Pakistani Talks Sunday Evening On East-West

Aly Wassil, youthful Pakistani philosopher striving for better East-West relations, will speak Sunday in Morris Dailey Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Sponsored by Sunday Evening Community Forum, Wassil will elaborate upon his statement, "If the Orient had maintained closer relations with the U.S. in the 1800s, East-West relations would be much better today." He has studied in Eastern and Western schools, including Osmania University, Harvard University, and University of California.

Wassil was conference director of the Model United Nations, and has won scholastic, literary and oratorical honors on both sides of the Atlantic.

"Speaking without a trace of an accent, Wassil's knowledge of world situations enables him to lecture with force and confidence," said forum officials.

All forum lectures are open to the public, and no admission is charged.

Revelries Needs Stage Manager

Revelries director Diane Hunt does not have a stage manager for "Jolly Roger," to be presented the first week in May.

"Experience is desirable, although not necessary," according to Miss Hunt, first woman director in the history of the show. Interested persons are asked to contact Dr. Theodore J. Balgooyen, adviser to the group. Tryouts for the musical will be Monday and Tuesday evenings at 7. Monday tryouts are for actors and actresses; Tuesday, for dancers, singers and musicians.

Beck Is Guilty

Former Teamster Union President Dave Beck was found guilty of all counts of income tax evasion by a Federal Court jury yesterday afternoon.

The verdict was reached after noon (PST) but Judge George H. Boldt upheld the announcement until Beck could be present.

The jury decision took more than nine hours of deliberation. There were eight men and four women on the jury.

Senior Application Deadline Feb. 27

June and summer session candidates for undergraduate degrees must make application with the Registrar's Office before Feb. 27. John C. Montgomery, acting registrar, said yesterday.

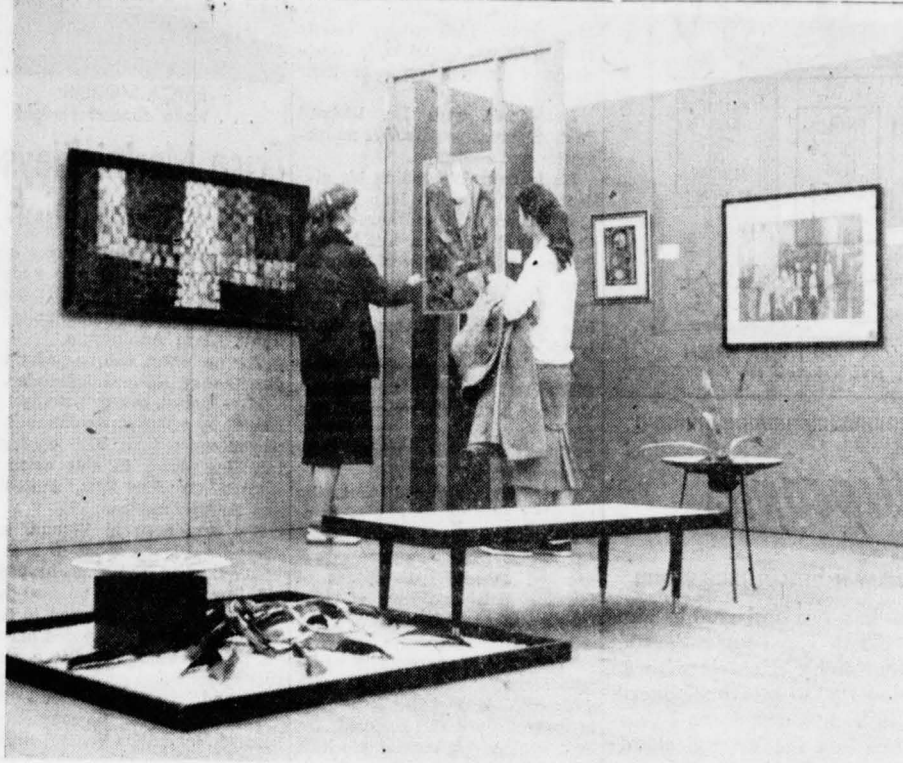

Students may make application appointments in the Registrar's Office after they have filled out a major-minor form, he added.

Recreation Professor Receives Citation

Buford Bush, assistant professor of recreation, received a citation for outstanding service in recreation this week from the annual California and Pacific Southwest Recreation Conference, held at the Club Del Mar in Santa Monica.

He has taught four years in addition to his extensive experience with county, state and federal governments as well as with institutions, churches, hospitals, and the Army.

