Delta Gamma Wins Pushcart Title Again

Delta Gamma sorority survived threatening weather, crowds and a determined effort by Theta Chi to repeat last year's win as the Lambda Chi Alpha pushcart relays champion Friday afternoon at Spartan Field.

Clouds threatened the racers and more than 3,000 spectators most of the afternoon, but the sun broke through as the B division finals were getting under way. It was shining brightly as the DG's edged Theta Chi in the second fastest time of the day at 1:05 flat. Pushcart fans overflowed out of the stands at Spartan Field and had to be continually asked to clear the track before the racers could start.

In the run for the Lambda Chi Alpha pushcart relays sweepstakes trophy, Theta Chi jumped off to an early lead, but the Delta Gamma runners quickly made up the distance and nosed out Theta Chi on a fine last leg effort by Cass Jackson.

On its way to the A division championship, Theta Chi logged the fastest time of the day at 1:04.4 as it defeated Moulder Hall in the ninth heat.

Sigma Phi Epsilon outran Sigma Chi, Sigma Alpha Mu and Alpha Tau Omega on its way to the runnerup position. The ATO's finished third in the A division.

In the B division, Alpha Phi finished behind the DG's for the runnerup spot, and were followed by Royce Hall in third place.

Delta Gamma made it a clean sweep in this 16th annual Lambda Chi Alpha pushcart relays as the DG's powder puff team outran Alpha Phi and Alpha Chi Omega in the initiation of this new event in which all the participants are women.

Misguided "firemen" brought out the umbrellas carried by the spectators for the only time during the overcast pre-race festivities as they trained fire extinguishers and water balloons on the crowd.

Post game festivities took place at the Lambda Chi Alpha house.

10 Council Posts Open

Full-time faculty members are circulating petitions to nominate candidates to fill ten vacancies on the Academic Council.

Representatives to the faculty body are elected by members of their respective divisions.

There are four vacancies in Humanities and Arts, four in Sciences and Applied Arts, one in Education and one in College Services.

Petitions must have 25 signatures from full-time faculty members of a particular division and be delivered to the election committee by 5 p.m. today.

Project Designed To Increase Fund For Crash Victims

A fund raising project will soon begin for the four SJS students killed in the Paradise Air Lines crash March 1.

The money obtained from the project will be added to the memorial scholarship fund, which now has about $450.

A total of $55 for the memorial scholarship fund has been raised at the Awful-Awful, Monterey Highway pizzeria. Ray Cundi, owner, "was very helpful and a special thank you is given to him," said Dennis Gallagher, fund steering committee member.

Students are needed to assist with the upcoming project. They may contact Sharon Reilly at 295-7889 or Pat Gassenberg at 292-1961.

Downtown merchants have contributed $100 worth of gifts thus far.

Today's Weather

Fair weather forecast except for morning overcast. High today 58-64, with lows tonight 33-47. Northwest winds 1-10 m.p.h. in the afternoon.

Dept. Head Outlines Conditions

By BILL LEONARD

Dr. Dwight Bentel, Journalism and Advertising Department head, last Friday claimed the proposed Open-End forum had been stacked against him.

"In my judgment," stated Dr. Bentel, "the panel for the Friday Open End was deliberately and calculatingly stacked to put me at a disadvantage at Friday's meeting."

"I told the proposed moderator so," Bentel continued, "whereupon I heard nothing further from him until letters started hitting Spartan Daily."

The proposed panel, Dr. Bentel claimed, was to be comprised of six speakers, only two of whom would be from the Department of Journalism and Advertising.

IF CONDITIONS MET

The Journalism and Advertising Department head stated he would "gladly appear" provided that conditions outlined in his Thrust and Parry letter in today's paper were met.

Two of the conditions are that a disinterested person acceptable to both sides be selected moderator, and that three of the six speakers represent the Spartan Daily and the Department of Journalism and Advertising.

"Any faculty member," Bentel commented, "should be willing to appear on a panel whose purpose is to shed light on his area of activity."

