SAN JOSE STATE COLLEGE

VOL. 47 SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1959 NO. 11

Governor Plans To Speak in May

San Jose State will confer an honorary master of arts degree upon Gov. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, 1939 graduate, when he takes part in the annual Founders' Day program on campus May 3, 1960.

'Mexico' First Forum Topic

The Sunday Evening Community Forum will open its 1959-60 lecture series Sunday night at 7:30 at Woodrow Wilson Junior High School with a film lecture by Romain Wilhelmsen entitled "Legend of the Sierra Madre."

invitation to Wisconsin's chief executive.

Governor Nelson attended San Jose State between 1935 and 1939, coming to San Jose from his native state of Wisconsin. In June, 1939, Governor Nelson was graduated with distinction and a B.A. in social science. College records do not show that he held any office in student organizations.

Following graduation, Governor Nelson returned to Madison, where he attended the Law School at the University of Wisconsin. He then served 46 months in the U.S. Army during World War II. After the war, he began law practice in Madison. He was elected to three successive terms in the Wisconsin State Senate.

Last year he ran for governor on the Democratic ticket, and won. He is the first Democrat to be elected governor of the state since 1932.

Founders' Day grew out of the college centennial celebration held in 1957. It was held for the first time last year in the Inner Quad. All classes are dismissed for the one-hour program.

I.R. Club To Meet

Industrial relations majors and interested students are invited to attend the first meeting of the Industrial Relations Club tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in the Cafeteria Faculty Room.

Dept. Plans Ad Seminar

Advertising salesmen from newspapers throughout California will be in San Jose, Oct. 9 and 10, to attend an advertising seminar sponsored by the California Newspaper Publishers Association.

The seminar, which is under the direction of the SJSC Department of Journalism and Advertising, will be held in Newman Hall, 79 S. Fifth St.

Faculty members who have planned the seminar include: Dr. Dwight Bentel, Journalism and Advertising Dept. head and chairman of the CNPA Advertising Seminar committee; Carl R. Hoffman, professor of advertising and program director of the seminar; and Charles E. Marshall, associate professor of advertising.

Welcoming the participants at 9 a.m. Friday, will be Dr. Bentel and CNPA Pres. Carroll W. Parmer, editor and publisher of the Glendale News-Press.

Lectures, demonstrations, panel and round table discussions of topics of interest to men and women who sell advertising space in California newspapers are scheduled. Such topics as selling, advertising copy and layout, market analysis and production will be covered.

Among the instructors and discussion leaders will be Ed Bauer, general manager of the Sunnyvale Standard; Lou Heindel, advertising director of the San Jose Mercury and News; and Bill Norton, publisher of the Cupertino Courier.

One of the panel members is Preston Thistle, advertising manager of the Los Altos News.

A $10 registration fee is required.

Applications Open For AWS Positions

Associated Women Students chairmanship for the Faculty Men's Breakfast and an AWS representative to WAA are now open to women students. Coeds wishing to make application for either of the two positions should apply in Adm242, according to AWS President Pat Moriarty.

Applications will be open until noon, Oct. 13. Interviews will be held at 4 p.m. that afternoon.

DRESSED FOR A DATE—Vava Gottlund, (l.) SJS student, is one of eight beauty titlists who will model at today's Associated Women Students' fashion show. Stephanie Abbott (r.) is coordinator for the program which begins at 3:30 p.m. in E118.

Beauties Fill Fashions At AWS Show Today

Eight San Jose State beauty titlists and models will model campus fashions today at the first Associated Women Students' meeting, in E118 at 3:30 p.m. All women students are eligible to attend according to AWS Program Chairman Linda Lucas.

The show will feature clothes from Stuart's and accessories from Bloom's. "Everything the collegian will wear will be shown at the AWS program," Miss Lucas said.

Stephanie Abbott, SJS junior and a Joseph Magnin model, will be coordinator of the show. Other coeds who will model are:

Darlis Carle, Miss Santa Clara County and a Maid of California; Mona Rae Morgan, band major-ette and model; Kathy Harrington, Miss San Jose; Julia Williamson, model; and Vava Gottlund, model.