FAIR EMPLOYMENT BILL
SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly by vote of 65-14 yesterday passed and sent to the Senate Gov. Edmund G. Brown's bill to create a fair employment practices commission.

Talent on Show

Two more students tour the annual Gamma-Delta Phi Delta student art show. Pieces in nearly every media, from modern three-dimensional design to traditional oil, are on display in the East wing of Tower Hall.

Annual Student Art Show Draws Admiring Glances

Corridors of the art wing have been filled with "It's interesting," "It's weird," and "It's beautiful," for the past week because the annual Alpha Gamma-Delta Phi Delta student art show.

Three San Jose merchants donated a total of $50 in cash or merchandise certificates for winners in each of five divisions. Several hundred entries from students in all majors were screened, and 96 were chosen for exhibition.

Judges were Julia Pearl Majdrakoff, Redwood City artist, and Syd Fossum, artist from San Francisco.

Entries were judged according to the medium used. Division 1 included oils and gouaches. Art Brandonburg won first place with a bright oil work titled "Crag." Bob Danes won second place.

Division 2 included water colors and mixed media. Dale Hart placed first with an untitled work. Karen O'Reilly won second place.

Division 3 included prints and drawings. Harold Booth took first place with striking print of greenery titled "Woodland Murmurs." Brandenburg placed second.

Division 4 included sculpture, ceramics and three-dimensional works. Martin Reynaud placed first with an untitled wire sculpture; Myron Ahlstrom won second place.

Division 5 included crafts and jewelry. Sue Moore won first and second prizes with textile entries.

Spartan Book Store, California Book Store and San Jose Paint and Wallpaper Supply donated the prizes.

Myron Ahlstrom, Alpha Gamma Delta president, said response to the contest was "very good," and that next spring the two fraternities will sponsor another exhibit.

The present exhibit will remain in the art wing of Tower Hall until Feb. 27.

Skiers Slate High Sierra Trip Today

Approximately 70 SJS students will head for the hills late today as the ski club sponsors its second trip of the winter ski season to the High Sierras.

According to Dr. Rocci Pisano, club adviser, the buses carrying skiing enthusiasts will leave from the Student Union at 6 p.m.

The group, comprised of members and interested non-members of the ski club, will stay at Tahoe Valley Lodge Friday and Saturday nights, returning to the campus Sunday evening.

This venture is the second for the club, that plans three trips a year to the Sierras. The first trip was to Dodge Ridge, above Yosemite, two weeks before the fall semester ended.

The third trip will be to Donner Summit, near Truckee. During their stay there, the members compete among themselves for club championships in downhill slalom, and speed skiing.

Prizes will be awarded to the winner in the novice, intermediate, and advanced classes.

Both men's and women's prizes will be awarded to the winners in these classifications while competition between men and women is offered in the open division.

The championship trophy is awarded to the person judged the best all-around skier in competition. If it is won three consecutive years by any one student, the trophy is his. Theology student, Wally Juchert, can retain the "Ski Championship Cup," if he wins competition this year.

Hawaiian Potluck Dinner Tomorrow

Persons interested in the Hawaiian Club are invited to a potluck dinner and dance tomorrow evening from 5:30 to 12:30 at the Spartan Y.

Those planning to attend should contact Alvin Chung, Priscilla Morales, or Sally Iwamoto. The event will be sporty dress.

Bus Crash Injures 3 Patients

A busload of 23 Agnews State Hospital mental patients were shaken up in a car-bus collision Wednesday night in San Jose.

UPI reported two of the patients suffered possible rib fractures and another a back injury in the accident at the intersection of Brokaw Rd. and 1st St.

Police said a car driven by Harley A. Boos, 32, of Los Gatos, ran a stop sign and slammed head-on into the bus. Boos was in fair condition at Santa Clara County Hospital with head and internal injuries.

Besides the patients, two hospital employees and driver Milford J. Dennis, 40, of San Jose, were aboard the bus. None of the others were injured, although an Agnews spokesman said the employees and most of the patients were badly shaken.

The patients, a select group who are permitted to go on weekly outings, were returning from a wrestling match.

UPI ROUNDUP

Solon's Son Earns $11,000 in Office

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House records disclosed yesterday that freshman Rep. Steven V. Carter (D-Iowa) has put his 19-year-old son, Steven A. Carter, on his office payroll at $11,081.76 a year.