"When it appears, however," he continued, "that a panel has been organized in such a way that he will not be given fair opportunity to present his viewpoint and position, he not only is under no obligation to participate, but would be well advised to stay away."

WOULD BE HAPPY

Dr. Bentel reiterated that he "would certainly be happy to appear on Friday's Open End if half the speakers are those representing the Journalism and Advertising Department and the Spartan Daily, and the other conditions for fair play which I specified in my Thrust and Parry letter are met."

Last Thursday, the department head called for appointment of a committee comprised of faculty members and students representing the ASB to investigate the relationship of the Spartan Daily to the Journalism and Advertising Department.

Calling for publication of the findings of the requested committee, the Journalism and Advertising Department stated that "an objective and disinterested representative group should be appointed to find and publish the facts."

SPU To Sponsor Viet Nam Talk

A discussion on Viet Nam and the United States, "An Essay in Tragedy," will be presented by the Student Peace Union this afternoon at 3:30 in Cafeteria Rooms A and B.

Background, history, and the present situation of Viet Nam, in addition to the possible alternatives the United States can take, will be discussed.

Also on the agenda will be organization of a protest rally concerning Viet Nam, which will take place this Saturday in San Francisco. Attorney Vincent Hallinan and actor Sterling Hayden are scheduled to appear.

Birth Control Speaker's Topic

Charles Winston, lay theologian and teacher from Santa Clara University, will present a speech on "Catholic Birth Control?" Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in TH55.

It is part of the program "Another Look at Catholicism and the Population Problem" which is being presented by the Campus Association of Non-denominational Active Ecumenists (CANAE).

On the same program, Dr. Mervyn Cadwallader, SJS associate professor of sociology will discuss the population problem from the sociologist's point of view.

Diane Wallace Crowned As International Queen

By CAROLYN CHASE

"It was so unexpected," Diane Wallace exclaimed when she was crowned queen of the International Ball Friday night in the Sainte Claire Hotel.

DIANE WALLACE . . . new queen

Princesses in Diane's court were Carole Allen, junior; Ilana Bauer, sophomore, and Sammy Zwanzig, sophomore.

The evening's festivities included a reception for the consul general of San Francisco in the International Student Center at 285 S. Market St.

The International Ball was highlighted by entertainment provided by foreign students. Among the many acts presented were native dancing by the African students. Two Philippine dances were given by Marliotta Diocades and Bob Dore.

Following the entertainment was the queen contest and introduction of dignitaries.

In other entertainment for International Week on Friday, a food bazaar was held in the Outer Quad featuring 11 booths by student organizations. The Russian booth was voted the best one of the bazaar.

Honorable mentions were given to the Mali exhibit and Spartan Chi.

Seventh Street Cost-Sharing Plan City Council Topic

Seventh Street closing and the Wilbur Smith Traffic Plan for the SJS campus area will be discussed at the San Jose City Council meeting tonight.

City Manager A. P. Hamann is expected to propose city negotiation with the state for cost-sharing on the widening of San Carlos, San Fernando and Tenth Streets.

Council will discuss a policy providing for the permanent closure of Seventh Street, and the cost involved.

Two plans, one costing an estimated $3 million, and another approximately $1.9 million, will be included in the discussion.

Dos Passos Here May 14

By CHERI WALKER

John Dos Passos, controversial novelist-social critic has been selected to speak at the Honors Convocation Assembly May 14.

Dos Passos has been causing comment with his novels since 1917. That was when his "One Man's Initiation" was published. The book was based on his service in the U.S. ambulance service in Spain during World War I.

Four years later, Dos Passos published "Three Soldiers," generally regarded as one of the more powerful indictments of war. In it he lashed out against the dulling bureaucracy of army life that brings men to the point where they would not have to think whether to go to the right or left, but would automatically follow others.

Esquire magazine in a recent article stated, "Few critics deny the tremendous significance of Dos Passos' work in American literature—his influence upon a whole generation of younger novelists."

