Army Talk Off-Controversial

Plans for a debate today matching an SJS conscientious objector, Dale Berry, against an Army recruiting sergeant have been squelched by Army authority because the topic was "too controversial," according to the recruiting officer, M. Sgt. William J. Hollis.

Sgt. Hollis, of the San Jose Army recruiting station, was scheduled to participate this afternoon in a verbal clash with Berry, a sophomore psychology major, on the subject: "Should One Fight for His Country?"

Sgt. Hollis was to have taken the affirmative view; Berry, the negative.

Said Sgt. Hollis, "I would have been more than happy to give a talk, but my superiors at the Oak and main station thought the topic might have an unfavorable religious aspect.

"The Army shies away from COs (conscientious objectors)," Sgt. Hollis said.

In place of the debate, Gavel and Rostrum, the public speaking club sponsoring the proposed discussion, have scheduled Berry to present his views on the subject.

Berry's talk will be held today at 3:30 p.m. in SD115. The audience will have an opportunity to direct questions at Berry after his talk.

Santa Cruz Crash Kills SJS Student

A 21-year-old senior became the third SJS student to die in a traffic accident since the opening of the fall semester when his tiny sports car tore into a bridge abutment in Santa Cruz early last Saturday morning.

The victim, John Fletcher Drake, a business and industrial management major, was killed instantly when his car failed to make the treacherous "Fishhook Curve" at Highway 1 intersection with Highway 17, smashed into the abutment, and burst into flames.

Paul William Eckhardt, 22, a student at San Jose City College, a passenger in Drake's car, was also killed in the crash.

Highway patrolmen said Drake's sports car was going nearly 120 m.p.h. when it hit the abutment.

Both bodies will lie in state at Howard Wyant Mortuary, 174 N. Sunnyvale Ave., Sunnyvale, until noon today.

A private rosary ceremony for Drake will be conducted at Spangler Mortuary in Los Altos tonight and final services will take place Wednesday morning.

Drake came to SJS in fall of 1957. He previously attended San Jose City College and the University of California.

Drake is survived by his father, Floyd; a sister, Jerry; and a brother, George.

'American' To Be Topic Of Professor

Mrs. Lois T. Henderson, associate professor of English and director of the college writing clinic, will use "... purely personal impressions and reactions ..." in her lecture this morning on "The American-Ugly, Beautiful, Quiet, Loud—or Otherwise" at 11:30 in the College Theater, Speech and Drama Building.

Having recently returned from teaching in the University of Mandalay in Burma, Mrs. Henderson will relate to the audience impressions of her encounters with American tourists, businessmen, entertainers, religious persons, government officials and academic people in Burma.

Before arriving in Burma the lecturer-traveler met an intelligence and military man who had spent some 30 years on various missions to the Orient. He warned, "We should never forget that we are representing Uncle Sam every day."

With this warning in mind, Mrs. Henderson made a project out of trying to squelch the American tendency to make unfavorable comparisons of certain places in Burma with places in America and of trying to reduce the reforming zeal that Americans have to change the established pattern to match American modes. She noticed also that Americans have a tendency to humiliate others.

With her general observations and projects as a foundation for this morning's lecture, Mrs. Henderson hopes "to give an unflattering picture of Americans corresponding to an unfavorable article in the Spartan Daily last year against the Burmese."

Dr. Olds is pastor of the First Congregational Church of Campbell.

Mrs. Henderson will be introduced by Dr. Leo Kibby, chairman of the social science area.

The crowning moment of the contest will be at the Coronation Ball, Friday night, at Exposition Hall when Bob Wright, Homecoming committee chairman, announces the 1959 Queen.

Bids for the ball are available at a booth in the Outer Quad and at the Student Affairs Business Office, TH16.

Bill Nelson, social affairs committee chairman, said students would also be admitted to the dance with student body cards.

The dance is from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with music by Herb Miller's band. Attire for the ball will be formal with dark suits accepted for men.

Further Homecoming activities announced by the Homecoming committee include a Homecoming breakfast sponsored by the Spartan Y.

SPARTAN Y BREAKFAST
The Spartan Y will sponsor its second waffle and pancake breakfast from 8 to 10 a.m., Saturday, Nov. 7, in the Cafeteria. Cost of the chuckwagon breakfast is 60 cents per person or 50 cents in groups of 10 or more.

