Corps Week Brings Reps To Campus

Group To Give Ability Tests Thrice Daily

A team of newly returned Peace Corps volunteers and officials of the Washington staff will be on campus during Peace Corps Week which begins Monday.

Representatives will be available to answer questions about the Peace Corps from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. at a tent located outside the cafeteria.

Volunteers for the Peace Corps will take a one hour placement test. There is no passing score, but the test helps the Peace Corps to evaluate the volunteer's abilities.

The Peace Corps placement test will be given on campus three times daily Wednesday through Saturday.

Last October, during Peace Corps Week at SJS, 287 students volunteered for service.

Presently there are 75 SJS students serving in the Corps, and nine others have completed their two-year service.

Approximately 25 students were accepted for training this summer as a result of recruiting last semester.

Currently SJS is among the top 10 colleges most responsive to the Corps.

Seniors and graduate students who apply through Peace Corps recruiters on campus before April 11 can get into a training program early this summer.

There are opportunities for Peace Corps work in various fields of study in 46 countries.

Trustee Meeting 'Like A Calm Sea' Yesterday in S.F.

The second day meeting of the State College Board of Trustees in San Francisco was like a calm sea compared to the storm of Wednesday's discussion of the San Francisco State College faculty revolt.

The Trustees did not discuss the problem at yesterday's meeting.

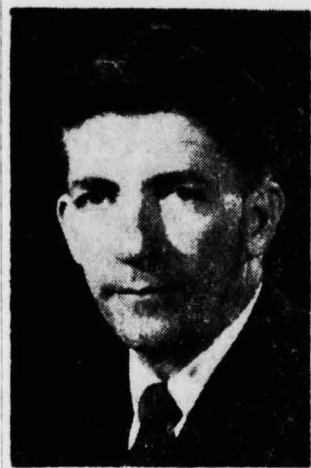

In an atmosphere of greater civility and informality and without the presence of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, the Trustees concluded their business with the passage of a resolution to change the name of Orange State College to the California State College at Fullerton.

The ad hoc committee to study problems arising between faculty and the chancellor's office was created and held its first organizational meeting Wednesday. The committee members are: Trustee Louis Heilbron, chairman; Charles Luckman, chairman of the Board of Trustees; Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke; vice-chancellor Ray Rydell; Julian MacPhee, president of Cal Poly; Malcolm A. Love, president of San Diego State; the state-wide academic Senate's president Leonard Mather, and vice president, John Lannell; G. A. McCallum, chairman of the SJS Academic Senate; and Dr. Leo McClatchey of SFS.

Sings Novelty Winner On KSJS Tonight

Tonight KSJS-FM will present the winning performance of the 1962 novelty division of Sparta Singers, sung by Alpha Chi Omega and Phi Sigma Kappa. The groups will be aired on the Spartan Show at 4:30 p.m.

Aviation Official To Speak Next Week

NAJEEB E. HALABY... dedication speaker

Najeeb E. Halaby, administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, will speak at the SJS Aeronautical Laboratory dedication luncheon next Friday at 1 p.m. in the hangar of the new building at the San Jose Municipal Airport.

Thomas E. Leonard, head of the aeronautics department, will preside over the luncheon. The $1 million laboratory will be accepted by Dean Norman O. Gunderson of the engineering division, and Dr. William J. Dusel, vice president of SJS, will introduce Halaby.

In appointing Halaby to the FAA, Jan. 19, 1961, the late President John Kennedy remarked, "We have looked for the best qualified and professionally competent man. We have found him in Jeb Halaby."

Besides having worked as a Navy and civilian test pilot, among a variety of professional employment in the aeronautics field, Halaby is a member of the bar in California, the District of Columbia, and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Halaby's presence on campus will coincide with a three-day meeting of the fourth Aviation Technician Education Council and the federally appointed Study of Aviation's Future Manpower Requirements Board.

High School Youth To Visit Campus For Career Day

Teaching Career Day will bring approximately 500 high school students to this campus tomorrow to participate in Career Day.

The event is sponsored by the SJS Division of Education and the local chapter of the Student California Teachers Association.

About 100 high schools in Santa Clara, Monterey, Santa Cruz, Alameda, and San Mateo counties will be represented at Career Day.

Activities of the day will include two meetings in Concert Hall, discussion groups, luncheon in the Spartan Cafeteria, and a campus tour.

A panel discussion, "What Is a Teacher," will highlight the first meeting of the day. Dr. William B. Spring, assistant professor of secondary education at SJS, will be moderator of the panel.

Panel members will include Donald Eldridge, elementary teacher, Inverness School; Mrs. Harriet Slater, assistant professor of elementary education, SJS; Mrs. Nettie Goddard, English teacher, Roosevelt Junior High; and Curtis R. Cooper, Spanish teacher, Sunnyvale High.

Deadline Today For AWS Offices

Candidates for AWS offices must return petitions to the College Union today and attend the 3 p.m. meeting in the AWS lounge.

Officers to be elected next Wednesday and Thursday are president, first vice president, second vice president, secretary, and treasurer.

'Is SJS Second-Rate School?'

Goldworth Chairs Forum Discussion At 7 Tonight

By DAVE PAYNE

Students, do you know that there is no way of escaping the fact that a degree from San Jose State is inferior?

Do you know that it is not wise for an ambitious student to stay at SJS?

Faculty members, do you know you will prosper at SJS if you stay content and don't question the present scheme of things? After all, tame and tenured professors are easy to control because they have no intellectual energy.

According to an anonymous writer in the recent quarterly magazine, "Dissent," San Jose State is a second-rate college because of the above and many more reasons.

Dr. Amnon Goldworth, assistant professor of philosophy, will be the moderator of a panel-forum tonight on the question, "Is San Jose State a second-rate school?"

The forum will begin at 7 p.m. (not 7:30, as previously reported) in the faculty section of the cafeteria, and is open to all faculty and students.

