Gift of rum sends pledge to hospital

By Eric Hermstad "If I was 20 pounds lighter, I could have died."

That's what SJSU student Brent Barton said after his life was saved following a bout with alcohol poisoning.

Barton, a 6-foot 2-inch, 185pound pledge at Sigma Nu fraternity, had a blood alcohol level of .505 and was comatose when brought to San Jose Hospital.

He had attended a "big brother/little brother" function at the Sigma Nu fraternity house where the "big brothers" gave each of the "little brothers" a bottle of liquor as a present.

Barton was given a bottle of rum. The "big brother/little brother" system pairs pledges with members. The big brother helps the pledge through his first year in the fraternity. Mike Meissner, president of Sigma Nu, said pledges are not forced to drink and that Barton "drank too much on his own accord."

When Barton could not be awakened, concerned fraternity 'members took Barton to the hospital where his stomach was pumped.

A .10 blood alcohol level is all that it is necessary to be classified as being legally drunk. At a .30 level most people are quite drunk. A level above .30 can be fatal, said Oscar Battle, SJSU health eductor.

"It depends on one's physical condition — how fit they are," Battle said.

Battle said alcohol is expelled by the body at the rate of one ounce per hour, and if more than that amount is consumed the residual alcohol level in the body rises.

"Chalk it up to a terrible experience." Barton said. "I'm glad I survived it."

One-fourth of dance costs to go toward security staff

Students, guards, and police hired to patrol ballroom

By Ken Leiser

The 1983 Homecoming Committee will spend more than one-fourth of its $3,900 budget on security for the Oct. 14 dance.

About $1,000 will be used to hire 26 people to control the 1,000 SJSU students and alumni expected to crowd into the Student Union Ballroom.

"I feel very comfortable about the security arrangements," said Pat Wiley, associate director of the Student Union. "Most of them were thought out in advance by Stephanie (Stephanie Duer, chair of the Homecoming Committee) and Dan (Dan Ross, director of the Associated Students program board) – I'm statisfied.

"The only problem I can think of is if the crowd is unusually large," he said. "There could be a traffic problem into the beer room. A large crowd could lead to frustrated people who can't get their beer."

Last week. Duer met with University Police and S.U. officials to arrange the security. The committee will hire four University Police officers, 18 student personnel and four security guards from the Wu-Wei security service. Duer said the amount of student security hired was "generous." "I'd rather have too many than two few," she said.

The dance will be free and will be restricted to SJSU students and alumni.

The plan will be to post students in the beer serving area and at stairwells within the Student Union.

Most of the students hired for such events by the A.S. program board are members of the Spartan football and wrestling teams, Duer said.

Tickets for the beer will be sold in the hallway running between the ballroom and the Guadalupe Room. The people will turn in their ticket in the Guadalupe Room where the beer will be served. Drinking will be restricted to the room and its adjacent terrace. Students will be restricted to four beer tickets apiece, costing 25 cents each.

"We'll have the same ticket sellers all night and we'll probably stamp hands to make sure people don't buy more," Duer said. "We just hope people will be at their best."

The dance will mark the first time beer has been sold at a function held in the S.U. Ballroom.

In early September, the S.U. board of directors approved the beer sales for the dance, 10-1-1. The approval was echoed by SJSU President Ceil Entretice and the better better the sector.

Gail Fullerton's office two days later. Wiley said that drugs and alcohol have been problems in the past at the Student Union. They were primarily the result of non-students, usually under the age of 18. That led to the present S.U. policy which forbids any non-student under the age of 18 from entering the building.

"There will always be a rough element at an event, no matter who sponsors it," Wiley said.

But, for the record, the old pads didn't see much action in the Spartans' 3-0 win Saturday at south campus.

Long Beach State (0-4) took only one shot all day.

The sixth-ranked Spartans (7-1) dominated from start to finish as the 49'ers made few threats past midfield.

Long Beach State's only shot on goal came with five seconds left in the first half and, at that time, the Spartans had a comfortable threegoal lead. On the shot, Libbey (making her first start of the year) made a nice sliding save at what would turn out to be the only threat at breaking up the shutout.