Others include: Bonnie McCaulay, Lyke doll; Louise Saylor, Miss

San Mateo, and Ann Lambrecht, model.

"We are trying to follow the guide in 'Spartan from the Start' and will show sport clothes, Bermuda, school clothes and cocktail dresses," Linda explained.

She said incoming freshman and junior transfers are especially urged to attend.

Society May Print, If Poems Are Sent

SJS students gifted in the art of writing poetry have an opportunity to see their work in print as the American College Poetry Society is now compiling its second annual anthology of outstanding college poetry for publication this winter.

Poetic contributions must be the original work. Literary rights to his material are retained by the student. Poems, which may deal with any subject, must not exceed the 48-lines; nor may any individual submit more than five poems.

Entries may be submitted to Alan C. Fox, executive secretary, American College Poetry Society, Box 24463, Los Angeles 24, Calif., and postmarked no later than midnight, Dec. 1, 1959, in order to be considered. The entrant's name, address, and school must appear on each page.

Entries which are not accepted for publication will be returned if accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope, but they will not be otherwise acknowledged. Students are not compensated for poetry which is published. The decisions of the Society judges are final.

Accounting Fraternity Continues Rushing

Alpha Eta Sigma, accounting fraternity, will hold its second rush function tomorrow evening in the Cafeteria at 7:30.

All students who have completed one year of accounting on the college level and have a grade-point average of 2.0 are eligible for membership and invited to attend the meeting, stated Pres. Ralph Abee.

Dr. Edward J. Kelly, dean of graduate studies of Golden Gate College will be the featured speaker of the evening. Dr. Kelly is a member of the California State Board of Accountancy.

Accounting majors interested in joining the Society are asked to fill out a questionnaire in the accounting office, TH118, as soon as possible.

Organization Reps. Meet At 7 Tonight

Representatives from some 160 campus organizations are expected to meet in TH55 tonight at 7 for a compulsory organizational meeting.

ASB Vice President Guy Gleason will preside over the meeting of club presidents and their faculty advisers.

Gleason said that the ASB by-laws state that in order for an organization to continue as a recognized campus group, a representative must be sent to the meeting. Those clubs which are not represented face possible loss of campus recognition as well as a fine, he said.

At the meeting, Student Court Chief Justice Jerry Alexander will explain the new judiciary revision plan.

Spartan Daily Editor Jim Adams will distribute material to the publicity directors of clubs telling how organizations can get their stories in the paper.

Other material will be distributed by the Activities Office at the meeting including the new organizational handbook.

Current rules for campus clubs and their activities, campus advertising rules and selling will also be discussed by Gleason.

"It is the president's responsibility to see that either he or his representative is at the meeting," Gleason declared.

IRC Meets Tomorrow

The International Relations Club will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at the home of Dr. Raymond Stanley, assistant professor of geography, 588 South 15th St.

Transportation will be provided at 7:15 p.m. from in front of the Administration Building. Students interested are asked to sign a list on the bulletin board by the Social Science Office, CH134.

Vacant chairmanships of IRC committees will be assigned at the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

The organization will participate in United Nations Week beginning Oct. 19. IRC will sponsor an exhibit on campus during the week.

IRC also sends delegates to the model United Nations for college students.

Management Club To Meet Tonight

Members of the Society for the Advancement of Management will hold their first meeting and rush function of the year tonight at 7:30 in the Cafeteria. James Browning SAM president, announced recently.

The meeting will be to acquaint the prospective members with the purposes of the organization as a whole, Browning explained, and to give a general outlook of the operations of the chapter on campus.

Female Rep To Be Elected

Forty-four ASB committee positions and the office of ASB female representative-at-large will be filled this afternoon when the council approves committee recommendations and interviews candidates for the female council position.

Five women, four juniors and a sophomore have applied for the female representative-at-large spot.

Martha Allhouse, Carol Skapik, Connie Evans, Sally Rees, and Wendy Cotton will be interviewed by the council before members make their final choice.

Prof Attends UNESCO

Dr. George G. Bruntz, professor of history and political science, has returned to SJS after attending the Seventh National Conference of the U.S. National Commission for UNESCO in Denver. He was the official delegate from SJS.

