Track Team Wallops Stanford, NAS; Lindsey Hurls 7-0 Win Over COP Nine KNOWLES COPS 880 PLAY USF TODAY

There was just too much Bill Rhyme around Angell Field in Palo Alto Saturday as San Jose State walloped the Stanford University track team 79 5-6 to 56 1-6. The Alameda Naval Air Station squad, without Buddy Young, finished a slow third with 26 points.

Providing 14 points to the Spartan total, Rhyme was all over the field, Bill entered four events and placed in each with first in the 220 and the low hurdles, a second in the 100 and a fourth in the broad jump.

Led by Rhyme and Bob Birmingham, the Spartans took seven firsts and tied for high honors in an eighth when Howard Overhouse cleared 12 feet 6 inches in the pole vault to half Martin An- (Continued on Page 2)

Fred "Bulldog" Lindsey turned in a neat six hit performance on the mound while the bats of Tom Okagaki, Wayne Krouskup, and Pifferini shoved lots of runs across the plate to down the strong C.O.P. Tigers 8 to 0, in a tilt played in the Municipal Stadium last Saturday afternoon.

Coach Ralph Johnson's proteges will play their last home game of the season this afternoon when they entertain U.S.F. in the Municipal Stadium at 4 o'clock.

Lindsey was in trouble only once when he had the bases loaded in the second inning, but he got out of trouble by striking a man out and forcing the next man to pop to the infield. His support was par excellence as his fielders performed without so much as a bobble.

SPEECH MAJORS GIVE PLATFORMS TONIGHT

Betty Jones, senior speech major will act as chairman this evening at 7 o'clock in the Little Theater when four speech students will present their Speech Platforms.

Acting as chairman for the Speech Platforms is an honor given by the Speech department to an outstanding major student who has previously presented his or her platform.

Elda Beth Payne, Earl Miller, Bert Holland and Donald Jones will give readings or speeches on a variety of subjects. These students have been working under the guidance of members of the speech faculty during the past few weeks in preparation for their formal presentation tonight.

Miss Payne, who has been working with Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, will give a reading from the book, "Mama's Bank Account," by Katherine Forbes. Miller will speak on "The UNO — a Living Memorial;" Holland will discuss mob psychology and Jones will speak on "This is Your Announcer—." Miller and Holland have been working with Mr. Wendell Johnson, and Jones with Mr. James Clancy.

FRESHMAN WINS WINNER MEETS ESCORT AT NOON RALLY TODAY

Her Majesty Patricia Ann Munchhof, Queen of Poly-Royal, will meet her California State Polytechnic college escort today at a 12:30 rally in the quad.

Elected Queen by San Jose State college students Friday from a group of three finalists, Miss Munchhof will be co-star of today's Student Council sponsored rally.

Pat Munchhof, who was elected Queen of Poly-Royal.

Dwight Wait, Cal Poly student chosen to be the Queen's official escort during her reign over Poly-Royal May 2, 3, and 4, arrived at San Jose State college Thursday afternoon to meet the Queen, and to complete arrangements for her trip south.

Wait will be present at the rally, and is expected to present the Queen with a bouquet of flowers. A short entertainment program will be furnished by the Student Council.

Queen Munchhof will journey to San Luis Obispo May 2, and will be royally received by all students on the Cal Poly campus, Wait said.

Dean of Women Helen Dimmick will accompany Miss Munchhof, with all expenses of the trip being paid by the coastal institution.

The Queen was chosen from a group of 20 original candidates. Seven judges, four from the faculty and three students, narrowed the field to ten.

Each contestant was judged from photos and personal interviews which stressed poise and personality.

From the group of ten, the judges then chose three finalists, which were voted on Friday by the Student Body.

Wait expressed the gratitude of Cal Poly students for the interest shown here, and for the large selection of candidates that entered the contest.

Queen Munchhof is a Freshman Commercial Art major, and is attending San Jose State college from Glendale.

Record Turnouts Expected at Spring Practice

Head Coach Bill Hubbard is expected to greet a record turnout of 125 men this afternoon for the official opening of spring football practice. As is usually the case, the first session will be devoted largely to press photographers and publicity men, who will have ample opportunity to exercise their talents on the throng of stars Hubbard has on tap.