The Spartans finished the day outshooting the 49'ers 22-1 as they showcased their passing and ballhandling skills.

"We need to work on passing," head coach Carolyn Lewis said. "That's what killed us at Berkeley. We worked on it all week."

"It's a program designed to make students more aware of higher education programs at SJSU as well as other schools in the CSU and UC system," said career advisor Chuck Balalis.

The program, which was coordinated by Career Planning & Placement and Graduate Studies, has more than doubled in the last two years.

"The graduate degree is becoming more significant to employers," said Patty Kimball, education career advisor. "Employers prefer it, and it is almost a necessity in some areas."

Graduate Study Day will begin at 11 a.m. with a panel presentation on admissions, testing, and financial aid, on the upper pad of the Student Union. From noon to 3 p.m. representatives from the different graduate and professional programs will have information tables available in the Ballroom.

"I think it's a terrific opportunity for anyone even contemplating the idea of graduate school," Kimball said. "It's never too early to start finding out facts about it."

Watt's next, Ronald Reagan?

James Watt has resigned - so what? Even though he is/was one of the 20th Century's great political en.barrassments, Watt's actual tenure in office merely reflected the wishes of one Ronald Reagan, so-called leader of this country

However, don't think I feel sorry for the hairless wonder: he is a self-righteous, smug, God-is-on-my-side. public servant. His incredibly tactless and insensitive references about people from all walks of life were reasons enough to call for his ouster.

But the real issue is who really controls the environmental destiny of this country. Watt's track record and personality were well established before he ever came near the Washington Mall.

Ronnie intended to stock his ranks with persons willing to do his bidding. He really doesn't care if they have no training in the particular area for which they are chosen

I know, that's the way it's always done in Washington, but I believe a watershed mark for lack of back ground in government appointees has been set by Ron-aldo. Watt just happened to be a shining example of this. I mean, would you hire a lawyer, of all things, to run the Department of Interior? The man has no background or training in science or biology. He's a lawyer

Maybe a lawyer is helpful in negotiations with oil law classes also. He combined a callous disregard for the environment with a complete misunderstanding of business principles. Case in point :

The General Accounting Office, the federal govern-ment's bookkeeper, said that when Watt engineered the largest coal sale in the nation's history, along the Pow-der River basin on the Montana-Wyoming border, he charged various coal interests $100 million dollars less than he should have.

Really, Jim, if you were going to rape the landscape, at least you could have gotten top dollar for all your work — which was in the best interest of the nation, right?

It's curious that the nation's interests also happen to coincide with those of a select and wealthy group. I already feel sorry for all those starving oil and coal company executives. Who will carry the ball for strip miners and oil tycoons? Who will be held accountable for Reagan's policies? Well, unfortunately we won't have Jim Watt to kick around anymore.

And Ron-boy will be the worst for wear. The man who said,"If you've seen them all," will finally be taken to task for his environmental policies, which have generally come down on the side of the business concerns that have a vested interest in exploiting the flora and fauna of America.

At least Watt was straightforward - dumb and inand environmentally responsible people have said. Watt offered a target for those of us who are concerned with the future of our environment

More words on Maranatha vs. homosexuality

In Coleen Parsons' letter in the Oct. 6 issue of the Daily, she claims that I passed judgment on Greg Ball, and that I condemned his Christianity.

What I actually did was question the sincerity of his Christianity. I did not, as Ball did of Jeff Brown (and by implication myself), accuse him of being a diseased pervert. Although, I must confess the thought crossed my mind. Nor did I condemn him or his Christianity And, I did not, as many people who call themselves Christians do, claim to be spreading the word of the Gospel while behaving in a way that is inconsistent with that word.

What really concerns me is a much more serious issue

The terrible fact of the matter is that lesbians and gays are legally discriminated against in a number of ways. Simply for being a homosexual, you may be fired from your job or evicted from your living quarters, and you have no legal redress with which to fight these actions. Gay and lesbian parents can lose custody of their children because of their homosexuality.

Homosexual marriages are not recognized by the State of California, therefore lesbians and gays lose out on the legal benefits of being married (income, tax breaks, work benefits, retirement benefits, etc.)

