IRISH DANCE TONIGHT APPLIES SHILLELAGH TO PRE-FINALS WORRIES

By GLORIA O'TERESI

Wear something green and bring a colleen—In honor of Erin, Spartans are rarin' to jig at the Veteran-sponsored Shamrock dance from 8 to 12 o'clock in the Women's gym. Last dance of the quarter, the pre-finals St. Patrick's affair is an associated student body function. Admission prices are 15 cents a person with student body card, and 40 cents without; the money is to be paid at the door.

Vet President Jack Daniels urges the entire population of Washington Square to join in the wearing of the green and get a little of the traditional luck of the Irish with which to combat those final exams.

Committee chairmen for the dance are Dwight Mathiesen, music; Lois Ellithorpe, decorations; Bud Hooton, arrangements; Gene Folletti, refreshments; and Dan Weck, clean-up. Sponsors for the evening are Miss Alice Hansen, Miss Jeannette Owen, Dr. William Myers, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Adams.

Other Vet officers include Jim Howie, vice president; Ed Crotser, secretary; Earl Motta, treasurer; and Bud Hooton, sergeant-at-arms.

Members of the on-campus Veterans' organization, Mu Delta Pi, are sponsoring the end-of-the-quarter-dance with the hope in mind that students will forget their pre-finals blues for one evening and make a switch to green gayety at their St. Patrick's celebration. Apply the old shillelagh to your worries by joining in the jig tonight, declare the Vets.

Laura Lee Zwissig Is Copy Editor For 1945 La Torre

Students who still have La Torre proofs out or have lost them are instructed to get in touch with Bushnell's studio immediately, states Anna Mae Diffin, yearbook editor.

If those with proofs return them at once, there is a possibility that their pictures will be printed in the annual, she said. "As long as the money has been paid, students might as well get the benefit."

Laura Lee Zwissig, La Torre staff member, has been appointed copy editor for the 1945 edition of the yearbook. She will be in charge of all the written material which appears in the annual.

Joseph C. Stillwell, SJS Employee, Dies Following Illness

Joseph C. Stillwell, 65, superintendent of buildings and grounds at San Jose State college, died Wednesday at the San Jose hospital.

Appointed custodian of San Jose Normal school in 1909, Stillwell became superintendent of buildings and grounds on May 1, 1911. He was the grandson of Joseph C. Stillwell, who was a member of the Donner party, coming to Santa Clara county in 1846.

He leaves his widow, Mae Stillwell of 453 South Ninth St.; a daughter, Mrs. Roy Hennessey of Los Angeles; his mother, Mrs. Josephine Stillwell of San Jose; a brother, and two sisters.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the John Dowdle mortuary.

Foreign Glassware Now On Display In Home Ec Building

An exhibit of glassware is now on display in the Home Economics department. This attractive collection belongs to Miss Martha Thomas, home economics instructor, and is being used for the benefit of furnishings class. The series of furnishings displays will continue next quarter with displays of pottery, textiles, and furniture.

The show includes glasses, vases, bowls, and plates. They are of glass which is blown without a mold. Most of the pieces come from Miss Thomas' private collection and are from Europe, Mexico, and the United States.

Glass has a unique history. It is an industry that started when the Egyptians were at the height of their culture. Most examples of ancient glass have been found at Carthage in the burial crypts. Blenco glassworks, whose work is noted for its color and texture, have acquired the formulas that old Gothic artists used to make stained glass.

DOLLS OF ALL NATIONS ARE ON DISPLAY

Displayed this week in the education reading room are several groups of foreign dolls backed by a child's story book representing various countries.

The Russian theme is carried out in three peasant dolls and two books, Ilin and Segal's "A Ring and a Riddle" and Erskov's "Little Magic Horse." Greece is represented by a Greek soldier in blue and white military skirt and the book "Wings for Nikias" by Blackstock.

Hader's "Jamaica Johnny" and a Jamaica belle going to market are representative of that country. "Little Toot," the story of a tub, and "Ferdinand," a tale of a bull who liked to smell flowers, are also in the exhibit.

