

SPARTANS MEET SAN MATEO TONIGHT

Taking the role of favorites, the Spartan basketballers will meet the Cadets from the San Mateo Merchant Marine academy tonight in San Jose State's gymnasium.

A double header will be played, the reserve game starting at 6:30 and the varsity tilt at 8:15.

The Spartans will be after their second straight win since their set-back at the hands of the Wolfpack from Nevada. The McPherson forces may be at full strength tonight with Holmes and Stevenson just about free from their flu bug, Robinson's eye injury completely healed, and the rumored return of Don "Dutch" Boysen.

Expected to see a lot of action tonight is versatile Fred "Bulldog" Lindsey, who has played about every position on the team. Fred has made 28 points in the last two games for a 14 point average. A lot is expected from him tonight and tomorrow night, when the Spartan hoopsters travel down to Stockton for a game with the College of Pacific.

Not too much is known of the Cadets except that they lost to the Indians at Stanford Wednesday night by three points, 39-36. By comparative scores the Spartans should be the favorite, for they completely outclassed the Indians in their last meeting, 39-21. Stanford was without two of their first string men during that tilt, but the State supremacy was evident.

The Merchant Marine men boast of a star performer in Phil Harman, former University of Pennsylvania flash. Harman racked up 15 points against Stanford Wednesday night, but high point honors went to Gene Martin of the Indians, who tallied 16.

The game, incidentally, was nip and tuck throughout; the score was deadlocked at 17 all at the intermission, and sea-sawed back and forth several times during the final half.

The Stanford reserves just edged out the Cadet subs in the preliminary game, 33-32, so early-comers may expect a fairly interesting contest at 6:30.

The probable starting lineup for State tonight will be: Ed Maggetti at one forward, and either Fred Lindsey or Kaleb Borg at the other forward post. Wes Stevenson will be at his center position, with Ted Holmes and Bert Robinson at the guard spots.

CLOTHES COLLECTION SCHEDULED WEDNESDAY

Some poor, ragged youngster in France could certainly use those old "jeans" that are lying on your closet floor, and what-about those old blankets that are just rotting away out in the garage?

The nation is conducting a Victory Clothing Collection at the request of the President of the United States. San Jose State's contributions to this drive will be collected Wednesday, January 30. All students are urged to bring their contributions on this date.

SOME IDEAS

What to bring? Did you buy a new sweater this month or last month? Well, we don't want the new one; but what did you do with the one that it replaced? The one with the holes in the elbows? Some child in Holland or France, or any of the other countries ravaged by the war, would be glad to get it. Bring that sweater and that old shirt and that old pair of shoes; in short, bring every bit of old clothing that you can.

Bedding, too, is badly needed. In one assembly center in Europe 5,000 people who survived the Nazi horror camps sleep on straw bags, with no sheets or blankets, while they await repatriation. Infectious diseases are rampant among these unfortunates, too weak to combat the germs. How about that old blanket out in your garage. Won't you give it to these less fortunate people?

WORK CLOTHES

State veterans, did you keep your work clothes that you had while in the service? Aren't they getting a little worn by now? Perhaps you've already thrown them in the rag bag. Get them out and bring them to school for the collection. Relief workers in all the bombed, mined, burned-over countries report a desperate need for work clothes and shoes. Yours will help a lot.

Everyone is urged to search his or her house for all old clothing possible. You know what you can afford to do without and what you would ordinarily throw away; well, these are the things that you are asked to bring to school for the drive. Start getting them together today, make them up in bundles and bring them to school next Wednesday.

Hawaiian Dance Features Native Musicians

Homesick Islanders and anyone anticipating a someday voyage to the picturesque islands of Hawaii, gathered in the quad yesterday noon for genuine Hawaiian tempos of four native music masters. The four Hawaiian boys are members of a seven-piece orchestra scheduled to play at tonight's Hapa-Haole hop in the Swiss American hall.

