UPPER CLASS MIXER HELD TONIGHT, 7:30

Dancing, Games Highlights Of Junior-Senior Party In Men's Gym

Tonight is the night all good juniors and seniors mix together for one grand party in the Men's gym. (beat it, you lower classmen)

According to John Holtorf, senior prexy, activity will get under way at 7:30 with an inter-class water polo game. (No, not in the gym.)

Class members will gather on each side of the pool to cheer on the poloists, with Jim Fahn slated to lead the senior rooters.

Dancing will follow in the gym immediately after the game and will continue until 10 o'clock. Johnnie Diehl and a group of college musicians will furnish music.

Admission is ten cents to defray expenses, according to Holtorf, who urges a large turnout of both classes as the success of tonight's party will determine the continuance of other inter-class activities.

Oh yes! Seniors strut in the front doors, while the juniors have to get into the gym any other way but the front, preferably through the exits.

Service Group Assists In '38 Seal Campaign

Starting their annual fight against tuberculosis, the Spartan Spears, sophomore service organization, will soon be in the midst of folding, enveloping, and mailing 15,000 letters to those that contribute yearly to this worthy cause.

Miss Twombly, adviser of the group, has received shipment of 15,000 envelopes and 1,500,000 stamps. The Spears will take their spare time to enclose in some letters 100 stamps while other letters will contain from two to five hundred stamps.

The stamp design has been changed this year and depicts home life and children, while the corner stamps of the sheets are dedicated to Koch, Trudeau, Laennec, and Holbott—all famous for their work against the dreaded disease.

The list to whom the letters are sent is compiled by the Tuberculosis Association of California. The typing class from the San Jose high school will type the addresses on the 15,000 envelopes to be used.

PIPE CLEANERS USED IN EXHIBIT

"The Individual and His Relationships" is the theme of the display in the Home Economics showcase which will be on exhibit until Thursday of this week.

Model houses and people made out of pipe cleaners illustrate the idea and carry the theme through the six patterns of life.

Dr. Margaret Jones' Methods class under the supervision of Evelyn Pausman is sponsoring the exhibit.

Choir Recital Today At Eleven

Marking the first appearance of the A Cappella Choir since the retirement of Mr. William Erlendson, former director, the well-known musical organization will take part in the first of a series of student recitals to be held in the Morris Dailey auditorium at 11 o'clock.

TWO MORE PROGRAMS
Dates for the remaining series have been set for November 15 and 29 with Miss Maurine Thompson and Mr. Maurice Faulkner in charge. Miss Margaret Thomas will be in charge of the recital to be presented today.

The A Capella Choir will sing "All Breathing Live, Sing and Praise Ye the Lord" by J. S. Bach; "Glory Be to God", by Rachmaninof, and "Hodie, Christus Natus Est" by Healy William, with John Andrews as accompanist.

BEETHOVEN
Other numbers on the program will include the "String Quartet, Op. 18 No. 4 in D Minor" by Beethoven, played by Paul Lanini, John Kline, and Jean Crouch, followed by "Tomorrow" by Nevin, played by Ted Misenheimer.

"Go Lovely Rose" by Malotte and "Isobel" by Frank Bridge will be played by Kenneth Olson, and the "Concerto for Violin in D Minor" by Wieniawski will be presented by Kurt Berndt.

All students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Ex-Sparta Editor Heads New Paper

Ray Minners, '38 graduate of San Jose State, and former editor of the Spartan Daily, now co-owner and editor of the Union Democrat of Sonora, has recently taken over the Jamestown Enterprise, a mother-lode paper, and combined it with the Democrat, making it the largest newspaper in the five mother-lode counties.

As Faculty Would Vote

By HARRY GRAHAM and CULVER WOLD

A survey of the last-minute theories of members of the Social Science department on five of the proposed constitutional amendments resulted in the following observations:

Revenue Bond Act To Go Under With Smash

"Proposition 13, the revenue bond act, will go under with a smash," declared Owen Broyles, Social Science instructor.

"There is no need for it that vanished 20 years ago; there is already too much of a tax load on Californians; these things coupled with the lack of organized sponsors are sure to spell defeat for the bill," he said.

"Besides, the services municipal utilities offer at the present time is entirely sufficient."