Born in 1896, John Dos Passos has left in his wake a white sea foam of books which have certainly ruffled the calm surface of society. He is still an active man. He serves on the national board of Young Americans for Freedom, a national conservative youth organization which supports Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater. In 1962 he published "Midcentury," a contemporary chronicle. As recently as 1958, Dos Passos received a gold medal for fiction from the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

Alumni Week Activities Begin Today

Old Spartans never die; they just return to the site of the battle.

That's what SJS alumni will be doing today, the opening of Spring Alumni Week. The annual senior membership drive also will be launched today.

Spring Alumni week activities include departmental open houses, displays, coffee hours, seminars and exhibits. The week long activities will be capped with Sigma Chi Derby Day at Spartan games Saturday. Highlight of the afternoon will be the alumni- varsity football game beginning at 2 p.m.

The senior membership drive will also continue throughout the week. Under the present system of the Alumni Association, seniors are the only persons eligible for life membership in the association. A number of plans are available for purchase of the membership. After graduation, alumni are no longer eligible for life membership.

Police Arrest Two At Friday TGIF

Two arrests were made Friday when San Jose police and state liquor agents raided a TGIF party at 740 S. Eighth St.

Police said the host, Donald D'Ambrosio, 20, was charged with selling beer without a license and serving minors after two police squad cars and six agents of the Alcohol Beverage Control started the raid at 2:45 p.m.

Also arrested was San Jose City College student Thomas Bouska, 20, of 861 Menker Ave. He was charged with being drunk in public and possessing no identification. Both men later were released on bail.

Camp Committee To Fill Vacancy

Interviews to fill a vacant spot on the Freshman Camp Committee will be held tomorrow from 4-5 p.m. in the College Union, 315 S. 9th.

Applications are available there.

Pre-Derby Day Events Planned

By CAROL SWENSEN

Most women are subtle when stalking their men. But the tables will turn later this week when the battle of the sexes takes on a different flavor.

What's the cause of all this "hustle bustle?" Derby Day, of course. The day of fun begins at noon this Saturday at Spartan Stadium.

Ten events are planned which will pit female against female. The coeds, from women's dorms and sororities, will be in competition for three perpetual trophies and ribbons for each individual event.

The coeds don't have to wait until Saturday to compete against each other. Two pre-Derby Day events will be staged Wednesday through Friday that offer additional points to the winners. They will also give the women a chance

Phi Kappa Phi Names Distinguished Scholar

Dr. Brant Clark, professor of psychology and graduate study coordinator of the Psychology Department, is Phi Kappa Phi's Distinguished Scholar for 1964.

Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic honorary society, gives the award annually to a member of the faculty who has made a distinguished scholarly contribution to his field.

Dr. Clark will receive the Distinguished Scholar Award at the annual Phi Kappa Phi initiation banquet on May 14. He also will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

Dr. Clark, chairman of the Psychology Department from 1955 to 1961, has published in several leading scholarly journals. These include the American Journal of Psychology, the Journal of Aviation Medicine, AMA Archives of Neurology, and the Journal of Experimental Psychology.

Dr. Clark's papers have dealt with the following topics: "Contributing Factors in the Perception of the Oculogravic Phenomena," "Visual Space Perception as Influenced by Unusual Vestibular Stimulation," "Perception of Angular Acceleration About the Yaw Axis of a Flight Simulator," and "Perception of the Postural Vertical in Normals and Subjects with Labyrinthine Defects."

Dr. Clark has received continual research grants from the U.S. School of Aviation Medicine since 1947. This year he was awarded a research grant by Ames Laboratories of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

Dr. Clark, an SJS faculty member since 1936, has won several awards. In 1961 he was awarded honorary life membership in the California Optometric Society for "meritorious contributions to the profession." In 1960 he received the Lonacre Award granted by the Aerospace Medical Assn. for "outstanding accomplishments in psychological and psychiatric aspects of aviation medicine."

Dr. Clark earned his B.A. and M.A. at the University of California and his Ph.D. at the University of Southern California.

Beautiful coeds enter queen contests.

Handsome men enter Dream Guy contests, but ugly people usually are left out of competition.

For these select few, the brothers of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, annually sponsor an Ugly Man on Campus contest.

