SJS Professor Opens Annual Knoles Talks

Dr. Frederick C. Dommeyer, head of the Philosophy Department, will give the 16th Annual Knoles Lectures in philosophy at the University of the Pacific this fall.

Starting Oct. 9, the first lecture on "Parapsychology" will be in Raymond Great Hall at 7:45 p.m. A second lecture, "Discarnate Survival," will be Oct. 10 at 11 a.m., and the third on "ESP and the Mind-Body Problem" on Oct. 11, at 4:30 p.m. in the Anderson Lecture Hall.

Dr. Dommeyer came to SJS in 1958, after heading the St. Lawrence University Philosophy Department for 14 years. He had earlier taught at Syracuse University and Brown University.

He is a graduate of Union College, Schenectady, N.Y., with honors in philosophy. He received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Brown University, Providence, R.I. In 1933-34 he attended Oxford University on a Rhode Island English-Speaking Union Fellowship.

Dr. Dommeyer's monograph, "Body, Mind and Death," is being published by the Philosophy Forum of the University of the Pacific.

New Counselors, Advisers Appointed By Pres. Wahlquist

SJS Pres. John T. Wahlquist has appointed two new personnel counselors and two new activities advisers.

New counselors:
Dr. Phillip J. Gallaher, San Diego State graduate, with a Ph.D. from the University of Denver, where he was counselor.
Dr. Arthur H. Rogers, a UCLA graduate, with a Ph.D. from the University of Denver. He was counselor at California State Polytechnic College at San Luis Obispo since 1961.

New activities advisers:
Roberta Rovner, graduate of New York City College, with an M.S. degree from Cornell University, taking the place of Mrs. Charlene Liebau.
Mrs. Loretta Hayes, graduate of the University of California, succeeding Mrs. Merton Kirkish.

Two members of the SJS counseling staff have new positions. Dr. Cornelia Tomes has become acting associate dean of students, succeeding Miss Janet Douglas.
Dr. Otis L. Walter resigned to become associate dean in charge of counseling and testing at Los Angeles State College.

'Little Mary' Pokes Fun At Musical Melodrama

By STAN NASCIMENTO
Fine Arts Editor

The spirit of Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy filled the College Theater Friday night. "Little Mary Sunshine," a farce on the musicals of the famed Hollywood couple, brought laughter from an alert, enthusiastic audience as SJS opened its annual drama season.

The point of the play was to show how shallow and corny melodrama of the '30s really was. This was brought out immediately as Karen Doolittle and Dick Woodruff plunked their honky-tonk pianos before the play, setting the correct mood.

POKES FUN

Patricia Martin, playing the title role, over-indulges in poking fun at Miss MacDonald. Such exaggeration really brings the point across — especially in the beginning when Little Mary waltzes in from her garden of Bluebells and Oleanders, warbling the sentimental song, "Little Mary."

William Purkiss, playing Capt. "Big Jim" Warrington, has a great chance to show his fortitude and sincerity with such choice lines as, "I must say the words that have been in my burning heart for months," and "Though I like your posies, I must say what my heart discloses."

Robert Bigelow as Cpl. "Billy" Jester is the clown of the show with his zany antics. One is consulting his Forest Ranger Handbook for whatever has to be done — even for leading his troop into battle. Can such constant consultation be related to Dr. Spock in any way?

OPERA SINGER

Phyllis Parmenter convincingly plays the part of Mme. Ernestine Von Liebedich, a famous opera singer. She portrays the typical middle-aged woman always giving advice.

Like all good stories, a few Indians are thrown in to thicken the plot. Ed De Bell Jr. plays Chief Brown Bear, making an "honest injun" with his robust voice and statuesque form. Target — Sitting Bull.

The young ladies from Eastchester Finishing School add a bounce of gaiety to the play with such choice tidbits as "You make my heart go pitty-pat" and "Let's do something daring — swinging." Such moving lines, along with the admirable acting of the women, really jab the debutantes.

SATIRE

Satire came shining through when a group of forest rangers marched out whistling like a Boy Scout troop home from the hills. As they do their Forest Ranger Can-Can the audience bursts out in laughter.

