Dr. Weed To Moderate Friday's Panel Meeting

Dr. Dwight Bentel, head, Department of Journalism and Advertising, said vesterday he "graciously accepted" the invitation to appear on Friday's Open-End panel discussion.

Dr. Bentel's terms, outlined in yesterday's Thrust and Parry section, were accepted by spokesmen for the panel discussion. Dr. Frederic Weed of the Political Science Department was named moderator of the forum. Dr. Bentel and Prof. Charles Kappen of the Journalism and Advertising Department, and Ron Bottini, Spartan Daily editor, will represent the Daily.

The names of the other three panel members were not known at press time.

U.N. World's Best 'Hope for Peace'

THE UNITED NATIONS Conference on International Organization was held April 25. 1945, in San Francisco. It was at this meeting that the U.N. Charter was drafted. The Charter, which later was adopted by member nations, provided for a General Assembly, the Security Council, the Economic and Social Council, a Trust and Non-Self-Governing Territories body, the Trusteeship Council, the Secretariat, and the International Court of Justice. The Charter also provided for 15 agencies associated with the U.N.

The Charter recognized the "sovereign equality of all its members." One of the primary aims of the organization, as set forth in the Charter, is to "take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to peace and for the suppression of acts of aggression" by using peaceful means to settle disputes.

The U.N. has been subjected to much criticism for the actions it has taken in Korea. Katanga, and other far-flung spots around the globe. The fact remains, however, that the United Nations is one of the world's few hopes for peace.

Happy birthday, U.N. - B. L.

Student Defends Spartan Daily Editor:

There has been an unprecedented upsurge of agitation against the Spartan Daily in recent weeks. It would seem that the Student Peace Union (SPU), TASC and others of their ilk are looking for a new target since they have so utterly failed in their attempts to denounce the ROTC program at SJS.

In Thrust and Parry, the Daily's critics say it does not "represent the intellectual processes of students attending an institution of higher learning" (Douglas Willbanks, March 13), and they suggest the Daily should "discontinue to use 30 to 40 per cent for advertising while the rest is used as a journal for fraternities and sororities" (Ab Heeres, April 2). The "Student-Faculty Open-

End" discussion group (founded by those outspoken pillars of the "Liberal Establishment": Dr. Tansey, Dr. Putney, Dr. Lavarre, Dr. Goldworth, et. al.) has proved another forum for anti-Daily sentiment. Various "liberal" professors have taken time out in class lectures to note that the Daily has become a "right-wing publication," (a statement which a "right-winger," feel qualified to reject as false). There is such a notable amount of this anti-Daily belligerence (among those same leftists whom we generally class as "against everything"), I find it extremely obvious that this is an organized campaign.

Campaigns being organized for some specific objective, we then properly proceed to ask: "WHAT OBJECTIVE?" The answer is this: The liberals want to control the content of the Spartan Daily so as to turn it into a forum, such as the Daily Californian at Berkeley.

The leftists object to the appearance, for the first time in the Daily's history, of a relatively "right-wing" column (to wit:

Thrust and Parry

Richard Reeb's "Today's Moral Crisis"). This must be at least part of the reason, because we seldom heard the leftists complain last semester when the Daily's only political column was Miss Diane Mauzy's generally left-wing "Meanderings," I think that if the leftists are at all concerned about preserving "academic freedom," they should be overioved that the Daily has a "right-wing" columnist for a change. Or is "academic freedom" reserved just for leftists? Then there are the complaints that (1) the Daily is not "intellectual" enough, that (2) there are too many advertisements, and that (3) the Greeks get most of the coverage. I offer these refutations

(1) The Daily is a NEWSpaper and as such is primarily to be concerned with NEWS. Dr. Tansey's discourses on aesthetics, or Dr. Putney's elaborate demands for surrender to Communism (which he calls "peaceful co-existence") may be very "intellectual," but they do not constitute NEWS! If students want to read nothing but controversial opinion articles, then let them read Campus Voice or EN GARDE.

(2) Advertising is vital to any newspaper. According to an article on the ASB budget in the Daily of Feb. 25, only $25,000 of the Daily's publication costs come out of ASB funds. And more than $65,000 comes from the advertisements. Fewer ads would mean another needless increase in ASB dues. We should be thankful that so many local merchants are willing to support the Daily through advertising. (3) If the Greeks get most of the coverage in news stories, it is more than likely that the Greeks are making most of the news. And I say this as a non-Greek myself.

The Spartan Daily is a fine NEWSpaper. Let's keep it that way and appreciate it! Al Mason ASB A 13382

Committee Chairman Luther

Dr. Bentel Called 'Heavy-Handed' Editor

Dr. Dwight Bentel has today some unsubstantiated leveled charges at an unnamed colleague, thus violating not only the most basic tenets of good journalism, but of simple courtesy and eventemperedness as well. As the proposed moderator, whom Dr. Bentel now finds completely unacceptable, I casually approached him last Thursday as he was leaving the cafeteria and made some very preliminary inquiries into whether he would be available for the Open-End Panel The composition of the panel had in no sense been set and the suggestion that two persons represent the Daily was a very tenta-tive one. Dr. Bentel and I briefly explored this and he left, telling me to come by and see him, which I attempted to do twice on Friday

Without consulting with me, he issued his second big banner headline story Monday morning in which he jumped to the conclusion that the panel, the composition of which was still unsettled, was "deliberately and calculatingly stacked to put me at a disadvantage at Friday's meeting." Then, in Thrust and Parry he levels the charge that I am a member of a group working to discredit the Spartan Daily. All this without naming me as the dangerous, secret villain, without getting any further facts from me regarding the panel, and without even talking with me regarding my attitudes toward the Spartan Daily. Yet he writes that he was told "by many sources" that my intentions toward the Daily were dishonorable.

Dr. Rentel has already subscribed to a conspiracy theory and is already heavily committed to a defensive action. He is sure that the purpose of the panel is to take "pot shots" at him and the operation over which he reigns supreme. If Dr. Bentel runs the Spartan Daily with the same heavy-handed methods he has used in this incident, I would have to agree with him that I should not be the moderator. Indeed, any impartiality I thought I possessed is vanishing rapidly. I am fast becoming a partisan to the view that some radical changes should be made in the control of the Spartan Daily. I'm sure this will be explored on Friday and I will ea-