Tomorrow is the deadline for living centers to submit names of Ugly Man contestants and $3 entry fees to the secretary in the College Union.

All campus living centers may nominate an ugly contestant and doll him up in repulsive fashion to be photographed Thursday by APBIO.

The candidate winning the UMOG title by penny vote next Wednesday-Friday, May 6-8, will receive a Polaroid camera for his sponsoring living center.

Students will vote at polling stations in front of Spartan Bookstore and the cafeteria by depositing pennies in jars below each contestant's photograph.

The contestant garnering the most coppers will be proclaimed Uglyest Man. He and the two NNUMOC (next most ugliest men on campus) will receive personal trophies.

Each of the three days the men will arrive on campus with new tickets in their handbags. But the tickets must be stolen before noon.

The other pre-Derby Day event, Derby Hustle, also starts Wednesday. Each sorority and dorm member brings levis to the house for painting. The Sigma Chi Greek letters will be inscribed on the levis and points given for each pair painted.

The first pre-Derby Day event, Duck Give-A-Way, was held Wednesday night. First place and 10 points went to Alpha Chi Omega, second place to Chi Omega, and Alpha Omicron Pi took third.

Derby Day is now well on its way to becoming a tradition on the SJS campus. The enthusiasm shown last spring makes its future here look very promising.

Alpha Omicron Pi took first place in last year's Derby Day. Chi Omega and Delta Zeta won second and third place honors respectively.

Tickets for Saturday's contest are on sale for 50 cents each at the Student Affairs Business Office and at booths in front of the cafeteria and Spartan Bookstore. The Alumni vs. Varsity football follows Derby Day.

The purpose of tomorrow's meeting is to establish a number of working sub-committees to receive, analyze and evaluate grievances and to present rational proposals to the standing committee.

The purpose of tomorrow's meeting is to establish a number of working sub-committees to receive, analyze and evaluate grievances and to present rational proposals to the standing committee.

DECK THAT PLEDGE—Three coeds apply the finishing touches to an unwilling Sigma Chi pledge in the Deck A Pledge event in last year's Derby Day. The women are all wearing levis which have been painted with the Greek letters for Sigma Chi as part of the Derby Hustle event.

Writer 'Concerned' Over 'Rumor'

Editor:

There is a rumor circulating to the effect that Dr. Dwight Bentel will not be present at the open end discussion scheduled for Friday, May 1. I am concerned to know whether this rumor is well-founded. Further, if it is, why so? Is it the case that the good Doctor is so satisfied with his "Doer" that he considers that it needs no apologist? Or, is it rather that he recognizes the situation as it is and is unwilling to defend the indefensible—the Spartan Daily as it exists?

I desire an answer, not in the form of an "Editor's Note," but rather in the form of a personal appearance on the aforementioned date by the aforementioned "apologist" (and apologize he must).

Bentel Answers Writer's Charges

Editor:

I will be glad to appear on the "Open End" program Friday to discuss the Spartan Daily if the panel of speakers is un-stacked.

As proposed to me, the person organizing the panel is to be the "moderator." He also is a member of the group which (I am told by many sources) has launched a program calculated to discredit the Spartan Daily and the Department of Journalism and Advertising.

The panel this "moderator" proposed to me is to include six speakers, only two of whom are from the Journalism department—myself, and a student whom he did not identify.

For a person who avoids graveyards at night, and fears walking under ladders, that kind of a panel raises goose pimples.

Since the purpose of the meeting is to set up me, the Journalism Department and the Spartan Daily for pot shots; and since a part of the audience will consist of people like Charles Yannacone, whose letter appears elsewhere in Thrust & Parry, I must insist on a little running room. I will gladly appear on Friday's Open End, and thanks for the invitation, under the following conditions:

1. That a disinterested person—one acceptable to both sides—shall be the moderator (I won't be hard to satisfy in this respect).
2. That three of the six speakers shall represent the Spartan Daily and the Journalism Department.
3. That these three shall be myself; Mr. Charles Kappen, faculty adviser to the Spartan Daily; and Mr. Ron Bottini, editor of the Spartan Daily.
4. That these conditions be publicly accepted by the impressarios of Open End.