A classic dance routine is brought out when Little Mary and the forest rangers get together. Mary is tossed from one boy to another and ends up on their

Frosh Reps Speak To Voters Tomorrow

In a warm-up session, 16 freshman representative candidates will speak and meet freshmen students tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in TH55.

The candidates will get a chance to get acquainted with the portion of the student body that will elect four of them to the Student Council in Thursday and Friday's election.

In the election, IBM ballot tabulators will be used at SJS for the first time. Polls will be open both days from 8:30-4:30.

Robin Phillips, secretary of the election board committee, said that the results will be known one hour after the polls close Friday.

The election is being handled by three groups—Spartan Shields, student division political science students, and Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

shoulders. Who could ask for anything more?

A traditional Three Stooges act gets in the show, too. This is brought out when Yellow Feather, Nancy Twinkle, and a forest ranger sneak about just missing each other. Then the climax comes when they bump together and take off screaming.

Lighting, too, produced a satirical effect through exaggeration. Thanks to the efficiency of Richard Gustafson, the lights dimmed at sad moments, and glared at happy ones.

In charge of costumes, Berneice Prisk, associate professor of drama, sets the dramatic mood with bright, gay apparel. The settings, designed by J. Wendell Johnson, professor of drama, are realistic and give the effect of melodrama with their simplicity.

New Policy-Making Body Academic Council To Replace Old 18-Member Group

By STEVE SPENCE

The Faculty Council at San Jose State is dying.

In its place, the faculty and administration has given its approval to a new combined council: the Academic Council, which will become the major policy-making body at SJS.

The old Faculty Council is composed of 18 elected members, two of whom are representatives of the administration.

ADVISORY BOARD

The council was strictly an advisory board which submitted faculty problems and proposals to SJS Pres. John T. Wahlquist for consideration.

The constitution of the new Academic Council calls for 28 elected faculty members and 12 administrators to serve as senate representatives.

REQUEST

In a set of proposals, Chancellor Dumke's office suggested that four or five members of the senate be administrative representatives and that the president of the college should preside over the senate.

After a full year of study, a 12-member committee of the Faculty Council drafted a constitution. A set of criteria for a constitution was prepared by a committee from the President's Council.

Listed are the basic changes the new constitution of the Academic Council has adopted:

- 1—The administration shall have 12 representatives, including the president of the college, the vice president, the Dean of the College, the Dean of Students, the deans of the Divisions of the College and other top echelon.

- 2—Only faculty members who have tenure may be elected as representatives to the new Academic Council.
- 3—Only those who have been full-time members of the faculty for one or more years may vote for representatives.
- 4—The president of the college shall be the presiding officer.
- 5—The new council will become the major policy-making board at SJS, where previously the faculty council was strictly an advisory board.
- 6—The faculty, under the new council, takes an active part in policy formulation.
- 7—All policies passed by the council are submitted to the president for consideration (veto power).
- 8—Each division will be allotted a special number of representatives:
Business, 2; College Services, 2; Education, 2; Engineering, 2; Humanities and Arts, 11; Sciences and Applied Arts, 10.

'WAIT-AND-SEE'

Faculty opinion has taken a "let's-wait-and-see" attitude toward the new council.

Dr. Gladys H. Gilmore, associate professor of History and long-time faculty member, was asked whether or not the new council will benefit the college

Police Raid Beer Bust, Nab 19 of 200 'Guests'

The song, "The Party's Over," was more than just sung Friday afternoon when 21 San Jose police officers and five Alcoholic Beverage Control officials raided a "TGIF" (Thank Goodness It's Friday) beer bust attended by nearly 200 students.

The party took place in the rear area of a two-story apartment house at 561 S. Seventh St.

19 APPREHENDED

A total of 19 students were apprehended. Fourteen were charged with "possession of an alcoholic beverage by a minor." Persons arrested under 18 were booked at Juvenile Hall on juvenile citations.