Young Carter is a freshman pre-law student at George Washington University and will divide his time between that and his father's office.

It is not unusual for members of Congress to employ relatives. Many veteran members have done so for years.

Young Carter is the highest paid employe in his father's office. The elder Carter, elected in the Democratic sweep last November, was quoted as saying "Steve is the most valuable one in my office. His pay is based on what I think his value is to me, and the money is his to keep."

He said Steve handles his public relations, among other things. Carter has five other employes. His office manager, Rein J. Vander Zee, 30, a former FBI agent, is paid $695.77 a month. Average salary of the others is $373.41 a month.

Each member of Congress receives a government allotment for office salaries.

MARSHALL CONTRACTS

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (UPI)—Army doctors reported yesterday that "a slight spread of pneumonia" has complicated the treatment of the second stroke suffered by Gen. George C. Marshall.

However, Col. George M. Powell, chief of medicine at Womack General Hospital here, said there has been "no great change" in Marshall's condition.

SECOND NEAR AIR COLLISION

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Capital Airlines jet-prop Viscount with 34 passengers and a crew of three had to dive suddenly today to escape a collision with an Air Force B-47, the airline reported.

The incident took place at 19,000 feet at 9:55 a.m. 30 miles northeast of Charlotte, N.C., a Capital spokesman said. The airliner was flight 170 from Atlanta, bound for Washington and New York.

It was the second near-miss incident of the week.

Monday night, an Eastern Airlines Electra en route from Chicago to Miami reported it had to dive to escape hitting another B-47 near Atlanta. The B-47 later was identified as being operated by a civilian pilot for the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. on a special test flight.

New Tests Given Here

A new admissions test was administered to 280 new freshmen and 500 transfer students at the start of the semester, reports Dr. Harrison F. Heath, testing officer.

The new test is designated CQT (College Qualification Test) and replaces the old ACE (American Council of Education) test, which was discontinued last month.

"I think the new test will be an improvement," Dr. Heath stated. "In addition to the mathematics and verbal skills section of the ACE, the new test also has a general information section."

He pointed out that both of these tests measure primarily skill and knowledge achievement plus college aptitude, and not "native IQ." The Wexler or the Stanford-Binet are the tests which measure this item.

The results of the entrance tests are used to determine the placement of a student in relation to the other students on this campus. Comparisons are also made with various national norms, but the figure used for counseling purposes is the local norm.

New students who wish to make an appointment to determine the meaning of their test scores should wait two weeks. At that time the tests will be scored and interpreted.

Weather

The prediction is "partly cloudy with scattered showers" today, but clearing this afternoon. Little change in temperature. High today 57 to 63. Low tonight 42 to 49. Gentle variable winds.

Fairness Committee Adds Members

Dr. Robert Patterson and Dr. John C. Woodward were recently named to the Associated Student Body Fairness Committee.

Dr. Patterson is associate professor of bacteriology and Dr. Woodward is the newly appointed test officer.

Chairman of the faculty-student committee is Dr. Andrew Lassen, head of the Economics and Geography Departments.

Profs Endorse Drive Against Loyalty Oath

A group of San Jose State College professors has joined a nationwide drive to remove the "loyalty oath" requirement from the National Defense Education Act passed by Congress last summer.

The local chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) voted Tuesday night to endorse the national organizations efforts to remove the test oath.

Humboldt Fund Study Commences

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A two-hour conference by the Senate Committee on Governmental Administration was held last night concerning the case of alleged mis-handling of funds at Humboldt State College.

The investigation had been touched off by complaints from contractors who were engaged in contracts at the college that they had been solicited for donations to the school by its president, C. H. Siemens.

Last night's meeting reportedly concerned the Humboldt investigation as well as reports that some other state college officials elsewhere in California also had solicited donations.

The committee will meet again Monday. It reportedly expects to publish its report and recommendations regarding the Humboldt investigation within two weeks.

SJS Engineers Tour UAL Base

Society of Automotive Engineers, student chapters, toured United Air Lines' San Francisco engineering and maintenance base Tuesday.

The meeting was sponsored by the northern California section of SAE.

Sixteen members of the SJS chapter attended. Total attendance of collegians was 144. The Cal Poly group traveled 180 miles to the meeting.

During the evening the students were taken in groups of 12 through the various departments of the engineering and maintenance base.

After the tour, students heard W. C. Mentzer, vice president of engineering, discuss engineering considerations in selecting commercial jet aircraft. Dinner concluded the evening.