Faculty members Dr. Fred Weed, political science, and Dr. Marvin Lee, economics, will join students Kim Maxwell, political science major, and Karen Schmidt, psychology major, on the panel.

Dr. Goldworth feels that the anonymous writer either was or is closely associated with SJS. The writer started his article with a down-grade of the California State College system and then uses SJS as an example.

"This is supposed to be a free-speaking institution. Why doesn't the author, or maybe it's more than one, reveal himself?" Goldworth questioned.

This question and many more are expected to arise from an anticipated overflow crowd.

Election Fervor Begins For Political Hopefuls

Candidates for ASE and AWS elections are now in a last week campaign fling for elections next Wednesday and Thursday, April 8 and 9.

The two political parties on campus, SPUR and FOCUS, are scheduling political speeches at living centers each night until election day.

All students are eligible to vote for ASE president, vice president, executive secretary, treasurer, attorney general, and three chief justices. Students vote by classes for four class representatives to Student Council.

All women are eligible to vote for AWS officers. Polling booths will be open in front of Spartan Bookstore and the cafeteria from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. both days.

Howard Blonsky, election board chairman, requests any complaints stating violations of election code must be submitted to him in typewritten form.

Only two of the five executive positions are being contested. Run-ing unopposed for student body president is Bob Pisano. Also throwing their hats in the political ring are Pete Briggs and John Hendricks for vice president; Frank Bardsely and Don Phelps, executive secretary; Jack Perkins, treasurer; and Bruce McDonald, attorney general.

Candidates drew numbers for the order their names will appear on the ballot.

Vying for sophomore representative are John Bruckman, Wes Watkins, Pam Mangseth, Rick Trout, Claudia DeLong, and Bill Clark.

Eight students are running for the four positions open for junior representative. They are Raymond Mirizzi, Marty Stenrud, Larry Ferrario, Bob Pitcher, Leslie Sears, Rick Medeiros, J. J. Fraser, and Steve Thomas.

Contesting for senior representative seats are David Thind, Bill Belcher, Robbin Phillips, Marilyn Cox, Chuck Overs, Rick Sparacino, and Mike Freed.

Only candidate for graduate representative is Bob Powers. Two seats are open.

James Baldwin's Documentary Film Shown Today

"Take This Hammer," James Baldwin's controversial documentary of his tour of San Francisco's Hunter's Point, will be shown this afternoon at 3:30 in TH55.

The uncut version of this often censored film is sponsored by Toward an Active Student Community (TASC), the Student Peace Union (SPU), and the college committee of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

In the documentary, the Negro author interviews young people, many of them Black Muslims. Frank comments on the feelings and plans of these people, and their attitude toward the white community is the result of Baldwin's work.

Also on the program will be George Wilson, a Hayward attorney for the Fair Employment Practices Commission, who will discuss the legal history of the Rumford Fair Housing Act.

Dr. Henry G. Pitchford, assistant professor of sociology, will speak on the southern ghettos.

Rule Magazine To Go On Sale

The spring issue of The Rule, magazine published by the Engineering Division, will be on sale Monday and Tuesday in the lobby of the Engineering Building and in front of the cafeteria.

Rulemate for this issue is Miss Barbara Franzia, senior business secretarial major.

The lead article of the April issue discusses space system reliability testing in orbital flight stimulators.

Math Conference Here

ington State College, Professor E. Glenadine Gibb, Iowa State Teachers College and John Marks, SJS math professor. The two-day symposium, part of the NSF's Academic Year Institute program, will close this afternoon with a group discussion on "Academic Year Institutes and Their Problems."

Friday Flicks

New time and a new place mark a change in this week's Friday Flicks. Two showings of "Flower Drum Song" at 6:30 and 9:45 p.m. will be in Concert Hall Friday. Admission is 35 cents.

"Flower Drum Song" is a happy musical based on Rodgers and Hammerstein's Broadway original, full of music, dances, comedy and pathos. Nancy Kwan, James Shigeta and Miyoshi Umeki star in the film concerned with the conflict between age-old Oriental customs and the ring-a-ding modernities of life today in San Francisco's Chinatown.

Vice Presidential Candidate Briggs Active in Politics

Pete Briggs, FOCUS-presented candidate for ASE vice president, is a graduate student with campus political experience at both SJS and Willamette University, Salem, Ore.

PETE BRIGGS... VP candidate

Briggs was graduated from Willamette with a B.A. degree in math and physics. He was president of the council of independent students, executive assistant to the student body president at the northern university, and served two years on the Student Senate.

In three years at SJS, Briggs has been active in a number of campus programs. He has served three years as graduate representative to student council and the election board, where he was responsible for developing the present IBM system of voting at SJS.

Among his many ASE positions, Briggs has served as ASE parliamentarian, chairman of the constitution-by-laws committee, chairman of the College Union architect selection committee, and co-chairman of the ASE needs survey committee.

In addition to taking an active part in campus affairs, Briggs has been employed as a corporate vice president in a local construction company.

State College System Faces Investigation

MORE THAN HALF of the San Francisco College faculty recently signed a petition charging that the California State College System is strangling its 18-member schools of their individualism, among other things. The petition, sent to Governor Edmund G. Brown and the California Legislature, suggested an investigation of the policies of Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke and the State College Board of Trustees. In essence, the petition maintains that Dumke and the board:

- Don't fight hard in Sacramento for enough money to run the fast-growing colleges correctly.
- Give the faculty no voice in what they should teach, and how.
- Are dictatorial in policy matters.
- Are setting up entrance restrictions that will admit only academic grinds, and not the average student.
- Are trying to turn the colleges into identical copies of each other in "Ivy League" pattern.

Although the protest was initiated at San Francisco State, it has spread quickly throughout the State College System.

The California Federation of Teachers, a member of the AFL-CIO and the first group to back up SFS faculty, was critical of admissions and academic policies set up by the trustees.