Two men arrested—John Sattui, 21, and Jay Senter, 25—were identified as the party-givers by police. Both face four charges: sale of alcoholic beverage to minors, furnishing alcohol within 1½ miles from the SJS campus, sale of alcoholic beverage without a license, and contributing to the delinquency of minors.

UNDERCOVER MEN

Undercover officers arrived at 4:30 p.m. and walked down the driveway to the rear of the building with other party arrivals. Officers were informed that for $1 they could have all the beer they could drink.

They then mingled with the shoulder-to-shoulder crowd and talked with many "guests."

At a pre-arranged signal, the ABC agents and uniformed police officers entered the area.

'COPS ARE HERE'

Sgt. Lloyd Ralston said, "It wasn't long before I heard the word being passed around in hushed tones: 'The cops and the ABC are here.'"

"When we started grabbing them, all I could see was a human wave taking off over the roofs and fences," he added.

"Actually, they were all pretty good about it. There was no rough stuff at all. Just the usual sarcastic remarks," he concluded.

A youthful looking undercover officer was mistaken for a party-goer and was grabbed by his uniformed counterpart. He was quickly released.

WORD WAS OUT—RAID

There was a similar party at the same location shortly after school opened, according to Doyle O. Jensen, supervising special investigator for the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control. "Word was out for a week that there might be a raid. Evidently, nobody believed it," he said.

Police noted a large sign in front of the apartment house which read: "We're Open To Serve You . . . All You Can Drink For $1."

At Co-Rec last Wednesday night a sign was reportedly seen which advertised the time and whereabouts of the party.

Along with the confiscated beer kegs, police also seized a box containing $158, the afternoon's receipts.

Although most party-goers were charged $1, a few women students reported entering the party for only 25 or 50 cents. Sattui denied that the money was to have paid for his and Senter's rent.

MARTIN SPEAKS

Robert Martin, associate dean of students, said the school knew the raid was to be staged.

"We will cooperate to the utmost to stop this sort of thing and take disciplinary action from our point of view," he said.

Coed Dies in Auto Accident Only One Block from SJS

Funeral services for a 19-year-old SJS coed killed one block from campus early Saturday morning will be held in Van Nuys tomorrow.

Patti Alpert, junior education major, was pronounced dead on arrival at San Jose Hospital. She died of multiple head injuries when thrown through the door of her date's car about 2 a.m. Saturday.

Driver of the car was Kenneth B. Hunt, a 17-year-old SJS freshman. He was also taken to San Jose Hospital but was released Saturday afternoon after a check-up. He told officers he and his date were returning from a fraternity party.

Hunt's auto collided with a car driven by Isaac B. Ramirez, a 27-year-old laborer, of 337 N. Fourth St., according to police reports. Ramirez was treated for minor injuries and released.

The accident occurred at the corner of Third and San Antonio Streets.

Hunt was traveling south on Third Street and failed to stop for the flashing red light at the intersection, police said.

Hunt's car traveled 61 feet after the impact and ran into the annex of the First Baptist Church on the corner.

Ramirez' car was knocked 44 feet and struck a tree.

Hunt was cited for failing to stop at a flashing red light. No other information from the police department was available at press time.

Miss Alpert, a resident of Gordon Hall, 470 S. 11th St., was a member of the hall's standards committee, a group which sets regulations and rules for the living center, according to Mr. and Mrs. Ben Shelton, houseparents.

The coed listed her permanent address at the home of her mother, Mrs. Marjorie Alpert, 15101 Magnolia, Sherman Oaks. Funeral services will be held at the Praisewater Mortuary in Van Nuys.

Law School Applications Available

Seniors planning to enter law school next fall can obtain information bulletins and application forms for the national Law School Admission Test from the Political Science office, CH146.

According to Dr. Theodore Norton, pre-law adviser, the test is required by most American law schools. The test can be taken on any one of four dates: Nov. 9, Feb. 8, April 18 and Aug. 4. The applications must reach the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J., not less than two weeks before the test date selected and a $12 fee must accompany the application.

A description of the test, sample questions and a list of the places where the test will be given are included in the information bulletin.

New State College Sites Approved By Board of Trustees

The sites for two new state colleges have been approved by the California State College Board of Trustees.