Mentzer covered general fields involved in jet aircraft-cost, proposed use for long, medium or short hops, and psychological aspects (customers who prefer four-engine aircraft), explained Bill Lunde, SJS chapter chairman.

Juniors Sponsor May 8 Prom at Villa

Del Courtney, disc jockey and band leader, has been signed by the Junior Class to play at the Junior Prom. It will be held in the Villa Hotel in San Mateo May 8 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Bob Young, Junior Class president, stated that anyone interested in helping with the dance should attend weekly meetings held Monday at 3:30 p.m. in S112.

Miss Deanne Bennett is heading the prom committee.

O.T. Professors

See Duell Institute

Guinevere Wright and M. Jane Lane, assistant professors of Occupational Therapy, will visit the Duell Vocational Institute in Tracy today, Miss Lane reports.

They plan to tour the institution and watch interviews of prisoners undergoing rehabilitation.

Two O. T. graduates are employed at the institution, according to Prof. Lane.

Friday Flicks

"East of Eden," starring the late James Dean, will be featured at tonight's flicks instead of "Dial M for Murder," as previously announced. The movie will be shown in Morris Dailey Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

At least seven colleges have objected to the requirement, according to wire services, and three others have refused to participate in the loan program.

A bill co-sponsored by Senators John Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Joseph Clark (D-Penn.) which proposes striking the loyalty oath provision from the act is now before the Senate Labor and Welfare Committee.

Purpose of the national education act is to provide assistance to students with special abilities. It is especially designed to upgrade education in mathematics, science and foreign language. This part has received no complaints.

But a rider to the act requires that every student who applies for a federal loan must submit an affidavit swearing he does not support any organization that believes in "the overthrow of the U.S. Government by force, violence or any other illegal or unconstitutional means." This provision was under fire even before the education act was passed.

Most often cited is the objection that the act singles out the nation's young scholars and scientists for unjustified suspicion of disloyalty.

Dr. Henry C. Meckel, acting president of the local AAUP chapter, added that students or anyone else borrowing money from other sources are not required to sign oaths.

Dr. Meckel said some professors as well as students are affected by the provision.

In addition to graduate and undergraduate students, he named: secondary-school guidance and counseling personnel who attend training institutes, staff members of language research centers, and anyone who teaches at a language institute or receives a stipend from one. In a prepared statement, Dr. Meckel asserted:

"Many of our professors (feel that) the test oath implies that American educators are a particularly suspect part of the population. At San Jose State College this is especially objectionable in view of the fact that members of our faculty have already signed such an oath.

He gave as an example farmers who receive substantial government subsidies but do not sign oaths for them.

UC Profs Don't Like Requirement

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A group of University of California professors has asked the school administration to withdraw from the federal student-loan program until a non-Communist affidavit is removed as a requirement.

The Berkeley Chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) last night charged the affidavit is "intimidating with respect to historic academic freedom."

About 20 professors attended last night's AAUP meeting and a majority approved the resolution, according to President James Caldwell, professor of English.

Postscript on A. Mikoyan

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Postscript on Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan:

During Mikoyan's visit here, the State Department intervened to scuttle Air Force plans to conduct internationally meaningful burial services in Arlington National Cemetery.

The bodies were unidentified. They were two of the crew of the U.S. Air Force C-130 which crashed last autumn in Soviet Armenia. The U.S. Government has made public tape recordings of conversations between Soviet fighter pilots during an action in which it is charged that the Russians deliberately gunned down the unarmed American transport.

The date suggested by the Air Force for the burials with military honors in the cemetery just across the Potomac from Washington was Jan. 16. That was the day Mikoyan met with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to be told of angry American resentment. The Air Force proposed Jan. 16 only informally and did not press the matter when the State Department objected.

Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.) told the tale in Georgia three days ago. His version was that the Air Force officially proposed the Jan. 16 date. Some of the things Davis told his home folks in Georgia were these:

"If held then (Jan. 16) this would have demonstrated to Mikoyan the seriousness with which the American people took the shooting incident and their unflinching desire for the return of the other men, dead or alive."

State Department officials acknowledged to United Press International that the Air Force wanted the Jan. 16 burials, and that the State Department counseled against that date. The department's position was that the tape recordings of conversation among the marauding Russian fighter pilots should be made public coincident with the burials for maximum impact on public opinion.