Recently returned from an extensive tour of the South Pacific, the foursome entertained the armed forces along with such co-workers as Errol Flynn and Joe E. Brown.

One of the four, Leonard Lua, danced a hula solo to the popular "Cocked-eyed Mayor of Kau-nakaki" at yesterday's program. Leonard, a University of Hawaii graduate, formerly played with the Spartan football team when the San Jose-Hawaii games were in full swing.

Contributors to this noontime entertainment were Spartan islanders, Pat Cavanagh, Kaplalani Sniffen, and Elaine Malama. Pat did nimble gestures to the tune of "Lovely Hula Hands" and Kaplalani swayed to "Blue Lel." Elaine expressed her pinings for home with a dance to the Halewa club's theme "Haleiwa Maiden."

WE ARE NOT THIN

Europe's Students Starve

Disease, starvation, death, disorder, and chaos are the order of the day in post-war Europe. "It is rather hard for us to realize that to the rest of the world we Americans look awfully fat and that as a matter of fact, we are not thin. We are eating 3,667 calories per person per day as compared with a pre-war average of 3,236. . . The world is bound to think about these matters, especially in the hungry countries. The Greeks are receiving 700 calories a day—the French city dwellers 1,900 calories," according to World Student Service Fund committee.

SUFFERING GREEKS

In Athens, Greece, during November 1944, 8000 Greek students were living on one meager communal meal daily of beans with oil; 732 students were found to be infected with tuberculosis, and it was reported that a "large proportion of the students suffer from anemia, stomach disorders and lowered general resistance. They lack clothing and shoes."

The World Student Service Fund is helping these and other Greek students, by providing one hot nourishing meal each day at centrally located canteens. It has been found that once a student gets access to a regular canteen meal, he quite often will forgo the

Juniors Sponsor 'Stetson Stomp'

Set in a Dude Ranch atmosphere, the Stetson Stomp to be held February 2 by the Junior Class promises to be a strictly "top rail" affair. The Women's gym, masquerading behind scenes of the romantic Far West, is the appointed place for the musical round-up.

Reversing the usual order of such things, the "Stomp" will be a girl-takes-boy event. In the spotlight for the evening will be the announcement of the winners of the Outdoor Boy and Girl contest. Giving the rhythmic beat for a night of smooth dancing is Benny Glassman's orchestra. Bids for the dance will go on sale next week at $1.25 each.

Music Fraternity Resumes Concerts

Phi Mu Alpha will break its war-time silence upon presentation of a concert Tuesday evening at 8:15 in the Little Theater. This first concert in several years will be given by members of Beta Eta, local chapter of the national music fraternity.

This fraternity was first organized in 1901 in Boston with the express purpose of improving musicians and the music of America.

Various selections of Brahms, Richard Strauss, Debussy, and Moussorgsky will be heard. Appearing on the program will be the following musicians: Thomas Eagan, clarinet; William Erlendson, piano; Max Hagemeyer, cello; Fred McCleary, baritone; Jack White, piano; Ray McIntyre, piano; Charles Robbins, trombone.

Society Rushees!

Attention, Rushees! Your invitation to pledge a society may be picked up in Dean Dimmick's office between the hours of 9 and 1 o'clock today instead of at the Rush File as stated in the Rushee Booklet.

Entomology Club Field Trip Sunday

Members of the Entomology club and all others interested will go to Jasper Ridge Sunday for an all day field trip. Jasper Ridge is four miles west of Stanford.

All persons leaving from San Jose will meet in front of the Science building at 8:30 a.m. The entire group will meet at 9:30 at the S P depot in Palo Alto. Transportation will be furnished from there.

Dr. Carl D. Duncan, adviser of the group, emphasizes that anyone may come. The club will collect specimens and observe insects, birds, plants and reptiles.

Those planning to attend should bring a lunch and wear hiking clothes.