The board also set what seems to be a new precedent in that both proposed schools will be named "California State College," at Palos Verdes and San Bernardino, respectively.

The Palos Verdes school, still on the drawing boards, was originally named South Bay State College. The site is located within the city of Rolling Hills Estates.

The San Bernardino branch of the California State Colleges is also in the blueprint stage. The new institution will be built near the city of San Bernardino.

Oriental Approach Is Lecture Topic

"The most famous Korean alive," is the U.N. World description of the man who will speak in Concert Hall at 11:30 Wednesday. The College Lecture Committee and the Associated Student Body is sponsoring Younghill Kang's talk entitled, "Peace of Mind: An Oriental Approach."

The author, teacher and lecturer will speak on the Oriental approach to spiritual equilibrium and the contrasts between the psychology of East and West. Pearl S. Buck has said Kang is a lecturer with an "eloquent, provocative platform manner." The public is invited.

Free Driving Lessons, Anyone?

Non-drivers at SJS may take free driving lessons through a program headed by Dr. Marland Strasser, associate professor of industrial arts. Interested students will meet tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. in IA228.

THE MYSTERIOUS DOG

WHAT'S UP?—Sophomore journalism major Sherry Brown seems perplexed and there's a reason. When leaving a class Friday morning, she saw the above four-legged canine tied to a file case in the Journalism Building. According to rumors, the female dog, whose name is Little Soldier, comes to school with her master at least twice a week.

Prof Asks Demos 'To Clean House'

Editor:

It is always interesting to read Dr. Weed's comments on Republican political activity. Actually, I don't think that Dr. Weed has anything to be gleeful about. The recent growth of conservative strength in Republican circles — and the accompanying dismissal of "me-too" and "modern" politicians should serve as a warning to Democrats that a new and viable political force is growing under their very noses. The liberal hegemony of 30 years duration finally is being challenged to fight not only in the realm of ideas, but on the battlefield of American politics.

As to "Democratic plots," the Democrats seem barely able to find enough agreement between the racists and the socialists that are encompassed by that party's benevolence, to frame a meaningful political platform! I suggest that before Dr. Weed criticizes party splits in the Republican party, he should seek to split away some of the lunatic left and the racist collectivists from his own party.

Until the Democratic Party

cleans its own house of eastern political bosses, bigots, and leftist buffoons, it remains incapable of such intricate and delicate maneuvers as the political plot. It is to the credit of the Republican Party that it does not fear controversy, and demands consistency in its action and words. We are a conservative party, and proud of it—we have no place in our party for racists, socialists, or political bosses.

Textbook Expenses Attacked by Writer

Editor:

It seems a shame to start the semester with a nasty letter to the newspaper, so I deliberately hesitated before poisoning my pen for this little diatribe. But after discussing the matter with several other people, and receiving enthusiastic support for my views, I now feel I should express them publicly.

So far, I have spent more than $60 for books and supplies this semester, and I'm taking only 12 units. I have talked with people taking 15 or more units and found they have spent $70 and $80 for their books. Why should it cost the student more each semester to buy books than it costs him to go to school? What is so precious about these books that commands such high prices? And what about these paperback books? If they can print and sell "Rise and Fall of the Third Reich" for $1.65, why then does it cost $3.50 for a collection of "selected readings" called "Words That Made American History."

This is just one small example of the sort of thing which keeps our bookstores happily raking in the money. Doesn't the assurance of an automatic sale of three or four hundred of these books at each bookstore lend some degree of comfort to our insecure publishers and their henchmen, the bookdealers? Or is this perhaps an area of business similar to that of another "supplier of one of life's necessities," the mortician?

Is or isn't our campus bookstore supposed to be run on a non-profit basis? If not, why not? The money allotted each year out of the student body fund for that nonsense called Student Government could just as well be spent on books to create a discount for the students.

And, why do textbooks have to be revised every other year? What earth-shaking discoveries could possibly have been made that could not be covered in an inexpensive supplement or addendum?