Atlantic City, New Jersey has two unbeatable gimmicks which keep it No. 1 on the Top Ten Tourist Parade: a steady diet of publicity pabulum and a clientele with an intelligence quotient slightly below that of Mortimer Snerd. Idiots with a summertime buck in their wallet and a 7-year-old grin on their face. Like Alice in a fool's wonderland; or a Pinocchio suddenly snipped free of his strings; thousands of Peter Pan people in a land of Never-Never think.

AT ONE END of the bored walk you pay 25 cents to see a "life-sized reproduction" of "The Last Supper."

And "All in full color, too!" screams the man with the ticket roll as he tosses your quarter into his cigar box, laughing. "The Last Supper" is neatly wedged between a Skee-Ball toss (you try for the best poker hand) and a penny arcade which permits you to squint at nude girls for a penny a peep. The almighty Two-Bits is your passport to Suckerdom in this caramel apple Dizzyland.

AT THE OTHER end of this walkathon, a very dedicated intern in a white frock coat and stethoscope reads your pulse and tells you how high your blood pressure is, and just what it is that ails you and how to go about curing it. A cardboard sign in red Crayola assures you he is a "licensed practitioner" and he charges a very modest fee for an office visit: 35c.

His patient is a 60-year-old man with his sleeves rolled up, nodding his head as Young Dr. Duck quacks his advice.

Atlantic City houses a bigger ring of bunco artists than San Quentin and "Racket Squad" put together. "Oriental rugs from far-off Persia" retail for $900 to blue-haired old ladies who leave their brains at home in a bottle.

SLICK-HAIRED and greasy-tongued, these sharpies are straight from Damon Runyon's typewriter; their eyes even roll like dice. The diamond-studded grandmas write out their checks to the tune of a yellow-vested spieler's song and dance:

"This carpet, my dear, was woven with the threads of India and the Maharajah bought it for his favorite wife; the fringe is from the ancient looms of the Ming Dynasty!"

And the little old ladies nod their hats in unison and bat their eyelashes at the sweat-stained drummers.

"SEE ATLANTIC CITY"—scream the four-inch red and white posters. Watch the tapeworms of Specie Hocus-Pocus living off of H. L. Mencken's "Boobus Americanus." Step right up!

And also on.

Here's How To Pass A Foreign Language Class

By LOUISE CLOUSE

Librarian-Exchange Editor

Know how to pass that foreign language class this semester?

Stanford students know how. Six Phi Kappa Sigmas go to sleep every night to the strains of a Frenchman sleepily telling of babbling brooks, soft breezes, and whispering trees.

Two students hit upon this idea in preparation for a trip to Europe this summer.

ONE ROOMMATE, who has never had French before, is following the procedure and has learned more than anyone else in the two-month period this has been going on.

In 48 lessons the records teach conversational French and perfect pronunciation with little conscious effort by the pupil.

The Beta house is now planning to start on a Russian course.

Under the caption "Worth Repeating" in the Daily Kansan is a statement from an address given at Harvard University by David Reisman:

"SOCIAL SCIENCE today is as much feared as a hidden persuader and manipulator of men as a generation ago it was admired as a liberator. The study of national character, as of other motivational patterns, can be put to manipulative use, and the best defense against this that I can see is to democratize such manipulative use through education . . .

"I can envision a world in which we shall become more different from each other than ever before, and in which, as a result, national character will become an even more elusive concept than it is at present."

 The Stanford Daily also tells us that something is being done about loyalty oath provisions contained in the National Defense Education Act.

Not only have the presidents of Yale, Harvard and Princeton urged repeal of the provisions of the act, but the 40,000-member American Assn. of University Professors will send letters to congressmen urging repeal of the provisions, which Yale's president, A. Whitney Griswold, has said seems "to represent a lack of confidence in those young people and in their future, as well as in the educational process itself."

Parents' Aid May Hinder, Not Clarify

By JOYCE FLORES
 Women's Editor

Think back to your grammar school days. Remember the trouble you sometimes had with arithmetic? You've probably decided to give your children the adequate math help you would have appreciated when you were in their shoes.

But don't, says Dr. Richard Post, assistant professor of mathematics and education.

He is currently telling his students that parental help in this area is more of a hindrance rather than an aid. Often parents learned different methods of working problems than ways currently being taught. These only serve to confuse the child rather than to clarify his knowledge.

Also, most parents don't know the correct approach to teaching. Dr. Post stated that parents who try to replace the teacher are insulting the teacher whom their taxes support.