CO-EDS WILL EAT NOTHING FOR ONE DAY

SYMPATHY WITH CHINA IS MOTIVE; FORUM TODAY NOON

At least one co-ed, name as yet unrevealed, will fast Thursday in sympathy with the endless starvation in China, and also in anticipation of what might happen in this country within a few years, according to Miss Alice Douglas, Peace committee publicity director.

MAY BE MORE
There will be more who will abstain from food Thursday but their names could not be ascertained.

The venture, explains this reticent person, is to be primarily a personal experience—to see what reaction there will be—how it feels to go without food for a day.

In the meantime the series of Armistice Day programs will proceed. Today's Open Forum meeting, in Room 27 at 12:20, will introduce Joseph Conard as the main speaker.

SETTLES TO TALK
Mr. Claude N. Settles, Social Science instructor, will give appropriate readings to Peace Committee members in the Little Theater tomorrow noon.

SPINSTERS SCRIMMAGE THURSDAY

The Spinsters' Scrimmage, sponsored by A.W.S., will be given in the Women's gym Thursday night. There will be a charge of twenty-five cents a couple.

The evening's activities will include games from 7:30 to 9, and dancing to the music of Roland Band and his orchestra from 9 to 12.

Featured among the Scrimmage specialties will be a booth provided for student predictions of the Redlands-State football game score the following day.

COUNCIL MEET POSTPONED DUE TO "MIXER" PARTY

State Theater Scene Of Grid 'Varsity Show'

Spartan Program Includes Film, 'Pigskin Parade'

Inaugurating an annual "Varsity Football Show", the San Jose State college grid squad will present its initial performance at the downtown State Theater, Wednesday evening, November 16.

Written, directed, and produced by members of the undefeated Spartan machine, the show will include numbers which reach all the way from Japan to Broadway, via the Hawaiian Islands and Washington Square.

TWO WATCHES
Two 17 jewel wrist watches donated by Paul Hudson will be given away as door prizes. The value of each watch is $35.

Besides the stage show which includes a short rally with the yell leaders and band giving forth, the program includes the film "Pigskin Parade", another short screen topic on "How to Play Football", as well as a newsreel which shows most of the important plays in prominent games all over the nation.

JUDO, HULA
Bob Boucke, varsity griddier and crooner (not in the show however) is in charge of the program while Gene Rocchi is handling publicity and Al Aiton is in charge of ticket sales.

One of the acts will be a demonstration of Japanese Judo wrestling by Mel Bruno and Fortune Masdeo, varsity wrestlers who toured Japan last summer.

Leaving Japan and starting homeward, the program stops off in a Hawaiian setting long enough to see and hear the Spartan contingent of Islanders plunk native instruments, sing songs of the islands, and of course, put on a demonstration of their native hula.

OPEN DISCUSSION FOR STUDENTS' OBJECTIONS

...Due to conflict with the junior-senior mixer, the open meeting of the student council has been postponed until tomorrow evening at 7:30, according to Jack Hilton, student body president.

"When it was discovered that both the junior-senior mixer and the all-college meeting of the council had been scheduled would be among those who have grievances to air at our "gripe session", the council decided that for the convenience of this group it would be advisable to postpone the meeting until tomorrow," said Hilton last night.

The meeting, according to council members, will be held on the stage of the Little Theater, with the entire seating capacity of the auditorium opened to all members of the student body from where they can air their individual objections which heretofore have been taken individually to various members of the council.

According to council heads, this number of dissenters reached a new high recently when the difficulty over the Student Union rules claimed campus-wide attention.

This innovation on the part of the student governing body has already received the acclaim of various campus figures in whose opinion this move, which is expected to be a regular feature hereafter, will go a long way in smoothing of college affairs.

Juniors Vote On Insignia Design Of Watch Charms

Since watch charms as a class emblem have been definitely decided upon, the juniors will endeavor to choose the design of the insignia at their meeting in Room 24 at 11 today.

President Charlie Anderson and his committee have been working diligently the last two weeks in securing samples from jewelers and having original designs made up by class art majors.

According to Anderson, the choice made today will be definite and he urges all members of the class to attend the meeting.

In addition to the charm, the Junior-Senior Mixer, to be held this evening, will also be discussed.

CASSELL CHOSEN AS CAMPUS LEAD

Clarence Cassell, drama major and male star in the recent play, "Elizabeth the Queen", has been chosen by Patricia Ironside as the leading man of the campus for this week to wear the cords donated by Leon Jacobs, local clothing firm.