Class Visits Urged For Parents' Day

Editor:

I am impressed with Parents' Day. I think that the idea is wonderful. I read in the Spartan Daily of Tuesday, the first, that the day is "planned to acquaint parents with SJS." I like this thought. I also read that the day "featured campus tours, a President's Reception, a luncheon and open house in approved living centers." Well, I don't like this.

The emphasis is wrong; the approach is off center; the aim is missing the target.

SJS is the classroom. Our college is not Tower Hall; it is not the football team; it is not President Wahlquist. The visible essence of San Jose State College is in our classrooms. What happens in the classroom is the main thing. So, if we are going to "acquaint parents with SJS," we have to let them attend some of our classes.

I once went to a college that had an annual Visitors' Day, when all the classroom doors were left open. High school seniors, parents, and hobos wandered in and out at leisure. The professors and the students got to ham it up a bit, and the visitors got an inside look at what really happens in the college. I think that a program like this would be very appropriate for SJS, for our classes are of a very high caliber.

In conclusion, I would like to suggest that Parents' Day become Visitors' Day, for I believe that anybody interested in SJS should be able to find out what really happens here, and I also believe that this would help our reputation—immensely. I also would suggest that Visitors' Day—a Sunday for the visitors to get oriented, and a Monday for them to go to our classes—the heart of SJS.

FOR LA TORRE

It's been six years and 15 home contests — including Saturday's SJS victory — since an Aggie team has been beaten at its Logan, Utah, campus site. The big Ute linemen made certain San Jose wasn't going to alter Utah's winning ways.

Rand Carter, SJS quarterback, was the nation's third best percentage passer (65 per cent) coming into the game. "The Rifle" was harassed all day by the Aggie defensive line, and the Spartan passing game, which had to click in order to unseat the Utes, sputtered.

Carter was good on just four of 13 attempts for a meager 20 yards. Ken Berry, his replacement, stepped away from Utah State before the long enough to complete five of seven for 69 yards.

San Jose appeared "fired-up" the first time it handled the ball. Walt Roberts twisted his way for 29 yards on the first SJS offensive play of the game.

The Spartans, however, gained just 67 yards on the ground and 87 through the air. Utah State, 2-1 on the season, rolled up 290 yards, 229 off passes.

Bill Munson, formerly of Football College, figured in every yard Utah State made on passes, hitting on 15 of 24 tosses.

Munson threw a 23-yard touchdown pass to Roger Foulk, scored another on a four-yard run and set up each Aggie TD with timely passes.

The Spartan defense, in the first half, played a hard-socking game, until Munson fired a fourth down TD pass to Foulk at 11:35 of the second quarter.

Munson was thrown for an eight-yard loss by Bob Bonds and had an incomplete pass before Foulk made a fine fingertip catch on the goal line.

Utah's big line, held to a stand-off by SJS during a punt-filled first quarter, went to work after the first score.

Giving Munson plenty of protection and opening sizable holes for fullback Bill Mattson to blast through, the Utah "wall of granite" showed why the Aggie offense has been near the 400-yard mark in total offense in their last two games.

Utah stopped San Jose two yards shy of a score in the final period, with the Aggies leading 14-0. Roberts intercepted a pass and returned it 13 yards to the Ute 54.

On the first play from scrimmage, Cass Jackson, who SJS Coach Bob Titchenal praised highly for a strong offensive and defensive game, raced 26 yards to the eight.

In two thrusts, fullback Herb Engel moved the ball to the two. Jackson lost a yard on the next play and, on fourth down, Carter, trying to pass, was nailed for a five-yard loss by Larry Bryan.

It was obvious the Spartans, now 1-2, missed the running of Charlie Harraway at fullback. Harraway stayed home with an ankle injury. Mattson showed the spectators what they would have seen, had Charlie been there.

Mattson rambled for five and 20 yards and Munson connected with fullback Darrell Steele on a 25-yard pass to set up Munson's sweep, again coming on a fourth down. Mattson ran 10 yards for the final Utah TD.

The punting of Bob Paterson, SJS junior, kept Utah backed-up near its goal line—for awhile, anyway. Paterson averaged 42.8 on eight punts, including 66 and 55-yarders.