Topic of the conference was "Cultures of the Americas." The purpose of the conference was to further the understanding between Latin American and North American people and to find ways in which all Americans can contribute toward inter-American understanding.

William Faulkner, Nobel Prize-winning novelist, spoke to the closing session of the conference and said "Simple man, the human race will survive long after Capitalism and Communism are in their graves."

Dr. Bruntz attended a section meeting on teacher education. This meeting also discussed how student education in both Latin and North America is furthering understanding between the Americas.

Another sectional meeting which Dr. Bruntz attended concerned international organizations run by large firms in the Americas.

"The corporations are doing by far the most to promote understanding. They have recognized that business is better if the men whom they send are well trained in the culture of the country to which they are sent," he explained.

Two thousand delegates, including educators, businessmen, agriculturists, labor leaders and statesmen, attended the conference which ran from Sept. 29 to Oct. 2.

VA Suggestions Aid in Service

The Information Service of the Veterans Administration offered some suggestions to veterans recently, which it says will result in quicker, more efficient service.

When writing about benefit claims, the VA says, always include your full name and address, and "C" number.

It is a good idea to notify the veterans office immediately of any change of address, the Information Service added.

For veterans seeking information regarding insurance problems or policies, address the regional office to which the premiums are mailed, and give the policy number.

The VA also advises veterans to keep their list of insurance beneficiaries up to date. Only the persons whose names are on record can be paid, the VA said.

Recommendations for the ASB committee positions will be presented for final approval. Last week, student council members sat on several interviewing committees and spoke with candidates seeking student government positions. Their recommendations will be acted upon today.

The question of how effective the student council is, has prompted the suggestion to create a committee to consider how student government at SJS can be improved.

Joyce Rowson, executive secretary of the council is scheduled to suggest forming a Student Council Evaluation Committee aimed at finding ways to make council legislation more functional and more meaningful to students.

She also is slated to suggest a Student Council Evaluation sub-committee that would look into the effect of some ASB committees who position appointments will be made today.

ASB Pres. Rich Hill said yesterday that some of the committees did not meet at all last year, and said the Student Council may call for an inquiry into what value these committees serve student government that "don't even meet," according to Hill.

Pat McClenahan, ASB prosecuting attorney, will appear before the council seeking the council's opinion on forming an election committee.

McClenahan said student election procedure, presently handled by the Student Court is too involved to continue as a part of the court's duties. He said he would like to see an ASB committee, added to the present roster that would take the election responsibility off of the court's shoulders.

Lyke Joke Reproduced In Magazine

The cartoon work of Bob Barryessa, featured in the second spring issue of Lyke, campus feature magazine, was reproduced this summer in Cosmopolitan, a national magazine published by Hearst Corp.

The Sept. issue printed an article, "What's Happened to College Humor?" Reproducing cartoons from the Harvard Lampoon and jokes from other magazines, Cosmopolitan choose Barryessa's full-page theme cartoon that was published in the Lyke "Feature Issue" edited by Hugh McGraw.

Cosmopolitan pointed out Lyke as a college magazine that is becoming "less (of a) joke and cartoon book and evolving more in the nature of a feature magazine." A cartoon by Page Brownston, "Cogito, Ergo Sum" was described as a "memorable job in the issue."

Lyke magazine will put out its first issue of the semester Nov. 4, the staff announced today.

Spots on Court Close

Applications deadline for student court justices is 2:30 p.m. today. Gary Coniglio, student council public relation director said yesterday.

Interviews for two senior justices and one sophomore female justice and one junior male justice will be held tomorrow in the Student Union.

Interview times will be announced when the candidates turn in their application with the Student Union secretary, he said.

Sparta Camp Jobs Open

Applications for two Sparta Camp assistant directors and four committee members will be accepted in the Student Union Monday through Wednesday. Don Brown, Sparta Camp director, announced yesterday.

At the time of signing up, appointments will be made for personal interviews, Brown said. The interviews will be held between 1 and 4 p.m. in Adm218 Wednesday and Adm256 Thursday and Friday.

