The Tjader quintet specializes in Latin sounds as well as straight modern jazz. Featured with the group is Afro-Cuban drummer Mongo Santamaria.

More than 100 members of the class of 1935 will attend their reunion luncheon in rooms A and B of the cafeteria. Following the luncheon, the class will dedicate a plaque in honor of Dr. DeVoss at the College Chapel.

Special reunions for the classes of 1959, 1955 and 1950 will be held at noon by the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Journalism grads will hold their reunion dinner Saturday night at the Red Barn restaurant in San Jose, beginning a 6 p.m. Festivities include the second performance of the original play by Gerald Nachman, "The Day the Sat-On Daily Didn't Come Out."

Tours of the campus will be conducted throughout Saturday by members of Spartan Shields.

of the Founders' Day ceremonies after Gov. Nelson's talk, according to Dean Joe West, Founders' Day chairman.

"The Great Challenge: Education," will be Gov. Nelson's topic. Before his speech, an honorary master of arts degree will be conferred upon him by SJS Pres. John T. Wahlquist.

This will be Gov. Nelson's first visit to the campus since he graduated nearly 21 years ago with distinction, and with a B.A. degree in social science.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The ceremonies officially will begin with a procession in full academic regalia from the Administration building at 10:20 a.m.

The procession will include Dr. T. W. McQuarrie, ex-president of the college; Bruce F. Allen, state assemblyman from the 29th congressional district; Clark L. Bradley, state assemblyman from the 28th congressional district; John F. Thompson, state senator from the 18th senatorial district; L. D. Bohnett, chairman of the SJS advisory board; and Rich Hill, student body president.

As the procession enters the Inner Quad, the ROTC color guard will present colors and the audience will sing "The Star Spangled Banner."

INVOCATION

The Rev. William M. Perdue, pastor of the Stone Church of Willow Glen, will offer the invocation. The A Cappella Choir, which will be stationed above the dignitaries on the second floor balcony of the quad, will then sing "Ring Out Ye Crystall Spheres." The choir is directed by William J. Erlendson.

President Wahlquist then will make introductions and Governor Brown will speak briefly. Following that will be the conferring of the honorary degree upon Governor Nelson, and the ceremonies will end with his speech.

HONOR LUNCHEON

After the ceremonies, Governor Nelson will be honored at a luncheon in the Spartan cafeteria. Later he and President Wahlquist will attend an Army ROTC review.

In the event of rain, the exercises will be held in Morris Dailey auditorium, according to Dean West. Dean West expects a turnout close to last year's figure of 2500.

State Normal School, which grew into San Jose State College.

The public institution for teacher preparation was moved to its Washington square campus in San Jose in 1871 because San Francisco was a rough-and-tumble city in the 1860's, offering an environment considered unsuited to the preparation of impressionable young ladies and gentlemen for the teaching profession.

Since SJS' humble beginning, the school has expanded to the largest state college in California. SJS now houses more than 14,000 students and employs more than 700 instructors.

1939 Graduate To Return As Wisconsin Governor

Gaylord A. Nelson, who was "kind of a quiet person" while at San Jose State nearly 21 years ago, will return to SJS tomorrow as the governor of Wisconsin.

Governor Nelson, a graduate of SJS in 1939, will be featured speaker at the second annual Founders' Day festivities which mark the establishment of the California State Normal School in 1862.

The governor—described as "a relatively quiet student who plugged away at his studies" by William H. Poytress, professor of economics — was graduated with distinction and a B.A. degree in social science.

Topic of Governor Nelson's speech is "The Great Challenge: Education." The Wisconsin governor will speak during ceremonies which begin at 10:20 a.m. in the Inner Quad. All classes will be dismissed for the program at 10:10.

LAW DEGREE IN 1942

Following graduation from SJS, Governor Nelson returned to his native state Wisconsin where he enrolled in the University of Wisconsin law school. He was graduated from there in 1942.

The Democratic governor participated in the Okinawa campaign while serving in the army for 46 months.