Tickets for the breakfast are on sale at the Y, 205 S. Ninth St., or at the Student Activities Business Office, TH16. Proceeds of the breakfast are to help pay expenses for delegates to the regional conference of the Y.

ISO, Y, Plan Spook Party
The International Students Organization and the Spartan Y will sponsor a masquerade Halloween party Saturday, Oct. 31, from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. in WG22.

"All members of I.S.O., and Spartan Y are invited," stated Mohammed Tabibi, I.S.O. president. "Costumes are required and admission will be 35 cents for members and 50 cents for non-members."

Tickets may be purchased from any I.S.O. or Spartan Y officer. Refreshments will be served and there will be recorded music for dancing.

Dedicated Student Veep Likes Grandpa's Full Life

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of articles introducing the ASB officers to the student body. The series will continue each Tuesday.

By PETER R. WALLS

"I think my favorite person is my grandfather," Guy Gleason said as he leaned back in the chair behind his desk. "He's traveled to Alaska and back, attained his goals and now he feels his life is complete. I've thought of going to Alaska myself to teach."

Gleason, ASB vice president, one of the six SPUR candidates in last spring's ASB elections, now serves as second in command to student body Pres. Rich Hill at each Wednesday's Student Council meeting.

He is chairman of the Student Activities Board whose job it is to coordinate all social events into a calendar of events. He has been president of Spartan Shields, and in student government since the fifth grade.

"Rich first came to me last spring and asked me what I thought of student government here. I told him I was all set to quit trying to help student government because nobody here seemed to appreciate it.

"He explained what he had in mind — improve and expand the council, break up cliques in government, balance government with Greeks and Independents — and with that in mind, we set out."

The result was SPUR, and a successful campaign.

Gleason is an independent although he rushed—twice. "Oh, I enjoyed rushing, but when it comes right down to it, I guess I'm just not fraternity material."

Gleason said he takes a razzing from the council because he's a physical education major. "Up un-

Professor's Son Dies

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today for the 16-year-old son of Dr. Frederick W. Schneider, assistant professor of education.

Dr. Schneider's only son spent his last two years of school at Edwin Markham Junior High. He attended Willow Glen High, where his mother teaches typing, for one day this year as a sophomore.

Last December, at a special Court of Honor, he received his Eagle Scout award.

The Schneiders came to San Jose from Missouri more than two years ago.

Funeral services will be at Oak Hill Mortuary's Chapel of Roses.

Glorified City Parking Lot?

The need for clarification of one of the city's oldest ordinances is apparent.

Many students have been cited recently for violation of 3312.7 of the San Jose Municipal code, which prohibits night parking on the streets between the hours of 1-6 a.m. without a special permit.

This restriction originally was intended to discourage the parking of vehicles between these hours due to the inability of the sanitation department to perform its weekly function of cleaning the streets.

Students have complained of the "injustice" of such a restriction. The argument would seem to be based on reasonable grounds.

Students are immune from this ordinance if they obtain a night parking permit, costing $1.

This means that they are still cluttering up the street but the city's treasury is $1 richer. The Public Works Dept. claims that the problem of cars parked on the streets at night is worse than ever; the city still issues permits.

A special committee of the City Council was appointed last year to study this problem (Oct. 20, 1958), with the investigation still pending. —G.H.B.

Brown's 'Gag' Rule

Governor Brown has declared that all news releases from state departments carrying policy implications must be channeled through his office. He denies that this is a "gag" rule.

Governor, it is a gag rule.

Any time department heads must have their news releases okayed by the boss, they're going to be mighty careful they don't offend him.

When a small group is made responsible for news releases (in this case, Gov. Brown and his press secretaries), it sets the criteria for what should and should not be released. This should be left with the department heads and newsmen.

Worse, if a responsible state official does conclude that the Governor is making a mistake and the people ought to know about it, his views can be squelched with the new ruling.

Governor Brown said his intent was to make more news available, not less, and there is no doubt he is sincere.

Regardless of intentions, the action would suppress news sources and should be reconsidered. —J.H.A.

Both groups will present early vocal and brass music at this morning's class meeting, 11:30, in Concert Hall.

Frederick Loadwick, assistant professor of music, will be featured soloist Thursday when cantata and oratorio music will be performed by a faculty group.

Warren W. Faus, associate professor of art, will present a series of 14 lectures to the Art History Club of San Jose during the club's 1959-1960 season.

