Publications Heads Confirmed by Council

Student Council confirmed the appointments of editors and advertising managers for three top campus student publications—Spartan Daily, Lyke, and La Torre—at its last meeting of the year yesterday.

Jerry Arca, junior journalism major and current Spartan Daily news editor, was named fall editor of the Daily. Concerning Arca's appointment, current editor Bob Pacini said, "Jerry has proven himself extremely capable of the editorship." Arca, a native of Santa Barbara, was a high school correspondent for the Santa Barbara News-Press, a local paper, and editor of the Santa Barbara High School student newspaper.

Barbara Mitchell, current advertising manager for Lyke magazine, was named fall advertising manager. On the staff of Spartan From the Start, a guide for new students, for two years, Miss Mitchell has served on the Daily advertising staff for one semester.

Renamed Lyke editor for the fall was Chris Headings, current editor of the feature magazine, Harold Partelow, Lyke adviser, says Chris "has done an excellent job as editor this year." According to Miss Headings, three issues instead of the customary two are planned for next fall.

John Moore, senior advertising major, was named fall advertising manager for Lyke. Partelow says Moore demonstrates "a broad basic understanding of advertising principles and a creative attitude toward the magazine." He was on the staff of Lyke last semester.

Penny Furtney, who has served on the La Torre yearbook staff for two semesters, was named editor of the 1963-64 yearbook.

John Meyn, junior business major, was named advertising manager of the yearbook.

All of the above appointments were recommended by the Dr. Dwight Bentel, head of the Journalism and Advertising Department, to ASB Pres. Steve Larson, who appointed the individuals with the confirmation of Student Council.

Council also confirmed the appointment of members to the Student Activities Board (SAB) and the Election Board. New members of SAB are Lynette Dawson, sophomore medical technology major, corresponding secretary; Cliff Guterman, sophomore social science major, member-at-large; Karen Hall, sophomore political science major, advertising bulletin board manager; Bruce MacDonald, sophomore accounting major, attorney;

Mandel Controversy Lingers; Criticism of Daily Coverage

Controversy lingers in the wake of yesterday's campus speech by William Mandel, who advocated that Communists be permitted to teach in American colleges and universities.

Following Mandel's speech, Dr. Theodore Norton, assistant professor of political science, speaking at the request of the San Jose State administration, issued a number of remarks in rebuttal to Mandel's position.

Professor Norton's comments were not mentioned in yesterday's Spartan Daily follow-up of the Mandel talk.

Yesterday afternoon the Spartan Daily received a statement from the administration, criticizing the Daily's handling of the story:

'AN INJUSTICE'

"An injustice may have been done to the college community by the Spartan Daily's incomplete and misleading account of the recent TASC meeting. The Daily's article titled, 'We Need Communist Teachers, TASC Speaker Tells Audience,' created a distorted picture of both the purpose and content of the program by omitting several basic points of information.

"The 16,000 student and faculty readers who were not present at the meeting might well be misled by the Spartan Daily's article into assuming that (1) an approved student organization acted in defense of college regulations by suppressing the expression of opposing viewpoints on a highly controversial topic; and that (2) neither Dr. Theodore Norton nor arguments opposing Mr. Mandel's thesis were heard at the meeting.

"As a matter of fact, the TASC program included not merely one, but two formal presentations from the platform, as well as a faculty moderator and a prolonged question period. Following Mr. Mandel, whose remarks were reported by the Daily with admirable thoroughness, Dr. Norton presented an opposing point of view.

"The political science professor, speaking at the request of the college administration and with the consent of the TASC chairman, Roger Davis, and the faculty adviser, Dr. Charles E. Smith, discussed the dangers of employing dedicated Communists on our teaching faculties.

COLLEGE POLICY

"Incidentally, it was Dr. Norton's willingness to accommodate the college and the student organization in this way that provided the necessary compliance with college policy regarding off-campus speakers on 'highly controversial topics' and permitted the meeting to be held as scheduled.

"In all fairness, Dr. Norton's ideas should be presented by the Daily reported in the next issue as completely as were the opinions of Mr. Mandel."

Dr. Norton, opposing Mandel's views, declared that, in his opinion, a Communist is a willing agent of a foreign power and as such cannot teach any subject— with needed detachment.

"An avowed Communist, not necessarily a conscious agent, still would not be able to teach without a Marxist tendency in his teachings," Dr. Norton maintained. "If he was a half-hearted May Day Communist — like an Easter Sunday Christian — it might be a different story, but I refer to the true Communist fanatic."

NO DETACHMENT

Dr. Norton commented that a card-carrying Communist cannot be detached.

"He is bound to be a preacher, not a teacher."

