Entomology Professor Returns From Mexican Expedition

By STEVE AMES

The honeymoon is over. Dr. J. Gordon Edwards, professor of entomology, has returned from an expedition to the Yucatan Peninsula in southern Mexico with a collection of several hundred insects and now must continue the tedious task of pinning and labeling them.

Initially, the specimens must be relaxed by softening their dried muscles with humid atmosphere in a tight jar for a week. In this way, says Dr. Edwards, the insects' legs and wings may be spread without breaking.

Assisting Dr. Edwards is Terry Erwin, who received his M.S. in biological science in January at SJS.

LONG WALK

Dr. Edwards captured the insects while walking 100 miles across the Territory of Quintana Roo from Chemax to Tulum in November.

In the "American Quintana Roo Expedition" staff were 12 North Americans including two leaders, two physicians, a dentist, an archaeologist, a herpetologist, an ornithologist, a photographer-artist, a navigator and one other entomologist.

They were joined by a Mexican archaeologist and several Mayan Indians.

'FIRST OUTSIDERS'

"We became the first 'outsiders' ever to walk across this unknown area and, in addition to mapping it and indicating several place-names of cenotes or wells, we also investigated numerous previously unrecorded Mayan ruins."

After Dr. Edwards captured the insects in cyanide bottles, he placed them in 15 cigar boxes between layers of a treated tissue. Erwin did most of the relaxing, pinning and labeling in December and January while wrapping up his master's.

A specialist in the ground beetle, Erwin will leave SJS next month for the University of Alberta in Canada to begin Ph.D. work under Dr. George Ball, a leading entomologist in the ground beetle. "The big job is mounting these things," said Erwin. "Next we have to break the specimens down into families, genera and finally species."

In order to classify the specimens, all existing literature on Yucatan Peninsula insects is now being located by Dr. Edwards and Erwin.

Next step is taking or sending the specimens to museums such as the California Academy of Science at Golden Gate Park in San Francisco and the American Museum of Natural History in Washington, D.C.

'COMPARE SPECIMENS'

"They compare the specimens with what they have at the museums and assist us in identifying them. They charge us nothing for their time or trouble. They work in the 'name of science,'" Erwin said. "In return we give them specimens in a large series for their collection."

Specimens returned to SJS without a name are given a name and published in a recognized journal.

Erwin said that the insects will remain in the Insect Collection Room of the Science Building (room 239) and are not expected to be on permanent display.

'STRICTLY SCIENTIFIC'

"This is strictly a scientific reference collection," he said. "This is because if left out, the dermestid beetles will eat up the collection."

Dr. Edwards said that it is quite possible that the collection might someday have an addition.

"Although it is good to be home again, we are all now planning on ways in which to get back to Tankah with our families," he said.

"It was a great experience and left us all with a myriad of marvelous memories. Maybe next time we will be in for better weather."

"In this last trip there was a distinct lack of insects because of the dry weather and bitterly cold nights. Perhaps next time we will have better luck."

Fuller To Discuss World of Future

By DICK DANIELS
Spartan Daily Staff Writer

"Anything Buck Rogers can do in his comic strips today, we will do better in reality tomorrow," R. Buckminster Fuller, SJS' first Scholar-in-Residence, promises man whenever he discusses humanity's future.

Tonight at 8 Fuller speaks on "Your World of 2000 A.D." in his second campus-wide lecture in Morris Dailey Auditorium.

"My first campus-wide lecture dealt with 'A Speculative History,' and now I'll discuss the future," Fuller said. The 70-year-old architect, poet, inventor, engineer, author and mathematician said he'd discuss the present in relation to both the past and future in still another campus lecture. "I'll tie the past and future together when I discuss the present," he remarked.

Fuller has outlined several trends which must be considered when dealing with the prospect for humanity.

"Medical science, through the development of interchangeable human parts, may be about ready to develop a 'deathless' man," Fuller predicts. Along with this, he adds, man is learning to use natural resources more efficiently. "Eventually, man will learn to use resources to serve 100 per cent of humanity instead of only 44 per cent of humanity today," Fuller adds.

The university student, he continues, is far more aware of his

surrounding world today than 50 years ago. This trend will continue and with increased awareness and intellectual and technical disciplines, he will ask himself, "Why can't we make the world work? All the negative nonsense is the consequence of outworn, ignorant biases of the old-timers. Let's join forces and set things right!"

Electronic computers will become more and more active in the society of the future, Fuller predicts.

Automation isn't so new to man, Fuller maintains. "For at least two million years men have been multiplying on a little automated space ship called Earth in an automated universe in which the entire process is so successfully pre-designed that men didn't even know that they were automated," he continued.

Fuller has many visions of the world 35 years in the future. Since the future necessarily concerns all mankind, it seems it would be highly worthwhile to attend "Your World of 2000 A.D." tonight. The admission charge—an open mind.

U.S. Disarmament Consultant Views Foreign Policy Today

Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, consultant to the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, will analyze "Foreign Policy in a Nuclear Age" today at 10:30 a.m. in Concert Hall. Sponsor is the ASB Lecture Committee.

Dr. Kissinger was born in Germany and educated at Harvard University where he is professor of government and a member of its Center for International Affairs.

In the past he has also served as consultant to the National Security Council and the Weapons Systems Evaluation Group of Joint Chiefs of Staff.

During World War II, the political scientist was a member of the U.S. Counter-Intelligence Corps, and from 1946 until 1959 he held the rank of captain in the Military Intelligence Reserve.