Because after all, fellows, if the purpose of Open End is to cast light on controversial subjects, rather than to grind axes with which to slay your fellow-laborers in the vineyard, why not permit the Daily and the Journalism Department to be represented by the persons who know the most about the subject?

Dwight Bentel
 Head, Department of Journalism and Advertising

Agosta Assumes 'Ignorant Role'

Editor:

I feel it is my obligation to compliment Mr. Steve Agosta on his tasteful and stylistically refined column. Perhaps his excellence lies in the fact that he can relate so lucidly the everyday conversations; the inconsequential muttering of the post-teenage adolescent.

As is frequently done in the drama, Mr. Agosta conveys to us the plight of the unknowingly ignorant by assuming such a character in his writing.

It is comforting to know at least one member of the Spartan Daily staff has had the courage not to be led into the abyss of sophomoric entanglements—so typical of other college papers and such mediocre publications as the Atlantic, Saturday Review, or New Yorker. Nor has Mr. Agosta gone too far in his handling of touchy issues. Surely Mr. Agosta would never add enough zest to any subject to give it any kind of personality other than the gray, physical-education-lover stare.

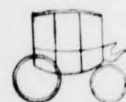

Never a good laugh, never a Chaucer or Boccaccio. Impossible. Beautiful consistency—always the lament of nothingness.

I recommend that Mr. Agosta commend his gifts to the Ages—resign from the Spartan Daily and write a novel. NOW. Think of your admirers, Mr. Agosta. Do it for them.

Today's Moral Crisis

By RICHARD REEB

The Age of Enlightenment

Once upon a time, long long ago, the world was a very stable, orderly place. It was ruled by a band of enlightened leaders.

The rulers knew that the people were incapable of managing their own affairs or understanding the problems of the complex society in which they lived. So the leaders took care of the citizens from cradle to grave, and told them the Truth about the world and the universe. They knew for a fact that the world was flat, that the sun revolved around the earth, and that if one wandered too far on planet Earth, one would fall off the edge. The people were secure in this enlightened society.

The rulers, in an attempt to keep the people more fully informed about their environment, began to print a small newsletter called "Christian Conscience." For many years the writers published only that information that should properly appear in a publication dedicated to the people's betterment, and scrupulously kept out obviously false and subversive material. This complex, orderly society continued in this enlightened path for a long spell.

Then one day, someone began to write for "Christian Conscience" who disagreed with the prevailing views of the society. He obviously was a heretic. The rulers recognized this, but were confident that the people had been sufficiently conditioned, and the existing institutions were strong enough to withstand the lies and distortions of this dangerous man. So the heretic was allowed to disseminate his subversive opinions. Besides, some of the writers for the "Christian Conscience" were beginning to doubt the wisdom of the rulers.

After a time, some of the people began to take the opinions of the new writer seriously. The situation was beginning to get out of hand, so far as the rulers were concerned. Shortly, the rulers' valets began to point out to the people the threat that the new writer posed to their enlightened society. They said that the "Christian Conscience" had become one-sided. So the defenders of the existing order went into action.

They proposed to make the newsletter present both sides. Everyone agreed that this was the democratic thing to do. Both sides could not be presented, however, without a slight modification in the institutions. The present arrangement had failed in its duty to suppress dangerous opinions. So the rulers' apologists suggested that the "Christian Conscience" should be controlled by someone else, with an entirely different arrangement. The newsletter was to be made an "autonomous body." Some people believed that the new setup would make the newsletter free from censorship. But the rulers knew that "Christian Conscience" could be more effectively controlled this way.

Some writers for the newsletter began to get very suspicious about their new masters, but the overwhelming good sense of public opinion helped the misguided writers to see the light.

So the "Christian Conscience" began to print the Truth once more, and was no longer corrupted by subversive opinions. And the complex society was ushered into a new age of enlightenment.

Frosh Post Big Mt. SAC Win in Mile Relay Field

San Jose State's freshman mile relayists kept alive their six-year domination of the freshman mile relay at the Mt. San Antonio Relays Saturday by clocking their fastest time of the year.