Even worse, homosexuals are constantly getting the message from society and certain religious groups that they are sick and evil. These kinds of messages can be and often are devastating to one's self image.

Editor:

It is an unfortunate but all too common occurrence for the persecuted to become the persecutors. Take away the lions, close the coliseums, and soon the "Christians become the new inquistors. Self-styled evangelists appear, attempting to force their myopic authoritarian vision on the multitudes.

They claim to speak in loco parentis for a paternalistic God whose name and character, by His own admission, is "Jealous;" their sole authority is the Bible: A book which they cannot read in its original languages (Hebrew and Greek)

Quoting from Leviticus, primarily an Old Testa-ment book of civil codes for the Israelites, they find justification for the persecution of gays and others in the name of their God. Among the many shining examples of the "benevolence" of their God's dictates from this book are:

that ". . if a man also lie with mankind, as he lieth with a woman, both of them shall have committed an abomination; they shall surely be put to death; their blood shall be upon them."

- the "sacrifice of peace," in which animals from the worshippers' flock are to be slaughtered on th altar, their blood, various organs and fat to be a "burnt offering" to Him;

It is unfortunate that some of the authors of letters to the editor in the Daily missed the point of Greg Ball's recent message concerning homosexuality

Greg Ball's intent is not to judge homosexuals or anyone else; the day will come when all who stand be-fore Jesus Christ will be condemned by their own thoughts and actions

On the contrary, Greg Ball's purpose in speaking out for Jesus Christ is that anyone can break the power of sin by coming to Jesus. Two major sins are currently destroying the fabric of life in the United States: Homosexuality and abortion. Homosexuality has served to confuse both men and woman and is destroying the minds of children, thus leading to the destruction of the family

More than 1.5 million babies have been aborted in this country in the last 20 years, nearly two and a half times the amount of people murdered during the Holocaust of World War II.

These are truths which many people don't like to hear because it bothers their conscience. But Greg Ball and Christians throughout the United States are deter mined to let the world know that there is an answer to immorality. His name is Jesus Christ. The apostle Paul says, "That is why I say to run from sex sin. No other sin affects the body as this one does. When you sin this sin it is against your own body Haven't you yet learned that your body is the home of

So I would concentrate on popularizing some of the old shows.

One thing I'd do is change public affairs. I know you have to have it, but why not make it more palatable?

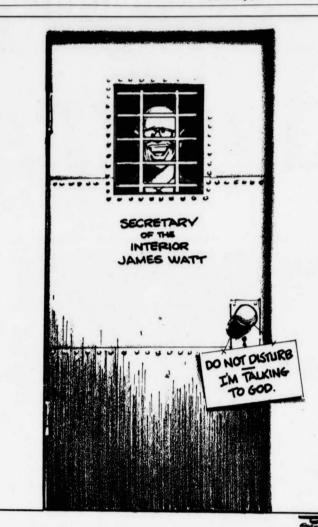

Take "Meet the Press." This program is so unpopular with the masses it is shown at 9 a.m. Sundays. The problem is in their definition of 'press'' as a group of top-notch, insightful, perceptive, intellectual and investigative journalists

Why not have "Meet the Press" with columnists Ann Landers, Erma Bombeck and Heloise, and John Smith of The National Enquirer?

Now that would produce some lively dialogue Instead of Kaiser asking the boring question, "Former Secretary Watt, did you resign due to pressure from the White House or because you believed alienating yourself from Indians, blacks, disabled, the Jewish and women would have made you ineffectual?", there could be:

Editor:

As a Christian and a witness to the recent encounter between Greg Ball, preacher, and Jeff Brown, gay activist, I felt I should respond in rebuttal to the recent accusations against Ball.

When speaking to Brown, Ball was not attacking him as a person but rather his immoral practices.

I fell sorry for those who believe that homosexuality is just a fad which should be accepted as a fact of life by Christians, and go unpunished by God. The Bible clearly everyone who lives in sin is the slave of states that " sin. No slave has a permanent place in the family John 8:34-35)

Maybe people like Brown should listen a little closer

- that if one should blaspheme the name of the , all the congregation stone him . . ." and that Lord. he shall surely be put to death.

