ACTIVITY ON CAMPUS TODAY

REG DAY

With from 5800 to 6000 students expected, San Jose State College is ready for the first of three registration days. Working with a schedule arranged for an estimated 5000 students, Registrar Joe West plans to add classes at the non-busy hours to take care of the added students.

According to West arrangements can be made to get by until the classroom barracks in the rear quad are completed.

"Students will have to reconcile themselves to taking classes at hours far from their first choice, but unless classes are filled at all hours, some 2000 students will be unable to register," announced West.

Rooms selected for classes scheduled for the barracks are posted on the Bulletin board outside the Registrar's office.

New students admitted total 3840, including 606 former students here before last spring quarter. Due to housing difficulties, all of these students will not register. The number expected from spring quarter is 2400.

Regular applications were not accepted after September 3. Students who applied after that date will register with the "last group" tomorrow afternoon.

80 ADDED TO SJS FACULTY

More than 80 new members have been added to the faculty to take care of the increased student body. Following is a list of the new instructors by departments:

Art—Wendall N. Gates, Robert R. Coleman, Warren Faus, John C. Sheppard, Miss Eve Nauthanson, Mrs. Evelyn O. Wennberg, Miss Elisabeth E. Karlsson, and Roger Condon.

Commerce—Weaver Meadows, returning from service in the Navy, Kenneth B. Coffin, Edwin A. Swanson, Kenneth S. Wood.

Education—Miss Lillian Billington, returning from graduate work at Stanford, and Dr. Carl H. Rich.

Engineering—S. Brooks Walton.

English—Paul Roberts, Dr. Roberta Holloway, Mrs. Rae Henderson, Glenn A. Reed, Dr. Donald H. Alden, Dr. William O. Zoller, Mrs. Gwendolen P. Cooke and Miss Gladys G. Gibson.

Health and Hygiene—Dr. Raymond H. Somers, physician, Mrs. Jean Eldridge Lees, and Miss Elsie D. Hoeck.

Home Economics—Miss Anna L. Loze.

Industrial Arts—James N. Casey, Gordon Van Arsdale, Forrest E. Peifer, and Francis Crofut.

Journalism—William Gould.

NEXT ISSUE

The next issue of the Daily will be published Wednesday. Students signed up for staff will please report to the office today and Tuesday to work on this issue.

Schedule Changes

Those classes scheduled to be given in the barracks have been moved. A list of the room changes is posted on the bulletin board outside of the Registrar's Office. CHANGE:

Class in News Events Open to All Students

News Events, a half-unit course meeting from 12:30 to 1:20 on Fridays only, is an addition to the Journalism class schedule this quarter and will be open to all students.

Mr. David L. MacKaye, director of the adult education department of San Jose schools, is instructor for the course, in which he will discuss major news events of the week.

Lower division students may sign for the class under Jour. 1, and upper division students may sign under Jour. 101.

REG DANCE

With the accent on sweet and mellow, Washington Square's first student body dance of the year will be held tomorrow night in the Men's gym, announces Pat O'Brien, social affairs head.

The traditional get-acquainted Reg Dance will be open to all members of the college student body. A quarterly event, the Reg Dance tomorrow night promises to be a gala affair with a record turnout expected.

"We are emphasizing the get acquainted theme," states Miss O'Brien, but this will be a chance for old friends to meet in familiar surroundings."

With the return of many former students and an expected enrollment of close to 6000, Tuesday's dance will afford an early opportunity to get into the swing of social life before the old scholastic grind begins Wednesday morning.

Music for the dance will feature off-the-record style with all of the latest Hit Parade platters and many of the all-time favorites. Admission to the dance will be presentation of an ASB card. Guests will be admitted if accompanied by students. Dancing from 9 to 1 o'clock, the affair will be strictly sport adds Miss O'Brien.

Meeting Scheduled To Iron Out Building Program Problems

With registration figures expected to reach an all-time high and housing facilities an all-time low, the cry No Vacancy has become a problem of major portent to Spartan students.

Hope for alleviation of the situation comes from Dean of Men Paul M. Pitman who announced that a meeting between college representatives and the San Jose Building Trades council this morning. The meeting is scheduled to iron out some of the many problems that have arisen to slow an already faltering building program on the veteran's barracks project.