In 1946, Governor Nelson began law practice in Madison, Wis., and two years later was elected state senator from Dane county, Wis. He was re-elected to the state senate in 1952 and 1956 and was the Democratic leader there for eight years.

BREAKS SOLID GOP

Last year the former SJS student was elected governor of Wisconsin, the first Democrat to hold that office for 32 years.

Governor Nelson is a member of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars and was first chairman on the Madison (Wis.) Council on Human Rights.

TASC, SPUR Only Parties To Register

TASC and SPUR were the only two political parties to register by Friday's 5 p.m. deadline.

Each party was required to submit the name, purpose, and list of 25 members to the Activities office and Student Council.

A campus political party as defined by a council ruling April 20 is "a group of students organized for the purpose of participation in campus politics, and to either run or sponsor candidates for elected or appointed ASE offices."

As a registered political party, the group does not have to submit a constitution, attend Student Activities Board meetings or submit a list of officers. The party will be allowed to distribute two handbills, hold two rallies, and be allowed 40 inches of paid Spartan Daily advertising.

The political group may include campus recognized organizations such as clubs, fraternities, etc., or special groups such as TASC or SPUR.

Candidates need not be members of political parties to run for office. Positions available are president, vice president, treasurer, attorney general, and executive secretary, and four representatives from each class.

Club To Meet

Library committee will meet today in L314 at 1:30 p.m. to discuss next year's library budget. The committee will plan the distribution of money to various departments of the library, according to William H. Poytress, head of the library committee.

Misguided Crusading Often Hoodwinks Innocents

The House Un-American Activities committee has a subcommittee in the area preparing to go to work May 10.

It is unfortunate that occasionally innocent people are on the receiving end of these investigations, and suffer consequences they probably don't deserve.

But the work of the committee is of such an important nature, and has such an impact in many school systems, that the preventive benefits it offers, as well as the actual cleaning up it does, makes it worth the hardships the few innocents suffer. Indeed, these undeserved sufferings should serve as warnings to the less perceptive who get involved in suspicious groups—they should learn from others' mistakes that misguided crusading often has influence behind it that is not a very safe kind of activity to let run loose.

But students and professors and others invariably are hoodwinked by the guile of leaders of such groups. Such activity can happen on this campus, as well as at more politically uncontrolled institutions.

But no one from San Jose State has been subpoenaed to appear at this session of hearings. This is to our credit.

Greeks Supply News Needs With Own Publication

The greeks took one of their most constructive steps Friday when they came out with the first edition of their newspaper—"The Columns," voice of the greeks.

One of the perennial problems of the Spartan Daily has been dealing with the greeks. Greeks usually have felt that the Daily ignores them, and plays down news they consider important. More than once, the Daily has been called a greek-hater—of course without reason.

But this lack of play now will not seem so important to the greeks. They can publicize themselves, as they should, in a newspaper that is greek-oriented—distributed primarily at greek gatherings, and put together by greeks who understand why they are organized as they are.

We hope the newspaper carries on through the year.

Glee Clubs To Present Concert

By JIM JANSSEN

San Jose State's men's glee club will return to the stage in Concert hall Wednesday and Thursday at 8:15 p.m. for their first campus appearance in four years. The occasion is the annual spring choral concert with the women's glee club.

Both the glee clubs were organized in 1955, when it was decided to separate a mixed choral group into the two organizations.

The men's glee club, now with 42 members, was reorganized this year after a brief one-year life. The 65-member women's glee club is in its fifth year. Dr. Gus C. Lease, assistant professor of music, is director for both groups.

"It was decided to combine the two clubs this year," Dr. Lease said, "so that a greater variety of songs could be performed."

The clubs sing light novelty numbers, combining into a 107-voice group, singing choral arrangements patterned after Fred Waring.

Last time SJS had a men's glee club prior to 1955 was during the school year 1929-1930, directed by George T. Matthews, a member of the faculty until his death in 1947.

"The two groups have been enthusiastically received in places they have sung," Dr. Lease said,

"and have invitations to come back next year."