The series, "The Arts of Asia," will be a survey of the major art developments in India, China and Japan.

Robert R. Coleman, associate professor of art, will be a juror for the Sunnyvale Art Association's community exhibit which opened Saturday.

Newest of the Peninsula espresso coffee houses will be in Kepler's Book Store, 825 El Camino Real, Menlo Park.

Owner Roy Kepler said he expects work to be completed soon on the concession. Coffees, small sandwiches and pastries will be served.

The store offers a fascinating assortment of art prints, foreign and domestic magazines and newspapers, and "every paperback that's in print."

will continue through Nov. 1. It is free and open to the public from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 12:30 to 9 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The spectacular color film, "Ancient Athens," will be shown by the Humanities Club Thursday night at 7:30 in Concert Hall as part of a membership campaign. Free coffee will be served. The event is open to the public.

Dr. Margery Bailey, professor emerita of Stanford University, will present a dramatic reading from the works of Charles Dickens tomorrow night at 8 in the Palo Alto High School Auditorium. Proceeds will benefit the NAACP.

Tickets, $1.10 each, are on sale at Peninsula Box Office, Davenport 2-2122.

Dr. Bailey presented a similar program at SJS two years ago. She feels that Dickens can be properly appreciated only when read aloud.

A display of mosaics goes on exhibit today in library show-cases near the Reserve Book Room. The mosaics are the work of students in Art 123 craft classes taught by Miss Anna Ballarian, assistant professor of art. The exhibit will end next week.

j. nachman Food for thought

I READ somewhere recently that eating takes up nearly one-eighth of our lives. On my slide rule this figures out to be just a little less than nine years. (I note the writer of the article was acting like such a big shot that he completely failed to break down the nine years for us.)

Strictly from my own point of view I'd be interested in knowing how many months of those nine years are devoted to raisin bread. I like raisin bread and began giving some thought as to how it will be distributed. Also, mister writer, how many weeks have I frittered away on bananas? Do I have much time left to spend on iced tea? I imagine my hamburger quota is just about up.

There is a lot more to eating than meets the eye (unless it happens to be grapefruit) and one of the most common eating problems deals with what I have termed, "Pacing." I will explain "Pacing" after these three dots.

IT IS one thing to eat a meal and quite another to eat a meal and make everything come out even. A very close friend of mine was reduced to tears not long ago, when he failed to coordinate his mashed potatoes and mixed vegetables so that they both were disposed of at the same instant.

Large meals, for some reason, are not nearly so hard to coordinate as the smaller ones. I think we all probably recognize the dilemma of discovering you are only half way through a ham sandwich with a Coca-Cola only one swallow from completion.

Some food is harder to control than others. A problem we might throw at Amy Vanderbilt would be to ask how she would suggest one lift a piece of roast beef from one's shoe top, as if you are straightening your cuff?

Don't worry about health, Amy. That shoe is as clean as the day it was bought. Then, by gliding the hand quickly across the chin, the piece of meat can be deposited easily into the mouth with no one the wiser. Slek?

You'll note the best pieces of meat at a meal are those that slide off the fork just when you're getting cocky.

EATING AND getting your two cents in is one more problem the writer failed to take up. One solution is to balance the food on the fork, like some people do for hours and carry on a lively conversation. (A lady in Des Moines holds the record for a spoonful of tapioca held for two hours and 27 minutes during a discussion of the civil liberties bill.)

Some smaller difficulties that should simply be mentioned include: which should get the last scrap of butter—the French bread or the baked potato? How can a speck of splattered gravy best be removed from an area just out of reach of the tongue, slightly to the left of the nose? How long is it proper to chew a piece of gristle before declaring a tie? And how can you extract a bone without making it look like you are trying to smuggle a diamond through customs?

I think these are the problems the writer should be concerned with. In fact I would wager most of the nine years spent eating was in waiting for the soup to cool.

EXTRA POINTS

By GREGORY H. BROWN

Ancient Archie's secret is out! No... it's not his age to which I refer to, but recently the grandpa of the ring wars revealed the secret to his amazing durability and stamina.

Moore is acclaimed by many to be the most remarkable figure in the world of boxing. The aging veteran of 42 going on 50, knocks out with gusto men half his age and uses somewhat strange methods to condition himself for his fights.