Registration day still finds the housing project well behind schedule. The barracks located on South Seventh Street near the Spartan stadium were originally slated to be ready for occupancy by today. However, snags in coordination, lack of material, and a decided man power shortage has resulted in an indefinite postponement of the opening.

Planned to house 148 veterans and their families, the units are still bare of any fixtures save a few stoves, and are almost entirely devoid of paint. This lack of paint is a result of an official edict on the part of the Central California Building Trades Council stopping spray painting on all federal projects under their jurisdiction.

Dean Pitman and Comptroller E. S. Thompson expressed a great deal of satisfaction with the overall cooperation on the part of the local building councils and the townspeople of San Jose in general and expressed a hope that the mornings meeting will break the work stoppage.

As a result of the acute housing shortage, it is estimated that well over half of the college students are resorting to a great number of drastic measures to ensure their educations. "It is wonderful how the community of San Jose has helped absorb many of our otherwise homeless students," stated Dean Pitman. "However many are having to resort to commuting as far as San Francisco and back daily and will lose a lot of time that might otherwise be spent on studies or in supporting their families. And of course there are innumerable cases of families banding together in very crowded spaces or of veterans being forced

HUBBARD UNVEILS 'T' TO CAPACITY CROWD LINE PLAY BIG FACTOR IN WIN OVER TOUGH BEARCAT ELEVEN

By DICK FRY

San Jose State's model T came out for the 1946 grid season loaded for Bearcat Friday night at Spartan Stadium as they lashed Coach Walt Erickson's Willamette eleven 44 to 6 to open the Pacific Coast football year before 13,000 partisan fans.

The Spartans scored first mid-way in the initial quarter on a pass from quarterback Jim Jackson to Capt. George Terry good for nine yards and the score. From there on in the locals were never headed scoring twice in the second period, twice in the third and twice in the final canto.

HUBBARD'S DEBUT

In his debut as top kick at San Jose State, Coach Bill Hubbard showed the Garden City fans everything the Gold and White bench had to offer plus many of the intricacies of the T system. Both the T and the talent that handled it Friday night was too much for the boys from Salem.

AIR-GROUND POWER

Displaying power on the ground and through the air, the Spartans piled up 23 first downs to three for the Bearcats. Quarterbacks Jackson, Pete Denevi and Chuck Hughes connected for seventeen completions in thirty-five tosses while Willamette completed three passes out of seventeen tries.

The boys from Salem racked up their only score late in the fourth quarter on a pass from Lorenz to Goodman good for a total of 52 yards. Their try for point was blocked by a hard-charging Spartan forward wall.

SPARTAN LINE STRONG

Despite a short three week practice before the season opener Friday night, San Jose displayed a glass smooth offense running from the T and a rock 'em, rock 'em type of defensive line play. Spartan linemen solved the Warner double wing constantly and spilled the Bearcat back for numerous losses. Willamette failed to pull a single long run through the rugged San Jose line.

Yearbook on Sale Today, Tomorrow

La Torre, the college yearbook, is on sale today and tomorrow at booths near the registration lines and in the gym for a special price of $4.75. Starting Wednesday the yearbooks will be on sale in the Publications office for $5.

Only 3500 copies are being planned for 6000 students, according to Bill Ellsworth, business manager, who urges students to order their copies early.

La Torre may grow into a one-third, larger and thicker book if current plans are carried out. Editor for the yearbook has not been announced, but will probably be appointed at the first council meeting.

Students who have not yet received their 1946 La Torre may pick them up in the Publications office. If books have not already been received through the mail, they will not be mailed to purchasers.

Plans Growing For First Play

Director James Clancy of the speech faculty announces that try-outs will be held for the "Duchess of Malfi" Thursday and Friday, October 3 and 4, at 3:30 p. m. in the Little Theater. Copies of the text are now available in the Reserve Book room of the Library.

"The Duchess of Malfi," by John Webster, considered one of the outstanding Elizabethan tragedies, opens the 1946-47 drama series and will be the major production for the year. It is a literary classic but has been seldom produced, having only recently been revived in London by the Old Vic troupe.

The cast is large and include many excellent parts, both straight and character. There are many non-speaking bit parts, including dancers. Elaborate settings have been designed by J. Wendell Johnson, art director of the drama staff, and are now under construction by James Lioi, newly added technical director. Costumes which reflect the opulence of the period will be under the supervision of Miss Marie Carr. Production dates are November 7, 8, and 9 at 8:15 p. m. in the Little Theater.