The groups performed earlier this month at Saratoga high school, Santa Rosa junior college, and Sonoma Valley-Union high school.

Dr. Lease was honored for his musical service toward the community by the San Jose Rotary club when the glee clubs performed before the Rotarians last December.

The clubs are also preparing a concert to be presented at the Presidio in San Francisco this month as well as looking forward to doing a musical show next year, Dr. Lease said.

Saves Relay Team 'Whip's' Last Step

With a desperate last-second lunge for the tape in the 440 yard relay Spartan Willie (the Whip) Williams nipped Tom Robinson of Michigan State to keep San Jose State's sprint relay mark unblemished in 1960. The tight finish occurred at the Penn Relays last weekend.

The favored Spartan 440-880 yard relay teams lived up to their advance press clippings by winning the 440 n :41 flat and the 880 in 1:24.5, tying the Penn Relay mark set by Abilene Christian in 1959.

Times of all events were not as fast as possible because the crowd of 45,000 people stamped elusion of Friday's proceedings, the track to death at the con-

Bullet Bob Poynter, Bob Brooks and Williams were in both relays with Jim Flemons replacing Mac Burton in the half mile event.

On Friday, Burton placed third in the broad jump with a leap of 23 feet 11 1/2 inches. Burton was hampered by a completely new hard-surfaced grasstex track and spike trouble caused him to foul on four out of the six qualifying jumps.

Spartan Erroll Williams could only high jump 6 feet 4 inches in an event that saw John Thomas of Boston university set a world mark of 7 feet 1 1/2 inches.

Thomas broke the three-year-old mark of Russia's Yuri Stepanov by one half inch. The sensational sophomore has soared an inch further in indoor competition.

Poynter came back to win the college century in the slow time of :9.9 with Whipper Williams finishing a close third. It is obvious to see that the huge throng thrampled the cinder paths.

Mer Spartan took the measure. To enter the 100 meter dash, a man must have run a world tying mark of :9.3 in the past.

Fraleighmen Top Foothill College

Scoring nine runs in the first six innings of play San Jose State's yearling baseballers held on to nip Foothill college, 9-8, Thursday.

Coach Warren Fraleigh's nine (8-5) returns to action tomorrow against Hartnell college on the Spartan practice diamond at 3 p.m.

The frosh made their nine runs on a combination of seven hits, 15 walks, and six Foothill errors—the biggest damage being done by Steve Chell and Gary Tanaka with two hits apiece.

Only three of Foothill's eight runs were earned, as Tanaka gained the decision in relief.

10th Inning 'Headhunters' Chasing Giants?

By NICK PETERS

SOMEBODY MUST fear the San Francisco Giants!

Although the season is still young and only 15 games have been played, the opposition seems out to "get the Giants," leaving the San Francisco sluggers looking like sitting ducks in recent games.

The opposing pitchers, in particular, appear to be taking dead aim on the Giants, and even Dodger shortstop Maury Wills has joined the "headhunters society" by beaming Orlando Cepeda on a double play attempt.

Granted, it's difficult to distinguish between a "brush-back" attempt and a deliberate aim at the batter's head, but recent incidents involving Giant performers seem to bear out the fact that enemy moundsmen are more than just "brushing-back" the local pros.

CEPEDA, the talented left fielder, has been a victim twice in the early going.

Thursday night he was beamed on the noggin by Wills, who was trying to complete a twin-killing on a grounder ripped by Willie Kirkland to second baseman Charlie Neal.

Neal shoveled the ball to Wills for the force out and then the scrappy Dodger shortstop attempted to nail Kirkland, but his underhand peg grazed Cepeda's temple and the "Baby Bull" had to spend a night in the hospital.

As it turned out, Cepeda's replacement, Felipe Alou, was hitless on the night and the "Baby's Bull's" bat was sorely missed when the Giants had men on base.

In an earlier Dodger-Giant series in Candlestick Park, Cepeda was hit squarely on the head by a high, hard one thrown by Don Drysdale, but escaped injury as the ball bounced off his protective helmet.