AMERICAN COMPOSERS' MUSIC TO BE PRESENTED BY THE BEL CANTO CLUB

By MARY DAVIS

Presenting music by American composers, the Bel Canto Club, women's glee club, will give its twentieth annual concert this Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in the Little Theater. The concert will be free to the public, and is under the direction of Miss Alma Lowry Williams, professor of music. The program will be divided into three groups of songs — Negro spirituals, middle period compositions, and songs by American women composers.

Dottie Rae Fliflet, freshman music major, will be accompanist for the event, and Brigetta Leskinen, junior violin student, will play a violin obligato at the end of the second group of songs.

The San Jose State college woodwind choir, under the direction of Thomas Eagan, will play two pieces which were composed by former members of the group and arranged by Eagan. The compositions are "Tone Paintings" by Crawford Gates, and "Two American Sketches" by Orrin Blattner, both of which were prize-winning pieces in annual composition contests of the past.

"Dream Song," which was written by Elizabeth Henderson, a friend of Miss Williams, was dedicated by the composer to the Bel Canto club and to Miss Williams.

The program will be as follows: Salutation Gaines
Were You There? Negro Spiritual arr. by Burleigh
Deep River, Negro Spiritual arr. by Fischer
The Bel Canto club
Tone Paintings Gates
Evening Waters
Dancing Peasants
The Woodwind Choir

SJS Art Students Exhibit To Tour State's Schools

Miss Elizabeth Frembling, secretary of Art Seminar, is now mounting student art work for the San Jose State art exhibit, which will soon go on tour. The show will tour all the high schools and junior colleges in California. Dr. Marques E. Reitzel's oil painting class has contributed still life work by Vieda Miller, Velma Hanst, Dorothy Czerny, and Shirley Marshall, and a portrait in oils by Betty Buckley.

Milton Lanyon's color and design and design and composition classes are represented also. Types of design include all-over patterns, textile designs, conventional designs, designs in black and white, and texture studies.

Donald Sevrens' class in drawing and composition adds variety to the show through pencil and wash sketches in black and white. Students contributing work are Carol Martin, Pat Rhodes, Bonnie Lee Lingenfelter, and Anne Myhre.

Lanyon's business art class is represented by wash sketches of newspaper advertising layouts. Dr. Reitzel's class in print making rounds out the exhibit with a group of linoleum block prints of landscapes, designs, and Christmas cards.

Some of the other outstanding students in the show are Robert Halsebo, Gene Stratton, Marion Nichols, Maya Nafziger, Dorothy Czerny, Jeanne de Nejer, Millicent Tillman, and Evangeline Pinoris.

DR. BARRY RECOVERS

Dr. Raymond W. Barry, head of the English department, is recovering rapidly from the effects of a recent attack of influenza and is returning home today from Stanford-Lane Hospital in San Francisco, where he has been undergoing treatment.

Phelan Contest Entries Are Due On Or Before April 3

"It is not necessary for students to be enrolled in English courses in order to enter the Phelan contest," Mrs. Beatrice Henkel, secretary to the English department, stated yesterday. Any student under 25 years of age may compete in the annual literary competition.

The contest, in which prizes amounting to $200 will be awarded, closes on Tuesday, April 3. Students may submit manuscripts until 5 o'clock on that date.

Students are advised by the English department that term papers — for any class — often make excellent material for Phelan contest entries.

According to Mrs. Henkel, manuscripts for entry in the Phelan competition will be accepted at any time until the contest's April 3 deadline.

In order to facilitate the handling of the manuscripts, prospective entrants are urged to hand their submissions in to the English department office (H-28) as soon as possible before the deadline.

First, second, and third prizes will be awarded in the following seven fields: sonnet, lyric, free verse, essay, short story, play and radio play. A minimum of 1,000 words has been imposed on entries in the short story and essay divisions of the competition. Plays of one or three acts may be submitted in that division.