This year's squad is a conglomeration of pre-war lettermen, top flight junior college transfers, and freshmen who have previously gained fame as high school aces. Most of Hubbard's candidates for a berth on the 1946 varsity are veterans who, despite their past records, will be hard put to keep up with the 19 and 20-year-old youths.

Heading the list of returning Spartans are such former greats as: Bert Robinson, hard driving back; Fred "Bulldog" Lindsey, block-busting fullback; Jack Galvin and George Terry, both sterling ends; Allen Hardisty and Bill Perry, a couple of ball-hawking backs; Vern Cartwright, a solid tackle; Chet Carsten, a ball carrier converted to end; Hans Wiedenhofer and Bill Johnson, two first line guards; and a host of other familiar names.

New comers, most of whom bring with them gilt-edged reputations, include: Max Culver, Babe Nomura, and Chuck Hughes, all outstanding junior college footballers; Woody Linn, Ray and Howard Overhouse, three top notch linemen; and at least a dozen other "name" players who are potential first string material on almost any eleven on the Pacific Coast.

Several of Hubbard's candidates favored for a varsity spot are still working at their track or baseball chores and will not be available for a few weeks yet.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

A Summary of World News Taken from the Wire of the United Press Up to 11 o'clock Last Night.

Flight Record Broken

WASHINGTON—A jet-propelled Army P-80 Shooting Star, piloted by Capt. Martin L. Smith of Kidder, Mo. and Wright Field, Ohio, streaked the 220 miles from New York to Washington yesterday in 27½ minutes.

Chinese Communists Ask Truce

CHUNGKING—Chinese Communists, having won their main objectives on the battlefield, yesterday were reported readying a demand for unconditional truce in Manchuria when they meet today with General George C. Marshall.

Bowles Warns Of Inflation

WASHINGTON—Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles yesterday let loose another blast at those who would kill price control while there is still danger of "destructive" inflation and predicted defeat for the "out-and-out profiteers licking their chops" over an anticipated increase in prices.

Army-Navy Bill Dead

WASHINGTON—Legislation calling for merger of the armed forces appeared to be dead Saturday, when both the House and Senate showed reluctance to take final action on the bill.

Iran Reaching Agreement

TEHRAN—The Iranian government has opened negotiations with Azerbaijan leaders and Premier Ahmad Ghavam Essultaneh has ordered his troops to avoid clashes because "events are shaping up to our satisfaction without bloodshed," it was reported yesterday.

France Seeks Mediator's Role

PARIS—Authoritative French sources indicated yesterday that France would seek to play a mediator's role to break existing deadlocks between Russia and the Anglo-Americans when the big four foreign ministers meeting opens here Thursday.

The conference will attempt to reach agreement on peace treaties with Italy and axis satellite states and probably also will draft a broad plan for the future status of the Rhineland, Rhur and administration of Germany as a whole.

Allen to go to Iran

WASHINGTON—The Senate today is expected to rush through confirmation of George V. Allen as U. S. Ambassador to Iran so he can hurry to Tehran and try and offset the Iranian press censorship.

If the Senate whips through the nomination, it will be at the instigation of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes who told a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations committee last week that the censorship decree prevents this country from obtaining reliable information on what is going on in Iran.

Train Crash Kills Two

BOSTON—Two New Haven railroad passenger trains carrying Easter holiday travelers collided last night in the Hyde Park section of Boston.

Two persons were killed and several others injured, and it is estimated at least 12 passengers were hospitalized.

BIDS SALES CONTINUING

Bids are still being sold for the Junior Prom, to be held on April 27 in the Scottish Rite Temple from 9 till 1 a. m.

Jim Gualteri asks that all juniors and seniors sign up at the bid booth if they intend to go to the box social. He also asks that they indicate if they have cars they would be willing to use, and just how many people the car will hold.

"Spring Serenade" is the theme chosen for the annual dance. Decorations will carry out the general air of spring, according to Kae Goepfert, general chairman of the dance. Spring blossoms and varicolored balloons will serve as the background for the rest of the decorations.

Bids will be sold today by the following people: 10 to 11, Frances Taylor; 11 to 12, Nadine Clark; 12 to 1, Carol Frier; 1 to 2, Gerry Sullivan; 2 to 3, Kathy Landis.