SJS Poloists Bomb Fresno, Set Record

By MIKE MURPHY

There are some nights when one should stay home!

Fresno State's water polo team muttered that to themselves after absorbing an unbelievable 31-7 shelling by San Jose State Friday night in the Spartan pool.

After putting up a stout first quarter, the Bulldogs were swimming in a "twilight zone" for the rest of the game as the Spartans declared open season on Fresno goalies.

San Jose State scored nine times before the half, caged 12 in a racehorse third period and scooped in seven in the final period to set a new school and pool single-game scoring record.

Coach Ara Hairabedian admitted that the weakest spot on the Bulldog team was the goalie position, and he proved himself an honest scout.

Goals whizzed in from everywhere as Fresno starting goalie Chuck Temerin just lacked the speed and experience. His reliefman Terry Harper didn't do any better against the Spartan reserves.

Dick Riddle and Gary Read each scored four goals for the Spartans, as 12 locals crashed the scoring column. Tony Atencio, held in check for the first half, scored five of Fresno's six goals in the second half to wind up the night's high scorer.

For San Jose State, it was a pleasant and easy win. They finally jelled as a team, passing well, shooting well, and hitting the open man. The win left the Spartans at 1-2 in NorCal League play.

The varsity and two frosh games gave San Jose State a combined score of 79 compared with 14 for the opposition, which must be some sort of a record. The triple-header was witnessed by a near-capacity crowd of 720.

Kingsley, Fraser Goals Aid Booters' Upset of Falcons

Air Force scored first, but San Jose State scored more often Friday night, as the Spartan soccer men took a 6-5 victory from the Falcons at Spartan Stadium.

Lou Fraser and Dave Kingsley scored goals in the final quarter that lifted the Spartans from a 4-4 tie and gave them their fourth win of the year. Coach Julie Mendez' charges have yet to lose this season.

Air Force controlled the ball through the early minutes of the first quarter, and scored with less than five minutes elapsed in the contest.

Co-captain Jim Renschen picked up the goal on a head-shot. It was one of three goals for Renschen, who tied with Spartan Dave Kingsley for the scoring leadership of the game.

San Jose bounced back with a pair of goals within the next five minutes. Inside left Efiok Akpan and Kingsley booted the tallies.

Kingsley, the inside right, added his second goal in the opening minutes of the second quarter, but the offenses of both teams were held down for the rest of the half.

Renschen pulled the Academy team to within a goal, after a scoring shot by Spartan Al Korbus had been discounted because the ball had been touched by a player.

After Spartan Lou Fraser and Falcon Jim Perry had scored off-setting goals, AFA goalie Dan Holoviak kept his team in the game with two fine saves. Renschen tied the score on a breakthrough just before the end of the third quarter.

The San Jose team, which had seemed to be weakening in the third quarter, came back strong in the final stanza. After six of the final 22 minutes had elapsed, Fraser kicked his second goal. A good pass by Korbus helped to set up the tally.

Kingsley hit his third goal on a head shot with less than five minutes left on the scoreboard.

Air Force scored again in the final two minutes on a shot off the head of the San Jose defenders.

Mendez said he was pleased with the work of his defense, particularly Ed Zumot and Colin Lindores, the two fullbacks. Goalie Valdis Svans was also effective.

Today the Spartans travel north for a game with San Francisco State College. The team returns home Thursday for a match with the University of San Francisco. The contest will be played at Spartan Stadium, beginning at 8 p.m.

Frosh Mangle Palo Alto, Monterey in Twin Win

The San Jose frosh water polo squad showed why they will be tough to beat in the NorCal League this year by humiliating Monterey Peninsula JC, 33-1, Friday night in a triple-header at the Spartan pool.

It was the second game of the evening for the Spartababes, who were given a tougher fight by Palo Alto High in the first game, winning 15-6.

Jack Likins had a banner evening for San Jose, firing home 12 goals, six in each game. Bruce Cotter had six against Monterey and one in the Paly game for second honors with seven.