Archie has developed his powerful shoulder muscles simply by walking on his hands. At times he has traveled two blocks in this fashion. He fights the weight problem by a special liquid concoction of fruit and vegetable juice each morning.

On a normal day at home, even when he isn't belting sparring partners or training for an upcoming fight, Archie is up at 5 a.m., cooks breakfast, sprints outdoors, and chops wood.

To keep his muscles loose, he rubs a milky fluid called "Emu Bird Oil" into his skin. Archie claims he gets this fluid from Australia along with a secret diet which enables him to lose 21 pounds in seven weeks without losing strength. (Listening girls?)

"It was during my trip in 1940," Archie says. I was doing road work when I came across an aborigine throwing boomerangs. He was intrigued by the heavy clothes I wore to lose weight and he told me he knew a better way. I swapped him a red sweater for it. It's been one of my most valuable secrets ever since."

Shades of R. C. Owens! Oscar Donahue and Ray Podesto displayed on the most artful pass-catch combinations seen at Spartan Stadium for some time. Donahue's fingertip catch with a Sun Devil Defender right on his back will long be remembered by avid Spartan fans.

Apparently the Fresno State Bulldogs were none the worse for the licking they were given by the Spartans two weeks ago. They rolled over Cal Poly 28-13 at San Luis Obispo last weekend with speedster Nick Masich going 73 yards on a pass-run play.

Only one top 10 team suffered defeat last week and that was at the hands of another top grid squad. Mississippi knocked Arkansas out of the elite with a 28-0 drubbing. In other games LSU beat Florida, 9-0; Northwestern topped Notre Dame, 30-24; Texas walloped Rice, 28-6; Southern California edged Stanford, 30-28; Syracuse shattered West Virginia, 44-0; Auburn dumped Miami, 21-6; Penn State whipped Illinois, 20-9; and Georgia Tech beat Tulane, 21-13.

Best Defensively—Offense Sharp—Titch

By DANNY MATLOW

"We played our best defensive game of the year and our offense played up to par," said jubilant SJS head football Coach Bob Titchenal following the Spartans upset victory over the Arizona State Sun Devils Saturday night.

In analyzing the game, Titch was pleased with the work done by both quarterbacks and the way Oscar Donahue grabbed two crucial passes for valuable yardage and eventual Spartan scores.

Ray Podesto and Emmett Lee hooked up for a total of 14 completions and 216 yards to further advance their NCAA standing. The Spartans now have averaged 201 yards per game through the air.

The first half was the best half of football that the gridirers have played all year. They contained the much lauded running of Nolan Jones and the rest of the fleet Sun Devil backs. The constant pressure applied by linebackers Herb Yamasaki and Roy Harrah was a vital factor in the lack of yardage accomplished by Arizona State.

The third quarter saw the Spartan defense collapse and the Devils piled up 15 points, mainly on the passing of Fran Urban and the running of Ray Young.

When the Arizona State backs carried the ball they looked much like the Oregon Webfoots of month ago. This occurred only in the third quarter as the Spartan line regained their composure to halt any further scoring threats.

The Spartans have stopped two lengthy win streaks in a row by the Sun Devils. Last year, the Golden Raiders won 21-20 to stop a nine game win streak and last Saturday's 24-15 victory was the first loss the boys from Arizona had suffered since last year's beating at the hands of the Spartans.

Coach Feldman was very happy over the way the line played. "It was the most aggressive game of the year for the line. They will have to be better to solve the winning formula against Stanford," Coach Feldman reported.

The pass defense will be a vital cog in Saturday's skirmish on the Farm. Dick Norman leads the nation in total offense and the Spartans will be out for the valuable Indian's scalp come Saturday. Coach Titchenal plans to employ the same type of pass defense used against the Sun Devils.

Pres. John T. Wahliquist paid a visit to the Spartan dressing room to congratulate the team and Coach Titchenal.

Mustangs Smother SJS Frosh, 40-13

San Jose State's frosh football team lost its third game of the season Friday to Cal Poly, 40-13, at San Luis Obispo.

The score was tied 13-13 with six minutes to play in the game when, as coach Harry Anderson said, "The roof fell in." Cal Poly proceeded to score four times and turn the close game into a rout. The outstanding Spartababe scoring play came on a 60 yard pass from Dave Bonillas to George McFarland.