STUDENTS MAY OBTAIN GRADES IN THREE WAYS

Students may obtain their grades in any of the following three ways:

1. Get envelope from the table in front of the Business office, room 34, address it and enclose five cents. Deposit the self-addressed envelope in the box on the table by Thursday, March 22.

2. Bring self-addressed and stamped envelope and deposit it in the box on the table outside the Business office, room 34, by March 22.

3. Call for your grades at the Registrar's office Thursday, March 29, or thereafter.

Grades will be withheld for students who owe fees or library fines, or who have not checked in college equipment.

L. A. School District Schedules Exams

The personnel division of the Los Angeles city school district is offering teachers' examinations beginning April 4 and ending April 21 for positions in music, band and orchestra, physical and general science, presswork, agriculture, biological and general science, art, mathematics, vocational agriculture, wholesale garment manufacturing, and photography.

For further information see Miss Doris Robinson in the Placement office.

DAY EDITOR—THIS ISSUE—GLORIA TERESI

THROUGH OTHER EYES

By DAVID WEBSTER

After a lapse of a week or two, the exchange papers have again begun to pile up on the editor's desk, so we now bring you the latest gleanings.

To set the theme for spring, we like this shorty from the Stockton Guard and Tackle.

Hubby: "Darling, what's wrong? Why the bandage on your eye?"

Wife: "Don't be funny. This is my new hat."

Many a college student has been faced with this problem, stated succinctly in Tail Winds, publication of the Air Transport Command.

"Oh, I am worried till I'm weary O'er this problem grave and deep,

Shall I sleep and lose my breakfast,

Or shall I rise and lose my sleep?"

Originally from the Piedmont Highlander are these three helps in avoiding embarrassment when you fall on the dance floor. Jitterbugs especially note.

1. Just lie there; they'll think you fainted.

2. Get up gracefully; they'll think it part of the dance.

3. Start mopping the floor with your handkerchief; they'll think you just work there.

We had heard that California grew 'em big, but if you've noticed the San Carlos turf the last few days, you'll have to agree that we have the biggest gophers anywhere!!! . . . at this point we might rise to remark that Sinatra had better look to his laurels, at least on this campus.

Van Johnson is taking over the scream rights. . . . And if you have been around Union Square in San Francisco recently, you may have noticed the wooden sign which is posted at the corner of Powell and O'Farrell. It used to say "Dogs Prohibited," but some wag (quote and unquote) has deleted letters until now it states "Dogs Bited."

Maybe you too have been wondering just what all the excavating might be for under the buildings around the Quad. Investigation reveals that tunnels are being dug to make the plumbing and wiring more accessible. Seems that a slightly oversize electrician had a little trouble one day squeezing along somewhat undersize passageways for repair work.

Maybe They Need A Good Horseshoe

Friday the thirteenth has put a jinx on the on-campus Veterans organization, with members running around campus screaming at black cats.

It seems they can't find a hall to hold their Bad-Luck dance in. If anyone knows how to beat this jinx, please get in touch with one of the crew. They have the date: Friday the thirteenth, but no place. "Bad Luck," fellows.

GUEST COLUMN

By MARIAN JACOBSON

No one, least of all the English department, ever thought they would see anything written by this author (?) in print. Who did? But this is the only way we of the Revelries board could explain whyfore some people's names didn't appear on the program.

Sounds silly, but people do have a way of wandering in and out, or of showing up at the last minute. The personnel of the crews was particularly vague. And as the programs were sent to the printer about ten days before the show, there were several omissions.

We, however, were responsible for several and do want to apologize. But one error was the printer's fault. Seems he got so intrigued with Gloria Ellard, one of the redheads, that he omitted four others — Doris Snell, June Buschke, and Fleda and Pat Krone.

Since the show everyone has been asking us about the peppy mite who did the terrific dancing in the Boogie and Zamboree. That, kids, is Sally Colorado. Assisting her in the Boogie was Lois Haunter, a gal who came through for us at the last minute.