Author of many works, Dr. Kissinger's book, "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy," was awarded the 1958 Woodrow Wilson Prize for best book in the areas of government, politics and international affairs. The text also merited a citation from the Overseas Press Club.

In "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy" Dr. Kissinger stated, "Many of the difficulties of the non-Soviet world have been the result of an attempt to use the element of uncertainty as an excuse for inaction."

He added that while the U.S. should not imitate "Soviet dogmatism," a sense of urgency should leave our empiricism.

The author further emphasized, "As the strongest and perhaps the most vital power of the free world we face the challenge of demonstrating that democracy is able to find the moral certainty to act without the support of fanaticism and to run risks without a guarantee of success."

Five Students To Enter Municipal Court Plea

Five SJS students charged with disturbing the peace have had their cases continued in Municipal Court until Tuesday when they will enter a plea.

The students were among a group of seven persons arrested Feb. 28 after police were called to quiet a party on 11th Street.

Those arrested were Gordon E. Abreu, 429 S. Ninth St.; Francis J. Bardsley, 446 S. 11th St.; Richard F. Hilbert, 515 E. Williams; Gordon T. Hunter, 515 E. Williams; James A. Montgomery, 446 S. 11th St.; all SJS students; Paul Dyer, 411 E. San Fernando; and John D. Egert, 429 S. Ninth St.

Play To Continue In College Theatre

The Drama Department's presentation of "A Man for All Seasons" by Robert Bolt continues tonight at 8:15 in College Theatre. Other performances will be given tomorrow and Saturday nights, both at 8:15.

Tickets for the play may be purchased at the College Theatre Box Office, Speech and Drama Building, from 1:50 p.m. and again beginning at 7:15 p.m. Prices are 75 cents for students with student body cards and $1.50 for general admission.

Dorm Competition

Hoover Hall, women's dormitory, is sponsoring a drive to raise money for Easter Seals by holding competition between the wings of the dorm.

"Applications to compete in a talent show Thursday, March 24, from 8-10 p.m. are now available," Miss Libby McMahon, chairman of her wing's fund drive, said.

For further information, call Hoover Hall, 294-2922.

The students were among a group of seven persons arrested Feb. 28 after police were called to quiet a party on 11th Street.

Those arrested were Gordon E. Abreu, 429 S. Ninth St.; Francis J. Bardsley, 446 S. 11th St.; Richard F. Hilbert, 515 E. Williams; Gordon T. Hunter, 515 E. Williams; James A. Montgomery, 446 S. 11th St.; all SJS students; Paul Dyer, 411 E. San Fernando; and John D. Egert, 429 S. Ninth St.

Dyer pleaded innocent of the charge and will have a trial March 29.

In addition to the charge of disturbing the peace, Abreu and Bardsley are charged with malicious mischief.

The police report on the incident stated that three bottles were thrown at officer Lawrence Lefall's vehicle and that subsequent investigation led to the arrests.

Close Votes

By DON DUGDALE
Spartan Daily Staff Writer

Student Council yesterday ended discussion of proposed changes in the ASB Election Code after close votes on three issues in the proposed bill of amendments.

After almost two months of discussion in committees and in council meetings, decisions were reached on all proposals in the bill. The final vote apparently will come at next week's meeting.

Approved were two recommendations made last week by council's Campus Policy and Finance Committees. By a vote of 8-7-1, candidates' names and pictures were prohibited from posters of campus political parties. Candidates may still display their party's name on their own posters.

The other committee recommendation was to retain in the code a prohibition of candidates' names in Spartan Daily party advertisements. The proposal to delete this prohibition failed 7-9-0.

EQUAL PUBLICITY

The intent of these two measures, according to Junior Representative Margaret Davis, is to insure that all candidates have access to an equal amount of publicity.

In other changes, the number of types of handouts available to a single candidate was increased from three to six, by a 9-8-0 vote. Steve Larson, graduate representative, said the measure was a compromise between keeping the present limitation and stipulating that there be no limitation. He said there should be as little limitation as possible in campaign creativity.

Sophomore Representative Victor Lee, however, said the change would increase the financial burden on candidates with limited financial resources.

CODE CHANGES

In other Election Code changes, council deleted from the bill a proposed definition of "handouts," thus leaving the definition to the Election Board.

In other action, council passed Larson's resolution stating that council is "in favor of" providing a Viet Nam information program for the students. A similar resolution was vetoed last week by ASB Pres. John Hendricks because of wording difficulties. Hendricks has already approved the directive introduced by Larson which sets up the program.

Larson's other proposed resolution relating to Viet Nam, a measure recommending that council express its opposition to the war, will apparently die in committee, Larson said yesterday. The resolution was designed to allow council to get students' opinions on the war, rather than to support or oppose it. Various methods of polling students on the issue were considered, including a referendum, a survey campaign, and hearings.

OTHER ACTION

In other action yesterday Student Council:

- Approved the following allocations for athletics: $700 to send one SJS participant to the NCAA Gymnastics Championships; $2,600 to send eight participants to the NCAA College Division Swimming Championships; $892 to send two participants to the NCAA Wrestling Championships. These allocations were recommended yesterday by Financial Advisory Board.

- Elected Miss Davis council finance officer. Council's former finance officer, John Bruckman, resigned last week.

Today's Weather

Santa Clara Valley: Cloudy, good chance of rain today and tomorrow. Predicted high temperature today, 58-63. Predicted low temperature tonight, near 50. Variable winds, 5-20 miles per hour.

