

SJS Production 'Invalid' Begins Final Run Tonight

Final performances of Moliere's farce-satire "The Imaginary Invalid" will be presented tonight through Saturday at 8:15 in the College Theater.

A limited number of tickets remain for the weekend productions, according to a box office attendant. Tickets are 50 cents for SJS students and $1 for general admission.

Starring as the aging invalid Argan is Will Gatliff, whose goal is to match his daughter in a marriage to a doctor. Portraying the daughter with differing love interest is Bonda Lewis.

Comic antics are provided by the pert French maid played by Maria Wida.

The money-minded wife of Argan is portrayed by Mari-Lyn Henry.

Costumes were designed by Joe Markham, costume technician. This is the most elaborately costumed production of the season, with Restoration period garments such as frills, laces and wigs required for men performers.

John R. Kerr, associate professor of drama, is director of the play.

BIDDING BEGINS—The first annual student-faculty Christmas art auction will take place tomorrow at 8 p.m. in A133. Inspecting one of the paintings included on the auction list are Professors Coleman and Hatch with students, Rose Yamaga, Carol Bjornson and Joan Bynon. A percentage of the auction proceeds will be placed in an art scholarship fund.

Christmas Art Auction Set for Tomorrow Night

Art lovers and those partial to bargains will discover a suitable package fitting these preferred bills during the first annual student-faculty Christmas art auction tomorrow night.

Approximately 140 art pieces will be auctioned during this pilot project, sponsored by the SJS art department. The auction will take place at 8 p.m. tomorrow in A133.

Art work for the auction is now on display in the Art Gallery. The gallery will be opened at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow prior to the sale, providing interested parties with time to place a pre-auction bid, according to David P. Hatch, assistant professor of art. Professor Hatch and Robert Coleman, associate professor of art, are supervising the project.

Auction proceeds will be distributed as follows: 50 per cent to the contributing artist, 40 per cent to a scholarship fund and 10 per cent to the Art Gallery fund to finance this and future exhibitions.

A scholarship fund will be established from money provided from the sale of these works, Professor Coleman explained.

An extensive variety of works will be sold by auctioneers John V. DeVincenzi and N. Eric Obak, assistant professors of art. These include paintings, ceramics, textiles, sculptures, drawings, prints, and jewelry.

Many of the works have been donated by the artist to the scholarship fund, thus forfeiting their share of money, Professor Coleman said.

Works not sold at the auction will continue on display in the gallery and will be sold at the minimum bid assigned them until Dec. 15. Information on future sales may be obtained in the Art Gallery office.

An Open Letter To Bob Arita

Editor:
(An Open Letter to Bob Arita.)

The past few weeks the students of SJS have been privileged to read your witty comments of ignorance. Obviously, you don't understand much about the fraternity system or you wouldn't write the things you do.

Fraternities were founded over 150 years ago to fulfill a basic need and desire of men, to band together with other men with the same likes and dislikes. This is essentially what fraternities do today. They give a student an opportunity to join other men who have the same interests as they do.

What are the prerequisites for a person to join one of these groups? Basically it is initiative. Students join fraternities and sororities because they want to, not because it is forced upon them. And these students take on a big responsibility when they do join. They learn to work together for an organization in which they have the full responsibility of maintaining. This takes a great deal of initiative, drive, and enterprise.

What do the students receive from membership? They learn to cope with the money problems of large groups. They learn democratic practices in their chapter meetings where the majority rules.

They are encouraged in the pursuit of their majors and academic interest through living closely with students of these same interests. They are encouraged to develop their leadership qualities through house administrative offices and student government positions. Finally, they are encouraged to keep physically fit through participation in IFC athletics.

You might ask, Mr. Arita, if these things do any good? I feel they do. In a recent survey taken by the National Interfraternity Conference, it was found that approximately 6 per cent of all college graduates are fraternity men. However, 60 per cent of the country's business leaders are fraternity men, while 70 per cent of the present congressmen are also fraternity men. Initiative and drive, which is developed in fraternities, I'm sure helped these outstanding people considerably.

