Freshman Dance At First Annual 'Fantasy' Tonight In Women's Gym

Music Furnished By Clyde Appleby

First annual "Freshman Fantasy" will make its bow on Washington Square tonight to the students of San Jose State college in the Women's gym. Dancing will be from 9 to 12 o'clock to the rhythms of Clyde Appleby and his 13-piece orchestra.

Bids are still on sale today for 77 cents per couple. No stags will be admitted. The bids may be obtained in the Controller's office, from any council member or may be purchased at the door this evening, Mary Stowe, committee chairman, announces.

TRADITION STARTS

The frosh class hopes that tonight's dance will be the forerunner of other fantasies to come. The beginning of this traditional dance will place it on a par with the Sophomore Hop, the Junior Prom and the Senior Ball.

"Cherry Blossom Time" is the theme for this year's dance. The bids will carry out the theme with a real blossom attached to each (Continued on page 4)

NAVY CORRECTS V-1 CONFUSION

Through an unfortunate confusion of instructions between the San Francisco and local recruiting office, a report is abroad that men have to finish their sophomore year in college within sixty days of their 20th birthday in order to be eligible for Class V-1, Naval Reserve.

The error has now been corrected and Chief Petty Officer Barber has issued the following statement:

"Any regularly enrolled student of San Jose State college, who completes his enlistment by the day he is 19 years, 11 months and 29 days old is eligible for V-1, regardless of his status in college, except that he may not be a junior nor senior."

Spartans Show Art At Museum

San Jose State college Art department is sponsoring a display at the De Young museum in San Francisco. The work was done by freshmen and sophomore students.

The De Young museum exhibits a yearly display on the various types of art done by junior colleges in California. The show will open on or about Sunday, April 19.

San Jose State college will exhibit in the following fields: drawing and composition, water color and oil paintings, commercial art, crafts, sculpture and ceramics. Twenty pieces of ceramics will be sent.

Book Exchange Returns Money

The Student Book Exchange will be open Monday only to distribute to students the money collected through the sale of their used textbooks.

Unsold books should be called for at this time. After 30 days all money and books not called for will become the property of the Exchange, announces Rex Gardiner, president.

Dancing From Dawn To Dawn Featured For Traditional Spardi Gras Festival; Maurice Sanger's Orchestra To Play

A breakfast dance and the traditional evening Spardi Gras dance will be highlights of Spardi Gras festivities May 1. The "early morning" affair will be held in the Women's gym from 6 to 8 o'clock, according to Ken Stephens, Social Affairs committee chairman. Music will be off-the-record over a public address system.

There will be a small admission charge for this dance. Coffee and doughnuts may be provided.

SANGER'S ORCHESTRA

Maurice Sanger and his orchestra will play for the evening dance following termination of Spardi Gras festivities. Featured singer with Sanger's band is Jim Miller.

The dance will be held in the Men's gym and admission will be free to student body members.

HOWDY WEEK

Introduction of a Howdy Week at San Jose State college is being considered by members of the Social Affairs committee.

The plan is to set aside a special week in which students are to say "Howdy" to anyone they might meet passing through the halls, on their way to the Co-op, or someone with whom they have wanted to become acquainted.

JUDGES SELECT SJS DELEGATES; TUESDAY MEET

Francis Stoffels and Marjorie Howell were selected yesterday by a committee of faculty judges to represent San Jose State college in the triangular debate conference Saturday at the University of Santa Clara.

Two topics chosen for formal eight-minute talks are: "Should an Office of Price Administration Be Permanently Maintained?" and "Should a Policy of World Intervention Follow the War?"

Five members of the varsity and junior varsity debate squads will participate in the afternoon round-table discussion. Francis Stoffels, Marilynne Skinner, Bert Yost, Marjorie Howell and Frank Griswold are the participants.

At noon the entire group will be guests of Santa Clara at a luncheon held for Stanford, Santa Clara and San Jose, the three schools taking part in the conference.

'EAST LYNNE' PRESENTED APRIL 22-25; MELODRAMA OLIO ACTS FEATURE SAN JOSE STATE'S TOP TALENT;

The olio variety show, given in conjunction with the San Jose Players production of "East Lynne" to be presented in the Little Theater April 22 to 25, will offer many of the most talented performers in school.

One of the feature attractions will be a chorus of dancers directed by Marian Jacobson, who appeared in this year's Revelries production. Three chorus numbers will be given, the can-can, a sailor dance, and a pastoral number which will burlesque aesthetic dancing.