- that a woman on her period be considered "unclean," as is everything which she touches during her "sickness," and as is anyone who touches anything which she touches during this time;

- That a man in any way disfigured or blemished may not approach the alter "... that he profane not my sanctuary.

Is it possible that our modern "Christian" evangelists really take this archaic and barbaric nonsense seriously?

If so, they must perceive their "Christ" as the sort of savior who, confronted with Mary Magdalene, would not only advocate stoning her to death but would scan the ground for a good rock to hurl first.

the Holy Spirit God gave you and that he lives within you?" (Living Bible 6:18-19)

The Bible says that homosexuals, adulterers, idol worshippers, thieves, greedy people, drunkards, slanderers and robbers will not inherit the Kingdom of God. because of their sin which separates them from fellowship with God. But God loves these people and will change their hearts if they are willing to turn from their sins and repent

The message of Greg Ball or any evangelical Christians for that matter all share the same basic common theme, only the words and examples used may differ: that you may be any kind of sinner, but if you want peace with God and want to know you are right with Him, all you have to do is four things and He will accept you as you are

First, admit you need. Second, be willing to turn from your sins. Third, believe that Jesus Christ died for you on the cross and rose again. Finally, through prayer, invite Jesus Christ to come into your life and receive Him as your Lord and Savior.

Or, HELOISE: "Former Secretary Watt, how do you remove egg from your face?'

Think of the audience appeal a show like that would have!

Another thing I'd like to do is bring back the best of the shows of my youth. I see a program utilizing the characters of the past and the sophisti-cation we now expect from our television.

I envision "Legacy" - with Lilly Munster as the eccentric, alcoholic wife; Little Joe as the confused playboy son; Grandpa McCoy as the ruthless leader of the cartel: Hazel as his long-suffering, coke-snorting maid and, of course, Jethro Bodine as the wealthy, adulterous oil tycoon and brain surgeon. Now we're talking Nielsen points.

I've also been toying with another idea. I call it 'High Speed Chase.'

You see, I think we television viewers have become smart enough to recognize that some shows are just excuses for having several high speed chases and car crashes. There is a little characterization, even less story and then a race through the city, under a parking garage, over an opening draw bridge, down an embankment, etc. So why bother with the drama and characterizations?

I say, let's have a solid hour of nothing but cars raeing and crashing into each other. Good, huh?

Yes, I would be great — perhaps even as great as the people controlling television programming at this very minute.

Spartan midfielder Jeannie Gilbert, left, brings the ball upfield against Long Beach State defenders Judy Schaefer (14) and Cindy Kane (13) in Saturday's action at south campus. Gilbert and the rest of the sixthranked Spartans outshot the 49ers 22-1 en route to a 3-0 non-conference victory.

continued from page 1 Leading the way for SJSU was the Northern Pacific Conference's Player of the Month for September - Ali McCargo, who for the fourth time this season scored two goals in a game

McCargo, though, handed most of the credit for the award to her teammates. "My team did it for me," the junior

'Our team works for the corner shots," McCargo added. "Then, Lynne (McManus) and Jeannie (Gilbert) are really good at setting up shots for me. Lynne makes great passes and Jeannie makes great stops. That usually means I'll get a good shot.

That's exactly what happened just past the midway point in the first half.

The Spartans set up for a penalty corner shot. McManus passed the ball in, Gilbert made the stop and McCargo fired the shot past 49'er goalie Leslie Miller for a 1-0 Spartan lead.

Continued pressure on Miller paid off for SJSU 10 minutes later. Gilbert took a shot, but had it deflected. Forward Kim Green, though, was right where the shot bounced and she reached out and pushed the ball into the net for a two goal lead.

A change in strategy resulted in the Spartans' final score of the half, and of the Less than three minutes after Green's goal, SJSU set up for another penalty corner attempt. This time, though, due to a muddy field, McManus passed the ball in from the right side of the goal (the Spar-tans usually attempt their penalty corners from the left side)

member of England's National Team in field hockey

She played goalie and captained a squad that frequently encountered the Dutch National Team, that was then captained by now SJSU assistant coach Jose Poelmans.