One of the assistant directors will be in charge of arrangements, including meals, transportation and other related tasks. The other will be in charge of developing the program for the two-day camp, Brown explained.

Four committee members will assist directors in their duties, he added.

"We need people that are willing to work, and work hard," Brown said. This will be a full year's project, not just a few weeks before the camp convenes, he added.

STRIKERS FACE TAFT-HARTLEY

PALM SPRINGS (UPI)—President Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley Law in the East Coast dock strike today by creating a fact-finding board to report back to him by Saturday.

This was the first step in the labor-management law leading toward an injunctive process which, if followed, would compel a cooling-off period of 80 days in the work stoppage.

The three-man board, already standing by in Washington, immediately went to work and expected to wind up its hearings in one day.

The board invited union and industry spokesmen to testify at public hearings today in Washington.

LUNIK III SAID ON COURSE
MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia announced yesterday that its Lunik III had made its turn and was "continuing its flight" around the back of the moon.

But the official Soviet Tass News Agency was less firm yesterday than it had been previously in saying that Lunik III is carrying a camera to photograph the moon.

The Tass spokesman said the agency could neither confirm nor deny that Lunik III was carrying a camera. There has been nothing in the Soviet press to the effect that a camera is aboard the rocket. However, a spokesman for the

No Satire Necessary

The large advertisement in yesterday's Spartan Daily satirically urging engineers, mathematicians and scientists to enter the field of technological warfare was in poor taste.

And it was bad satire to boot.

The ad was paid for by Allen Carrico, associated with the Acts for Peace movement, who passed the hat among his friends and came up with the $15.52 necessary.

The general idea was a call to technology students to join GLEE (General Lethal Engineering Enterprises) and specialize in scientific warfare fields.

Fields named were: 1) achieving greater genocidal efficiency per defense dollar, 2) development of a bubonic plague organism, and 3) development of miniature bombs to use on children.

Carrico said the same ad originally ran in the Columbia University student newspaper and later was reprinted in "Peace News," international pacifist publication printed in London.

Carrico said the satire of the ad is directed against scientists who are opposed to destructive technology, but contribute their efforts to it anyway. Carrico calls this "repression of conscience."

The definition of satire is: ridicule of a wrong for the purpose of correcting it.

But we doubt that any research is being conducted that would remotely come under the classification of scientific warfare of the kind hinted at in that ad.

If you're tired of rock-n-roll, popular music, and other rubbish now cluttering the airways and passing for music, may we suggest a thrilling change? Hie you to the music division of the Library's Humanities Reading Room.

Then check out record L1884, Mendelssohn's Concerto in E minor, Op. 64. The record features Fritz Kreisler, violinist, with the London Philharmonic Orchestra. The concerto is esteemed "among the two or three most popular works in this form ever written."

The opening is breath-taking. Fritz Kreisler masterfully performs the brilliant passage work. The impassioned violin melody soars and falls.

If you're any music lover at all, you'll move the needle back and listen to the inspired first movement several times, awed by its beauty.

Mendelssohn's romantic tenderness and gentle melancholy are so well expressed in the concerto that the English composer Sterndale Bennett once remarked to him: "There seems to be something essentially and exquisitely feminine about it, just as in the Beethoven concerto there is something essentially and heroically masculine. He has made the Adam of concertos, and you have mated it with the Eve."

While composing the concerto, Mendelssohn said the beginning "gives me no peace." We believe that you, too, will not be able to get it out of your memory. Its haunting beauty will linger with you and make your day more enjoyable.

Goldsmith Play Cast Announced

Rehearsals for "She Stoops to Conquer" are in their second week following announcement of the cast.

The Oliver Goldsmith comedy will be produced Oct. 16, 17, 21, 22, 23 and 24 and is being directed by Dr. Jack Neeson, assistant professor of drama.

The cast includes Gene McCabe, Judy Blaisdell, Bennie Shelton, Carolyn Reed, Carole Warren, Richard Rossume, Richard Parks, Robert Sherman, Paul Bucalstein, William Barkow, Dan Zanvetto, Charles Latona, Gary Hamner, Susan Evers, Marilyn Henry, James Broda and Cheryl Del Baggio.