Earlier in the day, when the Daily contacted Professor Norton regarding the fact that neither he nor his remarks had been mentioned in the Daily coverage, the political science professor issued the following statement:

"I am not unhappy about the treatment the Spartan Daily gave my participation in the TASC meeting on Tuesday afternoon. I said at the outset that I was a shy, retiring soul who did not seek publicity, and I cannot complain at being taken at my word. No purpose would be served, in my opinion, by extended newspaper discussion of a situation which has, perhaps, already been overpublicized."

Reception To Honor Retiring SJS Faculty

Seven retiring faculty members, representing a cumulative total of 170 years of service at San Jose State College, will be honored tomorrow at a reception from 2 to 4 p.m. in HFL.

Pioneer educator contributing 40 years to SJS, William H. Poytress, professor of economics, came to SJS in 1923. He earned his bachelor of arts degree in 1916 and his master's degree in 1918 from the University of California.

Miss Helen Bullock joined the SJS staff in 1927, and was Reference Service Librarian IV until September. She earned her bachelor of arts in 1927 from the University of Michigan, and her BLS in 1937 from Columbia University. Professor of music and education.

Mrs. Lydia Boothby, began teaching at SJS in 1940. She attended New England Conservatory, Boston, 1912-14. Alliance Francaise, Paris, 1931-32, and received her bachelor of arts degree from Utah and her master's degree in 1940 from Columbia University.

Milton C. Lanyon, professor of arts and education, was graduated from San Jose State in 1930, having earned his bachelor of arts degree. He began teaching at SJS in 1942, before earning his master's degree from Stanford University in 1947.

Mrs. Jean E. Lees, associate professor of health and hygiene, received her bachelor of science education degree in 1942 from the University of Illinois, and her MPH in 1946 from the University of California.

Willard E. Schmidt, professor of police, received his BVA from San Jose State, and returned the next year to begin teaching. He is now head of the SJS police school.

Charles L. Suffield, professor of real estate and insurance, earned his master of arts degree in 1917 from the University of Kansas, and his Ed.D. in 1944 from Stanford University. He received his MAI in 1954.

Kennedy Reluctant To Enforce Order By Use of Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy said yesterday he would be reluctant to order federal marshals or troops to enforce desegregation of the Alabama State University but he would have "no choice" other than to defend the court order to admit Negroes.

The President told a news conference that he hoped Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace would also rely on federal court decisions concerning school desegregation.

Wallace, who has vowed to physically block school integration if necessary, has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to forbid use of federal troops to enforce racial order. "I hope the law-abiding people of Alabama will follow the judgment of the court and admit the students," Kennedy said.

He said that "every other state in the country has integrated its state university," and he hoped Alabama would follow suit.

Convocation Held; See Supplement

San Jose State's second annual Honors Convocation will be held today at 11 a.m. in the Men's Gymnasium.

Internationally-known biologist Rene Jules Dubos will give the convocation address at the ceremonies honoring 284 students for their outstanding scholastic achievements during the past two semesters.

Details may be found in the special Honors Convocation supplement published by the Honors Convocation Committee.

Manager Speaks About 'Frauds'

Wesley Strouse, manager of the Better Business Bureau in San Jose, will speak today at 10:30 a.m. in LN630 on "Current Frauds and Schemes in California" that are used to attempt to deceive the public.

Storuse is speaking in Professor J. A. Burger's consumer business economics course. Any interested student or faculty members are invited to attend, according to Professor Burger.

World Wire

RUSSIA STOPS PAYMENTS FOR U.N. KOREAN OPERATIONS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Russia announced yesterday that, in addition to refusing to pay United Nations' costs in the Congo and the Middle East, it is cutting off budgetary payments for the world organization's emergency bond issue, its activities in Korea and Palestine, and technical assistance.

"The situation now confronting the U.N. is not a financial crisis," said Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko, "but an illusion of a political situation. It is a foreboding of a greater failure awaiting the colonial powers if they continue to repress national liberation movements."

Fedorenko said there should be no appropriation in the regular U.N. budget for technical assistance, which he said Secretary General Thant "is carrying out under the guidance of the Western clique.

"The technicians mainly are from NATO countries," he said. "We cannot tolerate this."

NORTH KOREANS REFUSE DATA ON DOWNED PILOTS
PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI)—Communist North Korea yesterday refused to release two American helicopter pilots or even to disclose whether they still were alive after a forced landing on Communist territory Friday.

The United States believes the pilots are alive, but Maj. Gen. George H. Cloud, who met with North Korean negotiators at this truce village, said the Communists "don't have the decency to tell us."

North Korean Maj. Gen. Chang Chung Kwan labeled the flight "an aggressive act by your side" and instead of giving information on the pilots, issued a long denunciation of the U.S.

Despite the Communist refusal to say what had happened to the pilots, officials were confident they survived the forced landing and North Korean gunfire that accompanied it.

There's Still Time

The little black book is being replaced by the textbook. Yes, it's that time again—finals are upon the land. Signout sheets in women's living centers assume lean and hungry looks. Those leather binders pitted by sand and stained with beverages are cracked open by panicked students.