Serious Housing Problem Is Told

President T. W. MacQuarrie left yesterday morning for Sacramento accompanied by two San Jose State veterans, Henry "Hank" Tonini and Virgil "Speed" Young.

the serious housing problem facing the veterans in San Jose.

Vets Tonini and Young presented perfect examples of the situation by telling of their own plights. Tonini, a former State student, was under Gen. Hodges' command in the First army in Germany. He was wounded, captured by the Germans, and held a prisoner for 113 days. Immediately on his return to the U. S. he planned to reenter college. His lodgings have consisted, up until use of his ration card so that other members of his family will have more to eat.

Library facilities for study and reference in many European universities are almost non-existent. Large and extensive college libraries have been bombed, burned or shelled into heaps of rubble. To get a chance to study with what books are available, students will stand in line for hours just for one single book.

On Monday, the first day of the World Student Fund drive on campus, a total of $301.50 was collected from only 25 people. This was an average contribution of $12.06 per student, probably much higher than the average of succeeding donations.

No figures are available at this time as to the overall progress of the campaign, but they will be published as soon as the sum totals are added. It is known, however, that individual canvassers solicited amounts in excess of $60 during the first three days of the week.

THRUST and PARRY

Dear Editor:

Victory has finally come in the long struggle to secure subsistence checks for men who certification under PL 16 was delayed until late in the fall quarter. The college and local office of the Veterans Administration have succeeded in bringing the injustice done these men to the attention of the proper authorities. Such men should report immediately to Mr. Adams or to Mr. Brakebill and fill out form 1950 so as to be brought under PL 346 for the time not covered by PL 16. Congratulations! —Paul Pitman.

DR. REINHARDT'S FOURTH TALK ON FRANCE

"France and Foreign Policy" will be the subject of Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt's fourth lecture on international affairs, set for Saturday at 2 o'clock in the Little Theater.

Saturday being AAUW day, the speaker will be introduced by Miss Pauline Lynch, associate professor of home economics and president of the San Jose branch of the American Association of University Women. Dr. Reinhardt served for several years as national president of AAUW, and many members of that group and of Mills college graduates are planning to attend Saturday's lecture.

The lecture series is being sponsored by the San Jose Garden Forum under chairmanship of Mrs. Bertha M. Rice, who announces a special admission rate of 50 cents per lecture is offered students. Tickets may be secured at the door.

THIS AND THAT

By DALE BOWER

Jars of sand have been placed at strategic spots around campus for the purpose of receiving cigarette butts. It will be greatly appreciated if you use them for that purpose. Help keep our campus clean by not throwing cigarette butts around, but placing them in the jars.

Thank you.

The need for a new music building is apparent from the looks of the old building. I became aware of the inadequacies of the present set-up the other day when I observed a violinist practicing while leaning on a wall of the heating plant.

The echoes of the violin carried clear across the rear quad. How much better it would be if things like this were confined to a practice room!

Maggie "Behind the Scenes" Moore passed out the first bananas to members of the Daily staff who belong to the "Spotted Banana Club."

The group of journalists was organized in contrast to the department's "Order of the Red Apple," for superior journalistic endeavor. When a staff member excels in his work he is presented with a Red Apple.

We who had never received one, ie, Red Apple, formed the "Spotted Banana Club."

Charter members of this organization were those who had, like ourselves, never received the much sought for prize. When a member is given the Red Apple he automatically loses membership in the "Spotted Banana Club," and as a penalty must buy bananas for the other members.

Thus "Maggie" Moore has the distinction of presenting the first bananas.

Kilroy is dead! Sad but true, to use the old trite phrase. His grave is between the Industrial Arts building and the old radio shack.

Written near the bench beside the Carpenter shop door a legend reads, "Kilroy ate his lunch here." I looked fondly at the spot with tear-dimmed eyes. To think that here, on this very bench, Kilroy ate what was probably his last meal.