"She Stoops to Conquer" is a satirization of the sentimental comedies of the 18th century. The story concerns two sets of prospective mates who get caught in a romance of mistaken identity.

'Fantastic' Animal Of Brass Shown In Art Exhibit

A fantastic animal of brass, a work of sculpture by Art Instructor Jack D. Hoag, is one of the most interesting entries at the art exhibit of the SJS Art Department faculty.

The art exhibit, first for the new Art Building, opened today at 8 a.m. in AB121. It will continue until Oct. 16.

Drawings, prints, textiles, pieces of sculpture, and 40 paintings are among the exhibits.

Hours of the gallery are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. The exhibit is free and open to the public.

Future in Shaky Hands

Well, it's all over. The dust and uproar have cleared away. The press may relax. Nikita Khrushchev has left our shores to radiate and glower in other climes.

While he was here, Americans had the opportunity to get quite a few impressions of Mr. K's many-sided personality.

The impression of one person, Mr. Alexander Bodi, editor of the Palo Alto Times, has been well expressed. Commenting on Khrushchev's televised ad libs about the mayor of Los Angeles, Mr. Bodi said, "Perhaps he had a right to resent Poulson's barbs, but was this a world figure, the head of a powerful state, this little man holding a hurt ego up for all the world to see?"

Everyone realizes, however, that Khrushchev is no little man. He is a powerful dictator who could plunge the world into war because of a fancied slight.

As Khrushchev ended his Sheraton-Palace speech many Americans must have shared Mr. Bodi's sentiment: "My God, to think that the fate of civilization rests in the hands of a man like this."

We Live in a Republic Or in a Democracy?

EDITOR: I am concerned with JoAnn Karavos' open letter to B. G. Aronstam. Being a woman she missed his point completely, but be that as it may.

Trojans Dominate AAWU Statistics

SAN FRANCISCO—USC's fleet of runners took over the rushing corner of Big Five statistics this week just as Stanford has dominated the throwing and catching departments during the 1959 season.

The Trojans placed five of their backs among the seven top rushers in the AAWU this week and one, sophomore Lynn Gaskill, was the individual leader.

Gaskill, who is the third rusher to lead in this category in as many weeks, has carried only nine times in three games, but he has netted 126 yards to lead teammate Jim Conroy by a single yard.

Stanford's passing dominance was unchanged with Dick Norman still far ahead of any thrower and end Chris Burford leading three teammates in the catching department.

Norman also continued to lead in total offense, although there was considerable juggling behind him with Bob Schloredt of Washington and Bill Klimer of UCLA moving into the second and third places.

Washington's George Fleming, though carrying the ball only twice against Utah, still scored 10 points to hike his Big Five-leading total to 30. Jim Maples of USC and Cal's Grover Garvin also held their edge, Maples with three pass interceptions for 91 yards and Garvin with five punt returns for 116 yards.

The Trojans, with three straight victories, the last two by the shut-out rout, are leading all five of the universities in five of the six major team statistical categories.

The first team to mass more than 1000 yards this season, USC is on top in total offense, rushing offense and all three defensive departments, rushing, passing and total.

Stanford was the only team able to break the Trojans' statistical monopoly as the Indians continued to rank first in passing. USC ranks fourth in this department.

Ducks' Unbeaten String Spartan Aim on Friday

By GREGORY H. BROWN
Sports Editor

Len Casanova brings his rock-ribbed Oregon Ducks to Spartan Stadium Friday night in an attempt to extend a three game undefeated streak.

Oregon slipped by Washington State University last week 14-6, holding the Cougars at one time on a series of downs at the one yard line, giving evidence of their stubbornness up the middle.

The Spartans, fresh off a 44-14 revenge victory over the Hawaii Rainbows, will face their stiffest test of the season. Oregon is ranked 20th in the nation and its quarterback, Dave Grosz, is among the leaders in passing.

Casanova has a raft of experienced backs that have speed to burn. Willie West, all-coast last year, and Dave Powell the hard smashing fullback are the chief running threats in the Duck backfield. Dick Grayson, the other Oregon back, outshines both of the speedsters in the pass-defense department. "I think we can pass against them, however," states Coach Marty Feldman.

