrobe would not be complete without a slack suit . . . lovely in the all-time popular gabardine . . . or in the new togo cloth . . . a spun-rayon which looks and feels like flannel. A jerken over the long-sleeved blouse in a contrasting color adds much to the suit . . . newest, without jerken, is the sailor suit.

Lifted from the peanut vendors of Brazil are the knee-pants—longer rolled shorts . . . good for cycling . . . but tiny co-eds should stay away from them.

Dress your sport togs with a white fuzzy-wuzzy wool jacket . . . best part of the jacket is that you can wear it for an evening wrap.

Turbans are still the most popular headgear for the season . . . mainly because they can be worn with everything from beach suit to date wear . . . cleverest and easiest to handle are the wrap around type . . . perhaps you can knit your own.

CONTRIBUTOR'S COLUMN

Thrust and Parry

Queen Election Defended

Dear Thrust and Parry:
 Yesterday's Spartan Daily carried an editorial attacking the election system of choosing a queen for Spardi Gras. The writer of the article suggested that the election would result in a queen being chosen by the organization which could muster the most votes. The alternative suggested was to have a "group of experts" pick the queen.

In deciding to choose the queen by an election system this year, it was felt that the students should pick their own queen for a strictly on-campus affair, Spardi Gras. The students may not be "experts" as was stated, but it would be surprising if even James Stewart could pick a girl from the two

Looking Around

COLUMNIST REVIEWS DAILY'S FEATURE PAGE, AND MUSIC CONFERENCE

Today I take my first crack at writing a column—that is, my first try in recent years.

I started to write a column for this feature page when I was a sophomore, a couple of years ago.

It seems that the style of writing a column then centered about an attempt to be funny. When the columns were funny they were good, but when they TRIED to be funny they were awful.

Since those early "adolescent" days, the Spartan Daily feature page has come quite a way, I think. There are still some who are disappointed that it has forsaken "high school" style for a more constructive way or presentation.

Some still long for the old scandal sheet.

When I look back upon those childish attempts to be funny, I find myself appreciating the Daily's constructive trend more and more.

Those of you who are new here naturally do not know the old-style feature page way of presentation. If you did, you too would appreciate the present policy of the page in booting out all attempts to revert the page back to high school days.

Can't figure out for the life of me how I ever got started on the above. Probably because I was one of those columnists who tried to be funny a couple of years ago and now that I am about to attempt to write a column with a little more serious thought to it want my feelings aired right off the bat.

Anyhow, this column will do with just what the title says: will keep its eyes open for campus activity and make comment on that activity, good or bad.

For the inaugural I can't think of a better subject to comment upon than the music conference being held here this week. I chanced to wander past the Morris Dailey auditorium yesterday morning while the picked high school chorus was brushing up on its program in a practice session.

I sneaked in on the preview and took a seat in the balcony along with a small group of interested and curious college students, intending to stay for just a moment or two.

Despite the fact that I have plenty of studying and all that to catch up on, darned if I could pull myself away from the practice. The finished manner in which that chorus sang, and the dynamic way in which the director held them interested, kept me there for a couple of hours instead of a couple of minutes.

As the director commented during one particularly good passage: "I think they have something there."

CON LACY

Informed observers agree that the present foreign policy of the United States seems destined to lead us into war with the slogan that England is fighting our battle. Theoretically we can best preserve our democracy by defeating Germany.

The administration is stirring up war fervor by pointing out that if England loses we shall be the next victim. The fallacy of this reasoning has been pretty well exploded by most military experts. If anyone who reads this has any lingering fears of a German invasion I recommend the article "Can Hitler Invade America?" in the April issue of the Readers' Digest.

With the assumption that we are in no immediate danger of a European invasion, I question that we can best defend American democracy by fighting England's war.

Harry Elmer Barnes has some pretty pointed remarks regarding democracy and war in his textbook "Society in Transition", written in 1939, from which I quote:

thousand on campus on whom every one could agree. A general election will give all the students an opportunity to express their own opinion, and we hope will arouse more interest than having the queen picked by off-campus experts.

The contest committee assures the student body that there will be no "ballot-box stuffing". Everyone will be entitled to one vote, and that is all.

—Verne Williams, contest chr.

"There is little hope of maintaining democracy at home unless we can preserve peace with foreign powers. The regimentation of war time is incompatible with democracy and freedom. . . ."