Rabbi Freund To Speak Here

Inter-group tensions will have the spotlight this Thursday noon when Race Relations committee of the Student Christian Association sponsors the first of a series of informal talks by selected speakers. Title of the series, to be held on the lawn in front of the Home Economics building, is "Your Responsibility to Democracy—As I See It."

Thursday's speaker will be Rabbi Freund of San Jose, first of a succession of leaders representing different cultural and racial groups.

It is planned to terminate the series with a retreat of interested students at the Lion's Den on May 31 and June 1.

VACCINATIONS

Smallpox vaccinations will be given tomorrow from 10 until 1 o'clock instead of the original 12 to 1 time.

SPARDI GRAS MC TRYOUTS

Tryouts for Spardi Gras master of ceremonies will be held this week. Time and place will be announced in tomorrow's Daily. Carmendale Fernandes, chairman of the entertainment committee, will be in charge of tryouts.

Letters stating rules for Spardi Gras queen contest have been sent to organizations by "Unc" Hillyer, chairman of the rules committee. Rule three should read, "Application blanks must be filled out in ink and left in the Spardi Gras box in the Business office not later than May 2."

This changes the date from May 4 as the letter says, and the place to turn in the blanks.

Organizations that have not paid their $10 deposit to take care of construction costs must do so immediately. Representatives from groups should also see Dick Payne to plan dimensions of booths, and designate the amount of work to be done by the committee.

Groups wanting a certain location in the quad for Spardi Gras should have a good reason, which will be given consideration by the committee.

THRUST AND PARRY

Emotional Appeal?

Thrust and Parry:
Attention—Senior class!
It seems that the decision of the Senior class to have their ball out of town was the result of an emotional appeal, but now that the fourth-year students have had time to think it over, maybe they'll be a little more clear headed.

The Senior Ball should be made available to any members of the class who would like to attend. There are still some people who don't have automobiles, but this does not mean that they would not like to attend the Senior Ball—the social climax of their college days.

Could the question not be reconsidered from a sensible, level-headed point of view, considering the class as a whole, rather than individual members?
—ASB No. 1934

FREEDOM OF RELIGION

Thrust and Parry:
A belief in God is held by many students here at San Jose State college. Others are agnostic, and one of two may even be atheistic, that is all right too. However, a person's beliefs, whatever they are, are as much a part of him as his arms, legs, eyes, or ears, and usually more important in some respects.

An instructor's position often gives him an advantage from which he can observe the reaction to the popular attitude towards certain religions. He is also in a place where his gibes about a religion of which he knows nothing, can hardly be refuted by the lone member of his class who is a member of that religion without incurring the disfavor of the instructor who feels that the majority of the class agrees with him in his ridicule of that person's faith. Ridicule is often humorous, but it is out of place from a person who occupies the position of instructor.

The instructor shows his lack of knowledge of the religion by his jests, but this is hardly apparent to a class of people who are also ignorant of the faith being ridiculed. Could the instructor either speak with knowledge of his subject, or not speak poorly of the subject, the class would then not be under the impression that an educated person is convinced that the religion in mention is foolishness.

An incident of this nature happens so seldom as to be extremely noticeable and embarrassing, as well as infuriating. Could it happen less?

Anti-Anderson

Thrust and Parry:
The housing shortage is the most serious shortage that this locality must face today. And, thanks to Representative Jack Anderson, there appears to be very little relief for the near future.

Any attempt to white wash Anderson by implying that the housing situation is just one of the "minor side issues" seems to make no impression on those of us who have no decent place to live.

If Anderson's vote against the Housing Bill indicates how he handles our major domestic problems, then I intend to vote against him. It does, so I will.
—Clinton St. John

ONE SUIT!

Thrust and Parry:
Now that the prom dress issue has been settled, here's a bombshell for you. Many vets are lucky enough to own a good suit of sport clothes and have no dark suit, let alone a tux to wear. As a consequence, many of us are unable to attend the Prom. As a suggestion, why not restrict it to sport and dark suits as a matter of accommodation and possible greater attendance?

NON-REALISM PLAY KEYNOTE

Non-realism is the keynote of the set for "Tonight We Improvise," the forthcoming campus play.