Speaking of coming through, the members of the string orchestra — Ellie Holzworth, Myrra

Moehner, Mert Siegel, Bee Leskinen, Berta Southward, Alice Brill, Jewell Smith, Lorraine Mitchell, Pat Doyle, Winona Davis, Peggy Airth, and Edith Thompson — had very little time to rehearse.

You probably noticed two men in our play whose names were also omitted. In case any of you in the audience didn't recognize them, they were Jim Howie and Gordon Martin.

Now for the names of the various crew members. Helping B. Doyle on makeup were Earla Vail, Mary Alice Blake, Lois Baker, Beverly Sack, and Olive Ogren.

Working with "Hap" on lights were Phil Robertson, Rosemary Bonnot, Dorothy Lockart, and Frances Boden.

Lois Aiton, Helen Stevenson, Alice Harker, and Pat Smith were the women responsible for building and changing sets under Art Jacobson's direction; while Carolyn Petersen was assisted by Pat Dunleavy, Nelda Jones, and May Ferrini.

Helping Anzalone and Dali with costumes were Aloha Stokes, Barbara Wakefield, Pat Polk, Janet McIntosh, Margaret Wishart, Ada Daggett and Doris Morey.

To all of these people our sincere thanks for all of their help on Revelries of 1945.

SPARTAN BASEBALLERS MEET LINCOLN TODAY; WEATHER PERMITTING

The Spartan baseball team today (weather permitting) meets the Lions from Abraham Lincoln High school at 3:30 o'clock in a return game at the Hoover diamond.

Victorious in their first game with Lincoln, the Staters will be handicapped by the loss of two of their best men. Milo Badger, who pitched the Spartans to a 3-2 victory over the Lions early last week, will be unable to play. It seems Milo is coaching the San Jose High school's track team, and the PAL Relays are being held today. Badger has, in addition to his pitching laurels, has been a consistent hitter on our team.

Another Spartan, George Smith, first string third baseman and clean-up man at the plate, will also be inactive. George has just left the Health Cottage and is not quite himself as yet. He is a powerful hitter, and his talents will

The pitching chores for today's tilt will probably go to either

Phil Clark or Jack Marcipan. At first will be either Jerry Brown or Wes Nunes, and possibly Ed Loudon will be at second, with Bob Huck moved to third, due to Smith's absence. At the short patch will be Jack Marcipan, if he doesn't pitch.

In the outfield will be Jim Reilley, Bud Hooten, and probably Ray Lua or Wes Nunes.

Monday afternoon the horsehiders travel to San Francisco where they will meet the San Francisco State Gaters in the first of a three-game series.

:- Notices :-

Delta Epsilon: Meeting today (Friday) at 12 noon, room A-1. Bring lunches if you like. This is very important. Last meeting of the quarter. — Gene Stratton.

SPORT SHORTS

By BRADY

With several decorations to his credit, Lieutenant "Bert" Robinson arrived in town this week to spend his furlough after months of active duty in Italy with the Army Air Corps.

Bert will be remembered as the outstanding football and basketball star of a few years back. He was captain of the 1942 basketball team and was an outstanding punter and blocker on the grid team.

MERC TOURNAMENT

The Spartan old-timers surprised the sporting world, or rather, local sporting circles, Thursday night last when they reached the finals of the Mercury Herald basketball tournament.

Paced by Coach Bill Hubbard, who racked up 11 points against Autens, the Spartan entry defeated the Palo Alto team, 39-31. Composed of nearly all ex-Staters, the Spartans are led by Hubbard, Anderson, Arnerich, Duran, and Kalas.

Ted Holmes, first string guard on State's varsity basketball team this year, played for the Auten club and made a total of eight points for the losers.

The Spartans were finally knocked over in the finals last Friday night by the Globe Engineers, 43-31. State's Coach Bill Hubbard again paced the losers, racking up 10 points. It might be well to note that Hubbard was chosen as one of the outstanding players of the tournament. . . . Congratulations, Bill.