The Association of California State College professors joined the SFS faculty in asking for an investigation of the trustees.

Arley Howsden, president of the California College and University Faculty Assn., has said: "Increased centralization of decisions at the state college headquarters in Inglewood, without regard for local campuses, is damaging the system."

The San Jose State Academic Council entered the controversy early this week when it passed a resolution supporting the statewide Academic Senate's proposal for "a clarification of the role of trustees and the chancellor in administrative matters of the individual colleges."

At Wednesday's Board of Trustees' meeting in San Francisco, the group spent more than an hour refuting the charges in the SFS faculty petition.

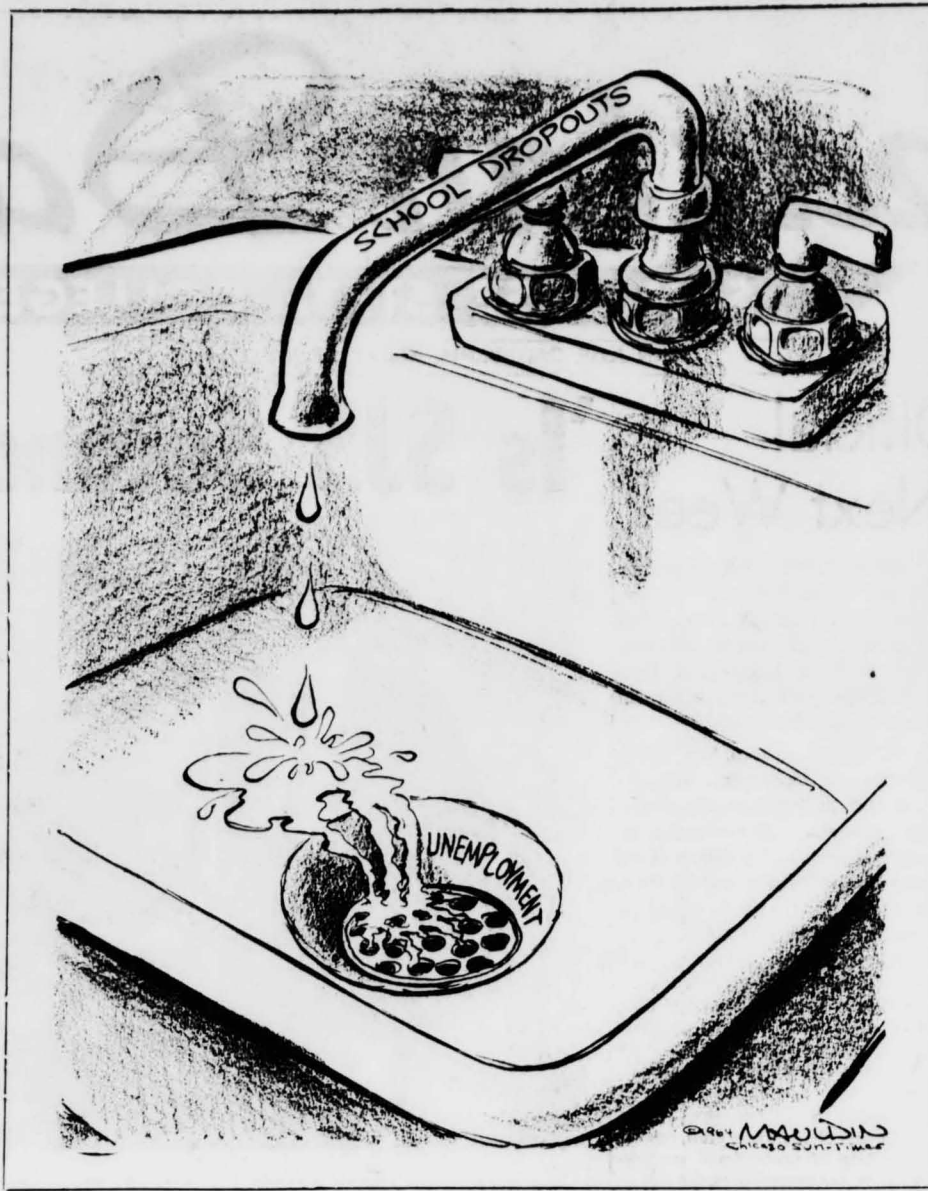

However, before the meeting closed, the board adopted a resolution to create an ad hoc committee to study problems arising between state college faculty and the chancellor's office.

The committee will be composed of two non-voting members of the Board of Trustees, two state college presidents, two members of the chancellor's office, two chairmen of local Academic Senates and two representatives from the statewide Academic Senate.

We're glad the Board of Trustees has recognized the need for a close look into the matter. After all, too many educational units have spotted what they believe are holes in the system and it is only natural that a group should investigate whether these holes actually exist and, if so, how they can be plugged up.

The newly-formed committee will hold periodic work sessions, and formulate progress reports for presentation to the Board of Trustees at its regular meeting. The trustees will consider recommendations of the committee for possible action only after the recommendations have been presented to the Academic Senate and the presidents of California's state colleges.

We eagerly look forward to the results of the investigation. After all, SJS and the other 17 state colleges are, in essence, the State College System. Their well-being and future growth may be at stake.—R. B.

Pigeon Point

On May 6, 1853, the clipper ship Carrier Pigeon, 129 days out of Boston crept through thick fog off the coast of central California. She was behind schedule on her maiden voyage to San Francisco after spending ten days becalmed off Cape Horn.

Capt. Azariah Doane kept the ship moving through the fog in an effort to make up lost time. Thinking he was near the San Francisco Farallon Islands, he pushed the tiller to the right. Grinding and cracking noises heralded his mistake. The ship grounded on a submerged reef that splintered her keel. All hands and cargo were saved, but the Carrier Pigeon, along with her well-carved pigeon figurehead, sunk. Other ship disasters followed on the reef, some accompanied by passenger fatalities.