"While any such thing as complete isolation is absurd in the world order of today, the United States must resolutely keep free from the diplomatic chicanery and aggressive politics of the Old World.

"To have been inveigled once, to the tune of 100 billion dollars ought to be enough for our nation, so long as that sad episode can be remembered. Nothing could be more fatal and self-contradictory than for the United States to enter a world war to preserve democracy.

"Within less than a month after we entered such a war, democracy would have disappeared from our country, not only during war time but for an indefinite period thereafter."

Barnes expresses my sentiments much better than I can, even though he wrote the foregoing in 1939.

SURPRISE! STATE-AZTEC
BASEBALL SERIES IS ON AGAIN; FILICE TO HURL
LEAGUE LEADING SANTA BARBARA
NINE PLAYS THURSDAY, SATURDAY

That on-again-it's-off-again baseball clash between the Spartan varsity and San Diego State is on again.

In a surprise announcement from Spartan mentor Walt McPherson, it was officially confirmed that the two-game series with the Aztec invaders would be played today and tomorrow. The second surprise of the day came when McPherson also announced that the dates of the Santa Barbara series had also been shifted.

New plans call for the Gauchos to be played Thursday and Saturday, with Santa Barbara breaking up to San Francisco to engage the San Francisco State nine in a doubleheader Friday.

Today's contest with the Aztecs will renew the meetings of the two schools. The San Diego nine took the laurels in the last meeting of the two clubs. San Diego is at present resting in second place in the CCAA conference race and hopes to fatten its win column at the expense of San Jose. Pete Filice, slated to hurl the previous time out, will seek revenge for the defeated Spartans. The Aztec club is a powerful batting aggregation of players that are of a small stature.

San Diego will be favored in the contests of previous double wins over the Spartan nine.

Slated to be played Friday and Saturday, the Santa Barbara games have been switched. The King of CCAA baseball will make his northern California appearance when Santa Barbara State's reigning baseball club tangles in the first of a two-game series with the Walt McPherson-coached San Jose State nine Thursday at 3:15 in the local field. The second game will be Saturday at the same time.

Santa Barbara will probably start Wrightson on the hill in the first game and Bill Adamson in the second. For the Spartans it'll probably be Stubenrauch and Namento.

The house that shekels built may come tumbling down with a resounding crash at any moment now.

For the house that King Football built is slowly being torn apart—slat by slat. Yesterday slat number three was taken out of the stented building when the United States Marines, stationed at San Diego, cancelled their 1941 grid contest with the "Golden Raiders" of San Jose.

EMERGENCY

The marine eleven was disbanded because of the national emergency and called off their nine-game schedule.

Previous wreckers were the University of San Francisco and St. Mary's Galloping Gaels from Moraga valley.

Hoping that the fair weather that finally came yesterday would

'Aqu-y-cade' Show
In Local Pool
Thursday Evening

The greatest aqu-y-cade ever staged at San Jose State college will be held in the local pool Thursday afternoon and evening.

The show, which is sponsored by the Physical Education department, will feature Bozo, "Boo-hoo", diving clown of the World's Fair "Aquacade", who is the originator of most of his comedy acts both in mid-air and in the water.

Tickets for both performances can be purchased in the Controller's office. Student price for the afternoon performance at 4:30 is 30 cents. General admission for the evening performance at 8:30 is 35 cents.

Another of the featured performers is Norris "Corky" Kellam, of Aquacade fame known as the "Human Cork" because of his novelty floating and underwater tricks. "Corky" will eat and smoke under water, juggle glasses and many other new tricks. Also his famous "Leap for Life", an escape act, will be on the program.

Water boxing, a new and exciting sport, will be introduced by "Corky" Kellam. Many novel acts will be featured by other performers during the show.

remain for a while, head mentor Ben Winkelman planned to start bearing down. Winkelman, with a turnout of 60 players, has the difficult task of grooming young players for the posts that he expects will be vacated.

CHANGES

Apparently Winkelman is still experimenting, for he shifted Vernon Cartwright, frosh quarterback last season, to the guard slot, and sent husky John Desalernos into the line at end. Desalernos also played quarter last season on the frosh outfit.

Fred "Bulldog" Lindsey, a former Modesto Jaycee warrior, is expected to bolster the team's stock when he reports in earnest for spring training. Lindsey has worked out, true, but he still is on the varsity baseball squad and will continue on with that unit until the season ends next week.