The library once again swells to its capacity point and the bookstores extend their orders for No-doz tablets. Even the Co-rec sign hangs limply for no longer will the gym floor be converted into a stomping ground.

The cafeteria becomes silent with only an occasional whisper from a baffled student. Down the long corridors are bulletin boards with "last meeting of the semester" notices adorning their corks. And always a definite sign of finals is the vacant Spartan Daily distribution box—we have to study too.

But there's one sign which should hang from one end of Seventh Street to the other but won't appear this year. The phrase across it should read, compliments of Neville Shute, "THERE'S STILL TIME, BROTHER."

Freedom of Peach

(A Fable*)

Once upon a time long ago in a lush far off valley there was a great institution of higher pruning, kind of a clip joint. Its function was to teach new, modern methods of trimming prune trees to the valley's lush prune farmers.

Each day, classes would convene in the lush orchards, and the instructors would carefully instruct the rapt pupils as to which branches should be trimmed and which should not.

"Now this branch," the instructor would say, "leans just a tetch too far to the right, so we'll clip it here," and he would illustrate his point with a flick of his long-handled pruning tool.

Around on the other side of the tree, meanwhile, another instructor would be saying, "Now this branch hangs too far on the left for perfect symmetry, so we'll just slice it (snip) there."

And so it went, day after day, and all the prune trees in the valley assumed nice oval shapes, and grew straight and tall and all the prune farmers were happy and all the instructors were happy and the people who ran the school were happiest of all.

Then, one day, as the classes were gathered around a particularly tall prune tree, studying its roots for possible deviationism (a rare prune disease in which the taproot extends too much in one direction), a voice came sounding from up in the tree.

"I am a peach farmer," the voice said, "and I think these lush orchards would yield more fruit if we planted peaches instead of prunes."

"I also feel we should have some peach farmers in this school to teach my theories. Tomorrow, same time, same tree, I shall elaborate my ideas."

And with that, the thick branches in the top of the tree ceased their rustling, and the hidden stranger spake no more.

It was an agitated group that returned to the campus that night. Some said, "Golly, maybe peaches would be better. We should listen to him."

Some, who knew that the soil conditions in the valley were the best in the world for prunes, said, "I don't think he has much, logically, but we might as well hear him out."

And then there was a group which said, "Uggh, peaches have fuzzy faces, and they are too pink and red for my taste. Let's run him off before he bends that tall tree he's sitting in to the left and spoils our orchard."

So they began phoning instructors and administrators around the school and protesting, saying, "Probably this fellow travels around trying to ruin prune country everywhere. We should ban him."

Conscious of the desires of his students, the head of the Pruning School decided to compromise, so he asked one of his best instructors in pruning to speak in defense of prunes the next day, from the branches on the right side of the tall tree, to keep the branches balanced.

Reluctantly, the instructor agreed and the speech was held. In the days following the address arguments flared among the pro-peach and anti-peach factions. They wrote letters to the Thrusting Prunelaf letters column of the school paper and gathered in angry groups under the prune trees.

Soon, however, the anger died down and happiness and harmony returned to the school.

It wasn't until several months had passed that a passing biology professor noticed that the weight of two speakers in the branches of the tree had damaged the branch structure and stopped the tree's growth.

He walked into the school and tried to tell someone, but everyone was busy so he left, wondering as he walked down the road what kind of an idiot would put two paradigmatic speakers in one prune tree.

*Any resemblance to any prune farmers or politicians, living or dead, is purely coincidental.

Dr. Bentel Replies To Prof. Birns

Editor:

Anyone responsible for the conduct of a college daily newspaper learns to take criticism philosophically. You readers will have to look long and hard to find a rebuttal by this writer in Thrust & Parry. But when Prof. Laurence R. Birns (Thrust & Parry, May 22) charges that the Journalism faculty intimidates or punishes Spartan Daily staff members by penalizing them "at grade time," and specifically cites "a difference of attitude between teacher and staff members on whether the affaire Assemblyman Stanton was front page news" as an example, he has exceeded the bounds of tolerable criticism.

This is a serious charge. It is an accusation of abuse of the grading responsibility, and of a disregard for a dearly held belief in freedom of the press for the student newspaper. Presumably, then, a mature, responsible college teacher such as Prof. Birns, has made certain of his facts. Let us see if he has:

The news that Dr. Stanton was not to be given tenure on the faculty of this college broke in the Spartan Daily on Friday, June 2, 1961. The story ran 26 column inches on Page 1, with two pictures. Editor of the paper and writer of that story was James Ragsdale. The next (and final) issue of the Daily appeared on June 7. It played the Stanton-Hutchinson story 35 column inches on Page 1, and 51 column inches inside. The Editor was James Ragsdale; the Day Editor who positioned the story, Linda Axenty; the writer of the story, Richard Polese. Mr. Ragsdale and Miss Axenty received semester grades of "A" for Spartan Daily staff. Mr. Polese received a "B".