Today, to warn ships of the reef and rocky coastline, one of the nation's tallest lighthouses stands on the wind-beaten promontory (renamed Pigeon Point as a monument to the Carrier Pigeon) overlooking the surf and the reef some 30 miles north of Santa Cruz near Pescadero.

Pigeon Point Lighthouse was constructed with congressional funds in 1872. The 115-foot chalk-white tower capped by a black iron dome resembles New England lighthouses. It was built on what the Spanish called Punta de los Ballenas (Point of the Whales). Whale Cove at the foot of the point was first used by Portuguese whalers. They built cottages and warehouses on the shore near the cove.

Congress purchased the acre of land for the lighthouse from John H. McKay's Spanish grant De La Punt Del Ano Nuevo.

Frenchman Henry LaPoute designed the light's lens which consists of 1,003 pieces of hand-polished glass. It was first used at Fort Sumter Light in Charleston, S.C., but was buried in the sand on a Charleston beach to prevent its destruction during the Civil War. Light from a 1,000-watt bulb magnified through the lens creates a beam that can be seen for 18 miles.

Pigeon Point Lighthouse is one of four hundred lighthouses on the nation's coastline operated by the United States Coast Guard. Twenty of these are located in northern California. Four Coast Guard families run the light.

Pigeon Point can be reached from campus by driving north on California 1 from Santa Cruz or taking the Alpine and Pescadero Roads from Route 5. Visiting hours are: 1 to 3 p.m. on weekdays and 1 to 4 p.m. on weekends and holidays.

'Tower List' Topic Of Prof. Porter

The reported progress of the Tau Delta "Tower List" looks very good. Within five years, if we but will it and work for it, we will be able to take a trip east of Oakland and have people say, "Did you say you're from SAN JOSE STATE?" rather than "SAN JOSE STATE? . . . SAN JOSE STATE? . . . wut t'ell's San Jose State?"

However, the Tower List apparently takes for granted the efficacy and desirability of the orthodox large-group classroom lecture-discussion technique as standard procedure. Such observers as Churchill, Dewey, Whitehead, and Conant have suspected that Gutenberg made the classroom obsolete away back about 1425. Recent research reports from scholars such as Pinister & Gagne give powerful support to that view.

So the Tau Deltas may have to extend their inquiries into additional realms if they really want to—in Conant's words—"make a real contribution to overhauling the philosophical foundations of education, which today consist of crumbling pillars of the past placed on a sand of ignorance and pretension" (The Education of American Teachers, p. 131).

Your country's need for quality education has never been more desperate, lads, so go to it full-steam!

ferences of opinion which arise in my mind. You state that it seems somewhat ridiculous, or even wrong, to be advertising religion, wigs, or drag racing in the Spartan Daily. Advertising is concerned with all of these subjects just as with automobiles, clothes, specialty items, etc. Advertising is a communicative means of presenting a message to the public. This message is presented to the public with a basic objective in mind. It tries to convince or persuade the reader or listener to focus his attention on that message and the product or service which is being advertised. However, the choice is still up to the reader! He makes the decision as to what he will read. Mr. Heeres, you have made a decision to omit these messages from your perusing; you are also saying that they should be removed from the Spartan Daily. This seems to me to be somewhat narrow minded.

The Spartan Daily has a policy of accepting, subject to adviser's consideration, those messages in which students may be interested. Simply because some students may not be interested in the religious, fashion, or speed racing advertisements does not mean that the ads should be censored.

Demonstrations 'Disgusting': Student

Editor:
 I think demonstrations and sit-ins are among the most disgusting and shameful examples of group behavior. To me they are an ignorant and inconsiderate way of trying to solve a problem. Instead of wasting time and defying the law through public protests, demonstrators should be doing something constructive such as studying or taking any job until they have the education to qualify for decent positions. It is only those Negroes who lack ambition and the desire to improve themselves that excuse their own failures by the color of their skin. They are the ones who cause trouble and disrupt public processes by lying down in hotel lobbies and displacing groceries.

I cannot believe that almost any Negro who has made an honest and diligent effort to reach his potential and become a useful member of society has not been accepted and been given equal opportunities and rewards. There are countless Negroes in this country, who, through hard work and determination, have attained a higher level of status and success than many whites. They are too busy with worthwhile endeavors to worry about finding fault with laws and customs.

These demonstrations which are ill-planned and ill-executed wouldn't be so hard to take if the majority of those who took part were the supposedly persecuted group; that is, the Negro. But 75 per cent of the demonstrators are listless whites, would-be bums, beatniks, and bohemians who use this as their only method for gaining recognition and social approval (or disapproval).

I am for the common dignity and respect of all men, but I am against any man, white or black, who blames his own failures and weaknesses on others.

English Prof Hits 'Crisis' Column

Editor:

Your readers this year have been exposed, willy nilly, to a good deal of the political, economic, and social philosophy of Miss Ayn Rand. The Spartan Daily evidently thinks it unnecessary to counter-balance its presentation of her theories with more orthodox criticism from other members of the college community who also know something of these matters. Or has criticism been quietly suppressed? — if so, this letter is, of course, a waste of time. If not, perhaps some of your readers might enjoy some excerpts from a book review I happened on in the SJS Library: a review by Charles Rolo of Ayn Rand's second novel, "Atlas Shrugged," in The Atlantic Monthly for December, 1957.

After observing that the novel "might be mildly described as execrable claptrap." Mr. Rolo goes on: "Its basic premise is that nothing is more 'obscene' than to do anything for any reason other than self-interest, which is virtually synonymous with monetary gain, for 'money is the root of all good.' Christ and the other prophets of brotherly love have swindled the bulk of mankind into paying tribute to a morality which is hideously immoral. Altruism is the quintessence of evil. Charity, compassion, the desire to give pleasure to others are the vilest of vices—the very use of the word 'give' is verboten in Miss Rand's Utopia." From this ethic, says Mr. Rolo, "there emerges a mystique of production and money-grubbing . . . The machine is most exalted of man's creations. The dollar sign is the Holy Grail."

