'Master Copy' For Colleges

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the econd in a series of five articles dealing with "mediocrity" at San Jose State College.

By SANDIE SANDERSON TOM MEAD

SJS may be considered the 'Mother Superior" of the State College System, but this title, recognized by many leading educators in California, has yet to sway the thinking of our own

'mediocre community." SJS is just a "stone among giants," according to most of the students who consider Cal and Stanford the "in" places to receive a college education Apparently the apathetic SJS

Cal and Stanford have reputations as "outstanding universities in the nation," worthy of patronage by students from all is bestowed upon SJS, which has the reputation as an "outstanding college in the nation."

ACCREDITATION

Colleges and universities, academically speaking, are adjudged on the basis of accreditations. This criteria makes a college's "reputation."

At SJS, an estimated threefourths of the various departments are accredited by national and state organizations

"It can not be said that San are accredited in so many fields by nationally prominent organidean of the college, said,

"We have been looked upon for years as the leading California college in size and in standards of our programs," Dr. Robert J. Moore, dean of the Division of Sciences and Applied Arts added. "Many other colleges are patterning their pro-

The course of the conversation developed to the point where one of the students declared, "I'm transferring to Cal next semester because it's a better school with a reputation. SJS has nothing to offer; it's just an average school.'

Many students contend that as long as there is Cal or Stanford, San Jose's real "value to the educational world" will be lost among the shadows of Sproul Hall and Hoover Tower,

PRIDE IN FLAG NOT SQUARE By Paul Reimers

What is wrong with the student of State? Is it that they do not have respect for our nation and its flag?

Last Friday, Bob Young, the president of YAF, started the Seventh Street raily with the Salute to the Flag. With his announcement of this, many students expressed an audible unwillingness to

The dissenters probably think that it is "square" to show your love of your country. -But why?

MEDIOCRITY REVISITED By Steve Larson

Not long ago, as I listened to some of the speeches at the Seventh Street Forum, I suddenly became impressed with the fact that the most obvious conformists and superficial thinkers around the old alma mater these days are the campus liberal radicals, or as they apparently prefer to be called, "the intellectual clite."

seemed to me that this radical conformism and lack of critical thinking is expressed in two ways: the way they dress, and the thoughts they express.

What is most disturbing, however, is the conformism and lack of critical thought with which they express their opinions

The current causes of our radical-intellectual classmates are war in Viet Nam (they are united in the opinion that the United States is in the wrong) and the dilemma of the Civil Rights crisis (in which they are united in the thought that the rest of us are slightly cowardly because we don't go down to Selma, Ala., and

As I listen to their words on Seventh Street and read what they write in the Daily, I am amazed at the total unity in which they express their thoughts.

For example, have you ever heard a radical-intellectual discuss in other than the most derisive terms the possibility that America may be trying to protect democracy by its actions in Viet Nam? Nope, America is all wrong.

The other and perhaps more significant cause focused upon by the campus radical-intellectual, Civil Rights, suffers from a similar one-sided fate. Have you ever heard them suggest that there may be more than one side to this problem—the most complicated and aggravated social question since the Civil War? Nope, the white people of the South and the Federal government are moving too slowly toward the current objective of equality for the Negro.

As I listen and watch the radical-intellectual, I am dumbstruck by the flame in his eyes and the bias of his thoughts. The methods he chooses to correct the inhumanity expressed in Selmapublicity derived from sit-ins, marches, picketing, and even direct participation on the Civil Rights battlefronts-will not accomplish the ultimate objective in the immediate future, as they demand. The great crust of Southern Tradition will not be changed overnight by Civil Rights activists, or by occupation from the North. Instead it will take sustained, rational, non-violent pressure. It will need to be sustained for years, perhaps generations. The emotions and methods used by the campus radicals will never last through the fight without ending in boredom or violence.

In this way and in so many other ways the campus radical-intellectuals fail to live up to their self image of intellectualism. Instead of trying to understand and explain the existing differences of opinion on the American scene and rationally suggesting adjustments to those differences of opinion which will crystallize the will of the campus, the radical-intellectuals are content with whipping up emotions and venting them with marches, sit-ins, and picketing.

Frankly, I'm beginning to get tired of listening to these peop who preach a gospel of individualism and creative thought, and fail to live up to the gospel standards.

We get pretty concerned about the way life insurance is often sold.

We're not in favor of a client just buying a policy and getting it over with. We want him to understand what it's all about, how his policy can be made to serve a variety of future needs,

how it will fit into an overall financial program tailored to his own requirements.

It's this approach that separates the professional from the ordinary salesman.

And if you feel you'd be more satisfied dealing with a professional, we're at your service.