Tremendous team speed and scoring ability on the part of the frosh showed itself early in both games. Paly put up a stiffer defense, holding the locals to a 7-3 halftime advantage.

Monterey was bombed 11-0 in the first period, after losing two top players, Mike Collier and Bob Baker, for unsportsmanlike conduct.

San Jose reserves scored seven in the second quarter to lead 18-1 at the intermission. The first string came in just long enough to frost the cake with seven goals in the third period.

Increasing their unbeaten record to 4-0, the Spartababes even got their goalies into the scoring act in the second game. Gary Fit-schen came out of the cage to put in three points after playing a near perfect game as a goaltender.

Bill Fredericksen, also chimed in with a score.

Rides To Oregon Are Being Arranged For Football Game

Busses have been chartered for the SJS-U. of Oregon game, Nov. 2.

Any student over 18 may make reservations for the bus trip to Eugene, Ore., to see the game.

The cost is $29.80 a person. This includes transportation both ways, live folk music on the bus, hotel accommodations, hootenany after the game, and free admission to the game for ASB holders. Meals would be an additional expense, according to Stan Llead, who helped to organize the trip.

The busses will leave from in front of the Men's Gym, Friday, Nov. 1 at 10 p.m. The busses are expected to arrive in Eugene from two to three hours before the game.

Reservations will be made to accommodate students at a hotel in Eugene, where there will be a hootenany Nov. 2, after the game.

The group will be back in San Jose by Sunday evening. Interested students may send a check or money order for $29.80 and two self-addressed envelopes to Stan Llead, KSJO, 1350 Story Road. Tickets or possible cancellation notices will be returned in these envelopes.

Engineering Dept. Schedules Seventh Career Day

The seventh annual "Careers in Engineering and Science Day" is set for Saturday, Oct. 12, 8:15 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Representatives from 23 companies in the field of engineering, aeronautics, and industrial technology will talk to students about employment opportunities currently existing in the industry.

Pre-registration will be accepted at the Engineering office Monday through Wednesday. A registration fee of 50 cents will be charged.

"It is primarily aimed at juniors and graduating seniors," Dr. Edward Anderson, professor of electrical engineering, said. "However, I would encourage freshmen and sophomores to attend, too, so that they may plan their careers early."

Show Legs

MIAMI, (UPI)—A Florida service station operator claimed his gallonage sales jumped from 11,000 to 30,000 after he switched to girl attendants, all dressed in shorts.

Student Bikes Stolen at SJS; '150 Every Month,' Says Sgt.

"It's gone!" Each month, at least 25 SJS students utter these same words. Many have lost their only means of transportation to and from school and around town.

Their bicycles have been stolen. An additional 150 are reported stolen each month in San Jose alone, which amounts to an annual loss of $78,000.

BIKES LICENSED

According to Sgt. Joseph Pinkston, San Jose Police Department, Bicycle Division, the majority of two-wheelers recovered are those licensed. For example, of the 175 bikes reported missing during August, 132 bearing licenses were recovered, but only five, sans license, were returned.

On the subject of bicycle licensing, Sgt. Pinkston says, "The California Department of Motor Vehicles, on September 20, put into effect a law which, in essence, states that unlicensed bicycles may be cited and impounded."

He pointed out that licenses are for the protection of the owners, and provide a means of positive identification useful in returning a stolen bicycle in case of theft.

He also added, "Bikes fall under the jurisdiction of many city and state ordinances governing automobiles, in particular, moving and parking violations. Students must realize that San Jose Police now have the authority to issue citations and/or impound bicycles for violations of state and local laws." (College Security Police also have this authority on campus.)

SAME AS CARS

Bicycles may also be cited for not having a valid license, for being illegally parked, and for being in an unsafe operating condition.

"In compliance with this new state law," Sgt. Pinkston concluded, "I urge all students who own unlicensed bicycles to take them to the nearest fire station for registration. The cost is one dollar, but it may prove to be a very valuable investment."

Historical Beer

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Beer has been around for as long as recorded history, and most of it was not only consumed in the home, but made there, according to Leonard Faupel, official of P. Balantine and Sons, brewers.