The following semester, Autumn 1961-62, the Spartan Daily carried five stories on Dr. Stanton, all on Page 1. Jay Thorwaldsen was Editor. Jerry Carol, news editor, positioned the stories. Both students received "A" as their semester grades for Spartan Daily staff.

In the Spring semester of 1962, the Spartan Daily carried five stories on Dr. Stanton, four of them on Page 1. Carolyn Perkiu was Editor. Wanda Jolly was News Editor. Moreover, Miss Jolly herself had written or personally handled most of the stories written about Dr. Stanton during both the Autumn and Spring semesters. Miss Perkiu received a semester grade of "A". Miss Jolly received a grade of "A" for both her semesters of Spartan Daily staff.

Any more examples, Prof. Birns?

Handling of Mandel Criticized by Reader

Dear Editor:

The administration has really overstepped itself re speakers on this campus. It is one thing to ban Communists from teaching; it is another thing to ban Communists from speaking; but, to ban speakers from speaking on whether or not Communists have a right to speak or teach, is really quite absurd. Some people may say that Mandel was not banned, but I believe that it was only because of his courage and good sense that we were allowed to hear him. Let's not forget our bearings amongst all of this red-baiting madness. It is all right to be opposed to ideas, but to the discussion of ideas—never!

Furthermore, the way in which the administration determines controversy leaves much to be desired. Who says we need protection from Mandel's ideas? Some anonymous caller on the phone? Are not Fulton Lewis Jr., Harry von Zell and others controversial? And if Mandel is controversial, why must his opponent be, in his own words, a "solid Republican?" Is someone implying that Democrats are not opposed to Communism? I believe that the administration should answer some of these questions. We students will not always have someone around to protect us, so we should know what to look for.

In any event, since we now have this unfortunate precedent, it will be interesting to note just which speakers the administration deems controversial in the future—if we are allowed any.

Ensemble Participants: Area Teacher-Musicians

The organizer and conductor of the Santa Clara Valley Youth Band and an assistant professor of music at SJS has added another feather to his cap.

He has gathered together 41 alumnus, who live in the Bay Area, into a Wind Ensemble that meet every week.

The director is Clement J. Hutchinson, a member of the Santa Clara Philharmonic and San Jose Civic Symphony Orchestras. Hutchinson earlier worked in New York with the original Eastman Wind Ensemble.

Many of the ensemble members have made outstanding careers for themselves musically in other cities and states, but they all have the common bond of now teaching. They represent schools systems from as far south as Watsonville to northern Oakland.

The Wind Ensemble plans to give two concerts this summer on campus—June 27 and July 25.

According to Hutchinson the ensemble has been such a success that it will be offered for credit next fall "and will include students. It will serve as a showcase group of the department's finest students."

Summer Tryouts For Three Plays Today, Saturday

Tryouts for summer drama productions will take place in the following locations today at 4:30 p.m. and Saturday at 10 a.m.: "Years Ago," directed by Everett Vande Beek, College Theater; "Waiting For Godot," directed by Ward Williamson, SD226; and "Little Mary Sunshine," directed by Harold Crain, Studio Theater.

Each production will play for three nights during the Summer Sessions, the season opening July 11.

According to Williamson, associate professor of drama, "the drama staff is particularly anxious to make the coming productions representative of the entire college, and we encourage anyone interested to attend tryouts."

LIMELITERS HERE SATURDAY EVE

LINING UP for Saturday evening are the Limeliter. The folksing trio will perform at 8:30 in Civic Auditorium and a few tickets are still available at the San Jose Box Office, Ste. Claire Hotel. With the Limeliter will be 35 children from Berkeley who sang in the "Children's Album."

Residences Filled; 3,000 On Backlog

All college residence halls are filled for the fall semester and all applications have been closed, Robert L. Baron, San Jose State housing coordinator, announced yesterday.

According to Miss Berniece Ryan, housing counselor, names of approximately 2,000 women and more than 1,000 men are on a backlog list waiting drop-outs for dormitory living next fall. At this time, spring 1964 applications are accumulating for the dorms, with 500 women and 100 men requesting residence. Applications are still being taken, Baron said.

In addition to college approved residence halls, there are off-campus college approved living centers which include room and board, rooms with kitchen privileges, rooms only, and approved apartments. These facilities accommodate from 5-250 students. Five is the smallest group that constitutes a living center, said Miss Ryan.

Students who will be 21 on or before Oct. 12, 1963, are automatically exempt from approved housing regulations, said Baron. However, he added, students who are under 21 and want to petition for unapproved housing must do so before the ninth of September.

There will be three dorms open this summer: Markham Hall for men, Royce Hall for women, and Washburn Hall for the National Science Foundation Math Conference.