Student Group Sponsors Forum on 'New Left'

Nature of the new political left at SJS will be discussed at an open-end forum sponsored by Students for Publication and Research Friday, 7:30-11 p.m. in ED100.

Panel members include Dr. Eldred Rutherford, assistant professor of psychology; Dr. Henry Pitchford, assistant professor of sociology; and Mrs. Eleanor Isakson, instructor of economics. Others on the panel are David Eakins, assistant professor of history; Dr. David Newman, associate professor of psychology; and two students, Kim Maxwell and John Hansen.

Paul Bartko, president of the sponsoring group, says he hopes the discussion will cover such questions as: Is there a left at San Jose? Who is in it? Where is it going? What is its structure? How does the rest of the campus relate to it?

Bartko states that one of the purposes of the panel is to "particularize debate going on all over the country." There are conflicts within the left and there are some manifestations of this on campus, he says, "such as political radicals versus emotional radicals, ideology versus no ideology."

"The left represents a significant element on campus," Bartko stressed. He believes the forum should interest those within the left, those who may have some "left" beliefs but feel alienated from the left, and students interested in understanding more about the left.

He invites people to come to the discussion with "ideas of criticizing this part of the campus community."

We Believe

Let There Be Light

EDITOR'S NOTE: Today's editorial is the fourth in a five-part series dealing with the lighting around campus.

Good street lighting, like anything else worthwhile, needs the interest and active participation of citizens who are concerned about inadequate safety facilities. When this interest and participation is lacking, the result is an increase in situations which society deems critical — maulings and rapes, automobile accidents, thefts et al.

Apathy in anything is unfortunate, but when it entails public health and safety, it is inexcusable. And it seems that apathy is responsible for the lack of satisfactory, effective lighting surrounding areas of the campus, and in certain areas of the campus itself.

Property assessment is the only answer to the lighting question. But some property owners surrounding the college seem reluctant to take any action. We realize that these people are not intentionally keeping the streets dark, and can only blame their apathy concerning lighting on lack of information and understanding of the situation.

The time to start taking some action has been long overdue. The north San Jose area already has citizen groups pushing for better lighting. Surely the citizens living south of Santa Clara Street have some interest in their community.

The fraternities are not free of apathy either. According to Robert Mulvaney, engineering technician and the man in charge of San Jose street lighting, petitions were circulated last semester concerning lighting. Most of the sororities returned petitions, as did several of the largest landlords, but there was little response from the fraternities. Lack of understanding of the gravity of the situation probably prompted the male Greeks to pigeon-hole the petitions.

We need lighting now. These petitions must be completed and returned to City Hall. They may be obtained from Assessment Clerk Ernie Walker in Room 330, City Hall.

More Philosophy About Life, Death and Hitler

Editor:

James Brescoll's letter (March 3) doesn't make sense to me. Logically, the protestors cannot (and do not) both "condemn the Constitution" and at the same time attack the current administration, since a main argument here is that this administration is making war on very shaky grounds, if any.

Moreover, I do not recall any attacks on the Constitution by these objectors; in fact, if such attacks were to occur, one could only laugh at their stupidity, since the Constitution is the main point of support in the argument against the current administration.

Actually, the objectors have acted quite logically in using the Constitution as basis for attack on the administration, in the main, and not the reverse, as Brescoll would have the reader think.

Another impression I got was that Brescoll's letter sounded even a shade more hostile and condescending than Cole's. Cole's letter seemed to stand on a tradition which, though it is less obvious in Western history and thought, is nonetheless almost universally granted as the finer tradition, if I read the letter correctly.

If Brescoll wants to refer to Hitler, then why not do it properly: it was precisely the lack of protest to Hitler's progressively inhuman program which allowed it to object.

Also, it seemed a bit dewy-eyed to so naively raise the question of what is right or wrong in dealing with one's fellow humans at a time when something so much bigger than the worth of the individual was in question: the glory, the image, the power of the great superstate. After all (we can almost hear the Nazis saying), who is so stupid to think that individuals count when we have such a great show to put on?

Perceptive theological thought now looks back at this as the error of idol-making and idolatry: fixed, partial ideology, claiming to transcend the value of the individual, which allows men to treat others as objects, not as humans. Buber probably was the latest of the great reminders of men, in regard to this message.

I can't help thinking that Cole's position is closer to the better tradition here. This is nothing short of the moral question: can I live with myself (save my soul, etc.) after uncritically giving my support, tax money, and votes, to an action which "objectifies" and callously burns my fellow humans to death? Answer for yourself.

Basketball Player Lauds Student Body Attendance

Editor:

On behalf of this year's varsity basketball team, I would like to thank those students who supported us this past season.

Saturday night in our last game against St. Mary's, I was surprised to see the gym nearly filled. Our season had been a disappointing one and certainly there was nothing to be gained by a victory.

Yet, those who did come not only inspired us to victory, but also showed that student support is an integral part in the success of any team representing SJS.

I hope that, in the years to come, the students continue to support SJS athletic teams. If they do, our school will come to be respected, not only on the West Coast as it is now, but across the nation as well.

'Small Time' Budget

The SJS Marching Band is one of the finest organizations on this campus. The calibre of its performance is equal to that of the more famous bands in the country, including those in the Big Ten Conference. Roger Muzzy, the band director, obviously is one of the most talented and capable men in his field. This band is one of the few things SJS can boast of that approaches big-time standards, and yet is run on an extremely small-time budget.

The band's budget last year was less than one-fourth what it needed. In order to keep it at its present size and calibre, a budget must be provided that will enable the band to take at least one major trip each year.