BASEBALL

Pacific Coast and "Big League" baseball is getting into full swing with spring practice now in session.

In the Coast League, San Francisco Seals and the Oakland Oaks are holding inter-squad games. Last Wednesday young Dick Elliott, former San Rafael High school star, pitched the regulars to a 2-0 three-hit victory over the Yan-nigans.

Elliott is the youngest rookie ever to be signed by the Seals so early in the year. He has shown up well in spring workouts and a lot is expected of him this season.

POST-WAR FOOTBALL

Sunday last I was reading Fred Merrick's Sports column in the Mercury, and was surprised to see the entire column devoted to the post-war football prospects at San Jose State.

It seems it is Merrick's belief that the Spartans can definitely get into the "big time" gridiron bracket if the breaks are with them. A lot depends on what Santa Clara university will do in regard to a post-war athletic program. If they continue on as they were at the time war broke out they will definitely draw candidates away from State.

It is my belief that the Spartans in '39, '40, '41, and '42, were out of the class of the opponents they met. They were too strong for clubs like San Diego State, Santa Barbara State, Redlands, and the like, and yet were a little too weak for coast conference competition.

It will be interesting to see how strong the Spartans will be in the football world immediately following the present world conflict.

SENIORS HEAR DR. McCALLUM AT FINAL MEET

"A senior is someone who has somehow or other managed to stick it out for four years or more," declared Dr. Alexander McCallum, senior adviser, in opening his address before the class yesterday noon.

Enumerating the many social activities that will be planned for the class next quarter, Dr. McCallum mentioned such customary functions as the senior ball, banquet, scam, theater party, baccalaureate, mixer, faculty reception, and the final activity — graduation. According to McCallum, graduation is when you walk up on the platform after four years of hard work and receive a blank diploma.

In addition to the above, publication of the senior book must be planned as well as provision for the class gift. A bench, chimes for the chapel, and "coke machines" have been suggested so far.

Dean DeVoss remarked that if any class member feels that it is financially impossible for him to meet the $6.50 class fees, arrangements can be made for loans.

Dr. McCallum urged every student to be a member of at least one committee next quarter. "There are too many activities for the council alone. The more you enter into these activities, the more fun you are going to have."

Orientation will meet at the same time next quarter. Dr. William Sweeney, Education department head, will talk on senior activities and relate experiences of the past.

ZETA CHI FORMS COMMITTEE

Zeta Chi's Spardi Gras committee was formed during the Wednesday evening meeting that followed the AWA dinner, which all Zeta Chi members and pledges attended.

Betty Sills, Rae Klasson, Barbara Keating, Louise Ramos, and Betty Goode were chosen as the committee for theme and entertainment to be given by the sorority on Spardi Gras Day.

Zeta Chi and Theta Mu Sigma will hold a joint meeting in the Student Union on Wednesday, April 4. Dancing and refreshments will follow the meeting.

SUNDAY'S USO GROUP ENDS FIRST YEAR

Sunday night's USO Open House will mark the first anniversary of this group, which was the last to be developed by the local central USO committee, and has proven to be a huge success, according to Mrs. Sarah Wilson, senior hostess of the Sunday group.

During this year, 7,061 servicemen and 3,726 girls have attended these dances. The Sunday night committee, which is made up of college and business girls, successfully planned and carried out the evenings' entertainment, states Mrs. Wilson.

Assisting Mrs. Wilson with senior hostesses' duties are members of several local groups—the Home of Benevolence Junior Board, Grace club from the YWCA, and a group of interested mothers.

B'nai B'rith, men's club, acts as host for the evening by sending a representative from the group every Sunday night. Checking is taken care of by Spartan Spears and Black Masque, representing the college, and the Business Girls' League of the YWCA and Alpha Iota sorority, representing the business girls.

For Sunday night a special program has been arranged with several numbers from the Spartan Revelries. Refreshments will be served and all college girls and business girls are urged to sing up early for the evening.