The latter will be combined with a poetry recitation and a duet by Miss Maurine Thompson and Mr. Wendell Johnson of the faculty. The latter couple will also offer individual soles, and Miss Thompson will sing parodies on opera in complete Wagnerian trappings.

Individual acts will bring to the footlights the dancing of Jeanette Owen, the clowning of Ollie Bauquier, the singing of Babs Granite and Jean Brier. The audience will have a chance to participate when Mr. Adolph Otterstein of the Music department directs community singing, complete with old-fashioned slides on the screen.

Tickets for the four-night production are now on sale in the Speech office, Room 159. Prices are 28 cents for members of the student body, and 55 cents for outsiders.

Welfare Social Worker Lectures To 'YW' Sunday

Miss Marion Hooley, social worker in the SERA and Welfare department in Alameda county, will speak in the YWCA Student Center Sunday at 7:30 o'clock on the subject "Bahai Faith in This Changing World."

A frequent radio speaker and a nationwide known celebrity, Miss Hooley has spoken before to local groups. Her most recent speaking tour brought her in front of the joint meeting of the YWCA, YMCA and the Sociology and Cosmopolitan clubs.

An extensive traveler in Europe before the present war, Miss Hooley's talks on timely subjects are well founded. She is a former Stanford university student.

SOCIAL SOCIETY HOLDS BENEFIT TEA TODAY, 2 TO 5

Adding to the scholarship fund initiated last year, Delta Beta Sigma, social society of San Jose State college, holds its second annual Spring Benefit Bridge Tea at the San Jose Women's club this afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

The fund will be turned over to the college to be donated as a scholarship to finance the education of a woman who otherwise would be denied the chance of attending San Jose State college.

Entertainment and refreshments for the formal affair have been planned by Chairman Virginia Warden. Assisting are Patricia Boosey, La Verne DeSmet, Betty Sequeira, Audre Lannin, Beth Magnuson, Dorothy Lannin, Addy Ferioli, Phyllis Maddocks, Guidee Christopherson, Janis McClanahan, Dorothea Bernsdorf and Shirlee Goodrich.

Door prizes are being presented through the courtesy of San Jose merchants.

'Welcome Dance' Given Tonight By Newman Club

The Newman club is sponsoring a "Welcome Dance" in the Newman clubhouse tonight at 8 p.m. featuring as an attraction, patriotic gifts to be presented to guests at the door.

Additional entertainment will be afforded guests by games in the basement including ping-pong, pool and bowling. Dancing will be "off the record" and there will be no admission charge. Stags as well as couples are welcome.

"This dance is a quarterly affair and is open to club members and their friends," declares Barbara Healy, secretary.

NYA

Dean of Women Helen Dimmick announced yesterday that 24 women had dropped out of NYA, but 19 of the vacancies have been filled.

All applications for the rest of the quarter must be in by April 23 if the applicants expect to work this quarter, Dean Dimmick said. All NYA time cards must be in the Dean of Men's office by noon today.

NYA workers, please note: Due to the fact that Mrs. Ralph is ill, the Dean expects every one to be very co-operative.

P.S.: He "does not intend to run down any highways or byways chasing stray cards."

Conditions For Defense Show To Be Held Tuesday Morris Dailey

Gold has been appointed the chairman of the San Jose State Defense Council Variety show, featuring Tommy Taylor, who rehearsed the show under Morris Dailey's direction.

Conditions will be held Tuesday at 4 o'clock in the Morrison auditorium. Acts under fire are the Aero Wallace Murray, who does Brice imitations; Ormond master magician, and Bob Woogie" O'Brien. O'Brien the soldiers in a show put last semester, receiving at least scores. Pauline Sperry will sing and dance act.

"Air and Erl," a comedy will also be a part of the huge show scheduled to last at least an hour and a half. Hampton Ritchie and Adel Freeman are two of the stars in this play. Cherry Dwyer and Jane Dwyer are in charge of these dramatic moments.

On the more serious side of the show program here, Rex Gardiner, chairman, is mapping out a mock air raid. The San Knights, student organization, will fill the positions of guards, and the various other campus groups will be responsible for certain definite jobs.

Hospitalization Drive Hits Campus; 100 Men Needed

Drive to hit the campus war began is the campaign to raise funds to purchase bandages and first aid equipment for a case of emergency.