Stater In Japan

Representing the 163rd Language Detachment on the board of directors for the Kyoto Red Cross club, the Kyotocabana, at the club's opening ceremonies, is Technician Third Grade Takeo Hirabayashi of American Fork, Utah. He is a former student of San Jose State college.

Sergeant Hirabayashi entered the Army in January, 1942, and took both Medical and Intelligence training before leaving for overseas in January, 1944. He served in New Guinea and the Philippines before coming to Japan. He is now a translator for the 163rd Language Detachment, which is attached to I Corps Headquarters in Kyoto.

DeLong Aids Clements As Vet Coordinator

With the arrival of assistant coordinator Kenneth DeLong, recently separated from the Navy, Veterans Coordinator Edward W. Clements announced that the college branch of the Veterans Administration is now fully staffed to aid the vets through the current year.

Clements urges all vets with problems to come into the on-campus headquarters in room 16 of the main building.

HELLO THERE!

In 1862 one man and five women registered at the newly opened normal school which later developed into San Jose State college. In 1946 6000 students are expected to register here.

The growth the college has experienced through the years has not been confined to the student body and the campus. The curriculum has expanded until what was formerly a teachers' college now graduates students into practically every field.

But growth has not in any way diminished the reputation for friendliness always possessed by the institution. We make friends easily—we are not snobs.

We hope that the many new students will become participants in the custom of friendliness. When an "old timer" smiles, smile back. And before you know it you'll become a part of the college and forget that "scared Freshman" feeling.

Welcome to State—and welcome back. We're glad to see you!

FROM HUNGER

By TOM MARSHALL

Welcome Home Veteran! With that cry ringing in my ear and an empty wallet to prove they really meant it, the Navy and I parted company (I sure hated to lose my foot when I gnawed that shackle off) and I headed once again for Washington Square.

Beating off a freshman who was trying to rent a vacated gopher hole in the family estate driveway, I headed the family Stanley

Steamer for Spartanland and the inevitable iron curtain of parked cars ringing the campus. Pruning the hedge on my hirsute (hairy, stupid!) jowls and dusting off my patent leather yoyo I took my favorite spot among the bamboo at the quad gate to pounce on some unsuspecting date for the Reg Dance tomorrow night. Hmm I wonder if DDT will keep a babe

JUST AMONG OURSELVES

By DR. T. W. MACQUARRIE

A hearty, if hasty, welcome, but more than that—a call for help!

It's the biggest job this old College has ever had. We could have limited our enrollment even more than we did, but we wanted to take care of as many of you as possible. We did finally reach capacity on September twentieth, and had to refuse a great many applications after that. The very fact that you are here probably means that someone else is not here—and he might have been a pretty good student, too.

We have added more than sixty new members to our faculty, but the load is still too great. We need your help. It will be a tough year in many respects. You'll have to stand in line a good many times. Study conditions will not be good, but please grin and make the best of it—the war isn't over yet.

Housekeeping will be one of our hardest problems. If you will take care of your own waste paper, lunch boxes, cigarette stubs and other debris, that will be a great help. We simply cannot pick up after you.

Please don't smoke in any of the buildings (except the Spartan Shop), the arcades, doorways or the Quad. Those stubs are so unsightly—why don't you use a pipe?

Also, there are thieves around; I must tell you that. Look out for your money, your fountain pens, watches, compacts and extra clothing. They have even been known to steal text books!

Also, don't join any organization you are not sure of. Anyway, don't lay any money on the line to suit some slick promoter. Ask the deans about approved groups.

You don't have to be a sucker. It's a friendly College, this old San Jose State, but we do have our standards. We don't offer something for nothing. Burns and chiselers and cribbers should leave as soon as possible—we'll help all we can.

If you don't mind, too, I'd like to say "Hello" to you as we pass. I cannot possibly know all of you (sometimes it's not much of a compliment if I do) but I'd like to be on speaking terms with you at least. I'll say "Hello" or "Good morning" or "Howdy" or something like that, and if you care to respond, I'll be happy. If you don't, just look the other way when you see me coming, and I'll understand.

In any case, I wish for all of you a happy and satisfying year.

MARRIED VETERAN GOES TO COLLEGE OR, THINGS COULD BE WORSE

By GI BILL

The time has come for the Big Expose of the trials and hardships encountered by the married veteran going to school.

The other day the little lady and I, flushed with happiness, went skipping into a Dean's office and told him we were married.