Another Drysdale fast ball grazed Willie Mays and if "Dodger Don" doesn't watch out he may find a Louisville Slugger piercing his skull.

WHAT, PERHAPS, may have been the most costly injury was credited to Cardinal Larry Jackson, who struck Jim Davenport on the shoulder with a fast ball to leave the Giant third-sacker out of the line-up for several days.

Ironically, Willie McCovey, who is leading the Giants in homers and RBI has not been threatened by enemy pitchers.

We guess they don't fear his .250 batting average, but apparently he's the best 200 hitter in baseball and his plus-600 slugging percentage speaks for itself.

The Giant management would undoubtedly settle for that .250 average if he continues to drive in runs at his present clip.

Phoenix Mentor New Frosh Coach

Vernon R. Wolfe of Phoenix, Ariz., nationally regarded as America's top high school track coach, today was appointed varsity assistant and freshman track coach at San Jose State College.

Wolfe's appointment, effective September 1, was announced by Dr. John T. Wahlquist, SJS president, who added that Wolfe also will hold the faculty rank of assistant professor in the Men's Physical Education department.

Wolfe, 37, replaces Bert Bonanno, whose two year record as frosh coach is 24 consecutive dual meet victories. Bonanno is completing two years as a teaching assistant and under college policy those so employed are not retained on a permanent basis.

Since he went to North Phoenix high school in 1954, Wolfe has developed some of the nation's greatest prep performers. Pole vaulter Jim Brewer, now at USC, was the first high school athlete ever to vault 14 feet, then 15 feet.

Another current Wolfe-produced great is USC's Dallas Long, who is consistently over 60 feet in the shot put and has an all-time best of 64-6 1/2. Still another fine Wolfe product is discus thrower Karl Johnstone, now in his freshman year at the University of Arizona.

Wolfe, slight and bespectacled, but with a world of coaching energy and talent, lettered as a pole vaulter at USC for three years—1947-49.

QB Jones Injured; Misses Spring Drills

As if Spartan football coach Bob Titchenal didn't have enough problems, he was plagued by still another one as spring grid drills continued this week.

San Jose State's only quarterback with varsity experience, Mike Jones, broke a bone in his left hand Thursday and will be out the remainder of spring practice.

The injury was incurred in a tackling practice session in the fourth day of spring drills.

Wednesday Coach Titchenal received word that veteran fullback Kent Rockholt had decided to pass up his final season of football in favor of studies.

Rockholt was also the booming kicker on the Spartan varsity, capable of getting off long, spiraling punts for the SJS eleven.

Jones led the team with seven touchdown passes in 1957, despite sharing signal-calling duties with Emmett Lee.

In 1959 Jones, who has had his share of bad luck, broke his left thumb in tackling practice following the opening game of the season at Denver university. Titchenal's next QB in line is Chon Gallegos, a transfer from San Jose City college, who only saw 15 minutes of action last season. G.P.

Spartan City Housing Facility Open to All Married Students

Signups for married students planning to live in Spartan City, college married housing facility, will begin today in Adm263, announced Richard Murphy, Spartan City housing manager.

With the decline in the number of veterans at San Jose State, the housing manager's office has decided to open Spartan City to all married students, Mr. Murphy explained.

Those signing up immediately most likely will be assured of housing before the start of the fall semester, Mr. Murphy said. Students are picked on a first-come, first-served basis.

Spartan City, located across from the college football stadium, boasts 100 two-bedroom and 48 one-bedroom apartments. The apartments are furnished with the exception of refrigerators.

Rent for the two-bedroom facilities is $37.50 a month without utilities and for the one-bedroom facilities $42 a month with utilities paid.

Married students must be taking 12 undergraduate units or nine graduate units to be eligible to live in Spartan City.

Grass Shack Booth Hints of Hawaiian Club Luau Event

A grass-shack ticket booth in the outer quad gives an indication of things to come Saturday in the Hawaiian club's annual luau, 6 to 12 midnight in the women's gym.