The College Hospitalization drive is being instituted by Don DeVoss, junior science major, and with the support of Dr. Jay Elder, dean of the lower division.

Calling for 100 men students necessary for operation, the plans at the same time in need of student body financing.

According to DeVoss the funds will be used for five major purposes as follows:

To buy a larger supply of bandages and dressings than even present school allotments for purpose can furnish. To buy enough to meet a possible emergency on the campus.

To furnish funds with which to buy needed stretchers, splints and first aid kits.

Sophomore Class Officers Meet To Fill Executive Council Seats; Three New Appointments Are Announced

With just 24 hours elapsed since the announcement of the election returns the new sophomore class officers held a short meeting to elect the rest of the executive council.

According to Loren Nicholson, president, it was decided that the new executive council should consist of six members: president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer and three others appointed by officers.

Those chosen to complete the council are Jewell Abbott, P. E. major; Mary Suranski, home economics major, and Marty Taylor, commerce major. Other class officers are: President, Loren Nicholson; vice-president, Mel Warner; secretary-treasurer, Arilee

Nicholson said that the executive council will meet Monday to elect a general council of 10 members. All class members are invited to attend and make recommendations and suggestions for the general council.

"We, the executive council, have pledged ourselves to be a part of every activity on-campus. We want our class to feel free to attend all council meetings and partake in the discussions," said Nicholson. The council will meet in the Student Union.

It Takes Nerve; And I'M Not Fooling

It takes nerve to join a branch of this nation's fighting units and still stay in college, and I'm not fooling.

Men of this college, and of all colleges, are, every hour of every day taking advantage of the opportunities that are offered by the Army, Navy and Marine corps. The chances are that they may be called out of college and thus cut short their college careers, but they don't think of that, for they are the backbone of this great nation. They have lost all of that college selfishness that prevailed before the war and have buckled down to the grim business of making this a short and victorious war for the allied nations.

It takes nerve to begin a new quarter of college and still have the feeling that you may not be able to finish, but that is one thing that the men don't think about. The United States was attacked and our boys in uniform need our support. The support of the men that are now in college, learning to become officers and men.

A few weeks ago we ran an editorial entitled "The Army Behind the Army" in which we spoke of the students, both men and women, behind the army in uniform. That goes especially for the fellows who have sacrificed their college careers to try, against heavy odds and really tough competition, for a commission in the armed forces.

Those fellows who realized this fact and yet are willing to gamble against those odds deserve a great deal of credit. "Give credit where credit is due," a wise man once said. And that still goes in college life.

And so, when we see the "big boys" still walking around college in a few weeks, remember that they may be in the service of our country, and still not be wearing a uniform.

For, remember that it takes nerve to do what they are doing, and we aren't fooling.

Color System Of Card Cataloguing Used In Library

By JACK LONG

Here in San Jose State college we have one of the most interesting systems of card cataloguing used in any library. The novelty of the thing is in the color system on the name plate cards in the catalog file cabinet drawers.

There are 405 different drawers in the three filing cabinets outside the reference room. In each of these three are nine shelves of drawers and each shelf has its own particular color for the drawers in that row. The color system for the three cabinets is the same. They start with a deep blue and go "right down the line," making a pretty color scheme ending in white.

"Now just what is the purpose of all this?" one may ask. It is simple. It helps keep the drawers in order. If a drawer is placed in a slot belonging to another, the break in the horizontal line of color will be readily noticeable. Other libraries use numbers entirely. If one of the drawers in their system is misplaced, it involves looking all through the set to find which one is in the wrong place.

As far as I am able to ascertain, there is no other library employing this system. It looks good and works better, so it might not be a bad idea if we congratulate our library staff for their ingenious idea.

What's Doing

Tennis Club: Meeting today at 4:15 o'clock in front of the Women's gym.

Pre-Nursing Club: The Pi Nu Sigma club will hold a special meeting Tuesday to discuss plans about attending Highland hospital and another hospital in the Bay area next Saturday. All pre-nursing students, new and old, are urged to attend this important meeting.

Basketball Pictures: Colin Hill and the manager of last quarter's frosh basketball team are to report to the Publications office at 11:15 o'clock for La Torre pictures.

MODES o' the MOMENT

By DOROTHY CHRISTENSON

Once in Pre-California days, that is, before we joined the general migratory movement toward the Chamber of Commerce country, we heard someone say that California was the only place on earth where one needed windshield wipers on their sun glasses. Now we know what that person meant.