"Har!" he growled. "You had better tell the Vet's Administration." As a signal of dismissal he jovially threw an ink stand after us.

The Veterans administrator grinned when we told him the news and happily began to shovel forms into my lap.

"Here are a few forms to fill out for now," he said. "You can come in later when you have more time and complete the rest."

"What's this one?" I held up a cerise colored paper with printing in chartreuse.

"That is Form WAR VA 1919-7004z (Revised 1919AD) for refunds on pencil shaving's reclamation."

"What is this?" I held up a lavender sheet.

"Oh, fill it out right away so you can get your increase in allotment before December 31, 1947."

"You mean we have to wait that long before we get our money? We'll starve! My beautiful wife will wither away! I'll be forced to sell my texts for profit! "I sobbed brokenly on his shoulder.

He left me for a moment, then came hurrying back. "Here," he said kindly, "We have taken up a collection among the 67 office workers. Here is a little token of our charity."

I took the coins and paper from him and, with tear-filled eyes, counted out 67 cents and 67 IOU's.

My wife and I cried and laughed with joy and gratitude at our good fortune. We happily ran to our little temporary home on the corner of 7th and San Carlos, and flung ourselves on the blanket covered pavement.

Special Train Will Carry Rooters To COP-State Game

A special train has been chartered by the student council to carry rooters to the College of the Pacific game at Stockton November 8. Fare for a round trip will be $3.74. The Southern Pacific train will probably leave around 3:30 p. m. and will start the return trip an hour or so after the game is over.

The Southern Pacific has also announced that seats may be saved for the student body on the noon Daylight the day of the Santa Barbara game. According to ASB President Marty Taylor, plans may be made with Western Airlines for plane transportation to the San Diego game.

SGO PLANS FOOTBALL HOP

Sigma Gamma Omega will hold its eighth annual football dance on October 12 from 9 until 1 o'clock in the Civic Auditorium.

Bids will be on sale today in the booth by the gym, and in the Business office during the week. The price will be $1.64 including tax. Proper attire for the dance will be dressy sport.

LIBRARY HOURS

This week the library will be open the following hours:

- Monday through Thursday. Reading room—8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. 7 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. Circulation desk—8 a. m. to 9:30 p. m.
- Reserve room—7:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.
- Friday—8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.
- Saturday—8 a. m. to 1 p. m.

NEW COMMERCE COURSE ADDED

A new course, designed especially for students who intend starting a business of their own, is being offered by the Commerce department. The course, Com. 33, entitled Small Business Enterprises, will be given at 4:30 on Tuesdays and Thursdays by Mr. Wilbur H. Swanson and will be for two units.

According to Dr. Earl Atkinson, head of the Commerce department, the course will analyze various types of small businesses like gas stations and grocery stores, determine the amount of capital needed, the type of advertising, chances for loans and other problems that would arise in the starting of a small business.

CHURCH NIGHT TO BE HELD

Eight local churches are cooperating in presenting a student "Church Night" Sunday, October 6. All students are invited to attend the open house which will begin in the various churches at 6:30 p. m.

The program will consist of group singing, worship, and a special welcome to new students. Churches involved in the plan are as follows:

- Grace Baptist, 10th and San Fernando; First Christian, 5th and San Fernando; First Congregational, 120 E. San Antonio; Trinity Episcopal, N. 2nd and St. James; First Methodist, E. Santa Clara and 5th; Calvary Methodist, Naglee and Morse; First Presbyterian, N. 3rd, and the Unitarian church, 160 N. 3rd.

Freshmen Camp At Asilomar For Weekend Meeting

Over 300 attended the freshman camp at Asilomar from Friday through Sunday. Co-chairman were Dot McCullough and Bill McFarland who directed the discussions, recreation, camp fires, and taught college songs and yells.

Dean of Men, Paul Pitmen, spoke Friday night to the freshmen, and Miss Helen Dimmick, Dean of Women, and her assistant Mrs. Izzeta Pritchard spoke Saturday night.

Marty Taylor, president of the Student body, and Jackie Popp, president of the AWA attended the camp, along with 27 upper class counselors.

The freshmen camps were started in 1944, with the purpose of acquainting freshmen with the college. This week-end's group is the largest which has ever attended a camp.

ASB CARDS ON SALE AT NEW PRICE

ASB membership cards are on sale today and tomorrow at tables stationed near the registration line. Price of the card is $12.50, which includes tax.