Dr. Post continued that the teaching of any subject is completely the teacher's responsibility. In many schools students are grouped according to speeds of learning. Their progress is carefully watched and they are given aids whenever needed.

"The way for parents to really help their children overcome math difficulties is to build a positive attitude toward the subject," Dr. Post stated. "A mental block is a big hindrance to learning."

However, Dr. Post's advice does not apply to parents with high school students. "The approach to high school math has not changed in many years," he explained.

"Also, the mathematical approach so wrong for arithmetic problems is the only one used to problems in geometry, physics, etc."

Loop Leading Gaels Here Tonight

Top Game Billed For Spartan Gym

COACH WALT McPHERSON will have his hands full when the Spartan cagers take to the hardwoods, tonight, against the power-laden St. Mary's Gaels.

The Gaels, currently are resting quite comfortably atop the West Coast Athletic Conference with a 7-0 record.

McPheron has been having difficulty this season installing the desire and incentive in his players, that is essential for a productive and balanced squad.

It's true he has been harassed by the return of only one letterman from last season's club—Ned Fitzgerald. But the cagers at times this season have shown the potential of being world beaters. The next night, anyone from Timbuktu could match strides with them for inconsistency.

McPheron's task next season appears to be a much simpler one than it has been this year. Despite the graduation from the 1959 squad of forwards Ned Fitzgerald, Bob Chapman and Jon Harris, and guard Al Simon, Mac will have a nucleus of eight varsity men next year.

Simon has shown well in the last few outings, and one begins to wonder why the pint-sized guard was not used to this advantage earlier in the season. McPheron was confronted with this problem last season when Ned Fitzgerald was used sparingly despite his frequent scoring spurges.

The Spartans, however, are not so bad as they appear on paper, or on the basketball floor at times. They are capable of upsetting any of the top teams in the WCAC, (Jan. 10 SJS defeated USF, with the proper coordinated unit. This type of coordinated unit is what will be necessary to defeat St. Mary's tonight.

St. Mary's currently is riding high on the WCAC ladder and has been ranked 20th in the nation by United Press International. This, in itself might be enough of an incentive to drive the Spartan cagers to an upset.

McPheron's squad has been guilty of relaxing for half a game. The Spartans have come up with a potent first half drive only to fall short in the second half and have ultimate victory and have ultimate victory snatched from their grasp.

COP versus San Jose is only one example. The Spartans held a 16 point lead over the Tigers from Stockton in the dying minutes of the first half. COP, behind the accurate shooting of Dave Klurman and Leroy Wright, whittled the Spartan lead to six points. The second half of the game was completely dominated by the Tigers, as they swept an apparent upset from the cellar-dwelling Spartans.

TUESDAY NIGHT, the Spartans face Santa Clara in Civic Auditorium. The last game of the season for the Spartans will be played at Moraga against the same Gallopin' Gaels. Tonight is as good a time as any to "open up" and show the fans the potential that has been hidden.

First upset for the Spartan cagers . . . St. Mary's.

Second upset . . . well, it has to be Santa Clara, Tuesday.

San Jose State hoopsters will host the West Coast Athletic Conference leaders, the St. Mary's Gaels, tonight at Spartan gym. Tipoff time is 8 p.m.

The Gaels, leaders of the WCAC and ranked 20th in the nation according to United Press International, will enter Spartan gym with a 7-0 record in league play.

The Gaels are fresh from a resounding triumph over USF, Tuesday night, where the Gaels could seemingly do nothing wrong as they swamped the Dons.

San Jose will be attempting to climb from the confines of the WCAC basement, having posted one win in nine starts. The lone SJS triumph came at the expense of the once powerful USF Dons.

Coach Stu Inman of the SJS frosh squad, remarked, "Personnel wise, St. Mary's has possibly the best team on the Coast." Inman's remark followed his scouting report of the USF-St. Mary's game.

The Gallopin' Gaels possess a team that appears to have little or no weakness. The Gaels are second in league statistics in offensive strength with a 65.0 points-per-game average. They also top the league in defense, having allowed only 31.4 points scored against them for a 52.3 average.

San Jose was defeated in two games played at Loyola and Pepperdine last weekend.

For the Spartans, guard Al Simon and forward Jim Whelihan have shown increasing potential to nab first string slots. Simon has been performing with the first five in the Spartans' last four games. Whelihan, on the other hand, has displayed a deadly accurate shooting eye, when McPheron tosses him into the fray.