Registrar's Office Asks Addresses Of June Grads

Students who are expecting to be graduated June 7, should come to the Registrar's Office, Adm102, windows 9 or 11, and fill out an envelope with the address where they would like their diplomas and credentials mailed.

Special envelopes will be provided in the Registrar's Office. All diplomas will be mailed approximately three weeks after graduation, said Marge Johnson, graduation clerk.

'Inequality Necessary for Society,' Says Prof. Edmonds at Book Talk

By STAN NASCIMENTO
"Inequality is necessary for our society," emphasized by Robert Edmonds, assistant professor of economics, at his book talk yesterday in the cafeteria, where he reviewed "The Capitalist Manifesto" and "The New Capitalists."

Professor Edmonds qualified his statement by adding we must learn how far to go in equality so as to make it advantageous for our economic society.

Such inequality is concerned with the unduly concentration of wealth, which "The Capitalist Manifesto" wishes to solve by attaining a wider concentration of ownership. This cannot be done by robbing from the rich and giving to the poor, according to Edmonds. Instead, we should create more wealth so that more can enjoy it by giving preference to those who don't have the funds through credit.

DEFINES CAPITALISM

In defining capitalism, Professor Edmonds enumerated its characteristics: private ownership of capital instruments, a form to provide all with the products of capitalism, and a high standard of living for all members of society through their participation as laborers in production.

Continuing, Edmonds qualified the "Manifesto's" four stages of capitalism. First was primitive capitalism in the U.S. and Britain prior to World War I, which was not advantageous to all citizens. Second was state capitalism or socialism which is characteristic in the Soviet Union today. Third is present day capitalism, which the authors called mixed capitalism. They feel today's American society is a mixture of both capitalism and socialism, with federal ownership coming into wider existence.

The last stage, according to the book, is that of a capitalistic revolution, which is needed to broaden the ownership of wealth and seek capitalism, not wealth as an end.

Negro Athletes Excel Despite Discrimination

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a three part series on racial discrimination.

By DAVE PAYNE

People liked to be entertained by the best in all fields. Today, the Negro is moving forward in being the best in nearly every form of entertainment.

Baseball exemplifies how the typical Negro and dark-skinned players are accepted on and off the field from the time Jackie Robinson opened the gates to major league baseball in 1947 up through today.

In other forms of entertainment, music, football, and basketball to name a few, there have been numerous instances of racial discrimination problems. Nat King Cole, Negro singing and pianist star, was discriminated against while performing in the South a few years ago and recently, in San Francisco, basketball star Wilt Chamberlain was denied the right to buy a home because of his color. It happens everywhere.

Asked about racial problems in baseball, Charlie Neal, New York Mets and former Dodger player, said, "No! (With a look of hate while turning his head) I don't want to talk about it."

Alvin Dark, San Francisco Giants manager and graduate of Louisiana State University, exclaimed, "No, I don't want to talk about that sort of thing," even though he did later comment on the subject.

This topic can be a very touchy subject for some of the players because of the current trouble down South.

ROBINSON TO BROOKLYN

In 1947, Jackie Robinson was brought up to the Brooklyn Dodgers from their Montreal farm team. The only difference between him and the other players was that he is black.

Jack Papke, current coach for the Los Angeles Angels and in 1947 the man who was sent down to the minors to make room for Robinson on the Dodger team, said, "Jackie had a rough time his first few weeks with the team. There was dissension on the team.

"Rickey (owner of the Dodgers at the time) called six players into his office and told them he'd sell everyone of them if they didn't want to play with a Negro."

The players finally settled down and accepted Robinson, now the problem was the rest of the teams in the league playing against him. "Opposing pitchers would throw at his head," said Papke. "But they soon quit throwing the knockdown pitches at him because he would bounce back and hit their next pitch up against the fence or over it. He was a real competitor."

Asked if he was prejudiced about having a Negro run him off the parent club, Papke smiled, "No. Why should I? I was raised with them in California and played with and against them."

Negro players began migrating into the major leagues and were accepted by everyone, slowly but surely. "Why shouldn't Negro ballplayers be accepted," says Leon Wagner of the Los Angeles Angels, "we have been making money for everyone. That's the facts."

Bill White, St. Louis Cardinals, commenting on modern day racial discrimination on the field, says, "Robinson broke down many of the barriers for Negroes in the game."

IT'S TROPHY TIME as Jim McGuire (r.) and Dick Stewart swap congratulations following the selection of McGuire as outstanding intramural athlete of the year. Stewart was chosen the top sports manager by the intramural department.

Jim McGuire Cops Intramural Award

By DAN McLEAN

Jim McGuire of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, a sophomore physical education major who competed in more than half of the sports offered by the intramural department, has been named the outstanding intramural athlete of the year by fraternities and independent organizations.

Delta Upsilon's Dick Stewart was chosen the outstanding intramural sports manager by the intramural department.