At various spots around the campus simple phrased notes tell of his having been there. These should be preserved in memory of one of most gettingest around persons ever to walk on Terra firmer. Let us all pause in reverent silence for one who is gone.

Dr. Frederick Graham, fuddled no doubt by early rising, started to classes the other morning with a dark pair of trousers and a powder blue sport coat. This combination was called to his attention by an Esquire-conscious student.

On receiving the news the Dr. rushed back to the fraternity house and immediately changed to a more conservative costume.

We can see that it isn't only the students who suffer from early rising. The instructor of an 8 o'clock always seems to be calm and wide awake; now we know better!

Men And Maids And Stuff

By MAX MILLER

Glided into McNulty's on my fallen arches the other p. m. to find all the mental giants of the nickel beer set in a reverie about the Golden Age when the market price of an undernourished hamburger was ten centavos and the atom bomb was unheard of even by Flash Gordon. Lost the thread of conversation when the proprietor pinned one of my Flippers down with an ice pick after its forty-fourth trip to the pretzel bowl, but was able to gather that my once feather headed palsies have had a change of gray matter since the days before the golden goose was cooked. Biggest evidence in favor of this suds misted observation—my 13 room mates still hitting the books at three in the a. m.

Have been nursing a wrenched shoulder since Monday morn when I quietly suggested to our landlady we have eggs for breakfast. Never even in the days when I took in the wrestling matches at the Legion Auditorium, have I seen a flying mare applied with such continuity and smoothness of motion. Made the fastest trip on record between the dining room door and South San Francisco. Other than the loss of my pivot tooth and fifteen cents in coins of various demoninations the flight was uneventful. That sign above the door that read, "Mother Ptomaine's Boarding House-Ante, sixty dollars per—payable in advance—Crying Room down stairs," should have warned me, but another night in St. James park under a copy of the San Jose News, I couldn't stand!

Three of my bunkies share the Murphy bed; Murphy has moved to the bottom drawer of the chiffonier. I sleep in the bathtub. This morning some bright soul decided to take a bath and neglected to remove me from the tub before turning on the water. When last seen I was racing for my 8 o'clock clad only in a Turkish towel. From the rear I read something like this: "Hotel Algonquin, New York, N. Y."

We like to be able to throw out our sunken chest and say that we are of hardy stuff that can be plowed under once in a year or two and still rise above the surface to bloom again; but to be robbed, beaten and made into an animated advertisement for a big town hostelry in a quick succession of events is quite a hit in the head for one week. Personally we're all getting a snootful of La Vie Boheme, a hall bedroom for one or two, not 13, and a couple of squares a day for a nominal fee is all we ask.

THE WEAVER

By DAVE WEBSTER

Dear Men:

Men are what women marry. They have two hands, two feet, and sometimes two wives, but never more than one dollar or one idea at a time. Generally speaking, they may be divided into three classes: husbands, bachelors, and widowers. A bachelor is an eligible mass of obstinance, entirely surrounded by suspicion. Husbands are of three types—prizes, surprises, and consolation prizes. Making a husband out of a man is one of the highest forms of plastic art known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, common sense, faith, hope, and charity—mostly charity.

It is a psychological marvel that a small, tender, soft, violet-scented thing like a woman should enjoy kissing a big, awkward, stubby-chinned, and bayrum-scented thing like a man.

If you flatter a man you frighten him to death; if you don't, you bore him to death. If you permit him to make love to you he gets tired of you in the end. If you don't, he gets tired of you in the beginning. If you agree with him in everything, you cease to interest him. If you believe all he tells you, he thinks you are a fool. If you don't, he thinks you are a cynic.

If you wear gay colors, rouge, and a startling hat, he hesitates to take you out. If you wear a brown beret and a tailor-made suit, he takes you out and stares all evening at a woman in gay colors, rouge, and a startling hat.

If you are the clinging vine type he doubts whether you have a brain, and if are a modern, advanced, independent woman, he doubts whether you have a heart. If you are silly, he longs for a bright mate. If you are brilliant and intellectual, he longs for a playmate.