"This was a good confidence-builder," Lewis said. "Our game plan was to make flat, square passes and we did that. But, then again, we didn't score in the second half

In the second half, the Spartans only outshot the 49'ers 7-0, but Long Beach State only made token advances across midfield.

'We had some difficulty stopping some balls," link Mace Savelkoul said. "We probably should have scored more goals, but it's good to get our confidence back.

Lewis also made a pre-game switch by starting Libbey instead of Jackie Mc-Garry at the goalie spot. However, Libbey virtually untested the entire match was against the 49'ers.

"Both Jackie and Debbie are very even," Lewis said, "so we don't have a drop-off no matter who we start."

Lewis gave no indication, however, of who would start against Stanford in Palo Alto on Thursday

Spartan title hopes dashed by Fresno

By John Ormsby

A red hot Fresno state soccer team put an end to the Spartans Pacific Coast Athletic Association title hopes with a 2-0 victory Saturday at chilly Spartan Stadium

The Bulldogs used a strong counterattack to win their sixth straight and take the inside track in the race for the northern division championship of the PCAA

Bulldog coach Jose Elgorriaga said before the match that he felt the team that could "dig down for a little bit extra" would come out on top. His team proved him right by jumping out to an early lead, and holding the Spartans at bay in the second half to win

The Bulldogs scored the only goal they would need at 18:25 of the first half. Randy Prescott hit a freekick from 25 yards that Spartan goalkeeper John Olejnik pushed clear. Fresno State's Kenneth Mays collected the loose ball and put a short header in from the right side for a 1-0 lead.

The Spartans put considerable pressure on Bulldog keeper Andy Rico, but could not come up with a wall of players to the right corner. Rico made a sprawling save to poke the ball wide and over the endline.

Fresno State got an insurance goal shortly before halftime. The Bulldog defense forced a loose ball at midfield and pushed the ball ahead to Kevin Williams. Williams beat the Spartans back, swung wide around the charging Olejnik, and curved a 20-yarder into the right side of the

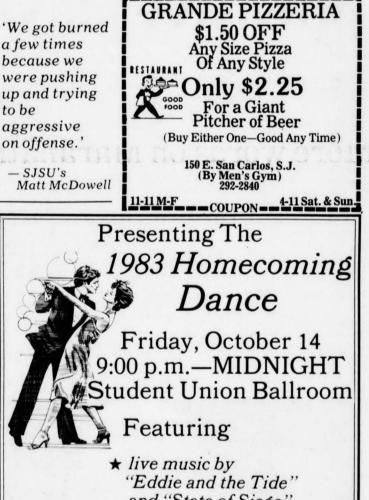

The Spartans came up with a lot of offense in the second half, but had nothing to show for it. Rico added considerably to SJSU's scoring woes with some aggressive goalkeeping. He stopped Tom Visch-er's penalty kick with eight minutes left to play, then made a desperation grab of Matt McDowell's 15-yarder to preserve the shut out.

The Spartans came up with some defense of their own to keep the match close. Jaime Diaz and Bertolacci each Vince saved sure goals by clearing shots away from an empty Spartan net.

Both teams played with an intensity that had the referee struggling to keep control of the match. Spartans Jaime Diaz and Pat Rasche earned yellow cards, (warnings), as did Fresno's Mitchell Ribera. The Bulldogs' Rob Stibling was ejected with a red card late in the match for swearing at the referee.

Although the Spartans did not finish as high as head coach Marshall Clark might have liked, he said they showed vast overall improvement over their showing at the Fresno State Invitational two weeks earlier. He singled out the fine showing from senior Glenn Lee, who finished 26th in the 10,000 meter race with a time of 31:21.1.

Spartan back Johnson named offensive player of the week

PCAA Roundup

By Pat Sangimino

SJSU running back Bobby Johnson was named the Pacific Coast Athletic Association Offensive Player of the Week for his performance against Fresno State Sat urday

The senior from Monterey rushed for a career high 131 yards against the Bulldogs in the Spartans' 41-23 victory. It was Johnson's third straight game over the 100-yard mark. The last Spartan to do this was Rick Kane in 1976 when he led the PCAA in rushing.

Johnson joins teammates Dave Cris-well and Jon Carlson as Spartans to win the PCAA award.