Tuesday night, the Spartans will host the fourth place Santa Clara Broncos in the Civic Auditorium.

Other action in the WCAC tonight will find Loyola at COP and Pepperdine at USF.

Tentative starting lineups:
ST. MARY'S: Dick Sigaly, LaRoy Doss, Tom Meschery, Bobby Doid, Joe Barry, g.
SAN JOSE: Ned Fitzgerald, f. Bob Chapman, f. Arney Lundquist, c. Al Simon, g. Joe McGrath, g.

Frosh Battle Gaels

SJS' frosh hoopmen will put their 13-3 season mark on the block tonight against the men from Moraga in tonight's preliminary at 6:15 at Spartan Gym.

St. Mary's, regarded as the finest yearling quintet in the Bay Area, boasts a fine 11-2 mark and the distinction of having never been beaten by a freshman aggregation this year.

Coach Stu Inman hopes to upset the rampaging Gaels with the same five that have been starting past contests.

SIMON SURGES—Al Simon, 5-11 guard will see plenty of action tonight when the Spartans attempt to climb out of the WCAC cellar at the expense of the league leading St. Mary's Gaels. Gametime is 8 p.m. in Spartan gym.

Meet Monday; Men Are Paired

Bad weather has forced a one-day postponement of today's scheduled inter-class track meet. The track marathon will be held Monday, weather permitting, with the first event scheduled for 3 p.m.

Dick Boeks, Ray Norton, Bob Myers, Jerry Howell and Kent Herkenrath will captain their respective squads during the action Monday. All fraternities have signed up for their 880-yard relay. A complete listing of teams will be published in the Daily on Monday.

Coaches Bud Winter (varsity) and Bert Bonanno (freshman) have indicated that record-wise, this year's meet may be the "bustiest" of any to date.

Winter said there are probably eleven events that could be bested come Monday. Listed as very probable under this category, are the 75-yard dash, 352-yard sprint, 1320-yard run, 180-yard sprint, 660, and 1 1/2-mile, and 160-yard low hurdles.

In the field events the shot put and high jump are marks in danger of falling with the possibility of a new high jump and pole vault record in the making.

In the novice class, the entire slate of school inter-class records may be re-written when the meet draws to a close. The 352 and 1320-yard runs are both in danger and a possibility exists in the 70-yard highs.

Frosh Track Squad Faces Tough Schedule

San Jose State's freshman track squad will swing into action on March 6 against Stanford to inaugurate one of the toughest—if not the toughest—schedules in its history.

Says Fran Errota of Track & Field News, "To my knowledge, this is the strongest frosh track schedule in the history of Track & Field. This schedule should stimulate what appears to be one of the finer frosh teams in the nation to great heights."

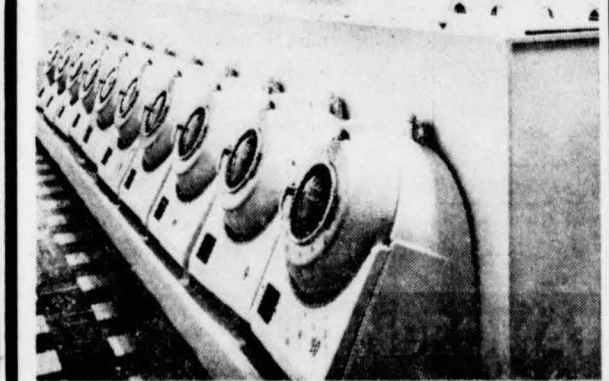

Coach Bert Bonanno, preparing his charges for the upcoming gruelling schedule, was given additional "reinforcements" after spring registration. "We bolstered many of our question spots and filled in on some events that were wide open."

Dick Webster, a local boy and graduate of San Jose High, figures to be the leading vaulter for the frosh this year. Webster, California Relay champ in '58, has topped the crossbar at 13'1". Mike La-tone, a graduate of Acalanes High School, figures to give added depth to the vault hopes. Latone has sailed 12' 9". "We didn't have one pole vaulter on the squad until now," Bonanno commented.

Varied Styles Mark Campus Buildings

By PHYLIS MACKALL

You do not need to travel to Europe to see such things as the frieze of the Parthenon, Romanesque Corinthian columns, a Venetian-style window, or Spanish Romanesque buildings. Just walk around the campus and you will see all these and more.

Morris Dailey Auditorium is decorated inside by the same sculptured panels that banded the famous Greek Parthenon. The originals were over 500 feet long, and showed the Athena procession, a religious procession in which all of Athens participated.