Man is just a worm in the dust. He comes along, wiggles around for awhile, and finally some chicken gets him.

So there!

Maggetti Still Leads In Scoring Race With 154 Total Points

Ed "Gunner" Maggetti continued to set the pace in the individual scoring race the past week as he dumped in 29 points in the last three tilts to up his total to 154 markers, giving him an average of slightly better than 10 points per contest.

In the second slot rests the pivot man, Wes Stevenson, with a total of 131 points, an increase of 26 over his last week's total. Bert Robinson also maintained his third place berth with 103 counters, due mainly to his accurate free throw shooting.

BIG GAIN

Biggest individual gain was registered by Fred "Bulldog" Lindsey, who came off the reserve squad in the place of the departed Keene and ailing Boysen to rack up 28 digits in the past two encounters, giving him a 10-point average for the three contests he has participated in so far.

Lindsey's timely influx in the scoring columns came as a pleasant surprise to Coach Walt McPherson, who was badly in need of an additional scoring punch for the time. He is being counted on to spell Stevenson at the center post during the remainder of the campaign.

STATE CAGERS FACE PACIFIC TOMORROW

By DAN WECK

Dutch Boysen, Spartan starting forward, has not yet reported his recovery to the basketball coach and will probably not be able to be very useful in tomorrow night's game, even if he should be able to start against the College of Pacific Tigers at Stockton.

Dutch has been missed for his uncanny accuracy and heads-up style of ball play since he contracted a bad case of influenza shortly after the San Diego team left for home. Dutch, having been in bed for a great deal of the time that he has been ill, will probably not be in good enough condition to face the power packed College of Pacific squad.

COP STRONG

Pacific will play host to the San Jose team with an impressive record of victories to her credit. The Tiger five has collected the scalps of all comers and really took San Jose's last year at COP. That time the Spartan cagers lost by 38 points and looked quite amateurish in the contest. Whether or not they can do it this time is up to Robinson, Maggetti, et al.

Spartan Kay Borg will probably see a great deal of action in tomorrow evening's engagement, and it is to be hoped that he can once again regain the "shooting eye" which ranks him among Spartan greats in basketball. Kay shows streaks of his former ability which, when they come, really set a fast pace for the other nine players on the court. He is streaky, however, and has not yet settled down to the smooth, steady, record breaking scoring that he once did.

STARTING FIVE

Against the Tigers will be a starting aggregation of really fine material. The first five, Robinson, Holmes, Stevenson, Maggetti, and Borg will be ably aided by the fast moving substitutes: Moore, Helbush, and Chargin.

bush, Lindsey, Flake, Neal and Waterman. It is to be hoped that Boysen will be able to play, but his effectiveness will not be what it formerly was for several days yet.

The Spartans will need all of their shooting ability in tomorrow's fray, for the Tigers have repeatedly shown that they are one of the greatest teams on the West Coast today. California and Nevada have both fallen before the tall and fast Pacific squad, and Fresno State was hardly in the running when it met the Stockton deadeyes. It is definitely to be hoped that several of our players save some of their classiness from tonight's game with the not-too-powerful Merchant Marine Cadets, for the traditional rivals who are awaiting our team's arrival with a vicious gleam in their eyes; this bodes no good for the Spartan team that gets caught there without its sharpshooters.

Tea Room Opens Thursday Noon

Looking for a new lunch-spot? For a pleasant variation from the usual luncheon locales, the Tea Room Management class under the direction of Miss Fern Geyer will serve a 50 cent meal every Tuesday and Thursday noon in the College Tea Room.
Scheduled to open its doors next Thursday, the tea room will be ready to serve faculty members, students, and friends. Reservations must be made one or two days in advance with Mrs. Joan Greenwood in the Home Economics office.
The tea room is located in room 13 of the Home Economics building. These luncheons will be offered for the next seven weeks.