'More Spirit' Says Bricker

Pete Bricker, whose impromptu impersonation of Ferdinand the Bull during halftime at the Arizona football game Saturday night, may hear a review today by Dean Stanley Benz of just how funny his act was.

Bricker, who said his purpose was "to add to the band, not detract from it," ran out of the stands while the marching band was playing "Lady of Spain" and with head lowered, elbows akimbo, pranced about on the field, bull style.

"I wanted to show the Arizona State fans that San Jose had spirit," explained Bricker.

He was deprived of viewing the second half of the game after a 40-yard chase across the field by SJS student police. Following behind Keystone Kop-style, they nabbed Bricker after he tripped.

Bricker said last night: "I got a warm response and everything was clean. Everyone thought it was part of the act and the lack of police action until the end bears this out."

Kickers Drop Another, 3-2

Coach Julie Menendez' Spartan soccer team lost another squeaker Saturday to the league leading California Bears at Berkeley, 3-2. The contest was tied 2-2 in the last quarter of the game when the Bears scored the deciding goal.

Menendez said that Bob Myers, Abdul Mashal and Gary Foss all played well for the Spartans with goalie Foss "playing outstanding ball."

The Spartans take their 2-2 conference mark into play against San Francisco State here next Saturday at 11 a.m.

San Jose State's cross country team failed in their bid for the first victory of the year when they were trounced by the California Bears 23-34.

Charley Clark was the first man home for the Spartan harriers as he ran the four mile course in 20 minutes and 10 seconds.

Allen Gaylord won the event for the Bears with a 19 minute 48 second effort.

Frank Wulfange was the second Spartan home followed by Pat Sheridan.

Gaters Upset State, 13-11, In Polo Tilt

It was upset time in the city last Friday as the host San Francisco State Gators defeated the Spartan water polo team by a score of 13-11. The victory was the first time in history that the Gators have beaten a Spartan team in water polo.

In an earlier game this season, the SJS tankers rolled over the Gators, 23-11. The lads from Sparta were down for Friday's game and the loss of center-forward Lonnie Christensen didn't help matters at all.

Roger Scaife and Mike Bozzo did all the scoring for SJS, Scaife with six goals and Bozzo with five. Both men fouled out early in the fourth quarter and the Spartan scoring came to a standstill.

Coach Roger McCandless said the team played well but the guards are not taking enough shots. "They are accentuating the teamwork and not taking enough individual shots to balance the defense. With only Bozzo and Scaife doing the scoring, the defense can concentrate their moves," commented the rookie coach.

The Spartans lacked the crucial goals in the fourth period or they could have defeated the vastly improved San Francisco Staters.

This week, the local tankers have three games in a row. They will play host to the COP tigers on Wednesday, Los Angeles State on Thursday and the powerful Athens Club from Oakland Friday night.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Bill Dugan goes over work schedules with Chief Operator Merle Brauch in the Des Moines toll center.

Bill Dugan wanted responsibility. See how he's done in just four years.

When William P. Dugan graduated from State University of Iowa in 1955, he had a degree in business administration, a wife, and a firm resolution to get ahead in business.

Bill went to work with Northwestern Bell Telephone Company at Des Moines. "I wanted to work where I'd find real opportunities for advancement and get the training necessary to take advantage of them," he says. "I couldn't have made a better choice."

Ten months of diversified training taught Bill the "language" of the business and gave him the know-how and self-assurance he needed. He was transferred to the Traffic Department at Cedar Rapids where he gained experience in operating room procedures, force scheduling and training and in supervising operating personnel. He returned to Des Moines and in February, 1959, was promoted to District Traffic Supervisor there.

Today, Bill heads up an organization of ten supervisory people and about 230 telephone operators who handle approximately 42,000 calls each day. He is also responsible for auxiliary services such as Information and the Telephone Company switchboard.

"This is a booming business," says Bill. "There are new problems coming up every day to keep my job interesting and challenging. I don't know where a man can find more genuine opportunities to improve himself."

Bill Dugan found the career he was looking for with a Bell Telephone Company. You might find yours, too. Talk with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus—and read the Bell Telephone booklet on file in your Placement Office.

I have noticed that the solid, conservative type carries his cigarette between his first two fingers. The nonconformist carries it locked in the bend of his arm. The self-conscious type holds his lighted cigarette in his pocket. The most intelligent species of all carry Lucky Strike (usually between their lips).