This year at Spardi Gras we are going to wear our cellophane raincoat over our bathing suit and wear a sign on our back saying, "We're from California."

buzzin' by bee laurence

We know our college is pretty friendly, as institutions go. We aren't a snobbish lot. On the other hand, we would probably be a lot friendlier if we knew how.

Howdy Week, as proposed by Pete Kristovich to the Social Affairs committee at their last meeting, will give us the opportunity to display our most democratic natures.

In general the plan is this: When you walk down the hall and see a stranger, say "Howdy" to him. It's a good way to make acquaintances and the other fellow will probably feel a lot more welcome around the school when you do. You can be sure, too, that he'll respond to the greeting immediately.

Incidentally, boys, if you want to get acquainted with that blond who hits in the back of the room, you won't need a formal introduction during Howdy Week. All you have to do is say hello. It's all very easy. And besides, it works.

Howdy Week has been a tradition for a long time at Washington State, Cal Aggies, and Fresno State college. A number of junior colleges have adopted it, and everyone is enthusiastic about its success.

Says Pete Kristovich, "Even if I am married, I like to be friendly to strangers. And there's an awful lot of fellows around here that I'd like to know better. I'm sure you feel the same way. If Howdy Week is such a success at other colleges and universities, it ought to be a wow at San Jose."

Gene Long, Madelyn Murch, Wes Young, Walt Schmidt and Edna Mae Markhofer, please meet in Dr. Atkinson's office at 1:30 today for a very short rehearsal.

Along The Service Lines

By WILBUR

Anywhere

Gus Covello, former student, had a funny experience which he writes. Gus was at Fort Benning, Georgia, and in the army only two weeks when he happened upon a copy of the Spartan Daily in the camp. The Daily really got across.

Few students realize at the present time how many papers are reaching former students in the services. Of the more than 1000 known ex-Spartans now serving with the Navy, Army, Marines and Air Corps to date, the Spartan Daily reaches about 200.

The papers cover the United States from one coast to the other, and can be found in Panama, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands.

Arthur Phillips, who just completed his primary flight training period at the Corsicana, Texas, primary training schools, is now in his second step in becoming a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. He was transferred to Goodfellow Field, San Angelo, Texas, March 29 for his basic training. Upon completion of this stage he will be sent to an advanced training school where he will receive his commission.

On The Sea

Dale Irons, naval reserve radioman now serving aboard the U.S.S. Lexington, aircraft carrier, writes from somewhere at sea and states that he and other State students aboard get the Spartan Daily, although often very late.

Irons says reading material is scarce and all his mates, whether State students or from elsewhere, read the papers.

Jim Otterson, now stationed at Thunder-Bird Field, one of Army Air Corps' many primary flight schools located in Arizona, is now in his final stage of initial flight instruction and soon be sent to a basic flight school.

He says it is quite a thrill solo after flying so many hours with an instructor at the controls in the front cockpit, and suddenly finding yourself looking into an empty cockpit in front of you.

Prize Slogan

Prize slogan of this war is in our opinion is the one chosen up by the men stationed at Thunder Field in Bakersfield. The Army Air Corps pilots there, now in basic training stage, use the slogan: "We'll rule the Blue in '42." At the present time the Army Air Corps is going full steam ahead carrying out this slogan.

We thank George Kubishka for furnishing the above slogan in recent letter.

Let's here from more of the men in Uncle Sam's armed forces, matter where they are.

Tomes In Our Times

By PATRICIA LOON

"Did You Ever Send Your Wife to San Jose?" Back in 1856 this was a farce produced on the stage of a San Francisco theater. This was the golden era in the California theater with stage artists our grandmothers and grandfathers enjoyed . . . names the theater will never forget . . . Jean Davenport, James Murdock, Laura Keane, Lotta Crabtree, the Bateman Sisters, and the famous Lola Montez.

George R. MacMinn tells a glowing story of the California theater in his book, "The Theater of the Golden Era in California," one of the new books available to students at the circulation desk in the library.

The gold rush was responsible for the golden era in the theater in California, which began with the discovery at Sutter's mill and gradually began to die out ten or twelve years later.

Sacramento might have had the first theater in California, but San Francisco soon opened one which had the distinction of being on the second story of a building housing a saloon.