The Spartans rolled up 249 yards passing last week and will have to do every bit as well against the dangerous Ducks.

Emmett Lee, who hit 11 of 16 passes for 179 yards will open at quarterback in Friday night's game. Lee's experience and fine right arm earns him the starting nod over Ray Podesto, the fine sophomore quarterback who started the Hawaii game.

Kent Rockholt is still a doubtful starter and if the little "Rock of Gibraltar" cannot start, the punting chores will shift to either Oneal Cuterry or Joe Paris. Against a good defensive team like Oregon, the loss of the Spartan punter could be a very important factor.

Rockholt contracted a blood infection last week and Coach Bob Titchel probably will wait until the last minute before ruling Rockholt out as a starter.

Chuck Yeyna's success at toeing the football through the cross-bar on the point after tries was another sparkling offensive performance by the Spartans last week. "We'll always go for that one point if we score first," Feldman said. "This way it forces the opposing team to go for two."

The Spartans will try and match

Passing Crown For Spartans?

Making a strong bid to gain the national passing crown, San Jose State's football team has amassed a total of 544 yards in three games this season. This is an average of 181 yards per contest.

Emmett Lee is again leading the Spartan quarterbacks with 25 completions in 44 attempts. He has an aggregate of 393 yards and five touchdowns. Lee is also one of the tops in the nation in the yards per pass race as his total is 15.7 per completion.

Oneal Cuterry is in the midst of his greatest year in college. He owns a 5.2 yards per carry rushing record and a total of eight receptions for 198 yards. Mr. "five by five" has carried the ball 27 times this season while picking up 143 net yards.

Although only carrying the ball eight times, Mac Burton, the number two running back has picked up 70 yards for a fat 9.9 average.

Following Cuterry in the number of receptions is Clairion Applecorn, big left end who turns in a steady performance every game. "Apples" has six receptions for 59 yards and Burton is following close with five catches for 41 yards.

Donovan's Relief Job Gives Sox Chance, 1-0

Dick Donovan's clutch relief pitching carried the Chicago White Sox to a pressure packed 1-0 win over the Los Angeles Dodgers yesterday in Memorial Coliseum before another record crowd of 92,706.

The win in this "must" game for the Sox kept the series alive along with their hopes of winning it as the series now stands three games to two in favor of the Dodgers.

The teams move back to Chicago for the sixth game tomorrow.

Donovan was the hero today, as with the bases full and only one out in the eighth, he was called in from the bullpen to protect Bob Shaw's one run lead and promptly got Carl Furillo on an infield fly and Don Zimmer on a routine fly to left.

He set the Dodgers down in order in the ninth, getting Sherry, Gilliam and Neal to ground out to make the Sox one run lead stand up for the victory.

The Sox scored their lone run in the fourth on a single by Nellie Fox, another single by Landis on the hit and run, with Fox moving to third, and Sherm Lollar's double play ground ball.

From then to the end of the game, the Sox hung on for dear life, as the Dodgers stranded 11 men and had scoring opportunities galore but Shaw always rose to the occasion in the clutch until yielding to Donovan in the tense eighth inning.

Ray Norton Top Cinderman

Ray Norton, the "world's fastest human" has been named the nation's top amateur track star for the year by the AAU, at the Friday Forum Luncheon of the greater San Jose Chamber of Commerce, held in the De Anza Hotel.

He was given the Charles L. Diegas Award, emblematic of his feats.

A PROBLEM IN LOCATION; or, GROWLER THE PATHFINDER

Growler: I'm hungry!
That animal stimulation again.
Max: I have to study.
A conflicting desire.
Growler: But I'm hungry.
Growler can't understand conflicting desires, but Growler can't understand a lot of things. He is not what one would call a perceptive person.
Max: Why don't you go down to LARKS alone?
Solution.
Growler: (tears coming to his eyes) But I don't know how to get there.
Problem again.
Max: You go down there every day!
Growler: But you always go with me.
Growler does not seem to have a very good sense of direction.
Max: I'll tell you how to get there.
Solution again.
Growler: (smile)
Animal expression of emotion.
Max: Just walk down fifth street a block, across Santa Clara Street, and turn left (that's toward town), then just walk a couple of doors down till you see the sign LARKS.
Max seems to know his way around.
Growler: (smile)
Growler lopes off happily to lunch.
Growler seems to have found his way to LARKS alright, but it took him three days to get back to campus. The supernatural native instinct, ingrained in Growler, always gets him back.
MORAL: Take a compass if you're like Growler; just follow Max's directions if you're like him.