What do fraternities do for the school? First, they do not ask for your money to provide college housing for them. They buy their own land, build their own houses, feed their own members and take care of their own finances. All this is done at a much cheaper cost than the state or school could maintain. Second, the Greeks provide a majority of the student leaders on the campus. Is this because the Greeks are better than anyone else? No, it is because these students have initiative, and leadership qualities which are encouraged and developed in their fraternities and sororities.

What about the discrimination problem? I can't tell you what will happen here. I personally feel that fraternities are changing. For example, just a few years ago, there were no Jewish students in fraternities or sororities except those founded especially for them. Now, however, one may find a liberal sprinkling of Jewish students in a great many of the fraternities throughout the nation. A few of the fraternities have Negro students as members now, including two of the national represented on this campus.

I suggest you re-evaluate your present goals and objectives in slamming fraternities now as a freshman and try to re-direct this admirable enthusiasm to problems where you can be of some definite assistance rather than a hindrance.

'J & A Anniversary Marred by Attack'

Editor:
Our campus journalists deserve sympathy. Their enjoyment of their department's 25th anniversary celebration unfortunately was marred by the crude, cruel and unwarranted attack that one guest speaker made on Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and on Chief Justice Earl Warren. My own vicarious pleasure in the fete was considerably lessened by that event and also by the fact that the celebrants saw fit to award their top honor to a newspaper writer whose professional practices fall far short of those which, I am sure, our Journalism & Advertising department would wish its students to follow.

Nevada Games Will Test SJS

Basketball coach Stu Inman thinks the Friday and Saturday night cage tilts at Reno with the University of Nevada will be a "real test" for his 2-0 squad.

Inman lists three factors which he thinks will be working against the Spartan five. "The fact that we'll be facing a real good team, that we'll be playing in our first away game, and the altitude should make things very interesting."

Frosh coach Dan Glines scouted the Wolf Pack's 82-63 win over Long Beach state last Monday, and reports the Nevada club to be composed of some great shooters.

Inman attributes San Jose's improved offensive game to the improvement of guards Bill Yonge and Vance Barnes from last season. "Both of them have another year in the system, along with Joe Braun and Dennis Bates," he said.

Yonge, after opening victories over Chico state and San Francisco state, is leading Spartan scorers with 28 points. Inman expects Barnes to pick up in the scoring department, and give the local cagers a big threat at the guard positions.

Glines reported that Coach Jack Spencer's team is paced by 5-9 guard Craig Hall, who scored 23 points against Long Beach. Wolf Pack center Bill Robinson (6-6) tallied 19 and forward Chico Feilback scored 16.

Frosh Play Two Foes

Frosh coach Dan Glines is readying his height-lacking freshman hoop team for two away games with San Francisco city college and Diablo Valley college this weekend.

"Our toughest game should be the San Francisco tilt," Glines said. "But both teams have scrimmaged each other on occasion and are fairly even."

Glines bemoans the fact that his hoopsters are not as tall as last year's team. The Menlo junior college game next Tuesday will find the Spartababes pitted against a Menlo front wall that stands 6-5, 6-7 and 6-9.

Glines remarked that the team's downfall in the opening losses to Oakland city college and San Jose city college was inconsistency and first-game jitters. "During one period, we went six minutes without scoring," he lamented.

The frosh mentor singled out Ron Labelich, Earl Burton, Joe Knox and Rick Wentworth as performing well in practice.

Intramural Swimmers Vie Tonight

Ten events will be featured in tonight's annual all-college intramural swim event, according to Intramurals Director Dan Unruh.

Beginning in the men's pool at the men's gymnasium at 7 p.m., the meet will include over 200 entrants, mostly men from SJS fraternities. Meet finals will be held tomorrow at 3:30 p.m.

Such events as the 100-yard medley relay, 50-yard individual freestyle, 50-yard butterfly, 100-yard freestyle, 50-yard individual relay, 50-yard individual breaststroke, 100-yard individual medley, 100-yard freestyle relay, 24-yard shuttle walk, and a 250-yard freestyle relay will be included in the two-day meet.

The final two events are new to the meet this year, said Unruh. The shuttle walk is a contest in which entrants walk across the shallow end of the pool.