LITERARY TRENDS

"Literary Criticism: Pope to Croce," by Gay Wilson Allen and Harry Hayden Clark, is a collection of writings to show the main trends and developments of critical thought in the western world from Pope to Croce. Should be a help to students taking World Literature or some of the other English courses given on Washington Square.

ON LAND, ON SEA . . .

Several books on air and sea power are available to interested students. "Sea Power in the Machine Age" by Bernard Brodie, and "Aircraft Instruments" by Irvin are two books written on subjects pertinent today.

"What the Citizen Should Know About the Navy," written by Hanson W. Baldwin, is one of a series of books on what the citizen should know about the different branches of our armed forces. Written for the layman, it describes, among other things, the

On Land, On Sea, In The Air

Dear Editor:

I am a former student of San Jose State and now serving as radioman in the Naval Reserve aboard the aircraft carrier Lexington. Reading material is scarce now, and almost impossible, so you can imagine how appreciate receiving the Daily. Whenever mail comes about which is not very often, I gather up my flock of Dailies and distribute them among my mates, who usually are not satisfied until they have read them all.

I am on a very large ship and know there are quite a few former State students aboard. I speak for them all. As far as the war goes, we have been very busy, as you no doubt have read in the papers.

Just a little comment on your article in Thurston and Parry. Contributor evidently doesn't know the facts. The Japs are bent on destroying the morale of the American people and if they ever reach the west coast, San Jose had better be ready for them. It is far from impossible.

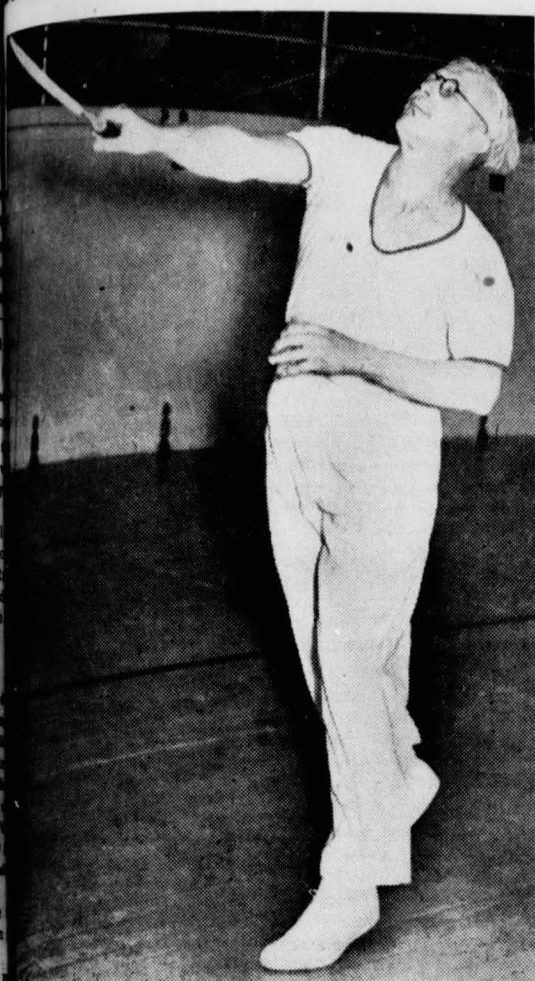

My mates and I have had bombs thrown at us from Jap planes and it is no fun. I suggest your contributor complete his bomb shelter in record time. He probably needs the exercise anyway.

Respectfully yours,
Dale M. Irons, RM3C.

Defending Badminton Champion

Corydon Jones, who won half of the 1941 men's doubles badminton championship of Santa Clara county, hopes he and partner Bob Hamsher will retain their title tonight and tomorrow night in this year's tourney in the Men's gym.

BADMINTON STARS TO OPEN ANNUAL TOURNEY TONIGHT IN GYM

Santa Clara county's best badminton players, some of them recent national and European champions, will open the yearly championship tournament tonight and tomorrow night at the Men's gym.

Special interest to college students will be expected in the classic match between our own champion Walt McPherson and Stanford champion Harper Ink. Another feature match will be the meeting of Janet Wright, copy editor of the U. S. Women's Dailies and district champion, and my mate, U. S. women's singles champion and former English champion, Vera Kingsbury.

Jones and Robert Hamsher, county doubles titleholders, defend their title against McPherson and George Rotholz, and Vivien Gordon and Frank Hamsher, college P. E. instructors, will be after the women's doubles championship.