These trips serve several purposes: They serve as a recruitment device to attract capable musicians to fill the band's ranks; they provide much needed competition for the band; and they give the band a chance to gain recognition.

A band of the Spartan Band's calibre is one of the biggest public relations devices a college can have. More people see and hear the band than any other campus organization. It is estimated that more than 50 million people see the band every time it appears on national television.

Muzzy has done an amazing job with the band but he has reached a point where further improvement is impossible under the present financial situation. Money is needed to increase the staff, support at least one major trip per year, and keep up the interest in the band so that it will continue to attract competent personnel.

It's time for SJS to support one of its finest organizations by giving it a big enough budget for a big-time band.

Back East

'See America' Good Advice

By JUDY WALTER

The first time I was introduced as being from "back East," I was rather surprised, to say the least.

I am, in fact, from the Middle West, which in most parts of the country is distinguished from the East, South, and West. At the university I attended last year, students from the East were from New York or New Jersey.

I soon discovered, however, that to a native Californian, California is California, and the rest of the country is lumped under the term "back East." I was amazed to find that many people here have not been further east than Nevada or Wyoming.

INTERESTS

I must admit this is reasonably understandable, since California offers such a variety of attractions that it is not necessary to travel outside the state to satisfy one's interests.

At the same time, you should not forget that there are 49 other states in the country—each one unique.

There is so much to see—the expansive plains of the Southwest, the fertile Midwest, green without irrigating—the vivid beauty of the South, with its old towns and battlefields, and the "real" East, so rich in history.

STATISTICS

There is much more to the country than is revealed by a flat map in geography class, much more than facts and statistics show.

A trip to Europe may sound exciting, but the U.S. has much to offer, too—especially if you've never been outside your home state.

"See America First" is more than a slogan, it is good advice. It is a big country, and it is worth seeing. You may be surprised by what there is "back East."

World Forum Yorty To Run

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Samuel W. Yorty, maverick mayor of this third largest city in the nation, yesterday announced he would run against incumbent California Gov. Edmund G. Brown in this year's Democratic gubernatorial primary.

Yorty, 56, coupled the long expected announcement of his candidacy with a multi pronged attack on Brown's handling of various problems and a charge of "machine politics."

Brown Comments

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown said yesterday Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty entered the wrong primary in announcing his candidacy for governor on the Democratic ticket. As expected, Brown immediately assailed Yorty for his support of Republican Richard Nixon in the 1960 Presidential election.

Tuition Proposal

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—"Moderate tuition charges" at the University of California and state colleges have been recommended by the state Chamber of Commerce to help balance Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposed $4.6 billion budget.

The tuition charge proposal was a repeat of the one made a year ago by the chamber to raise $80 million at the now tuition free UC and state college campuses. It pointed out the state spent an average of $1,000 per year on higher education students.

Many Apply To Join Corps, But Few Actually Make It

Even though the number of SJS Peace Corps applications received by recruiters this week may exceed 100, it is unlikely that more than 20 of the students will actually serve overseas.

This is the estimate of recruiting accepted for training is approximately one in five applicants actually see duty.

However this average is not actually as great a barrier to service as might first appear. One factor that cuts down the number of possible volunteers is the failure of many applicants to take the placement test.

According to Knaebel, once a possible volunteer has taken the placement test his chances of being accepted for training is approximately one in three. However, Knaebel points out, only about one-half of those accepted actually decide to go through training.

Once in training another 20 per cent either quit or are rejected before the end of the three month program.

If the percentages hold, SJS should have 20 more students in the Corps by October.

Ninety-one have signed up so far to take the placement test.

Sign ups are being taken at the Peace Corps booth in front of the cafeteria on Seventh Street.

Testing will continue daily through Tuesday in B7.

WAKE ME WHEN IT'S OVER

The trouble with early morning classes is that you're too sleepy. At late morning classes you're too hungry. At early afternoon classes you're too loopy. At late afternoon classes you're too hungry again. The fact is—and we might as well face it—there is no good time of day to take a class.

What shall we do then? Abandon our colleges to the ivy? I say no! I say America did not become the hope of mankind and the world's largest producer of butterfats and tallow by running away from a fight!

If you're always too hungry or too sleepy for class, then let's hold classes when you're not too hungry or sleepy; namely, while you're eating or sleeping.

Classes while eating are a simple matter. Just have a lecturer lecture while the eaters eat. But watch out for noisy foods. I mean who can hear a lecturer lecture when everybody is crunching celery or matzo or like that? Serve quiet stuff—like anchovy paste on a doughnut, or steaming bowls of lamb fat.

Now let us turn to the problem of learning while sleeping. First, can it be done?

Yes, it can. Psychologists have proved that the brain is definitely able to assimilate information during sleep. Take, for instance, a recent experiment conducted by a leading Eastern university (Stanford). A small tape recorder was placed under the pillow of the subject, a freshman named Wrobert Wright. When Wrobert was fast asleep, the recorder was turned on. Softly, all through the night, it repeated three statements in Wrobert's slumbering ear:

1. Herbert Spencer lived to the age of 109 and is called "The Founder of English Eclectic Philosophy."
2. The banana plant is not a tree but a large perennial herb.
3. The Archduke Ferdinand was assassinated in 1914 at Sarajevo by a young nationalist named Mjilas Cvetnik, who has been called "The Trigger of World War I."

When Wrobert awoke in the morning, the psychologists said to him, "Herbert Spencer lived to the age of 109. What is he called?"

Wrobert promptly answered, "Perennial Herb."