Bleshmen Defeat
Bronco Netmen 7-2

San Jose State's varsity tennis team will play host to the St. Mary's netmen this afternoon at 2 o'clock on the local courts.

Tomorrow the powerful aggregation from San Francisco State will invade the local courts to engage the Spartan racquet swingers. The San Francisco squad will offer the strongest competition in San Jose's fourth straight title bid.

Led by Ronald Edwards, ranked fourth in the State of California, the Spartans will be favored in today's match as a result of previous wins over the University of San Francisco and Santa Clara university.

In a return match with the Bronco netmen yesterday afternoon on the Santa Clara courts the Spartans won 7 to 2. Results of yesterday's matches:

Hines And Olsen
May Set School
Records In Meet

By CON LACY

Coach Sam Della Maggiore's Spartan wrestlers are entering the last month of the season with only dual meets against UCLA Friday night and San Francisco YMCA the following week standing between them and an undefeated season.

San Francisco YMCA was dumped 20 to 18 earlier in the year, so the Bruins are the only real obstacle. The UCLA team is considered the biggest threat for the coast championship, having tied with San Jose for second place last year.

Friday's matches will be a pre-skirmish for the big PCI meet April 25 and 26 at UCLA, as the majority of Bruin-Spartan wrestlers are favored to battle it out for individual championships.

Ivan Olsen at 135 pounds and Davey Hines at 165 have the opportunity of compiling two of the best grappling records in Spartan history. Both are undefeated to date. The 1940 captain, Fortune Masdeo, is the only Spartan to ever win three major championships in one year, and the two sophomores may eclipse his record this season.

Masdeo copped Far Western, Pacific coast intercollegiate, and Senior PAAU titles last year. This year Olsen powered his way to Senior PAAU and Far Western titles and lacks only the intercollegiate medal to equal Masdeo's record.

If Hines cops the intercollegiate he will be the only local

SPARTANS FINALLY OPEN SEASON THIS AFTERNOON
AGAINST STANFORD

At long last, San Jose State college varsity track team will get a chance to open its 1941 season this afternoon against Stanford at Angell Field in Palo Alto. Spartans are to leave the gym at 2:15.

The meet between Coach Glenn (Tiny) Hartranft's men and the Indians was scheduled for last Saturday but was postponed because of rain. Both teams suffered loss of competition the previous week because of muddy tracks.

Although Stanford is favored on paper to take the meet, the Spartans are expected to show a lot of spunk when they face competition. Each team is in the same boat, as neither has been able to get in much practice.

FROSH TRACKSTERS
OPEN SEASON
AGAINST PLACER

The Frosh track meet scheduled with Placer J. C. for last Saturday has been rescheduled for tomorrow afternoon, announces "Tiny" Hartranft, freshman and varsity track mentor.

Hartranft has entered fifteen first-year men in tomorrow's cinder duel. Gil Bishop, Placer coach, has not announced his entries yet.

The San Jose entries are: 100 and 200 yard dashes: G. Yakubovsky, B. Seely, Lindsey. 440 yard dash: Hummel, Palmer, Coen, Schrawb.

880 yard run: Coen, Howard. One and two mile run: Knox. 120 yard low hurdles: E. Vererge and Townsend.

220 yard low hurdles: Veregge, Townsend and Seely.

Shot and discus: Wilson. Javelin: Knox. High jump: Seely, Watts. Broad jump: McCubbin, Burge.

Spartan Freshmen
Cross Bats With Menlo JC Nine

Seeking their second win in as many starts, Coach LeRoy Zimmerman's freshman baseball nine cross bats Thursday with Menlo J. C. at Menlo.

Zimmerman, short on pitchers, will have to depend on his only reliable chucker, Jack Gottschok, against the Jaysee boys.

Hitting power for the Spartababes will be Bobby Silva, Harold Sontag and Johnny Urzi. The team will be greatly strengthened in the field with the return of Willie Jones in the outfield.

If Lew Boitano finds his eye, he will be an added asset to the team. Lew, one of the most polished fielders to enroll at Sparta for some time, has been unable to hit the ball as yet.

Zimmerman has been heartened by the way the infield worked against Washington high. With added work the boys should come through nicely. The infield is composed of Gerry Becker, Sontag, Urzi and Diern Rossetto.