McGuire just nudged Tom Graham of Pi Kappa Alpha and Gill Cyester of Alpha Tau Omega in the balloting. All three were outstanding competitors, according to Dan Unruh, intramural director.

Voting was done on the basis of five points: ability and interest in many sports, exceptional ability in two or more sports, leadership qualities, having the respect of fellow players for sportsmanship and competitiveness, and what the individual added to the success of the intramural program.

McGuire competed in all four sports that are generally considered "major." He probably was the outstanding quarterback in intramural football. He ran the mile and was on the relay team in track.

In basketball, McGuire was the leading rebounder on the team and averaged 14.5 points. He was chosen for the all-star team that played Stanford at the end of the season.

Jim competes in both fast and slow-pitch softball. He is the catcher and leading hitter on his undefeated fast-pitch team, and one of two outstanding catchers in the league. His slow-pitch team is also undefeated.

Other sports he competed in include two-man volleyball, swimming, golf, badminton, freethrows, bowling and the Turkey Trot.

He finished in a second place tie in golf, with a 77, was a member of a 10-man championship relay team in swimming, and reached the quarter-finals in two-man volleyball and badminton.

Others nominated for the award, besides McGuire, Graham and Cyester, include Lou Basile of Phi Sigma Kappa; Doug Morris, Lambda Chi Alpha; Dennis Harvey, Sigma Chi; Doug Rydbeck, Kappa Pi; Haven Kolls, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Rodger Oswald, Delta Sigma Phi and Jere Wallace, Sigma Nu.

Stewart was judged the outstanding manager on the basis of the good communication he maintained between his organization and the intramural office.

This communication resulted in a limited number of forfeits for Delta Upsilon. His enthusiasm, according to an intramural department source, has been a major factor in keeping DU in contention for the all-college sports participation trophy. DU and ATO are the two organizations in contention for the trophy.

Both McGuire and Stewart have been awarded trophies by the intramural department for their achievements.

SAE vs. Cal-Hawaiians In Fast-Pitch Crucial

Two undefeated teams, Sigma Alpha Epsilon of the fraternity league and the Cal-Hawaiians of the independent league, will meet this afternoon at 3:45 in a double-header that could provide this year's all-college fast-pitch softball champion.

If a third game is necessary, the two teams will meet Friday at 3:30 p.m. in a single game. SAE is the defending champion.

SAE finished its regular season Tuesday afternoon with a 9-7 win over Alpha Tau Omega. In other fast-pitch games Tuesday, Theta Chi topped Theta Xi, 15-9, and Sigma Chi whipped Sigma Pi, 10-0.

SAE finished the season with a 12-0 record. It was followed by Pi Kappa Alpha, 10-2; Alpha Tau Omega, 9-3; Sigma Chi, 9-3; Phi Sigma Kappa, 9-3; Theta Chi, 6-6; Delta Upsilon, 5-7; Lambda Chi Alpha, 5-7; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 4-8; Sigma Pi, 4-8; Theta Xi, 4-9, and Delta Sigma Phi, 0-12. The slow-pitch championship game will be played tonight at 6:30. Two semi-final games, played last night, determined the teams that will meet tonight for the championship.

SAE No. 2 wound up in first place in the A league, while the Zoofers won the B league title.

In slow-pitch action Tuesday, Delta Upsilon topped the Church Keys, 3-2. The game was scoreless for six innings. In the top of the seventh, the Church Keys went ahead with two, but Delta Upsilon won with three in the bottom of the frame.

In other games, SAE No. 2 whipped Markham Hall, 16-0; ATO beat Phi Sigma Kappa, 7-2, and ATO No. 2 nipped Pi Kappa Alpha, 8-7.

Honors Convocation Issue - 1963

THE ACADEMIC WORLD of caps and gowns will be displayed with full pomp during today's Honors Convocation in the Men's Gymnasium when more than 280 students will be saluted for their scholastic achievements. Above, last year's convocation procession makes its way to the ceremonies, held then in Morris Dailey Auditorium.

Scholars, Step Forward

Honors Convocation Salutes Scholars

Today's annual San Jose State Honors Convocation — honoring 284 students — will begin at 11 a.m. in the Men's Gym with the SJS Symphony Orchestra playing Mendelssohn's "March from Athalia."

Following an audience singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," the University of Tennessee and the Pennsylvania State College. They were the original chapters. The presentation of the honor students will be made by Dr. Gene A. Waller, professor of psychology, and Dr. John T. Wahlquist, SJS president, will give a commendation to them.

Prior to and following Dr. Rene Jules Dubos' address, "Science and the Human Adventure," the SJS A Cappella choir will present two numbers — the first, Tschesnokoff's "Salvation is Created"; the second, Sweelinck's "Laudate Dominum."

The SJS Symphony Orchestra will close the ceremony — after the audience sings "Hail, Spartans, Hail" — by playing Wagner's "March from Tannhauser" as the recessional.