Next they asked him, "What has Mjilas Cvetnik been called?"

Wrobert replied, "Perennial Serb."

Finally they said, "Is the banana plant a tree?"

"To be honest," said Wrobert, "I don't know too much about bananas. But if you gents want any information about razor blades, I'm your man."

"Well," said the psychologists, "can you tell us a blade that shaves closely and cleanly without nicking, pricking, scratching, scraping, scoring, gouging, grinding, flaying or flensing?"

"Yes, I can," said Wrobert. "Personna® Stainless Steel Blades. Not only does Personna give you a true luxury shave, but it gives you heaps and gobs and bushels and barrels of true luxury shaves—each one nearly as truly luxurious as the first."

"Land's sake!" said the psychologists.

"Moreover," said Wrobert, "Personna is available not only in the Double Edge style blade, but also in the Injector style blade."

"Great balls of fire!" said the psychologists.

"So why don't you rush to your dealer and get some Personnas at once?" said Wrobert.

"We will," said the psychologists, twinkling, "but there is something we have to do first."

Whereupon they awarded Wrobert an honorary L.L.B. (Lover of Luxury Blades) degree, and then, linking arms, they sang and danced and bobbed for apples till the campfire had turned to embers.

Pros, Cons Expressed On W. E. DuBois Clubs

By JIM BAILEY
Spartan Daily Staff Writer

What are the W. E. B. DuBois Clubs?

Descriptions of the club by local activists range from "a civil rights organization" to a "Communist operation." Members of the controversial organization contend that the Justice Department's preliminary move to compel it to register as a Communist front organization is "dangerous" and ridiculous.

Meanwhile conservatives tend to look at the move as "necessary but belated."

Last Friday U.S. Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach declared that the DuBois Clubs were created and are controlled by the Communist Party and subject to party discipline.

To this, Jeff Walker, a 22-year-old SJS psychology major and a member of the three-month-old San Jose DuBois Club, countered that although there are some Communists within the various DuBois Clubs "this doesn't mean that they run the show. We are not a monolithic organization; each club is organized democratically and makes its own decisions. I joined because it is active in civil rights."

A veteran civil rights worker who quit the local DuBois Club a week before the attorney general's proclamation because it was "inefficient and added nothing to the cause of civil rights," had harsh words for the attorney general.

Jack Bernstein, a San Jose electrical engineer, said the attorney general acted "ridiculously and irresponsibly. You could expect something like this from (J. Edgar) Hoover, but I had more respect for Katzenbach."

Bernstein further pointed out that the Justice Department might well have made the DuBois Club "a martyred cause just when it was on the verge of withering away." Bernstein says he knows of only one Communist in the club.

Tom Fink, 17-year-old senior at Lincoln High School and organizing secretary for the 15 member local club, says he joined the DuBois Club because he saw it was a "Socialist Youth Organization." Fink claims that he would never register as a Communist. "This move just won't be able to carry enough support to work. The people won't go for it."

Nationally the student-oriented organization has approximately 2,600 members.

Hugh Fine of San Jose, an area coordinator for the John Birch Society, said that it was never any secret that the DuBois Clubs were the "primary building block for the Communist party."

Nevertheless, Fine believes that little will come of the Justice Department's move because "Communists are usually allowed to go on with no holds barred."

The view that Communists were instrumental in the founding of the DuBois Club is supported by Bob Armstrong, SJS Young Republican president.

"I'm not one to go around yelling 'commie,' but it was apparent the Communists dominated this group when they got in on the ground floor. I wouldn't go so far as to say that other liberal organizations are Communist dominated, but the fact is that many of them don't really mind having Communists around and this is when they gain influence."

All three of the DuBois Club members interviewed were extremely bothered by the violence that the attorney general's statement apparently has spawned. DuBois Club members in Brooklyn were attacked and the national headquarters in San Francisco was bombed.

Bernstein summed up their feelings best when he said, "political Hell's Angel-types are always looking for a reason to justify their violence. Some nut with a bomb wants a popular target to throw it at."

Shearing Displays Talent, Humor

GEORGE SHEARING, blind jazz pianist and noted composer-arranger, played at Morris Dailey Auditorium last week in the third performance sponsored by the Spartan Programs Committee Washington Square Pop Series. Throughout the concert, Shearing entertained the audience with both his sense of humor and his musical talents.

By PAT SHARP
Spartan Daily Fine Arts Editor

"I'm amazed that the concert is starting"—here George Shearing checked his Braille watch—"on time." Thus began the Thursday night performance of the George Shearing Quintet, third campus program sponsored by the Spartan Programs Committee Washington Square Pop Series at Morris Dailey Auditorium.

Blind since birth, Shearing, jazz pianist and composer-arranger, punctuated the concert with humor and good-natured puns. One who obviously enjoys music, the artist swayed with the music, tapped one foot and audibly "ahhhed" at passages which he particularly liked.

'HERE AND NOW'

The quintet played selections from its "Here and Now" album, tunes made popular in the last four or five years. One of these is "Call Me Irresponsible," or, as Shearing put it, "Call Me Irresponsible." He commented that all proceeds from the concert will go to a very worthy cause—his bank account.

In addition to the piano, the quintet includes vibes, bass, guitar and drums, all of which were played at times singly and at the other points together.

Shearing related the story of an English pianist who had left the sustaining pedal down all through the rendition of a tune called "Country Gardens." This, said the jazz artist, resulted in "utter harmonic chaos," which he then demonstrated. After that, the quintet played several variations of the tune, one in which the vibes added a light, bouncy effect.