Players May Miss Money Record; Big Cut to Runners-up

Payoff to the winning team in the World Series may not be a record after all, according to figures released after the first four games.

The players share in only the first four contests and receipts for these games total $892,365, about $11,000 more than the total for the Giants-Cleveland series in 1954. But with 30 per cent of the total pool going to the second, third and fourth place clubs, $535,419 is to be split between the Dodgers and White Sox.

If the two teams split their money into 35 full shares, the normal number, the winning team shares would amount to $10,708, less than the $11,147 the Giants received for beating Cleveland in 1954, but the losing team would top the previous high which the Dodgers received in the 1956 series against the Yankees. That figure was $6934. This year the players on the losing club will receive over $7000 each.

Maze of Electronics Keeps Students on Time

By MELVA VOLLERSEN

The clocks in the SJS buildings may look like ordinary clocks, but they are part of a maze of electronics that keep classes running on schedule.

The bell ringer is Victor Jansen, chief engineer of buildings and grounds. Jansen can ring the bell by pushing a button, but the bells are set to ring automatically by an IBM signal.

The clocks usually tell the correct time, according to Jansen. Individual clocks are corrected to the minute every hour and to the hour every 12 hours by a master clock in Jansen's office.

The correction is a high frequency signal sent out over electric wires. The frequency is as high as a musical scale and lasts for eight seconds for the minute correction and 12 seconds for the hour correction.

Jansen keeps the master clock correct by checking with radio station WWV in Washington, D.C. A special radio is required to listen to the station, which gives the correct time every five minutes.

If the electricity goes off, the master clock keeps running by switching to a spring system.

The first class bell rings at 7:30 a.m. and the last bell of the day is at 5:20 p.m. The bell rings twice an hour for academic classes and three times for non-academic.

Besides ringing bells, the clocks can be used to control utility systems. A generator gives the signals for the time corrections and bells. Another frequency is used for utility purposes, Jansen said.

The IBM system of clocks was installed in 1957 and has been the timekeeper of SJS students since then.

Mail Piles Up in SU

Mail is piling up for organizations and individual students in the Student Union.

Much of the mail has been there in boxes for "over a week," according to Dorothy King, student union secretary.

All items not claimed are returned to the sender after having been held for 15 days, she said.

Credentials Issued CSTA Meets, Eats Today

San Jose State topped 37 California colleges and universities in issuing teaching credentials this spring.

A report released by the California Department of Education shows that SJS issued 467 credentials. This figure is 13 per cent of the 3581 credentials issued throughout the state between April 1 and June 30.

In a breakdown of the SJS figure, general elementary with 240 credentials issued was the leader among the various categories. There were also 88 special secondary and 60 kindergarten-primary credentials given.

San Francisco State ranked second with 428.

California Student Teachers Association members and future members will have a wiener roast at 5:30 p.m. today at the barbecue pits by the Women's Gym.

The informal meeting will be a get-acquainted session with CSTA officers for the year. Vivian Hill, president said. Cost will be 35 cents per person.

Still young and beautiful at age 75!

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE ... But America's most famous lady does it!

No Paris design of '59 is more lovely than this ageless beauty, a gift from France 75 years ago. Miss Liberty has welcomed millions to these shores with the words, "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free... I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE ... But L&M does it!

A cigarette that's Low in tar with More taste to it!

When you're in New York, be sure to make the trip over to see Miss Liberty. And wherever you are right now, enjoy the cigarette that's kindest to your taste. That's L&M: Low in tar, with more taste to it. No wonder more Americans switch to L&M every day! Live Modern... switch to L&M!

Live Modern with L&M KINDEST TO YOUR TASTE!