Since I can spare very little time for either the literary or intellectual Beatniks, I have not read any of Miss Rand's books. I have, however, heard her explain her philosophy in a recorded talk, and I agree with Mr.

Rolo that "what she apparently fails to perceive is that the outlook which animates her book is an extreme expression of the aggressiveness and power worship which have been the Black Death of this century."

What Mr. Rolo thinks—much less what I think—is not of my great consequence. What is important here is that in journalism, as in politics, it is often helpful to know just what basic assumptions make the propagandist speak or write as he does. If we are to have a steady diet of Ayn Rand in the Spartan Daily, we might as least be told about these assumptions.

Pam Swellenbach, Gail Smithson, Wendy Weinberger and Cheryl Bansmer. The purpose of the Little Sisters is to help out the fraternity house in any way possible.

Little Sisters Help Brothers

A little sister can be a big help to her brothers, especially when she's a Little Sister of Minerva.

A tradition at Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity for the past twenty-five years has been the election of girls for the membership in the Little Sisters of Minerva Club. The first group called Little Sisters was founded at UCLA 25 years ago. The purpose of the Little Sisters is to help out the fraternity house in any way possible. This includes picnics, helping with rush, fund-raising drives for the SAE's new house, support at games, pledge sneaks, and even the baking of cookies for the fraternity members during finals.

Recently, the members of SAE elected and serenaded those girls chosen for spring semester Little Sisters of Minerva. Those girls given the traditional lavalier and a bouquet of violets were Gail Smithson, Pam Swellenbach and Wendy Weinberger.

Gamma Phi Beta; Julia Jessen — Kappa Alpha Theta; Cheryl Bansmer and Kathy Patten — Chi Omega; Sherry Ahern and Jane Nolte — Independent. Following the serenades, a party was held by the fraternity members in honor of all the new and old Little Sisters.

Arranging a busy semester of activities for the Little Sisters are Marilyn Perkins, President, Gamma Phi Beta; Pam Gustin, Vice-President, Kappa Alpha Theta; and Jeanne Lopez, Secretary-Treasurer, Sigma Kappa Sorority.

Tonight should prove to be very interesting when I shed my role as Society Editor and investigate the talents of fine arts.

I have been given the pleasure of interviewing and seeing the show of Rusty Warren, a well-known sophisticated humorist. She has caused much controversy in the realm of fine arts from her records and shows. I have been warned not to feel too odd if I end up sitting in the back row with a suddenly sun-burned face!!

'Dr. Strangelove' Digs At Noble Institutions

By RICHARD REEB

Dr. Strangelove, or How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb, is a movie that currently everyone seems to be raving about. It is said to be a very funny production. Well, it must be. The film was filled with clever lines, grotesque characterizations, and zany, absurd situations. Moreover, the audience laughed.

But I didn't laugh; at least, not much. Oh, yes, General Jack

D. Ripper's (Sterling Hayden) concern about his bodily fluids was very amusing; Dr. Strangelove's (Peter Sellers) tie that becomes a Nazi salute is designed to make you roar with laughter; and the erratic behavior of General Buck Turgidson (played by George C. Scott), Air Chief of Staff, is positively side-splitting. But what concerned me most was the laughter going on among the makers of Dr. Strangelove. You see, they are not laughing at the movie. They're laughing at Western civilization, which they despise.

MAIN THESIS FALSE

The main thesis of the movie, that a base commander could have the authority to order an attack on the Soviet Union, is patently false. Yet Dr. Strangelove portrays the spectacle of General Jack D. Ripper sending out 34 bombers in his command on a war mission to Russia. RAF Group Captain Lionel Mandrake (Peter Sellers) tries to get Hayden to use his secret code and recall the planes. And, in Washington, in the War Room, the assembled National Security Council, chaired by President Merkin Muffley (Sellers, again) must deal with the crisis. General Turgidson, pictured as war-mad, is hot for a first strike.

The bombers are recalled in time; all except one, that is, which completes its mission. The situation is, to put it mildly, further complicated when the Soviet Ambassador reveals that his country possesses a "Doomsday Machine" that will automatically go into effect when the one bombing crew, commanded by Major King Kong (Slim Pickens), slips through and bombs a Soviet missile complex. And to the tune of "We'll Meet Again, Don't Know Where, Don't Know When," the earth is destroyed in a gigantic nuclear holocaust.

THE 'DIGS'

Throughout the film the 'digs' against the noble institutions of Western civilization are cleverly woven into the plot. The willingness of the American soldier to defend his country against all enemies is pictured as nothing more than a sadistic desire to kill. The United States is placed in the preposterous position of rooting for the Russians to shoot down its own planes, in order that the world may avoid a holocaust that could never happen in the manner in which the movie depicts it.

The President is placed in the position of being dominated by a fanatical general — an obvious attempt to reinforce the false notion that the American government is, in fact, dominated by a military clique.

Mr. Kubrick has made us laugh. That is good. We find ourselves laughing at patriotism, national honor, our defense establishment, private property, and other foolish things. What is Mr. Kubrick going to do when we don't have these foolish things to laugh at any longer? How free will anyone be to laugh then?

Happy Birthday, Dear William — 400th

By WILLIAM WATSON

This month we celebrate the 400th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare. It is always difficult to separate the works from the man, and it is especially hard when discussing Shakespeare. However there are some references to Shakespeare's life apart from his work. In honor of this anniversary of his birth let us examine some of these.

There is no record of the actual date of birth though it is celebrated at Stratford on Avon on April 23, principally because this also happens to be the day of Saint George, patron saint of England.

A FATHER AT NINETEEN

At the age of 18 Shakespeare married Ann Hathaway, at 19 he was a father and at 20 the father of twins.

Records of the life of Shakespeare also tell us that he was an astute businessman and a well-known actor. He died leaving a full will and comfortable estate.