The new tax measure did not result in a rise in the price of the cards, because the budget provided for the sale of fewer cards than will be sold. The number sold above the budget figures will provide the tax money.

A limited ASB card may be purchased by the husband or wife of a student for $7.50.

A membership card entitles a student to admission to games and student body dances, a student rate to dramatic productions, and to library privileges.

Jim Gualtieri, ASB treasurer, is in charge of sales. After Wednesday cards may be purchased in the Business office.

TICKETS FOR DRAMA SEASON NOW ON SALE

Season tickets for the dramatic productions of the Speech and Drama department are on sale to all students and faculty in the Speech office, room 159. Sale of season tickets will end the middle of October. The generous saving provided through this system of ticket purchase has already brought a big advance reservation and sale but but some good seats remain, reports Miss Helen Mineta, secretary.

This season will mark the return to the pre-war system of selling the entire year of six productions in a season ticket form, allowing patrons to have the same seat throughout all productions. The prices of the season ticket present a saving of approximately one-third in the cost of admissions.

The season of plays is ambitious in its choice with the Fall quarter opening with "The Duchess of Malfi" by Webster. This famous tragedy of jealousy, murder, to be presented in New York this winter with Elizabeth Bergner in the lead, will be the most ambitious undertaking of the college season. Already settings are well toward completion with special stage effects planned and unusual costuming under construction. The second play of the first quarter will be the well known light comedy of adolescence "Kiss and Tell."

The remainder of the season of plays will include Edith Wharton's famous story "Ethan Frome," Moliere's "Doctor in Spite of Himself," "Angel Street" made into the movies under the title "Gas-light" with Bergman and Boyer in leading roles. The last play of the year will be a modern comedy, as yet unselected.

Season tickets are on sale for a choice of any one of the three production nights: Thursday, Friday or Saturday. Price for students is $2.40 for the six productions and for all others is $3.50.

Council Meets At Informal Dinner

Marty Taylor, president of the Associated Students, and Jim Gualtieri, ASB treasurer, cooked a spaghetti dinner for council members, Doctor Robert Rhodes and Dean Paul Pitman, at the home of Barbara Jensen, ASB secretary, Thursday night.

Purpose of the dinner was for council members to get better acquainted and outline their plans for the year. Date of the first regular council meeting will be announced later.

SCA CABINET DISCUSS PLANS

The SCA cabinet will go to the Lion's Den tonight to discuss plans for the coming quarter.

Guest speaker will be Paul Moritz, who has just returned from China where he has been working with the International YMCA.

Don Cassidy is president of the SCA, an organization which combines the activities of the YMCA and the YWCA into a campus organization.

No Book Exchange For Fall Quarter

The Student Book Exchange, a student body agency for buying and selling used books will not function this quarter. A chairman has been named, and during the next few months an investigation into the advisability of continuing the project will be carried on by the Student Council.

An announcement will be made at the end of the quarter as to whether the exchange will be revived.

— STUDENT UNION BUILDING —

Morris Daily auditorium is named for Morris E. Dailey, president of San Jose State College from 1900 to 1919.

Twenty-nine members of the San Jose State College faculty of 1909 took a trip to Europe together. The trip was proposed by the college president, Dr. Morris E. Dailey, who was a member of the party.

Five ladies and one gentleman comprised the first student body of San Jose State College. The college grew from 1857 beginnings in San Francisco to establishment in San Jose in 1862 to its present size.

LaTorre, official student year book of San Jose State College, is named (Spanish) for the famed tower which marks the administration building.

Washington Square, site of San Jose State College, many years ago was a marsh.

WE EAT

Spartan Shop fountain opened this morning at 8 o'clock and will be open from 7 to 4:30 each school day.

The college cafeteria, located in the Home Economics building will open Wednesday.

San Jose State College is the oldest teacher training institution in the West. It is the largest state college in California.

Official colors of San Jose State College are gold and white. Nickname is "Spartans."

Song sheets containing the three most popular San Jose State College songs may be purchased in the Spartan Shop. Songs in the sheet are the official "Fight Song," the official hymn, "Hail, Spartans, Hail," and "Praises We Sing." The music was published by the Alumni Association.