NODDING IN UNISON

Throughout the concert, one couple in the audience sat nodding in time to the music and in unison—possibly demonstrating what others were repressing or releasing in the more common form of foot-tapping.

Several times during the performance Shearing literally rocked the piano bench in his enthusiasm with the music. But mixed with the performers' obvious enjoyment of what they were playing was an element of concentration on the music.

Shearing still retains a trace of his British accent, a speaking habit which added charm to his comments throughout the program. Remarking on performers who begin their concerts late, he said that is all right in the summertime when it becomes a "hot tardy."

TWO HANDS

Demonstrating his ability to hear each note clearly, Shearing played two numbers at the same time—one with each hand.

With "What a Fool Am I," Shearing exemplified the fugue, a form in which the musician begins the melody with one hand, then picks it up with the other in a lower or higher pitch. The audience was hushed throughout this number.

In contrast, listeners responded enthusiastically to the quintet's performance of Shearing's composition "Lullaby of Birdland."

Retaining a warm sense of humor to the very end of the program, Shearing responded to the audience's applause for an encore with "Gee, tanks." He reintroduced the members of the quartet "and yours truly, Peter Nero." Then he added, "We play music for the Nero-minded people."

Oh yes, that couple in the audience was still nodding in time with the music and in unison as the quintet played its final number, "Day by Day."

McFarland To Play At Benefit Concert

Gary McFarland and Co., jazz group which will join the Foothill College Stage Band and SJS Jazz Ensembles at a benefit concert at Foothill College Sunday afternoon, is now playing at the Cabana Motor Hotel in Palo Alto.

Members of the group are McFarland, vibes; Gabor Szabo, guitar; Phil Woods, clarinet and alto sax; Al Stinson, bass, and Joe Cocuzzo, drums. California-born McFarland is a composer.

Conductor and arranger who has won a following for his "Latin-tinted jazz." Among his albums are "Big Band Bossa Nova" and "Tijuana Jazz."

Proceeds from the benefit concert at Foothill College Gymnasium, Los Altos, Sunday at 3 p.m. will be used to send the Foothill Stage Band to the Notre Dame University Jazz Festival, South Bend, Ind., late this month.

Tickets, $3 for adults and $1.50 for students, are available at the SJS Music Department Office, M108.

SJS' Jazz Ensembles, directed by music instructor Dwight Cannon, will aid the Foothill group in raising the $5,000 needed to send it to the jazz festival. Foothill is the first West Coast college invited to attend the Indiana festival with eight other bands from throughout the United States.

Director Herb Patnoe attributed the band's invitation to its "neophonic jazz style." Jim Lyons, disc jockey and director of the Monterey Jazz Festival, will be the master of ceremonies for the event.

'South Pacific' Opens in Palo Alto Tonight at 8:30

Rodgers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific" opens tonight at the Comedia Repertory Co., Homer and High Streets, Palo Alto, at 8:30.

Performances will be given Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 and Sundays at 2:30 p.m. through May 8.

Price for students with student body cards is $1.50. Regular prices range from $3 to $2 for Thursday and Sunday productions and from $3.50 to $2.50 Friday and Saturday.

Reservations may be made by phoning 326-6560. Tickets are available at the box office, Homer and High Streets, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Glen Yarbrough To Sing at Aptos

Glen Yarbrough will appear at Cabrillo College, Aptos, tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. The college is on Highway 1 south of Santa Cruz.

Tickets for the performance are available at the door. Prices are $2 for students and $2.50 for general admission.

Among the singer's recordings are "Baby the Rain Must Fall."

Appearing with Yarbrough will be a comedian Biff Rose and a jazz group, the Stanyan Street Quartet.

'Molly Brown' Musical At Circle Star Theatre

Currently playing at Circle Star Theatre in San Carlos is "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," starring Jane Powell and Peter Palmer. It will continue through Sunday.

Tickets may be purchased at Macy's, Sears, Montgomery Ward and Greyhound Bus Depot. Coupons for reduced ticket rates sent to SJS from Circle Star are tacked on the bulletin board of the Student Affairs Business Office, Building R.

Cyril Ritchard will star in the West Coast premiere of "The Roar of the Greasepaint—the Smell of the Crowd," which opens at Circle Star Tuesday night. Ritchard is known for his role of Captain Hook in "Peter Pan." He originated the role of Sir in the Broadway production of "The Roar of Greasepaint," a Leslie Bricusse-Anthony Newley musical.

Tickets are also on sale for the following forthcoming attractions: Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass, March 31-April 3; Juliet Prowse Show with Frank Gorshin (The Riddler from "Batman") and singer Buddy Greco, April 5-10; The Smothers Brothers and Roger Williams, April 12-17; Jimmy Dean Show with Molly Bee, April 19-24, and "The World of Suzie Wong," April 26-May 8.

Singers, Jazz Trio To Appear

Tickets are now on sale at the San Jose Box Office, 40 W. San Carlos St., for the performances of Peter, Paul and Mary and the Ramsey Lewis Trio at San Jose Civic Auditorium.

Folksingers Peter, Paul and Mary will appear Sunday, March 20, at 8 p.m. Prices are $2.50, $3.50 and $4.50.

The group is famous for their versions of "Puff, the Magic Dragon," "Lemon Tree" and "500 Miles." Folk music has revived during the past 10 years in the United States, and with its rise Peter Yarrow, Paul Stookey and Mary Travers have become one of the nation's outstanding folk-singing groups.