Topping the previous best by nearly four seconds, the quartet, comprised of Tom Smith, Bill Johnson, Matt Pruitt and Clyde Wooten, turned up at 3:12.4, topping their own best national frosh mark this year. The time is faster than the varsity at SJS has clocked this year by 1.8 seconds.

The Mt. SAC spikefest was highlighted by the world record eclipsing discus effort of Al Oerter, who

John Garrison Is Optimistic

By FRANK SLEMP

San Jose State's sizzling sophomore sensation, John Garrison, the fastest 880-man in the nation, thinks the Spartan track team will do very well in the NCAA Championships at Eugene, Oregon, this June.

"We should place third or better this year . . . The only thing we lack is depth," said Garrison. The Spartans took seventh in the NCAA finals last year in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Garrison stands an excellent chance of gaining a spot on the Olympic squad this summer. The Olympic tryouts are to be held July 3-5 in New York.

Garrison ran the fastest 880 in the nation April 4, in a three way meet with members of the Japanese Olympic Team and the Golden Gate Track Club at Sunnyvale. His winning time was 1:49.6.

Garrison doesn't like to take the lead too early in his race. "It's too much work," he moaned. "I like to run easy at the end of the pack, then start kicking to the front when I feel it's the right time."

A person who always thinks positively, Garrison never lets the thought of losing the race enter his mind. "If you fear your opponent, you will enter the race with a big handicap. You can win if you want to bad enough," he declared.

Linksters Score Tenth Trouncing

San Jose State's golf team won its tenth dual meet of the year against California State Polytechnic in a Thursday match. The Spartans emerged with a 25½-1½ victory to stretch the string to 10-0-1.

Terry Small captured medalist honors with a 73 and Harry Taylor fired a 74. Clyde Nunes carded a 77 with Steve Henry registering a 78. Tom Culligan and Tom Barber shot 80's.

The high scoring was sufficient for the lopsided win as the Cal Poly linksters could manage only a pair of 81's for their team's low scores.

The Spartans play host to the University of San Francisco today on the San Jose Country Club course.

throws for the New York Athletic Club. In shattering his own world mark of 205-5½, Oerter threw the discus 206-6 on his first throw.

On the varsity scale, SJS placed second in the two-mile relay behind the Southern California Striders. Both teams were clocked at 7:27.8, but the Striders got the nod. The Spartans had been battling illness all week though, and later this spring should be challenging the world mark set by Oregon.

Wayne Hermen turned up fourth at 21.0 in the open 220, won by Vernus Ragsdale of Grambling in 20.7. Ragsdale was a part of Grambling's sprint relay team which tied the existing world's record of 40.0. New Mexico placed second, timed in 40.3.

In the freshman two-mile relay, SJS came in second at 7:58.2, losing by a good margin to USC's frosh. It was the first Mt. SAC relay loss for the SJS freshmen.

John Garrison's fastest half-mile of 1964 was invalidated by Jerry Siebert of the Santa Clara Youth Village who earned a 1:48.5. Garrison's best this year was 1:49.6.

Intramural Loops Boast Slugfests

In intramural softball action, both fastpitch and slowpitch leagues are in full tilt.

In fastpitch play, Delta Sigma Phi scored 10 runs in the third inning to defeat Lambda Chi, 16-6. Dirk Eastman batted Theta Chi to a 7-2 win over Sigma Pi.

Sigma Phi Epsilon rolled over Sigma Nu, 9-5. Jack Smith and Bill Nichalau collected home runs in the game. Sigma Chi downed Phi Sigma Kappa, 5-0.

In the slowpitch loop, the Spiders dropped the Red Horde, 9-2. Norm Wilson hit three home runs as ATO defeated Moulder Hall, 18-8. Phi Sigma Kappa defeated the Cracker Jacks, 3-1.

The Blue Devils trounced SAE, 11-5. Marc Roman belted two home runs in the romp. Delta Upsilon slipped by Allen Hall, 7-5.