Among the distinguished graduates of San Jose State College were the late Edwin Markham, poet who wrote "The Man with the Hoe;" Mrs. Lou Henry Hoover, wife of the former president of the United States; and Dr. Henry Suzzalo, former president of the University of Washington.

Carillon bells which ring out periodically from the tower were the gift of the 1946 senior class, which added money to previously donated funds from senior classes so the bells could be installed.

Back to the Good Old Daze

Back to the whirl of eight o'clock classes, to football games and last-minute passes,

Back to cramming for Ancient History,
or maybe Chem, another mystery,

Back to rooting for another score,
and wondering if you should study more,

Back to those rides in the autumn moonlight,
to burning of oil till long past midnight...

Since you're back for the biggest term of all time,
We're wishing you luck and ending this rhyme.

Beta Cuddle Set For Friday Night

The first "date" dance of the new school year will be the "Beta Cuddle" on Friday, October fourth. The dance, which is given by the Beta Chi Sigma fraternity is to be held at Napradak Club on Lawrance road. The Napradak Club is a new building and the dance floor will easily accommodate 300 couples.

Kenny Taix's and his ten piece band will furnish the music and dancing will be from 9 to 1. Attire for the evening will be dressy sport. Bids will be sold during the week for $2.40 tax included.

This is the seventh annual "Beta Cuddle" and according to Dance chairman Ed Hinkle it will be the best yet. Students are reminded that there will be a limited number of bids printed and it is "first come first served."

Plans Indefinite For Spartan Shop

The Spartan Bookstore, which was to be moved into the new building being constructed next to the Library, is doomed to another quarter of crowded conditions.

During the Spring quarter, conditions in the Coop and the bookstore became so congested that the Student Council voted to move the bookstore and enlarge the Coop; however, the plans have been delayed considerably and although the new building for the bookstore is now under construction no definite date can be set for the move.

EATING CLUB

Tickets Available In Booth Near Gym

Those who have signed as members of the boarding club, and those who would like to become members will find a booth outside the Men's gym today and tomorrow where they can make final arrangements, and pay for the October meals.

Mrs. Fern Geyer Wendt, who is in charge of the boarding club, says that it is important that everyone who is going to be a member go to the booth after they register, in order to pay for their meal ticket, $33 for the month of October which they will need to obtain the first club breakfast on Wednesday morning.

Schedule for the boarding club meals will be breakfast from 7 until 7:45; lunch; from 11:20 until 1 o'clock; and dinner 5:20 until 5:45.

Mrs. Wendt also stated that the cafeteria will be open to the students and faculty at noon, and will serve as many as possible. Noon is the only time the cafeteria will be open for those who are not members of the boarding club.

Post Graduate Students Begin Work On Credential; Dr. DeVoss Heads Committee

Courses leading toward the general secondary teaching credential are being offered in the college this quarter for the first time since approval for the program was granted during the summer.

An undetermined number of post-graduate students have registered for the general secondary program, reports Dr. J. C. DeVoss, chairman of the committee in charge. Later in the quarter, he will announce the number of general secondary candidates.

Students who have not been officially accepted for the program are permitted to enroll in post graduate work at their own risk pending a decision of college presidents next week. Dr. DeVoss will announce their findings then.

Persons interested in the general secondary program should apply to Mrs. Ada Carver in the Personnel office for acceptance. Sets of requirements for the general secondary credential may be obtained in the Education office or the Personnel office.

Members of the general committee, in addition to Chairman DeVoss, are Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, Dr. P. V. Peterson, Dr. J. C. Elder, Dr. William H. Poytress, Dr. H. A. Sotzin, Dr. William Sweeney, Registrar Joe West, and Mrs. Ada Carver, secretary.

A teaching major and a teaching minor in subjects ordinarily taught in secondary schools must be established by general secondary credential candidates.

TEA WEDNESDAY WELCOMES COEDS

New women students will be officially welcomed at the AWA Big Sister Tea Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the quad.

Representatives of the Student Council, Black Masque, Spartan Spears, and other campus organizations will tell the new students about the activities and traditions of the college. Questions will be answered by the big sisters, chosen from the members of AWA.

Carol Lantz, AWA big sister chairman, is in charge of arrangements for the afternoon. Refreshments will be served and copies of the Campus Compass, a guide book for new women students, will be distributed.

The tea, an annual affair, offers an opportunity for new students to become acquainted with other new students, with upper-classmen, and with the set-up of college activities.