Of the 284 SJS students to be honored, 28 will be designated President's Scholars — students who have earned 4.0 grade point averages the past two semesters — and 256 will become Dean's Scholars — students who have earned 3.5 grade point averages.

Following the program there will be opportunity for faculty members, parents and students to meet in the area between the Science Building and the Library.

The convocation is sponsored by Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Xi, Key Club — honorary scholastic societies — the Associated Student Body and Spartan Foundation.

Scholarship In 3 Campus Honor Groups

The three honor societies contributing to the sponsorship of the Honors Convocation include Phi Kappa Phi, and Sigma Xi.

Phi Kappa Phi is composed of graduate and undergraduate members from all departments of the college. The prime objective of the group, according to its constitution, is "to emphasize scholarship and character in the thoughts of college students, to hold fast to the original purpose for which institutions of learning were founded, to stimulate mental achievement, to develop an acceptance of that obligation to our fellowmen which anyone can deny but which no one can escape."

It is an honor society with the highest of standards. At San Jose State, a very selective program is used in choosing members. Seniors must come from the top 12 1/2 per cent of the class. Juniors are chosen from the top 5 per cent of the class.

The society, founded in 1897, originated with a group of students who felt the need for an honor society based on broader lines than any then in existence. It was soon transformed into a national society by action of a committee composed of the presidents of the University of Maine.

The motto of the society, translated from Latin, is "The Love of Wisdom Rules Mankind." It accepts this as a goal, if not an accomplished fact.

Sigma Xi has two types of membership. The first is a full membership given upon completion of a doctorate in physical, life, agricultural, or earth sciences, medicine, mathematics, or engineering. The second type of membership is associate. It is awarded to outstanding graduate students in the aforementioned fields.

The objective of this group, according to its constitution, is to encourage original investigation in

Black, White Figures Win Cover Award

A design of black and white figures clad in academic garb won Rod Tatsuno, San Jose State art student, the honor of having his work on the cover of this year's Honors Convocation program.

Taking runner-up honors are Victor Harlow, first; Robert Exby, second; Bob Stone, third; and Charles Baird, fourth. These students were part of Miss Marion Moreland's art class who did the proposed cover.

President's Message

We wish to extend congratulations from the Student Body to those outstanding individuals whom we honor today for their achievements in excellence at this institution.

The outstanding purpose of every academic institution is to instill within the student a desire and love for learning. The individuals that we honor today have demonstrated the existence of a passion for accepting the knowledge that this school can give to those who will work. This passion will eventually contribute to our future as a people; this excellence cannot be ignored.

The dedicated ambition these people have demonstrated is our future. We must not cease, however, to encourage these outstanding people to achieve higher goals in both the intellectual world and the world of human relations.

We honor these people with respect and prestige and hope that those not directly honored today will strive to achieve the same high goals of endeavor.

Steve Larson, President Associated Student Body San Jose State College

Dr. Dubos, Rockefeller Institute Prof, To Address Annual Honors Convocation

Principal speaker for the second annual Honors Convocation will be Dr. Rene Jules Dubos, microbiologist and experimental pathologist who first demonstrated the feasibility of obtaining germ-fighting drugs from microbes 20 years ago.

Dr. Dubos will speak on "Science and the Human Adventure" at the 11 a.m. ceremonies in the men's gymnasium.

A professor for the Rockefeller Institute in New York City, Dr. Dubos has a number of scientific achievements to his credit.

Among them are the development of a rapid method for growing tubercle bacilli in submerged cultures, important in the diagnosis and experimental study of tuberculosis, and investigations on the mechanisms of acquired immunity as well as of natural susceptibility and resistance to infection with special emphasis on tuberculosis and other bacterial diseases.

Dr. Dubos is well known as an author and lecturer as well as a scientific investigator. His latest volume, "The Torch of Life," is preceded by a number of books, "The Unseen World," "Pasteur and Modern Science," "The Mirage of Health" and "The White Plague - Tuberculosis, Man and Society" — among them.

For his many scientific contributions, Dr. Dubos has received many awards including the Robert Koch Centennial Award of the Robert Koch Institute in Berlin, and the Passano Foundation Award, both in 1960, and the Modern Medicine Award for Distinguished Achievement in 1961.

Born in Saint Brice, France, in 1901, Dr. Dubos came to the U.S. in 1924, becoming an American citizen in 1938. He attended school in Henonville and Paris and studied at the College Chaptal and Institute National Agronomique in Paris. He served in the French Army after World War I and was awarded his Ph.D. from Rutgers University in 1927.

Dr. Dubos has been a faculty member of the Rockefeller Institute since 1927 except for a two-year period when he was George Fabyan Professor of Comparative Pathology and Professor of Tropical Medicine at Harvard University Medical School.