Utah State linebacker Aaron Smith was named Defensive Player of the Week for his contributions in the Aggies' 27-10 win over Pacific. Smith was in on 16 tackles and intercepted two passes that led to Utah State scores.

In other games involving PCAA teams, Cal State-Fullerton beat Nevada-Reno 14-6, Long Beach State edged San Liego State 20-13 and Tulsa beat New Mex ico State 24-10.

Quarterback Chico Canales completed 10-of-19 passes for 163 yards and two touchdowns as the Aggies improved their PCAA record to 2-1 (2-3 overall)

Coach Chris Pella got another strong offensive perfromance from running back Marc White. The transfer from Laney Junior College in Oakland rushed the ball 11 times for 48 yards and caught two passes for 46 yards and a touchdown.

Fight end Jim Samuels, from Woodside High School in San Mateo County, was the Aggies' leading receiver with three receptions for 75 yards and a touchdown

For the Tigers, Kirby Warren continued to run well. His 33 carries for 177 yards and a touchdown moved him into the top in the PCAA rushing list. Quar terback Mike Pitz had his best game of the year, completing 16-of-35 for 197 yards, unfortuantley, the Tigers lost their fifth straight game

By John Ormsby The SJSU volleyball team extended its win streak to eight games with weekend wins over Fresno State and UC Irvine, and momentum should come in handy tonight when second ranked Pacific visits Spartan Gymnasium.

"We weren't sharp, but we tried to play everyone." DeGroot said "When we had our starters in, we dominated. We had the same group together in each of the games we one.

SJSU traveled to Fresno Friday night for a Northern Pacific Conference match with the Bulldogs, and came away with a five-game win. The scores were 15-4, 11-15, 15-The 4. 13-15 and 15-8, but according to SJSU assistant coach Dave DeGroot, the scores were mislead-centage. Fresno dropped to 5-7, 0-2 in NorPac play. SJSU returned home Saturday to take on UC Irvine in a non-conference match. The Lady Spartans had little trouble with the Anteaters, rolling to a 15-0, 16-14, 6-15, 15-3 victory in the 75-minute match. Only liberal substitution by SJSU prevented a three-game sweep. "We made it a point to get some different combina tions in the line-up," DeGroot said. "We wanted to see what they could do.

Kim Kayser played an "outstanding match" according to DeGroot. "Kim was hitting with a lot of power and she played very intelligently." Kayser had 10 kills, three service aces and a .437 hitting percentage. Lisa Ice had 11 kills and Teri DeBusk had four service aces for the Lady Spartans

The Lady Spartans will definitely step up in competition tonight when they take on powerful UOP

"They have an outstanding team," DeGroot said. "They're unquestionably one of the best teams in the nation

DeGroot believes that emotion could be the key to a ady Spartan upset

"If we play with the same enthusiasum and intensity we showed against Stanford earlier this year we could beat them," DeGroot said.

On paper, the Tigers look nearly unbeatable. UOP comes into the match with an 11-0 record. The Tigers' last three matches were against California, UC Santa Barbara and Cal-Poly San Luis Opisbo.

UOP is led by junior Eileen Dempster. The middle blocker leads her team in blocks and kills. Directing the offense for the Tigers will be Jan Saunders, a junior setter UOP also has a nucleus of young players. Sophomores Julie Maginot, Theresa Boyle and Audrey Marcol have all played well for coach Taras Liskevych. In addition to all that talent, the Tigers will be healthy for tonight's match. Linda Vaughn (shoulder surgery) and Denise Jerycki (pulled leg muscle) have made complete recoveries from injuries that slowed them earlier in the season.

SJSU will rely on hard serving and strong blocking to aid their upset bid. "Our serving will be a key," DeGroot making good sets and getting strong kill attempts. We will also need some strong blocking on their big hitter (Dempster) DeGroot is confident the Lady Spartans will be prepared mentally for the game. "We've scouted them pretty extensively," DeGroot said. "We'll know what to look for and what to do. If we can execute properly, we should be in the match." Notes: Hawaii, UOP and Stanford hold the top spots in this weeks coaches' poll. SJSU climbed to No.12 DeGroot hopes for a big turnout tonight. "Our fans are becoming very knowledgable and enthusiastic," he said. A big crowd can mean a difference of four to five points in a close match. I hope we get a great turnout ... To-night is blue and gold night. Anyone showing their school spirit by wearing the colors will be admitted for 75 cents.

said. "We'll try to serve aggressively and keep them from Linda Fournet digs out a shot against Irvine.