Silva, Jones and Boitano will compose the outfield; Lazarus will do the catching.

wrestlers to ever win four major championships in one year. He won the PAAU early in the season and came back to take the Senior PAAU and Far Western meets later in the year.

The two sophomores will have the opportunity of adding another gold medal to their collections in the newly-founded Grattan Memorial tournament, at the YMCA, for the Santa Clara County championships. The meet will be held for the first time May 1-2 and will close the Spartan schedule.

Stanford's Blair Hyde is expected to cause the San Jose half milers some grief. The former San Mateo junior college star is capable of doing 1:49 in the 880. Hoping to upset the dope in this event for the Spartans are John Eikenberry, transfer from Pasadena junior college, Fred Kmetovic and J. Coleman.

Capt. Jim Kerr and John Sedell will carry the burden for Hartranft's team in the 440. Stanford's star quarter miler, Capt. Ernie Clark, is not expected to be able to compete. Kerr is also expected to give an account of himself in the 220.

Unless something happens, the Indians should take the century, as Ken Battaglia has done 9.7 in the sprints. Sammy Miller, Dave Siemon and Ruiz will run the hundred for the Spartans. Miller and Ruiz will also give Kerr support in the 220.

YAMAMOTO GOOD

Yamamoto, who can do 23 feet 6 inches in the broad jump, should make a good showing against the Indians. Others competing for San Jose will be Davis, Ornelas and Siegler in the mile and two-mile; Rose, Campion, Angel and Marshall in the high hurdles; Siemon, Groeling and Shank, low hurdles; O'Connor, Wilson, Wheat and Larson in the shot and discus; Dierker, Stokes and Terry, javelin; Romines, Webb, Yamamoto and Kmetovic, high jump; Evans and Miller, broad jump; and Schneider, pole vault.

INTER-FRATERNITY
BASKETBALL
TOURNEY PLANNED

An inter-fraternity basketball league, scheduled to get under way in about a week, is being planned by Phi Epsilon Kappa, Men's Physical Education fraternity.

Representatives of the various fraternities desirous of entering a team in such a league are asked to get in touch with Hal Carruth, one of the P. E. men in charge of arrangements.

Two entries have already been received by Carruth, Gamma Phi Sigma and DTO making known their intentions of sponsoring a team.

The games will be played in the Men's gym in the afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock with a trophy being awarded to the winning outfit, according to Carruth.

Referees for the games will be provided by the sponsoring fraternity from its list of P. E. Majors.

Spotlighting Rancho Hacienda Saturday night, Alpha Pi Omega's seventh annual "Full Moon" spring sport dance will bring to dancers sweet music, several novelty numbers, and requested rhythms, all in honor of the fraternity's tenth anniversary.

Following a theme of "A Last Mode in Melody", Smith and his 11-piece band, who played in the Continental Cafe on Treasure Island last summer and are scheduled to open at the Larkspur Rose Bowl soon, will bring music fashioned with expression and vocals by Wanda Porter forecasting a fashion in rhythms for dancing, states Sid Webb, chairman.

Bids are on sale this week from fraternity members at $1.25 or may be purchased at the Controller's office.

Bert Beede's "Full Moon" theme song will again be featured this year states Ken Nosler, president. Beede is a former member.

Patrons and patronesses have been announced as Weaver Meadows, F. Muraksi, Bordman and Dr. and Mrs. B. Cooper, Dean and Mrs. Paul Pitman and Ward Rasmus.

Joining the celebration of the society's anniversary will be a number of alumni, who will also participate in a joint reunion with the fraternity over the same weekend.

IDENTIFICATION CARDS ISSUED TOMORROW, 2-5

Student body identification cards for new students will be given out in the student body president's office on the second floor of the Student Union from 2 until 5 tomorrow.

The permanent identification cards are available to those who enrolled in college for the first time this quarter and to those students who were not able to obtain them last quarter.

"It is necessary that each student have a permanent identification card as well as the regular pink card given with registration booklets as both are needed for admissions to campus activities," says Student President Bob Payne.

Students who are not able to obtain their cards tomorrow will be able to do so anytime thereafter in the Controller's office.

Containing a picture and the name and address of the student, the cards are good until the holder leaves college, when they are used in conjunction with the card issued each quarter with registration booklets.