Admission both nights will be free with student body cards.

SPARTAN NETMEN TRAVEL SOUTH

Because of transportation difficulties, the proposed tennis match with College of Pacific was postponed to a later date.

Next competition for the Spartans will be with Santa Barbara Monday afternoon in the south. Tuesday afternoon the Spartan netmen will battle UCLA in Westwood.

Following these matches, four Staters will enter the Ojai Valley tourney Thursday and Friday. Ronald Edwards and Vic Morton will play in the senior college division, and Don McKenzie and Dink Clark will enter the frosh division.

Eddie LaFrank will make up the fifth man for the two dual matches.

Ho-Hum--Bear Tilt Cancelled

By "SCRAPPY"

If nothing else, this year's Spartan baseball team has set an all-time record for the number of games cancelled. The cancellation of yesterday's contest between San Jose State and the University of California brought the total for the season to nine games out of a schedule of 20 contests.

At the beginning of the season the Spartans started out on a 20-game schedule. They've played and lost seven, cancelled nine, and besides today's contest have to play one with San Francisco State on Monday afternoon there, and two with Fresno State college here a week from tomorrow.

Wrestlers Rated Under California In PCI Tourney

By BOB CONNER

Although rated underdogs to the strong California Bear matmen, the San Jose State Spartan grapplers will be "hard to beat" in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate championships to be held at Berkeley today and tomorrow, predicts Spartan Coach Sam Della Maggione.

Dropped by the Bears in the Far Western tourney earlier in the year, and loser in a recent two-way meet with the California team, the Spartans are nevertheless in excellent shape for the matches for the first time this season.

HINES AND OLSEN

Main hopes for the Spartans will be Dave Hines in the 165-pound class and Ivan Olsen at 136 pounds. Both these boys took the measure of their California opponents in the recent meet with the Bears. Hines and Olsen have proved themselves two of the better grapplers in their weight class in the nation.

LINEUP

Fighting for the locals will be Fawcett at 128 pounds, Olsen at 136 pounds, Albright at 145 pounds, Raiche at 155 pounds, Hines at 165 pounds, Weidenhoffer at 175 pounds, and either Dahl or Bailey in the heavyweight division.

The following men are asked to make appointments with Miss Rogers in the Men's gym for bowling tryouts today or the first of next week: Hal Sonntag, Bill Harris, Bill Vining, Ben Bramble, Charles F. Brown, Ed Tonini, Roy Diederichsen, Bob Hamilton and Keith Robinson.—Bill Perry.

San Jose State College Receives $1300 Donation For Three Concerts By The London String Quartet

Through a $1300 donation, the New London String Quartet, composed of four of the country's outstanding musicians will present a series of three concerts starting Tuesday, April 21, 24, and 28 in the San Jose State college Morris Dailey Auditorium.

The London String Quartet was originated in London in 1908 and was disbanded in 1929 because of the depression. Recently, through the efforts of Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge, head of the Coolidge Music Foundation in the music division of the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C., the quartet was reorganized with all of the original members except one who is temporarily laid off due to an accident.

The quartet is composed of John Pennington, first violinist; Thomas Petre, second violinist; William Primrose, considered to be one of the world's leading violinists, will play the viola, and Lauri Kennedy, cellist, will replace Warwick Evans, recently injured.

$500 a CONCERT

Charging $500 a concert, the bill will run to $1500. The San Jose State college student body must raise $200 for the three concerts in which to add to Mrs. Coolidge's $1300 donation to complete the amount.

STUDENTS FREE

Students with student body cards will be admitted without charge. General admission for the three concerts will be $2.50 for two tickets.

The program will differ in each concert. This year Mr. Otterstein suggested that they play a varied program of classical, romantic and modern music.

Traveling Exhibit Loaned To College Art Department

The New York School of Fine and Applied Arts has loaned the Art department a series of pictures representing all phases of art.

Mr. Schunke of the Art department has arranged the pictures so that they express quality as well as quantity. This exhibit is a traveling one that goes only to the colleges that have outstanding art departments. The exhibit of paintings will stay at State for two weeks only, then will move on to another college.

The pictures cover paintings from advertising layouts to paintings of the Victorian era. Contemporary paintings such as imagination layouts, room designs and problems in advertising design and color add to make the display pleasing to the eye.