The Ramsey Lewis Trio performance is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Saturday, March 26. Ticket prices are $2.50, $3.25, $3.75 and $4.50.

The jazz musicians play a variety of tempos and tunes, including "My Ship," "Bye Bye Blackbird" and "Anything Goes." Members of the trio are Ramsey Lewis, pianist; El Dee Young, bassist, and Red Holt, drummer.

SF State Presents 'Herring' Opera

Benjamin Britten's comic opera "Albert Herring," adapted from a short story by Guy de Maupassant, will be introduced at San Francisco State College tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. in the Creative Arts Auditorium.

Other presentations are scheduled for March 12, 18 and 19.

Ticket information and reservations are available at the college's Creative Arts Box Office, 1600 Holloway Ave., San Francisco. The telephone number is JU5-7174.

Dewey Camp, associate professor of music, conducts the performance, the college's traditional spring opera. Stage director is Geoffrey L. Lardner, assistant professor of drama.

The story concerns the crowning of a village May king as a reward for virtue. David Frank-emberger, junior music major from Redwood City, plays the title role.

Sarah Jane Champlin, Mill Valley, and Janet Thayer, Oakland, alternate in the role of Lady Billows, who offers the prize for purity.

Among the college's past operas are "Orpheus in the Underworld," Urokofief's "Du-enna" and "Le Coq d'Or."

WHERE THE FUN IS...

USF Nine Visits SJS For Doublebill Today

Spartan baseballers will be trying to get back on the winning track today when they meet the University of San Francisco Dons in a doubleheader at Municipal Stadium.

The first of two seven-inning contests will begin at 1 p.m., with the second to follow immediately.

Saturday at Municipal Stadium, the Spartans try to prove that youth is superior to experience when they meet an Alumni team in a 1 p.m. exhibition game.

LYON STARTS

John Lyon, charged with one of the Spartans' four losses to the Dons last year, will start for SJS in the first game today, with either sophomore Rich Kemmerle or junior college transfer Gene Hessler slated to begin the second game.

Lyon will be trying to even his season's record at 1-1 today. The right hander lost his only start of the season to California last Saturday, although all three runs charged to him were unearned.

Kemmerle went the distance in his only starting assignment to beat San Francisco State 4-2 on five hits.

Hessler (0-1) has started twice. He worked four innings against Cal State at Davis and was charged with the 4-3 defeat.

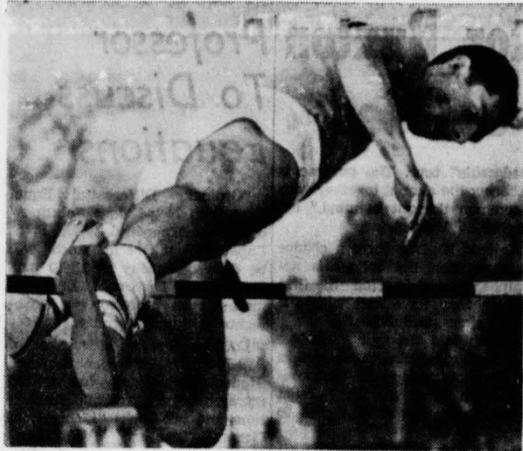

His other start was in an exhibition contest against Laney, and he was touched for six runs and seven hits in four innings.

MYERS TOP HITTER

The big hitter in recent games for the Spartans has been catcher Larry Myers. The veteran receiver has had four hits in the Spartans' last two games, and was particularly impressive in a losing effort against Santa Clara Tuesday.

In addition to rapping out two of SJS' six hits, he made the defensive play of the game by crashing into a concrete barrier to catch a pop foul.

Freshman baseballers, still looking for their first win, will play Cal at Berkeley Saturday. Last Tuesday the Spartababes dropped a 6-3 decision to Monterey, although they outhit the opposition 4 to 3.

LEAPERS ANONYMOUS—Gene Zubrinsky (above) is one of four SJS high jumpers with the potential to reach the magic 7-foot barrier this season. He is one of the reasons the Spartans expect to have the best high jumping corps in the nation.

Four Potential Seven-Footers Among Spartan High Jumpers

Regardless of how strong pneumonia or the flu bug is, it will take something much more powerful to hamper the SJS track squad's strength in the high jump.

The Spartans have possibly the best collegiate high jump corps in the nation with four potential seven-footers.

The Spartan leapers will be on display Saturday when SJS plays host to Sacramento State, UC Davis and UC Santa Barbara.

SJS high jump strength was displayed last Saturday when the Spartans swept all three places in the Stanford Relays despite the absence of two of the potential seven-footers.

Ed Johnson, who has gone over 7-0 twice, including an 84-incher in this year's Interclass meet, and Terry Doe missed the Stanford meet with pneumonia and the flu, respectively.

Doe, a 19-year old junior, has hit 6-11 before, and SJS coach Bud Winter feels he is just tapping his potential.

Gene Zubrinsky, a senior who was in the service since last jumping for SJS in 1961, also has reached 6-11 and is a definite threat to crack 7-0.

The fourth potential 7-footer is Bob Lovejoy, who has a best of 6-9.

Bill Fowler, who along with Lovejoy placed in the Stanford Relays to fill in for Johnson and Doe, has cleared 6-4½ and Winter hopes to add 6-6 basketballer Frank Tarrant to his list for even more depth.

Tarrant has cleared 6-4½, with Winter again believing he can go much higher.

It's not likely that the Spartans can continue to sweep all three places with Johnson and Doe absent, but there will be few squads—if any—in the nation that can boast the depth Winter prides in.