He was a senior partner in the Lord Chamberlain's Company of players, helping to finance the building of Globe playhouse and the Blackfriars.

At roughly the age of 28, Shakespeare wrote "I-Henry VI" which became the success of the season. With "Venus and Adonis" a year later, he was established as one of the most popular playwrights and poets of England.

TRIBUTE BY BEN JONSON

Shakespeare and his works may claim for their admirers some of the greatest names in English literature.

Among these was Shakespeare's contemporary, Ben Jonson. Jonson often criticized Shakespeare and his work, but he later paid tribute to his late colleague in the form of an ode. The ode, which was prefaced "To the memory of my beloved, The Author, Mr. William Shakespeare: And what he left us," was included with other tributes in the "First Folio" of 1623. The ode contains this famous line:

Nature herself was proud of his designs, And joyed to wear the dressing of his lines!

One of the mysteries of Shakespeare, the man, is how he obtained the imagery and background necessary to his art.

Scholars express dismay at the fact that the author of "Hamlet" and "Romeo and Juliet," the man who earned the accolades of men everywhere, is the same prosaic little businessman who was alleged to have been a poacher in his youth and who left to his widow his "second best bed."

As Shakespearean scholar, G. B. Harrison puts it, "Literary persons, even the greatest, are seldom spectacular. The man who leads a life of heroic action has neither the time nor usually the desire, even if he has the ability, to express himself in writing."

STILL HOPE FOR ROMANTICS

However, Harrison concedes that there is hope for those who insist that Shakespeare had to be a more romantic personality than is generally thought. He points out that there is a gap in the records of the life of Shakespeare between the ages of 20 and 28. During this time the world was as full of adventure and romance as it has ever been. There were the expeditions of Sir Francis Drake, clashes with the Spanish Armada, English expeditions of all types and for all purposes, war in France, unrest in England, and generally, much to keep a romantic or adventurous young man busy.

According to Harrison, "It may be that Shakespeare did not spend all his time between 20 and 28 holding horses outside the theater, or stealing deer in Charlecot Park, or teaching school in the country." And, of course, we can only speculate as to whom he willed his best bed.

Hard Liquor Consumption Rises for 6th Straight Year

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American consumption of hard liquor rose last year for the sixth consecutive year, it was disclosed this week.

The annual statistical report of the Distilled Spirits Institute showed that per capita consumption of whisky, gin, vodka, rum, cordials and other distilled spirits was 1.39 gallons in 1963.

The per capita figure is obtained by dividing the total spirits purchased—258,797,210 gallons in 1963—by the total national population, including men, women, children and infants.

Per capita consumption was 1.37 gallons in 1962, and 1.32 gallons in 1961. It has been inching up steadily since 1958, when it was 1.24 gallons.

NOT COUNTING BEER

During the 1940's and 1950's, per capita consumption of hard liquor averaged about 1.25 gallons a year. In 1930, it was only 0.46 gallons.

Beer and wine consumption is not reflected in these figures.

As always, the District of Columbia was way out ahead of all states, with a reported per capita intake of 6.63 gallons of distilled spirits.

But a footnote to the report pointed out that the District of Columbia is really the inner city of the Washington metropolitan area. It has unusually cheap liquor prices, because of an absence of "fair trade" laws which permit retail price fixing agreements. Most of the two million people who live in the Washington area—and many out-of-town visitors—buy alcoholic beverages in the District. But the sales figures are divided in the report only by the official population of the District itself—about 800,000. So the result is highly misleading.

DECEMBER BIG MONTH

Nevada ranked second in per capita consumption with 4.02 gallons, Alaska was third with 2.38 gallons, Connecticut was fourth with 2.19, and Delaware fifth with 2.03 gallons.

No other state broke the two-gallon mark. New York, California and Massachusetts were closely grouped with 1.81, 1.85 and 1.88 gallons respectively.

Lowest per capita figures were reported in Arkansas, .68 gallons, and Alabama, .70 gallons.

A breakdown by months showed that December is by far the biggest month for liquor sales, with November second, and August third.

This pattern has been consistent for 10 years. February is always the month of lowest consumption, for the obvious reason that it's the shortest.

Purchasing Office Spends State Funds for SJS Needs

By BOB PETERSON

Although SJS Purchasing Office operations are not spectacular, office functions in managing funds allocated to the college by the State of California make it an important department. Its purchases may range from brass couplings to $75,000 testing machines.

Heading the office is D. C. Petersen, purchasing officer, who is assisted by eight purchasing and buying employees. Together they manage the yearly spending of more than $2 million.

"Everything which is paid for from state funds, except salaries and wages, goes through our office," Petersen said.

An average of 70 requisitions a day are submitted to Petersen. A requisition is submitted each time a department wants equipment, tools, supplies, materials and services. Non-expendable equipment, such as the analytical balances or autoclaves for the Biological Science Department, must be budgeted a year in advance.

Services handled directly through the college office include orders under $25, state contract items, certain exempt classes of supplies, state stores and services. The remainder of the requests are forwarded to the State Procurement Office where the item is purchased by it or sent out on bid. The state may take from one to two months in filling an order, remarked Petersen.

Whenever possible, Petersen tries to get quality materials and equipment at "bargain basement" prices. He has been instrumental in promoting cooperation among all state college purchasing officers for buying common items. By banding together, they have drastically reduced the cost of many purchases.

"For example," Petersen said, "a desk used to cost as much as $247 before the purchasing officers bought furniture en masse." He added that each desk price was lowered $155 when a larger quantity was purchased.

The California State College Board of Trustees determines the amount of money each state college will need for operational expenses during the year by studying budgets and past budget experiences. "The Department of Finance and Department of General Services," said Petersen, "have given the trustees more opportunity to do things themselves."

Petersen stated he buys what the college needs but does not spend the college's money needlessly. The criteria he uses when judging requests are money, space, facilities and programs. A balance of funds at the end of the year is rare since the college always needs something.