The event is to be authentic in every possible way, according to Winston Wong, club president. Traditional entree for the evening's feast is kalua pig. The pig will roast in its underground "imu" oven throughout the day. The colorful oven opening will start the event at 5 p.m.

Numerous other dishes will be served to guests seated on the ground, and eaten without aid of silverware in the age-old manner of ancient Hawaii.

Reservations can be had for $3 at the grass-shack ticket booth from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. or can be bought at the door. "Over 500 people attended last year," Wong reminded.

Daily Opens File Of College News

College newspapers from as far away as New York and as close as Stanford adorn the neatly kept cabinet located in the southeast corner of the Spartan Daily office.

San Jose State's exchange program enables the Spartan Daily to grasp interesting news stories from other campuses and allows the student body to check on friends and trends at other schools.

Daily papers come from Syracuse, Kansas, Oregon, Brigham Young, Stanford and Southern California universities.

Weekly papers are received from North Dakota, Tulane, Santa Barbara, New Mexico, COP, Los Angeles state and Valley state schools.

Additional papers from the Midwest and south give the exchange department at San Jose State representatives from California colleges and junior colleges, as well as many important out-of-state schools.

Fourth Annual Baja Biology Trip Termed 'Fantastic' by Professor

By JIM RAGSDALE

A week's stay in Baja California proved to be an invaluable experience for some 72 SJS students, instructors and their families during Easter vacation; so it appears to Dr. Rocci Pisano, associate professor of biology, who was in charge of the expedition.

This, the fourth annual trip to the lower California area by the SJS Seashore Life class, was described by Dr. Pisano as "fantastic." Because of weather conditions, some of the best collecting and observing conditions of desert plant and sea life ever witnessed by him were prevalent, he claimed.

BASE CAMP
The group traveled with a ham radio set, water safety expert and a medical doctor for safety precautions. They entered Baja California at Mexicali and traveled along the River Hardy to where it flows into the Gulf of Mexico. They then headed for their base camp, the coastal town of San Felipe.

Dr. Pisano said the main attraction was observing fish and other marine life in the tide pools. He explained that the tide there goes out as far as one-fourth of a mile, locking fish within the numerous remaining pools.

'FISHASTIC'
"The fish were of fantastic size and color," he exclaimed, describing foot and one-half long angel fish two and one-half feet long garibaldi (as compared to 14 inches here). "One grouper took a skindiver's spear and snapped his 70 pound test line," he commented.

Among the various specimens collected by the party were a variety of fishes, reptiles and mollusks. One of the highlights was the capture of a rare type of worm, Nermertea, which Dr. Pisano estimates to have measured 28 to 30 feet long, and about the diameter of a pencil.

To verify his report of phenomenal plant life and over-sized fish,

Dr. Pisano said a showing of slides and movies taken on the trip will be held soon.

Are these gold bars worth two more years of study?*

As a college sophomore, you're nearing the mid-point. Halfway through college—halfway through Army ROTC. Now you face a major decision: Are the gold bars of a Second Lieutenant worth two additional years of study in advanced ROTC?

That question is yours to answer now—before you register for your junior year. As you explore the facts, carefully weigh the traditional responsibilities and rewards of serving as an Army officer . . .

- 1. Traditional responsibilities. To meet the command responsibilities of an Army officer, you apply the leadership principles absorbed during advanced ROTC training. And your executive potential grows as you gather leadership experience. That's why employers often prefer men who served as commissioned officers. These men already have proven their capacity to shoulder executive responsibility.
- 2. Traditional rewards. In every organization, greater responsibilities mean greater rewards. Thus the traditional responsibilities and prestige of an Army officer are matched by material advantages. For example, if you plan to marry soon after graduation—an officer's salary can be a distinct advantage. A married 2nd Lieutenant earns a minimum of $355.68 per month—plus substantial fringe benefits.

Need more information? Check with the Professor of Military Science and Tactics at your college or university. He'll be glad to discuss your decision with you.

*Last year, 14,436 sophomores answered "yes" to this question—and entered advanced Army ROTC.