Social Sorority Sponsors Ball For British Aid

Zeta Chi, on-campus social sorority, will stage a "Bundles for Britain" ball on May 29 in the Civic auditorium, according to Harriet Peimek, sorority president and general chairman for the dance.

The State organization is working under the national "Bundles for Britain" organization and in co-operation with the British War Relief association of San Jose.

Committee chairmen for the dance include Juanita Hadfield, finance; Betty Lane, correspondence and contact; Dorothy Mulcady, concessions; Charlotte Veit and Barbara Fulton, tickets, and Emily Bohnett, decorations.

Student Center Plans Change Of Program

Planning an entirely new type of program, the Student Center this quarter will again change its name to the Student Recreational Center, providing a place of continuous entertainment and diversion for all State college students.

Tonight a meeting will be held in the Fireside room of the Center at 120 East San Antonio from 7 to 9, to which all men and women students are invited to participate in organizing this new policy.

Students will actively remodel the entire Center, building games, painting, rebuilding the furniture, planning new games, and working in the "recreational work shop," announces Clare Harris, secretary.

Snyder, head of the recreational department of the W. P. A., will preside at the meeting tonight and will help in the planning. He will also hold the meeting in party fashion to give students an idea what can result from this type of schedule. A course in recreational leadership will also be offered later under Snyder's guidance.

NAVY INITIATES NEW OFFICERS' TRAINING PLAN

The United States Navy will inaugurate a new officers' training program under P-7 on or about the first of next month, according to Dean Pitman.

The program calls for the training of 35,500 officers by 1947 in schools set up throughout the United States. At the present time there are 11,000 officers in the personnel of the Navy. The United States Naval academy at Annapolis turns out only 600 officers each year which will not fill the set quota.

The training is open to all men with a college A.B. degree and who have had plane trigonometry.

Openings for officers in the supply corps of the Navy are also available in the new defense program, according to Pitman. The pay for beginning officers is $143 afloat and $183 ashore per month. This enables those who do not wish to enter artillery or other such fields to become officers in the Navy.

Engineering majors who expect to receive degrees in 1942 may get a probationary appointment in the naval reserve, which will enable them to defer their draft training, according to Pitman.

Engineering majors should act promptly as the papers must be in Washington, D. C., by April 21.

All students interested in any of the above should see Dean Pitman for full details and leave their names.

In the next five years the Navy is planning to train 24,000 naval pilots. Any man who has had two years of college or one year of college and three years in business may file application through Pitman or Frank Petersen.

AUTHENTIC HEADRESSES FEATURED IN SWIM CLUB WATER EXTRAVAGANZA

Exotic headdresses similar to those worn by native islanders of the Pacific, have been completed by the members of the Flower Arrangement club for use in "Isle of the Pacific", water pageant, which will be presented here on April 16, 17 and 18 by the Women's Swimming club.

The headdresses, which utilize flowers and fruit, have Japanese open-work hats as their bases—they will be worn by dancers in the offering for purification sequence.

Paizis Named Stage Manager For 'Hamlet'

Dean Paizis, freshman drama major from San Francisco, has been appointed stage manager for the San Jose State production of "Hamlet" which will be presented in the Little Theater on April 23, 24, 25 and 26, according to Peter Mingrone, Speech instructor in charge of set construction.

Paizis, who was active in debate at Gallileo high school in San Francisco, will select his stage crew some time this week. He has appeared here this year in Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing", and is a member of KJSS, radio speaking society.

As only one minute will be allowed for the scenes to be shifted during the performance of the tragedy, the stage crew much work with a maximum of speed and precision.

Any student who is interested

Flowers for the headdress were made out of crinkle-foil which will soon be unavailable because all such products are being reserved for the armament program. The flowers were placed on foundations of reeds and fastened with wires.

Special credit for the headdresses goes to Mrs. Ruth W. Turner, adviser of the Flower Arrangement club. Mrs. Turner had to overcome the problem of making the headdresses large and light, and yet durable enough to last through practices and performances. They also had to be made out of material that would not be affected by water.

Other members of the Art department who have assisted with work on the Extravaganza are Ray Saunders, Milton Cavagnero, whose classes made the posters and cover designs for the programs, and Patricia Todd, art major, who made the wood block which was used in the printing of the programs.

in working with the stage crew should apply to Mingrone or Paizis immediately.