Paramilitary guns interest collectors

SANTA ANA (AP) - On an isolated shooting range tucked in the barren, cactus-studded hills of Brea, the staccato bursts of a semi-automatic machine gun shatters the stillne

Quick bursts of fire make dirt clouds in the banks behind the ragged cardboard targets as the Uzi assault rifle blasts

Within three seconds, seemingly before the paper bull's-eye is hit, about 10 brass casings lie on the ground "This," shouted expert marksman Alex Tingirides, "is a gun that means business

In California and most other states, enthusiasts own guns designed like military weapons and resembling guns in war and gangster movies. "They're collectible, afford great stopping power if you need it, and they're fun to shoot," Tingirides said. "Boy, are they fun to shoot.

apons, which are legal to own, are a hot item in most gun stores these days, said Tingirides, 48, owner of the Provision House, a gun and survival supply store in Fullerton

The so-called assault weapons include military style. semi-automatic long-barreled rifles and carbines. "To be perfectly honest, when some people come in to buy these types of guns, they talk about defending themselves against anarchy situations," said the former Los Angeles Police Department sergeant. "The primary appeal to this type of weapon is its firepower.

Most of my customers are just turned on by the sound of something that goes bam-bam-bam-bam instead of simply bam," he said.

No one knows how many paramilitary guns are privately owned across the country. Law enforcement agencies lump them in with all other semi-automatic weapons for statistical purposes

Lt. Wyatt Hart, Orange County Sheriff's Department spokesman, said the weapons were "only as lethal as the person carrying them. I'm sure we have some in our property room, but there are no particular crimes being committed with these types of guns. People intending to shoot people or commit crimes tend to use pistols or shotguns that are not quite as noticeable

The president of the National Association of Federally Licensed Firearms Dealers, Andrew Molchan, said based on production reports about 200,000 new para-military weapons guns are sold each year through 230,000 licensed firearms dealers nationwide.

People are attracted to them the same way they are attracted to fast cars, Molchan said. "Why in the world would somebody buy an $80,000 red Ferrari that goes 150 miles an hour when the speed limit is 55?" he said. "It's the same principle fish still will be edible and will be rounded up and donated to charitable institutions. Fish and Game spokesman Jack White said

Large Kings County farming interests began pumping the lakebed hours after the Army Corps of Engineers issued a permit Friday. However, the permit was suspended a day later after five white bass were found in gill nets installed to assess the effectiveness of a screen-type barrier

Some 400,000 acre feet of water to be drained from last winter's storms eventually will end up in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta, so the screen was installed to keep out white bass that could devastate other fish

White said Sunday he felt vandals might have put the white bass in the river. 'There's no way of knowing how the white bass got there.' ' he said. "We lean toward the theory that some body put them there because there's a lot of controversy about the pumping.

White said fish longer than three sixteenths of an inch could not get through the screen mesh, but the bass that were found were seven to nine inches long.

Gerald Meral, executive director of the Planning and Conservation League, responded that fish and game officials "think they're so perfect that their won derful barrier couldn't have failed.

Meral maintained that fish can "find ways of pass ing barriers that people think they can't get by

Group remembers Lennon, holds candlelight peace vigil

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) - About 200 people gathered near Santa Monica Pier for a candlelight vigil and peace celebration in memory of songwriter John Lennon

The Sunday evening event included a gong-ringing ceremony for world peace, birthday cakes for the slain former Beatle and his son. Sean. 8, and a chant of the Beatles' song "Give Peace a Chance" around an old war cannon on display near the pier.