'Cherry Blossom Time,' Theme Of Freshman Dance

The dance decorations also will be in keeping with the theme. Blossoms will be used almost entirely in the scenic effects.

DANCE ON-CAMPUS

The war situation has necessitated the dance being held on-campus. President Hank Imsen said. "It will make the dance available to more students who would otherwise be unable to attend," he added. The chief objection against dances being held out of town has been the student's inability to obtain a car.

Dressy sport will be the vogue for the dance. This will make it more on the informal side and will also allow more students to attend as all who plan to come do not have formal attire, Mary Stowe explained.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair will be Dr. and Mrs. Alexander McCallum, Dean Helen Dimmick, Dean and Mrs. Paul Pitman, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Rhodes, and Dr. and Mrs. Matthew Vessel.

ARCHERY CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Archery club today in front of the Women's gym on San Carlos turf. All members and interested parties are asked to attend.

This will be the first meeting of the spring quarter and plans for coming activities will get under way. Shooting will follow the conference.

JOB SHOP

Mr. H. F. Powers, office manager of Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks company, will be in Dr. P. Victor Peterson's office on Tuesday, April 21, from 8:30 a.m. on to interview students who wish summer resort work. Positions open include waitresses, bus boys, porters, maids, truck drivers, boat attendants, etc. Anyone who has an application blank or anyone interested should go to room 100 in the Natural Science building before Tuesday to make a definite appointment.

Campus Campaign Staged To Raise First Aid Funds

ary first aid unit in the new library.

4. To purchase identification tags for possible aid raid victims.

5. To buy case records books for those receiving treatment.

The secondary first aid unit in the library will consist of a large boxful of supplies and will be kept there because the building has been judged the safest of the campus group.

"During the attack of Pearl Harbor a two-year supply of bandages was used in the first 24 hours of medical service," declared DeVoss. "This drive is designed to prepare for such an emergency and will allow medical authorities to cope with any event."

Since state and student body funds are inadequate to meet the needs of the drive, it has been found necessary to solicit money directly from the students. Many of the supplies such as splints and stretchers will be used by school first aid classes in training.

Donation boxes will be placed in both the Co-op and the Health office.

Alpha Eta Sigma: There will be an important meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4 in the Student Union. All members please be present.—Walter Schmidt, Pres.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

DSG's Entertain With Smoker

All the members and a number of guests attended the Delta Sigma Gamma, on-campus social fraternity, smoker held Monday evening.

The program consisted of movies of the United States Navy blasting the Marshall Islands, a talk by the fraternity adviser, Dr. Earl Campbell, on the "Merits of Fraternity Life," and a presentation of magic by Joe Garofalo.

The smoker was under the direction of President Harry Harter and Pledge Master Bob Col.

discussion in symposium form on "The American Negro."

Warren Thomas, sophomore speech major; Joel Lawless, sophomore social service major; and Lois Cronk, junior social science major, will all give formal eight-minute talks on the subject.

With an as yet unnamed faculty moderator presiding, the meeting to be held in the Student Union will be attended by the following speakers: Elaine Bravo, Bert Yost, Eleanor Wagner, Marian Sinclair, Tom Pagenhart, Richard Flower, Don Hartsough, Bette Jane Toland, Arthur Grey, Francis Stoffels, and Rex Gardiner.

Beta Chi Sigmas Watch Magician

Beta Chi Sigma, on-campus fraternal organization, held its first smoker of the quarter in the Claire hotel Wednesday evening.

Entertainment was provided by Ormond McGill, local magician who specialized in card tricks. He closed his act with a Hindu trick and a demonstration of magical Chinese steel rings.

Following the program, members and their guests were served refreshments, and card games were started in order for everyone to get acquainted.

The meeting was in charge of Grand Marshal Jim Lowrey and Pledge Master Charlie Culp.

APO's Initiate Nine New Pledges

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, initiated nine new members this week. Informal initiation of pledges was held at Alum Rock park Saturday, and formal initiation took place at the Hotel Ste. Claire, Tuesday.

New members include: Fisher, Tom Hosley, Don Paul, Glen Guttormsen, Loren, Bruce Duke, Ed Hadley, Hamlin, and Marvin Ware.

Present at the formal initiation were Dean of Men Paul Pittman, Mr. J. C. Stevenson, senior faculty adviser; Mr. O. B. Mathews, Mr. Kenneth Robison, local executives.