Through the efforts of Calthea C. Vivian, head of the Art Department at the time Morris Dailey Auditorium was constructed, Caproni and Co. of Boston reproduced 20 of the original slabs which are now in the British Museum in London.

According to Mrs. Estelle Greathead's book, "The Story of an Inspiring Past," the plaster reproductions are "the exact size of the originals, giving the color and texture as near as possible of the marble slabs."

Another decorative feature planned for the auditorium was to have been "single figures or groups in the round of famous pieces of statuary from the world's greatest epochs of art—Egyptian, Greek, Byzantine, Italian, French, English, American, et al . . ."

Only part of the dream of Professor Vivian was realized: the Parthenon frieze, Phidias, outstanding sculptor in fifth century Athens, planned the Parthenon frieze in such a way that the figures became more animated as they rounded the building. Thus, the end of the panel showed standing and dismounted figures, and the front showed mounted or walking figures.

Therefore, you need not be a citizen of fifth-century Athens or a world traveler to enjoy sculpture from the Parthenon. Merely step inside our Morris Dailey Auditorium.

If you haven't enough money to visit sunny Spain, note the Home Economics Building and Tower Hall. They are in Spanish Romanesque style. Romanesque architecture flourished in Europe during the twelfth and thirteenth centuries.

Characteristics of style may be seen in the Campanile, or tower, of the Home Economics Building with its arched window; and the window arcades of Tower Hall. Arcades are arches set over columns.

Do you admire Roman architecture? A beautiful example of Roman Corinthian columns is found along the porch facing the courtyard of the Home Economics Building.

So you long for the atmosphere of romantic Venice? Dr. Richard G. Tansey, professor of art, notes a Venetian window in the Italian Renaissance style at the Women's Gym, facing the Home Economics Building.

Dr. Tansey classifies the Student Union, built at the turn of the century, as American Baroque, in the French Renaissance style. He adds that it is a miniature of the Paris Opera House.

The style of the newest buildings on campus, in Dr. Tansey's opinion, is "indescribable."

Take your pick. Will it be Greece, Spain, Italy or France? With a little imagination, you're there.

Methodist Bishop Speaks At Banquet Sunday

"What does the church have to offer us that no other institution offers? This is one of the questions Donald H. Tippett, resident bishop of the San Francisco Area of the Methodist Church, will answer Sunday evening in his speech, "This is No Time to Desert the Church," at Wesley Foundation.

Other questions to be answered at the Fourth Annual Student-Faculty Banquet are:

Why should I be connected with the church? and, Why have a church at all? The banquet will be held in the Wesley Foundation Hall at 6:30 p.m.

The Student-Faculty Banquet is sponsored jointly by Methodist Wesley Fellowships and the Wesley Foundation at SJS. Members and friends of the Methodist church, including faculty members and their wives, are invited to attend.

Marine Recruits Here Next Week

The Marine Recruiting Team will be on campus next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Outer Quad to interview college seniors and graduates who are interested in the Marine aviation and line officer programs.

The interviews will be conducted by Maj. William G. Crocker and Capt. Richard G. Schulze.

Maj. Crocker emphasized that graduation from college is required before a commission can be granted. For this reason, he said, training is conducted in two 6-week instruction periods.

Spanish Club Plans Initiation

Initiation of new members, and a celebration party will highlight the opening social event of the spring semester for "El Circulo Castellano," SJS Spanish Club, according to the club president, Bob Willey.

The initiation, beginning at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at 489 E. St. John St., will be followed by the party. Willey extended an invitation to all interested students to take part in this semester's activities.

"It is my belief that the club will offer variety enough to insure prospective members a fruitful experience in belonging to the club," he said.

The Spanish Club was formed to meet the needs of those persons seeking a keener insight into the Spanish language through its use in club functions, he added. He also regarded the club as a means of cultural exchange between North, Central and South America through the use of language.

The club plans to have guest speakers, some of whom, according to Willey, will be officials of Latin American States.

Colored sound films on the Latin States will be shown during the semester. The club also plans to sponsor dances.

Chess Tournament Signup Under Way

Chess playing students are invited to sign up by Wednesday in the Student Union for a double round-robin tournament, Bill Jachens, chess club president, said today.

The tourney will be timed to 20 moves an hour.

"Games may be played anywhere," said Jachens, "as long as they are timed."

A 50 cent entry fee will be refunded when the player finishes tournament play.