The vigil was sponsored by the Santa Monica chapter of the Alliance for Survival, which calls itself a grass roots organization working for peace and disarmament Lennon was born Oct. 9, 1940, and shot to death in New York on Dec. 8, 1980

Alliance for Survival coordinator Jerry Rubin said participants also were "trying to focus attention on an Oct. 22 international day of disarmament," a day of world protest against the deployment of Pershing II and Cruise missiles in Europe

'We inititated a peace scroll at the vigil, over 100 feet long. It has messages for peace and disarmament which will be sent to arms control negotiators in Geneva, Rubin said

"The only way you can achieve peace is to work for peace. If John Lennon were alive today he would be leading this drive," Rubin said

Radiation often ignored as a breast cancer cure

Surgery chosen frequently despite disfigurement cent and 50 percent

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Only a few women with breast cancer are being treated with radiation, despite a growing number of studies which show that it can be as successful as surgery and less disfiguring, a Pennsylvania radiation therapy professor says.

Dr. Barbara F. Danoff said many women eligible for the radiation therapy are discouraged by surgeons from choosing it.

Ms. Danoff, an associate professor of radiation the rapy at the University of Pennsylvania, cited several French, Canadian and American studies showing that radiation is as capable as surgery of restricting the cancer to the breast and that the survival rates are as good as for surgery

"Our goal is to preserve the breast and to keep it as normal as possible," she said last week during the American Society of Therapeutic Radiologists' annual meeting here.

Some surgeons have been critical of the results obtained in earlier studies using radiation, arguing patients had not been followed long enough, she said. But the newer, follow-up studies covering 10-year periods or longer confirm the earlier results, she said

Each year about 100,000 new cases of breast cancer are diagnosed in the United States. About 80 percent of these are early-stage breast cancers, designated as Stage I and Stage II.

For various technical reasons, only about 60 percent would be candidates for radiation therapy, but presently only 10 percent receive it, Ms. Danoff said

"The demand for radiation must come from the consumer rather than from the doctor," she said. "It's too easy for the surgeon to say that there are alternatives but they are no good. It's up to the woman to decide which she wants, provided that she is a candidate for the method." Ms. Danoff said the five-year survival rate for Stage I breast cancer is 90 percent, and 70 percent for a 10-year survival. The comparable figures for Stage II are 70 per-

Candy-coated booklets contain X-rated prize

SANTA ANA (AP) - Although the company that manufactures Cracker Jack candy says it has taken elaborate security measures to prevent tampering. John Iglesias says he found a tiny booklet entitled "Erotic Sexual Positions" in one of the boxes

The 4-inch by 2-inch booklet that John Iglesias discovered contained black-andwhite photographs of nude couples engaging in intercourse

'It's terrible," his wife, Lorraine, said Sunday. "I never saw anything like it. The kids really look forward to those gifts in the box. Can you imagine the questions they would have asked?

The booklet claimed to portray sexual secrets from the hidden jungle temples of the Amazon. The booklet called itself the first in a series of erotic best-sellers carmelized-popcorn-and-peanut treat said the company received five similar complaints about a year ago. "We took extensive security measures to make sure this type of packaging problem did not occur again," Garrett said.

Betty Garrett, a spokeswoman for Borden Inc. - which manufactures the

She said only six boxes out of 4 million boxes packaged annually have had problems. She said the person who inserted the material was not apprehended, but new security measures have eliminated the problem

"We want to make sure that our products are as wholesome and safe as can be," Garrett said, adding that a new investigation would be conducted at the plant.

The Iglesias' pre-school children. Joey and Johnny, never saw the 21-page booklet because their father got to it first. "At first I thought it was a cartoon booklet," he said. "I was sure surprised when I opened it up.

There are more than 13,000 golf courses in the United States - more than 100 in Los Angeles County alone - and most every one has some sort of water hazard.

Hawks work out agreements with golf course owners and managers, promising to keep ball-littered pond bottoms clean in exchange for the balls they find. An ambitious hawk can make more than $65,000 a year

Coleman started diving about six years ago when he met his employer on a golf course. Hawking has become a career for him. When asked how profitable it is, he points to a 1982 Honda and explains that it's paid in full. He sells between 12,000 and 15,000 balls a month.

Still, hawking is a dirty business

Cuts from broken glass and other garbage in the ponds pose everyday hazards. "I had a fish hook in my hand a couple of weeks ago. I had to go to the hospital to get it out," he said.