And, as Winter puts it: "It's tough to beat depth."

Golfers Down Cal Behind Don Keffer

Spartan golfers are back to winning ways after topping the University of California 19-8 in Tuesday's match on the Orinda Country Club layout.

Don Keffer of SJS took medalist honors by firing a 70 over the par-72 course.

Keffer, Terry Small (75), Ross Randall (71), Jim Troncatty (75) and Cam Andrews (77) were Spartan winners. Best ball teams of Randall-Troncatty and Keffer-Pickett both took their Cal opponents 3-0.

SJS Brown Belts Compete Saturday

Spartan brown and white belt judokas get a chance to show their form Saturday when they compete in the Northern California NCAA Brown Belt Championships.

Colleges from all over Northern California will send judokas to the tournament which begins at 2 p.m. in MG207. Admission is free.

Swimmers Off Blocks Today In Regionals Opening Round

By LEE JULLERAT

Spartan Daily Sports Writer
Competition begins today for SJS swimmers in the College Division Regionals at Northridge.

Spartan mermen hope to land the team championship, but face fleet tests from Long Beach State, San Diego State and the University of California at Santa Barbara.

The 500 freestyle, 200 individual medley, 50 free, one-meter diving and 400-yard medley relay are events for today's opening round.

Although no individual entries are finalized, coach Tom O'Neill expects Jack Likens, Greg Swan, John Schmitt and Steve Hoberg may go in the grueling 500 free.

IM ENTRIES

Hoberg may be scratched and go in his specialty, the 200 IM, instead. Larry Lefner, Kevin Currlin and Mark Peterson are other possibilities in the IM.

Sprinters Mike Hansen, Nick Schoenmann and John Kocal will splash in the 50 free.

San Jose's lone diver, Steve Hancock, carries Spartan hopes on the one-meter board.

Hansen, Schoenmann, Currlin and Ted Mathewson are probable members of the 400 medley squad.

O'Neill may shuffle swimmers in all events, depending on entries by the other schools and comparative times. He hopes to move men to events where valuable team points can be gained.

O'NEILL OPTIMISTIC

The short mentor expects the Spartans to be a "legitimate contender" in the San Fernando Valley swimoff. "I'm very optimistic about the team's chances, but everyone will have to show the improvement they've shown all season."

Intramurals

BASKETBALL

The first round of the fraternity basketball tournament is tonight, with eight teams scheduled to compete.

At 7 p.m. Sigma Phi Epsilon meets Sigma Chi on the PER 1 court, while Sigma Nu battles Phi Kappa Alpha on PER 2.

Delta Sigma Phi tangles with Sigma Pi at 8 p.m. on PER 1 while Lambda Chi Alpha plays Kappa Sigma on PER 2.

The top four seeded teams, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Omega Psi Phi and Theta Chi all draw byes. They will play the first-round winners Friday night.

The mermen improved from last season's poor 2-6 mark to 8-1-1 in 1966. Newcomers Hoberg, Mathewson and Steve Williams stand out as finners most responsible for the surprise success.

All three are being counted on for top finishings if San Jose is to take the team championship.

Events for tomorrow include the 200 butterfly, 200 free, 100 breaststroke, 100 backstroke, 400 individual medley and the 400 free relay.

Alumni Association Director Buxton To Tell College Story in 8 Cities

Richard O. Buxton, executive director of the SJS Alumni Association, will visit eight California cities March 22-25 to meet alumni and present a 30-minute slide show.

The show, titled "Excellence in Education," depicts SJS history, growth, development and achievements. It also contains an aerial photograph of the campus and pictures from the various departments.

It is the second "Project Alumni Leadership" tour. The purpose is to "bring the alumni together with a common thought in mind," according to Buxton.

He said it gives them a chance to learn what the college is accomplishing and is often "the first contact they have had with the school since graduating."

Buxton said the tour gives him a chance to talk with alumni in the communities and establish contact with leaders. "They seem pleased when the college goes to them," he said.

Robert D. Clark, SJS president, will be the keynote speaker Tuesday, March 22, at a dinner in Sacramento.

The tour includes stops in Sacramento, Auburn, Chico, Yuba City, Stockton, Manteca, Tracy and Concord.

Last year the tour took Buxton through several cities in the San Joaquin Valley. He ate six steak dinners in four days, which Buxton said "made spaghetti look awfully good."

Professor To Discuss Equations

"Ordinary Differential Equations with Non-Unique Solutions" or "What Happened When P. S. Laplace Went Out to Lunch" will be discussed today at 12:30 p.m. in ED100 by Dr. Donald Buschaw, mathematics professor at Washington State University.

Dr. Buschaw, guest speaker of SJS Mathematics Department and Student Math Society, has written research papers, reports, translations and two books "Elements of General Topology" and "Introduction to Mathematical Elements."

He has served as mathematical consultant to the Experimental Towing Tank, Stevens Institute of Technology, Stanford Research Institute and has been visiting scientist at the Research Institute for Applied Science, Baltimore, Md.

Dr. Buschaw received his B.A. in mathematics from Washington State and his Ph.D. from Princeton.

Economics Club To Meet Tonight

The Economics Club will hold its first organizational meeting tonight at 7 in Cafeteria B.

The club will elect officers and set up a program, according to Dr. Edward Koziana, assistant professor of economics.

One objective of the club will be to organize a tutoring program in which upper division students will help lower division students.

Another objective will be to inform members of graduate school and job opportunities. Members will have a chance to voice opinions on curriculum improvements.