In carrying out his duties, Petersen said, "The thing that gives us the most trouble is to satisfy everyone and still satisfy policy and law."

What happens, Petersen was asked, when the Purchasing Office runs out of money before the next state appropriation? In that event, Petersen declared, "That's tough." Petersen's method for avoiding such an incident is to plan, to budget and to purchase wisely.

Evaluation Forms Due Wednesday For Processing

Tau Delta Phi professor evaluation forms must be returned by Wednesday in order to be processed for the Tower List which will be available next month.

Forms have been returned this week at a rate of about 300 per day, according to Dean Faulkner, list committee chairman for the scholastic society.

Faulkner hopes the rate will increase because the larger the number of forms returned the more representative of student opinion the Tower List will be.

Tower List will be a compilation of student opinion of SJS professors, and will be presented as a student guide in selection of class instructors.

Completed evaluation sheets may be placed in boxes located in front of the Spartan Bookstore, in the Cafeteria, and in box T in the College Union on S. Ninth Street.

Smith Gets Four Hits; SJS Nips Gaels, 4-2

By DAN McLEAN
It was a cold night at Municipal Stadium last night, but a hot one for Argust Smith as the senior rightfielder collected four hits to lead the Spartan baseball team to a 4-2 league win over the St. Mary's Gaels.

Smith picked up two bunt singles, a triple and an inside-the-park home run, as San Jose scored three runs in the second and third league wins against one loss. Both league wins have come at the expense of the Gaels.

Bill Schmidt went the route on the mound, to pick up his third win against one loss. He gave up 11 hits, but pitched well in clutch situations, walked one and struck out eight.

The win was a big one for SJS, which had lost its first five games this season, as it evened the team's overall record at eight wins and eight losses.

St. Mary's jumped into the lead in the first inning, when Ron Buttori walked, stole second, took third on a fielder's choice, and scored on a single by Harry Laiola. The Spartans came back with a run in the bottom of the first, and were never headed. Guin Boggs moved around to third after walking, and after Matt Miholovich reached first base on an error, was thrown out in an attempted delayed double steal. Miholovich scored, however, on Smith's triple.

SJS added a run in the second on a pair of bunt singles by Boggs and Smith, and a single to right by Bill Bloodgood.

St. Mary's tied the game in the sixth on three singles. But in the bottom of the inning, Dan Van Bogaert singled, and scored on a triple by Miles Yamamoto. The Spartans closed out the scoring in the seventh on Smith's homer.

The Gaels saw their first two batters reach base in the fourth and seventh innings, although both were picked off in the latter frame, and loaded the bases with no outs in the eighth. But each time Schmidt pitched his way out of jams.

The Spartans travel to Fresno tomorrow for a pair of games with Fresno State. Jim Visher and Gary Strom are scheduled to see mound duty for SJS.

FLASHING ACROSS the 220 finish line at Stanford in 21.4 is 5-6, 130-pound SJS sophomore Wayne Hermen. Hermen will be part of one of the fastest fields of sprinters to assemble in Northern California at tomorrow's meet at Fremont High School in Sunnyvale. The program of events begins at 3 p.m., with the first running events scheduled for 3:45.

Sunnyvale Meet To Draw Top NorCal Spike Talent

Dull moments will be few and far between tomorrow at Sunnyvale, when more than 150 of the finest track and field performers in Northern California gather to compete in the Japanese Olympic track meet at Fremont High School starting at 3 p.m.

Competing along with athletes from the Santa Clara Valley Youth Village, Golden Gate Track Club, Stanford Grads and the San Jose State varsity and freshmen teams will be four Japanese Olympic competitors.

The Japanese athletes will include two pole vaulters, Masahi Otsubo (15-3) and Hisao Morita (15-2), who will be favored along with Jeff Chase of the Youth Village and Phil White of the Grads. In the 120 high hurdles Hirokazu Yasuda (14.2 in 110 meters) will be matched with Bob Bonds of SJS (14.6) and SCVYV's Bill Gaedner (14.5).

In addition, Hiroomi Yamada, 25-2 broad jumper, will tangle with Spartan Lester Bond (25-4 last year) and two Stanford Grads, Darrell Horn and Dan Moore (25-9 1/2).

But, according to SJS Coach Bud Winter, the field entered in the 880 "will be worth the price of admission alone." John Garrison, who has been beating everything in sight this year, will get a real test from Jerry Siebert, 1960 Olympic competitor.

Siebert has ran 1:46.8 in the 800 meters and 1:39.0 in the 880 as a collegian. He has the fastest half mile out of doors in the U.S. in 1964 (1:50.2), while Garrison has the second fastest

(1:50.4). With Spartan Ben Tucker keeping Garrison and Siebert on their toes, the time could go as low as 1:48, according to Winter.

Not to be forgotten is the triple jump where Horn and Bond will again match skills. Bond, who set a school record last week at Stanford (50-11 1/2) wants to go about 52-6 Saturday, a distance which might be necessary to beat Horn.

In the 100 and 220, Larry Questad, Wayne Hermen, Bobby Poynter, Jimmy Omagbeni and a long and impressive list of sprinters will be challenging each other on the speedy Fremont oval.

The meet is scheduled to begin at 3:30 p.m., preceded by a special series of ceremonies starting at 3.

Admission for the non-scoring meet will be $2 for reserved seats. General admission tickets go on sale at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students and children.

Spartababes Charge; Drop Mt. Eden Nine

By TOM POWELL
The freshman baseball team tackled Mt. Eden High School last night and rolled away with a 5-3 victory. The game had been postponed from April 1 because of rain. Cold winds could not hamper the steady arm of Tom Hyde as he held the visitors to four hits. His teammates backed up his performance by collecting seven hits and enough runs to stand off the Mt. Eden threats.