Since 1946, Dr. Dubos has been an editor of the Journal of Experimental Medicine published by the Rockefeller Institute. He was president of the Harvey Society and the Society of American Bacteriologists in 1951. Currently he is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, the Century Association of New York and the American Philosophical Society.

Dr. Dubos began his research at the Rockefeller Institute looking for a way to destroy the polysaccharide capsule that protects the pneumonia germ, making it more resistant to body defenses.

In 1929 he succeeded in isolating a bacterium that decomposes the capsule and in growing it in a nutrient broth under controlled conditions. In 1939, he applied the same principle to the isolation from soil of a microbe which produces two antibiotic substances, gramicidin and tyrocidine.

Hauck Wins Scholarship

William (Bill) Hauck, immediate past ASE president and graduating senior, was recently named the recipient of a $2,250 scholarship for a nine-month internship training program in Los Angeles' city and county government.

Awarded by the Coro Foundation in San Francisco, the grant also provides training assignments with business and labor organizations and civic groups.

During the program, Hauck and 11 other interns will study the various segments that make up a large metropolitan community. They will gain a working knowledge of how government operates and will develop an understanding of the complexities of the community as a whole.

In the past year Hauck served as president of the California State College Student Presidents' Assn. (CSCSPA). He has played a major role in obtaining Board of Trustees' approval for college union buildings for state colleges and was a chief organizer for "official recognition of CSCSPA" by the Board.

He is also a member of Blue Key, men's national honorary organization, and is included in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

During his four years at SJS, Hauck served as chief justice of the Judiciary and vice president of the student body.

William (Bill) Hauck, immediate past ASB president and graduating senior, was recently named the recipient of a $2,250 scholarship for a nine-month internship training program in Los Angeles' city and county government. Awarded by the Coro Foundation in San Francisco, the grant also provides training assignments with business and labor organizations and civic groups. During the program, Hauck and 11 other interns will study the various segments that make up a large metropolitan community. They will gain a working knowledge of how government operates and will develop an understanding of the complexities of the community as a whole. In the past year Hauck served as president of the California State College Student Presidents' Assn. (CSCSPA). He has played a major role in obtaining Board of Trustees' approval for college union buildings for state colleges and was a chief organizer for "official recognition of CSCSPA" by the Board. Numerous Honorary Societies Become 'Heartbeat' of College

Honorary societies at San Jose State are the "heartbeat" of the academic college community. The groups are noted for their service to the institution and to the Associated Student Body as well as for the recognition they bring their members.

Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity, is open to men who are interested in service to the campus and community. Projects include a book exchange at the end of each semester, an annual Turkey Trot, the bonfire at Homecoming and the helping of underprivileged children. A women's auxiliary of Alpha Phi Omega was formed in the fall to aid in service projects.

Blue Key is a national men's honor society established to promote school spirit, uphold school traditions and further scholastic interest. Members are chosen for work in campus activities and high academic achievement. Blue Key men may be recognized by their light blue shirts with the Key insignia on the pocket.

Black Masque is an activities-honor society for senior women who have outstanding achievement in scholarship and service to the school. Thirteen were chosen and named at Sunday's Recognition Banquet. The society carries out a program of secret service projects for the college and community. The women participate in such activities as the Associated Women

Students' banquet and Big-Little Sister party. Spartan Shields, a men's activity-honor organization, includes sophomore, junior and senior students. Membership is based upon scholarship and all-around service to San Jose State. Projects include operation of registration booths during orientation, sponsorship of Science Open House and guided tours for visitors to the campus.

Spartan Spears is a service organization of sophomore women who forward useful projects in the college and community. Membership in Spears is based upon willingness to work, service to SJS and high scholastic achievement. Phi Eta Sigma is a national scholastic fraternity for lower-division men who achieve 3.5 or higher GPA.

Tau Delta Phi is a senior men's honor society which promotes interest in scholarship. The group had exclusive lease on the 75-year-old Tower. Membership is based on academic achievement.

Alpha Lambda Delta is an honor society for undergraduate women students. Undergraduates are admitted in their freshman year if they have a GPA of 3.5 or better. The newest honor society on campus, it was instituted in February.

the sciences. It was first organized in 1886 at Cornell University.

Chapters exist only in institutions where the doctorate is given. The SJSU Club, in existence since the fall of 1955, is composed of members who were elected by chapters in institutions giving the doctorate.

The Key Club is an honor society for outstanding students in the liberal arts. The local chapter is sponsored by the SJSU Phi Beta Kappa Faculty Club, an organization of faculty members who belong to the national liberal arts scholastic honor society Phi Beta Kappa.

Students are elected to the Key Club on the basis of their scholastic achievement. They must also have taken a required minimum of liberal arts courses. Members are chosen from the top 3 percent of the graduating class and from the highest ranking juniors.

The sponsoring organization is the oldest honor society in the United States, dating back to 1778 when it was founded at William and Mary College.