"The first New World brewery," said Faupel, "was built in the early 17th century, near the present New York financial section, but William Penn made his own beer and so did George Washington. One American writer said in 1810: 'Beer is now the common table drink of every family in easy circumstances.'"

Geologist Will Lecture For SJS Club

Dr. Robert Coleman of the United States Geological Survey will deliver a lecture on "Serpentinites" (magnesian iron silicates) Wednesday night at 7:30 in S258. The talk is sponsored by the SJS Geology Club and open to the public.

Dr. Coleman, who recently returned from a one-year rock formation study in Australia and New Zealand, will compare serpentine rock formations in those two countries with similar strata in the Franciscan-Knoxville Formation of the California Coast Range.

The serpentine formations in New Zealand and Australia are reportedly fully exposed, while those in California are predominantly underground.

Dr. Coleman received his B.S. from Oregon State University in 1948, his M.S. from Stanford University in 1950, and his Ph.D. from Stanford in 1957. The speaker was a mineralogist for the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission from 1952 to 1957.

He was a geology instructor at Oregon State University in 1949 and at Louisiana State University. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

On Campus with Max Strubman
(By the Author of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!" and "Barefoot Boy With Check.")

BOOM!

Today, foregoing levity, let us turn our keen young minds to the principal problem facing American colleges today: the population explosion. Only last week four people exploded in Cleveland, Ohio—one of them while carrying a plate of soup. In case you're thinking such a thing couldn't happen anywhere but in Cleveland, let me tell you about two other cases last week—a 45-year-old man in Provo, Utah, and a 19-year-old girl in Northfield, Minnesota. And, in addition, there was a near miss in High Point, North Carolina—an eight-year-old boy who was saved only by the quick thinking of his cat, Fred, who pushed the phone off the hook with his muzzle and dialed the department of weights and measures. (It would, perhaps, have been more logical for Fred to dial the fire department, but one can hardly expect a cat to summon a fire engine which is followed by a Dalmatian, can one?)

But I digress. The population explosion, I say, is upon us. It is, of course, cause for concern but not for alarm, because I feel sure that science will ultimately find an answer. After all, has not science in recent years brought us such marvels as the maser, the bevatron, and the Marlboro filter? Oh, what a saga of science was the discovery of the Marlboro filter! Oh, what a heart-rending epic of trial and error, of dedication and perseverance! And, in the end, what a triumph it was when the Marlboro research team, after years of testing and discarding one filter material after another—iron, nickel, tin, antimony, obsidian, pounce—finally emerged, tired but happy, from their laboratory, carrying in their hands the perfect filter cigarette! Indeed, what rejoicing there still is whenever we light up a Marlboro which comes to us in soft pack and Flip-Top Box in all fifty states and Cleveland!

Yes, science will ultimately solve the problems arising from the population explosion, but meanwhile America's colleges are in dire straits. Where can we find classrooms and teachers for today's gigantic influx of students?

Well sir, some say the solution is to adopt the trimester system. This system, already in use at many colleges, eliminates summer vacations, has three semesters per annum instead of two, and compresses a four-year-course into three years.

This is, of course, good, but is it good enough? Even under the trimester system the student has occasional days off. Moreover, his nights are utterly wasted in sleeping. Is this the kind of all-out attack that is indicated?

I say no. I say desperate situations call for desperate remedies. I say that partial measures will not solve this crisis. I say we must do no less than go to school every single day of the year. But that is not all. I say we must go to school 24 hours of every day!

The benefits of such a program are, as you can see, obvious. First of all, the classroom shortage will disappear because all the dormitories can be converted into classrooms. Second, the teacher shortage will disappear because all the night watchmen can be put to work teaching solid state physics and Restoration drama. And finally, overcrowding will disappear because everybody will quit school.

Any further questions: © 1963 Max Strubman

Yes, one further question: the makers of Marlboro, who sponsor this column, would like to know whether you have tried a Marlboro lately. It's the filter cigarette with a man's world of flavor. Settle back and enjoy one soon.