Schedules will be available in the Men's Gym for the intramural golf tournament Wednesday. The tourney is slated for Friday on the Santa Teresa Golf Course.

Trampoline Champ Stars In NorCal Gymnastics

Danny Millman, Cal's phenomenal freshman gymnastics find, stole the show at Saturday's United States Gymnastics Federation Northern California Invitational held at Spartan Gym.

Before an estimated audience of 600, Millman, the world trampoline champion of one month, earned first places in the long horse, tumbling and of course, trampoline. He also picked up a second in the floor exercise behind national runner-up Tony Bautista of Los Angeles State, despite his award of 88.5 points. In the horizontal bar he finished fifth.

Despite Millman's efforts, the all-around winner was Rick Field of the Cal varsity who totaled 513 points. Millman was third at 468.5 while Lon Kapp, also of Cal, took second (476.5). Rich Chew of San Jose State was fifth at 448.5.

Millman's graceful trampoline routine earned him 94 points, the most points awarded by the judges in Saturday's competition. His tumbling was awarded with 93 points as he defeated Michigan's Tom Osterland (88.5), his closest competitor.

The all-around winner, Field, also gained two firsts as he scored 93.5 in the still rings and 90.5 in the parallel bars.

With two judges missing for the opening event, the floor exercises, Bautista gained the judges' approval with 91 points, the only score over 81.

While Millman was winning the trampoline, another freshman, Jeff Milman (no relation) of San Jose State was drawing a third, scoring an impressive 80. Milman will be a welcome addition to Clair Jennett's varsity squad in 1965.

Bill Lawler, former Illinois champion, won a first in the side horse at 92.5, followed by Cal's Ray Hadley (87.5).

Hadley returned in the horizontal bar to gain top honors over a 12-man field, totaling 92 points.

Chew's best performance came in the parallel bars, won by Field. Chew tallied 87.5 to finish fourth but was rated at 92 by one judge. He was also fourth in the side horse and fifth in the floor exercise.

Jazz Stylist Wins Small Audience

By WILLIAM WATSON

What is a Paul Horn Quintet? A disappointingly small, but discerning audience, to whom Jazz is still king, forsook the more expensive entertainment offered downtown Friday night and gathered in the Main Gym to find out.

One of the most important parts of a Paul Horn quintet is a Lyn Blessing. That is a vibes player who looks like the kid who didn't make the junior high basketball team because of his bad eyes and poor coordination.

Uncoordinated, he is not, as the Friday night audience who were witness to his artistry will testify.

Also necessary to make a Paul Horn Quintet is a Bill Plummer. You may think you have seen everything possible done to a bass, but if you haven't seen this part of a Paul Horn Quintet in action, you are wrong.

Two other moving (i.e. swinging) parts in a Paul Horn Quintet are a Paul Moore, which is a gum chewing piano player with many a good move and a Chuck Carl which is a drummer who wears his sideburns in the style of the Gay 90's but whose sound is strictly today.

These are all parts of a Paul Horn Quintet, but what makes a

Paul Horn Quintet go is a flutist with a sound for every occasion. What is a Paul Horn Quintet good for?

Well, it's good for beautiful ballads, especially those like "Cause for a Kiss" and you should see what it does to bassanova.

Christmas music in or out of season is always spirited with a Paul Horn Quintet handy. "The Three Kings" may have been from the Orient, but there's nothing foreign about them with a Paul Horn Quintet around.

So you see, a Paul Horn Quintet is good for a number of things, but jazz is what it's made for.

Also handy for jazz is a SJS

Studio Band. The Studio Band preceded Paul Horn on the program, and if the audience was a pushover for the jazz stylist, they must receive credit for doing much of the softening up.

KAUCHER WINNERS—For the first time in the history of the Dr. Dorothy Kaucher Oral Interpretation award contest two first place winners were named. Georgina Reilly, top, who read Henry Fielding's "Shamela," and Eddy Emanu-El who read "Sacrifice of Issac" from the Talmud, were both awarded the $50 prize. When the two first place winners were named last week the first place award was split, but Thursday the judges decided to award them both $50.