Independents Win Opener

The intramural all-college championship basketball playoff started with a roar Wednesday night. The independent champion Rams played the first half in complete control, but their shooting ran cold. Alpha Tau Omega came back from an 11-point deficit only to be dropped, 35-33.

The Spartababes' runs came in the first and fifth innings. In the opening stanza, Gordon Shimizu drew a walk, Larry Myers was safe on an error by the shortstop, Gary Farrington doubled, and Loren DeShon cleaned the bases with a home run.

At half time, the score stood at 28-19 with the Rams appearing to have an easy victory. However, the independents managed only seven points in the last half, as ATO sank 14.

The yearlings added an insurance run in the fifth inning on consecutive singles by Shimizu, Leonard Ferro, Tony Hernandez, and Myers.

The visitors scored their runs in the second and sixth innings. They posed a threat in the top of the seventh on a walk, a single, and an error. With a man on third, Hyde got the final batter to fly to right field for the last out.

The frosh face Hartnell College today at Municipal Stadium. Bob Chaffet is the tentative starting pitcher. The Irvington High School game, which was rained out, will be played April 10.

Randy Hains led the victory with 16 points, while Jim Pryor contributed 10 to the losers.

The softball season will soon be under way. The independent and fraternity fastpitch schedules are available in the intramural office.

The independent teams begin their games Monday at 3:45 on the south campus. The Greeks start play Tuesday.

Coach Butch Krikorian will go with the same six players who have appeared in most of the matches. Rich Anderson, playing in the No. 1 position, will be backed up by Bob Murio, Rich Drake, Larry Draper, Bob Adams and Russell Wright.

Three spring sports are now in the planning stage, with entry blanks available in the intramural office for each.

Coach Jerry Vroom's Spartan linksters carry a 5-0-1 dual meet record into the match and are likely to add another point to the win column. Last year, the varsity dumped the Broncos, 21 1/2-5 1/2, as the team shot a combined total of 21 under par.

The freshmen play Monday against the California Bearcubs. The Spartababes are led by Ross Randall, recent winner of individual honors in the Far Western Intercollegiate Golf Tournament at Pasatiempo. The match will be played on the Almaden course.

Netters Look For Fifth Win

After more than a two-week lay-off, Spartan netters return to action today, playing host to Redlands at 2 p.m. on the Spartan Courts.

A win would bring San Jose back up over the .500 mark for the season.
Coach Butch Krikorian will go with the same six players who have appeared in most of the matches. Rich Anderson, playing in the No. 1 position, will be backed up by Bob Murio, Rich Drake, Larry Draper, Bob Adams and Russell Wright.

Judoists Hit Road For Title Defense

Coach Yosh Uchida's judo brown belts travel to Koyokan Sunday for the Brown Belt Team Championships.

The Spartans are defending champions in the tournament, having emerged victorious the past two years.

In 1962, SJS sizzled through the tourney without being touched for a single point. Last year, Howard Fish led the Spartans to their second win.

Slow Death for Personal Freedom

Garet Garret, respected author of political and economic books, said in "The People's Pottage": "Many Americans think they are standing in a pass prepared to defend their freedoms against the advancing forces of revolution; but they are looking in the wrong direction. The revolution marched by them in the night of depression . . ."

Do we ever stop to consider how far we have drifted from the concept of individual liberty and limited government? Our forefathers fought and sacrificed to throw off the oppressive weight of centralized power and its disregard for the individual. They worked long and hard to write a constitution limiting the powers of government.

If we are to survive as a nation of free people, we will have to fight our way back—not in one glorious battle, but patiently one small gain at a time. It will not be easy, for we will suffer many defeats, but it is the only way. Remember Daniel Webster's words — "God grants liberty only to those who love it and are always ready to guard and defend it."

Unmerited and Undeserved

"For it is by his grace you are saved, through trusting him; it is not your own doing. It is God's gift, not a reward work done. There is nothing for anyone to boast of." Eph. 2:8,9. NE.

One of the most important truths of the Bible, and the one that proud and sinful men try constantly to deny, is that salvation is entirely the work of God, unmerited and undeserved. Man can do nothing to earn favor with God, nor live a life pleasing to God without being born-again and empowered by the Holy Spirit. Man is saved by faith in Jesus Christ alone, but even this saving faith is God-given.

"For ourselves we were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving diverse lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful and hating one another. But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour that being justified by grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life." Titus 3:3-7. KJ.

Keeping the commandments or doing good deeds apart from Christ cannot and does not bring a person into a saving relationship with God.

"For all alike have sinned, and are deprived of the divine splendor; and all are justified by God's free grace alone, through his act of liberation in the person of Christ Jesus. For God designed him to be the means of expiating sin by his sacrificial death, effective through faith. God meant by this to demonstrate his justice, because in his forbearance he had overlooked the sins of the past — to demonstrate his justice now in the present, showing that he is both himself just and justifies any man who puts his faith in Jesus" (Rom. 3:23-28) E.O.

A free gift can not be earned, but must be accepted to be effective. God's free gift of eternal life to all who trust in Christ is undeserved by sinful man who is totally depraved in the sight of God.

"There is no just man, no one, no one who understands, no one who seeks God. All have swerved aside, all alike have become debase; there is no one to show kindness; no not one. Their throat is an open grave, they use their tongues for treachery, adder's venom is on their lips, and their mouth is full of bitter curses. Their feet hasten to shed blood, ruin and misery lie along their paths, they are strangers to the high-road of peace, and reverence for God does not enter their thoughts. Now all the words of the law are addressed, as we know, to those who are within the pale of the law, so that no one may have anything to say in self-defense, but the whole world may be exposed to the judgment of God" Rom. 3:11-19. NE.

Each and every one of us has sinned, we are all gone astray, and "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Rom. 6:23. If you have been trying to please God by good works, or to live a moral life without His help — on your own strength, won't you turn your life over to Jesus today and be born-again? "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." John 3:3.