Unruh has announced the All-College champions in two now-concluded intramural sports. Zoltan Csimma, a sophomore, defeated graduate student Joe Sturm, 6-0, 6-2, to cop the tennis title. Csimma won six matches during the tournament.

Bob Daken and Ron Durand downed Bill Smyth and Jerry Smith four of six sets to win the all-college two-man volleyball crown. Smyth and Smith reached the finals after surviving the loser's bracket competition, only to lose the title in the overtime finals match. Dakan and Durand went undefeated throughout the competition.

Entries for intramural basketball leagues are due by 12 noon tomorrow in MG121, according to Unruh. An important meeting of all fraternity and independent managers will be held Monday at 3:30 p.m. in MG201, he said.

Deadline for table tennis entries is also Friday at 12 noon, in MG-121. Unruh remarked.

Newman Club President Alvarez Believes Religious Organizations Important to Campus

By PATTI BURNS
"On a secular campus, religious clubs play an important role. Students tend to lose their faith while in college. It is important that they keep in touch," recently said Sal Alvarez, Newman club president, when asked if he felt that religious clubs were important to the college.
Alvarez was previously Newman hall house vice president.
The senior sociology major also was awarded the Newman key for being an exemplary Catholic and Newmanite.

Newman club is an apostolic movement. It provides a Catholic club for all members and other interested Catholics and non-Catholics. "Newman is not a closed group such as the sororities and fraternities are," stated Alvarez.

"Newman recognizes campus organization and follows the rules set up by the activities office. Therefore we have a definite involvement with the school," said Alvarez. "And through this involvement we gain many benefits. We are able to put posters up on campus, use the college facilities, plan activities without conflict, and enable our members to enter intramurals."

"I also feel that the club can do a lot for San Jose State," continued Alvarez. "We will be holding the Newman province convention here next spring. We have been working with the school and the city council and thus expanding our public relations program and apostolic work," he added.

Another example of expansion of public relations at Newman and on campus is the sponsorship of Theresa Nelson in the Santa Clara County United Veterans' Baby show. This is their annual fund drive for charitable activities.

In conclusion, Alvarez stated that Newman's greatest problem is that students tend to think of the club only as a social club. First it is a religious club, then an educational club, then a social club, he explained.

SJSers To 'Swing' In Co-Sponsored 100-Hour Toy Drive

Toys, new and old, are admission tickets to the 100-hour swing-a-thon on the front lawn of the Sigma Nu house, 148 S. 11th st., which started at 12 noon yesterday and will last until 4 p.m. Sunday.

Santa Claus will be on hand to swing the 100th hour of the Sigma Nu Alpha Chi Omega sponsored benefit for the annual San Jose U.S. Marine reserve corps' Toys for Tots drive. The toys are given to needy children in Santa Clara county at Christmas time.

During the 100 hours of the swing-a-thon, approximately 50 fraternity and 20 sorority members will swing in relays on the 18-foot high swing.

The swing was constructed by Sigma Nu and Alpha Chi Omega members from two 6-inch by 6-inch posts, eight feet apart.

Each swinger will have a head phone on while swinging, according to Nate Haimes, Sigma Nu member. Anyone wishing to telephone the swinger to chat or make a toy donation, may call CYpress 7-4807.

Contests, entertainment and dancing will sidelight the swing-a-thon.

P.R. Dept. Posts Available In Four Bureaus - Director

The ASB's recently reorganized Public Relations department has openings for students in its four bureaus, according to Dana Wylie, director.

The department was divided into four separate bureaus for the first time this semester. Each bureau has its own chairman, selected and controlled by the public relations director, according to Wylie.

All students interested in working in the bureaus should attend a meeting at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the College Union, Wylie said. At that time, chairmen and the ASB public relations director will discuss participation in the bureaus.

The newly created bureaus and their functions are:

News bureau—a service which will collect and disperse campus organizational information on which events might be of value to the Spartan Daily, public newspapers and radio or television stations.

Liaison bureau—act as a liaison between the ASB and such groups as alumni, faculty, downtown merchants and the Spartan Daily.

Tours and speakers bureau—conduct tours of the campus and student government facilities, and organize a program of campus and outside speakers who would be available upon request.

Special projects bureau—responsible for carrying out special projects in the public relations department.