First trick was to convince Dr. Will Bill Poytress, PhD, and HMTGAOO (Hard Man to Get Anything Out Of) that publication staff, slide rule, navigation, and solid analytical geometry taken in the Navy and a course in advanced black marketing studied first hand in the Orient are all allied social studies. All right, so I do start out in an advanced sub-freshman studies. With perseverance and a few old trench mortars I may be able to crack out of this blue card brig in the spring.

How I got back into this journalism stuff is still a mystery. Last week as I was pan handling in the vicinity of the pub office, a strange force (strange force pfui—it was B. Gartshore hauling me in with butterfly net) pulled me in. She cried, she begged, she pleaded, but there was no way out. I took my knee out of her adams apple and extracted a promise in blood that she would print my stuff!

This living situation is quite the berries! Berries, that's a rare old Tannutavian word meaning I live with my folks, sister-in-law from Australia, 158 chickens, a dozen ducks, three goats, and a hedgehog named Gus from Wisconsin who expects a job out at American Can any day now. My cousin Bill has quite the deal though. He shares a two by four basement with hot and cold running spiders and a shrew with one leg named George (no Ken, I don't what the name of the other leg is.)

But, all in all, I expect this to be a good year. I even expect the profs to hold off til Wednesday before they start legal Flunk—Marshall proceeding with Joe West. Til then it'll be every man for himself and I'm a mean man with the pogo stick.

AERO LAB GETS FATAL B-17

The aero lab finally got a plane to work on, but you'd have to look twice to recognize it. It looks more like some post-war hot-rock tried to barrel-roll a B-17 into the basement lab.

However, Donald L. James, Jr., assistant professor of aeronautics explained that the parts strewn the length of the corridor are from a B-17 that crashed into a mountain near San Francisco last June killing 9 of it's crew members.

Parts of other planes of inglorious endings taken from P-38's, C-54's, B-26's, and P-40's have been collected during the summer for lab study. Included in the collection is a pile of navy fighter navigation boards (squeegee boards) taken from carrier planes.

Professor James reported 28 aeronautical majors signed for this quarter, a majority of which were former service pilots.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Spartan book store will remain open until 7 p. m. for the next few days. The fountain, however will close at 4:30 as usual.

First meeting of Theta Mu Sigma will be held in the Student Union Wednesday, October 2 from 7 to 10. Members will please bring names and addresses of prospective pledges.

The SCA dance has been cancelled because of the number of other projects taken up by the SCA.

Don't forget to buy your La Torre at the special registration price of $4.25.

Home Grid Games Topped By Fresno Clash November 22

Coach Bill Hubbard and the Spartan eleven will serve up plenty of top football entertainment to whet the appetite of sport-starved San Jose State students during the Fall quarter 1946.

After a three year lay-off, the California Collegiate Athletic Association football schedule has been renewed and, according to sports writers up and down the Coast, contains some of the strongest teams in the Pacific area. With San Jose State and Fresno State College heading the list on the pre-season dope sheets, the conference also boasts powerful elevens at San Diego State, Santa Barbara college and College of the Pacific.

San Jose fans can plan to get in on the titanic of the year November 22 when the Spartans meet the Fresno State Bulldogs in the Seventh street stadium. Barring early season upsets, this clash should determine the "small school" title on the Coast this year.

It's a bonanza year for sports all over the United States and particularly among the small schools. Teams that were never in the money because of lack of depth are now cutting their squads in half to get them down to traveling size. The weak sisters aren't weak this season—the breathers are where the upsets are most likely to come.

"Honey, I said.

"Yes, dear?"

"Hand me a beer."

She fumbled around in the cool culvert for a moment, then drew out a cold brown bottle.

I was content. I had a nice wife, school, beer, warm cement to sleep on, fresh air, and running rain water in the winter. I thought, just look at the poor starving peasants in Europe. They didn't have much beer. I sure am lucky.

University of Idaho Grid Squad Named

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow—Coach James A. (Babe) Brown today named a 51-man University of Idaho varsity football squad. The San Jose-Idaho game is set for October 19.

Listed on the varsity contingent are many newcomers to this year's squad. They are players Brown says have "shown little regard for past records of individuals or so-called 'big names,'" and have beaten lettermen and other experienced gridders out of varsity berths.

Brown cut his squad today, just two weeks before the Vandals open the 1946 season at Stanford on September 28, after carefully studying the results of last Saturday's intrasquad game.