Illusion prevails in a few scenes, while the lighting arrangements throughout the production are of the unusual type. The transparency effect, such as was used in "Carmen Jones," will also have its place in the drama, the action of which takes place entirely in Sicily.

Street, interior, and abstract space stage settings are being developed, according to J. Wendell Johnson, instructor in charge of the stagecraft. Under the supervision of Mr. Johnson, the dozen stagecraft students have been working on the set for the past two weeks.

"Tonight We Improvise" will play in the Little Theater May 2, 3, and 4.

INDIAN GOLFERS TRIM SPARTANS

The Spartan golfers were dealt a severe setback Saturday when they were trounced 23 1-2 to 3 1-2 by Stanford on the farm links. In losing to the Indians the San Jose State squad managed to capture only one match.

Eli Bariteau, recently crowned Northern California Junior Golf Champion, picked up two points by virtue of his victory over McCann, Stanford's number one cluster. Bariteau toured the course in a par 71, best card of the match.

Anderson, number two Spartan, lost his match but managed to pick up one point. The doubles team of Bariteau and Anderson split with Stanford's top doubles team thus accounting for the final half point.

Thursday Coach Walt McPherson takes his team to St. Mary's for a return match. In a previous meeting of the two squads the Spartans walked off with the decision.

NYLONS DRAW 50 TO FRAT PICNIC

"How about a date for our fraternity picnic, we're giving away a pair of nylons!" It's a cinch and a wonderful idea used by the Mu Delta Pi, State veterans fraternity last Sunday afternoon at Alum Rock park.

The winner was Kapulani Sniffen, better known as "Kappy." She is a student here from Honolulu, Hawaii. Joe Hornbaker made the award.

Approximately 50 attended the picnic. The activities began with stream wading and hiking and finally wound up around the fire roasting weenies and singing.

derson and Larson of Stanford.

Except for four field events and three track events, the marks turned in Saturday were not as good as the results of the three-way meet held in San Jose last week. Woody Linn showed a big improvement in the discus with a winning throw of 147 feet 7 3-4 inches, and Howard Overhouse raised his previous mark in the pole vault by six inches in tying Anderson and Martin at 12 feet 6 inches.

San Jose cinched the meet by blanking the Indians in three events and piling up a number of seconds and thirds in every race. After winning the 100, Don Smalley came back to run a surprising second in the furlong to edge out Heck, of the Alameda Flyers, who was favored to win the event.

Coach Bud Winter pulled a bit of strategy in the quarter mile when he inserted Thelno Knowles to counter Stanford's surprise entry, half miler George Grimes. Knowles ran a good third in the 440 to pick up two points for the Spartans and came back later in the day to chalk up a win in the 880, his pet race.

Ernie Ribera gave the locals an unexpected three points in the half with a fast second behind Knowles.

Tickets Going Fast for Swim Extravaganza

"Holiday Splash," annual swimming extravaganza, is only three days away. Tickets are selling fast.

According to Miss Mary Wiley, director of the show, the 67 swimmers are hard at work putting finishing touches on their formations.

The following swimmers, including those in the May Day number, are to meet in the pool at 12 o'clock sharp today for pictures: Phyllis Jones, Eleanor Frates, Roberta Ramsey, Lorraine Jae, Muriel Helliwell, Florence Dixon, Jean Jacobson, and Pat Power.

Sorority girls, who are taking part in the fashion show of "Holiday Splash," are to report to Hart's store before tomorrow night. "Inform the PE department when you have reported," requests Miss Wiley.

MEMO FROM THE DEAN OF MEN'S OFFICE

Men on P.L. 16 are entitled to free medical care of all types (whether for service-connected disabilities or not) including hospitalization, ambulance service, emergency operations—in fact for everything that might interfere with their training, except dental care. Men who need glasses or hearing aids must apply to the training officer. All others may go directly to the physicians of their choice, so long as these are members of the California Physicians Service.

All other veterans (whether pensioned or not) are entitled to medical care only for service-connected or service-aggravated disabilities, except that in the event the veteran's attending physician deems hospitalization necessary, the veteran may apply to a government hospital for admission. If the capacity of the institution permits, the veteran may be admitted, and in this event would receive both medical care and hospitalization gratis.