Each week a different campus male student is chosen as the campus' best man and is given a pair of cords.

Ham, Eggs Bill Won't Carry, Says Poytress

"The 'Ham and Eggs' bill will be defeated," Dr. William Poytress, Social Science head, declared yesterday.

"The plan should gross a million votes, however, giving it a wider margin than that predicted by the Gallup poll," he asserted.

"The problem of illegal itinerant voting figures largely in this election and it is doubtful whether all of it can be eliminated."

Proposition 1 Attempt To Destroy Unionism

"The anti-picketing proposition is definitely an attempt to destroy labor unionism," asserted Victor Hunt, instructor in the department.

"An organized minority such as labor unions present could easily defeat the bill were it not for the immense amounts of money being spent by the sponsors of the proposition," he said.

Medical Research Will Be Badly Handicapped

"The anti-visivsection bill would seriously handicap medical research," stated Professor P. Victor Peterson, head of the Natural Science department.

"This bill, proposition two, will not stop animal vivivsection but will definitely curtail it," he explained.

"Why should research laboratories be required to raise dogs when the alleys are full of them?" he demanded.

Single Tax Headed For Defeat, Says Settles

"The 'single tax' bill will not carry," said Professor Claude E.

To Air Your "Gripes" . . .

For some time now it has been the habit of certain habitual dissenters and others more conscientiously inclined to contact the Student Council with various "gripes" and grievances in regard to the method in which student affairs are conducted.

For the benefit of these and any others who have been keeping their objections to themselves the Student Council has scheduled an "open session", which is to be held in the Little Theater Wednesday evening at 7:30, at which time every member of the student body is invited to take an active part in an all-college discussion.

The Council is to be complimented in every way for making this "airing" a possibility. The rest is up to the student body to take advantage of the opportunity.

President Jack Hilton urges as many students as possibly can to attend the meeting.

"And if," he states, "this meeting is any kind of a success it is quite likely that these open meetings may become a regular feature of our student government."

A plan which, if carried out, would be a worthy addition to the San Jose State college governmental procedure.

(CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN)

Today being election day I am making an appeal through this column for San Jose State college students to lend their support for the election of Eugene B. Grattan for District Attorney of Santa Clara county.

This appeal isn't made merely because Mr. Grattan happens to be coach of our westling team of which I am a member but because this man is fully qualified for this important office and his election will mean a better deal for all citizens of the valley. State college students know Grattan as a friend and supporter of young men and women and for this reason also he merits our support.

So I urge that we students—whether we are eligible to vote or not—do our part in helping Mr. Grattan win this important office. I am certain that the faculty and students of the college share with me these beliefs.

AGAINST FRATERNITIES

Spartan Daily Editor:

I am a freshman here at State and have found much about the school with which I am pleased, but some of our infantile fraternity initiations are too much for me. I have heard the tales told of stupid doings of "green" freshmen, but the things inflicted upon fraternity pledges by low-browed upper classmen is more stupid than anything a freshman ever thought of doing.

My quarrel is not only with those men (?) inflicting the absurdities, but also with those who stoop to obey. A man must want to get into the "social whirl" of fraternity life awfully bad to lower himself literally and figuratively by crawling around a tree on his hands and knees and barking like a dog. (It was a poor imitation at that.) The act was not only unnecessary; it was vulgar in its manner of execution.

My suggestion is for the fraternity brothers to initiate their pledges privately, and if said pledges must have attention, let them start a burlesque show and charge admission. That would at least prevent the rest of us from being required to suffer the innominy of having the reputation of a fine school besmirched by the activities of a vulgar few!

The Dance

By LEILA GULMERT

As a product of America, the Ballet Caravan with American dancers, themes, and music met with the approval of the Saturday evening Civic Auditorium audience.

Mr. Kirstein's philosophy of the dance for entertainment and spectacle was well in evidence in costuming, themes, and movements.

All types of dancing from the "Big Apple" in the "Filling Station" to the Mexican "Tapatio" and the modern dance leg thrust in "Billy the Kid" were incorporated to express more vividly the ballet themes. It was strange to see such a mixture but Mr. Kirstein believes that all that is good in every dance form should be used to embellish the one and only type of theatrical dance—the ballet. Then again when dancing was insufficient pantomime was used—and in sizable portions.

THE WARM-UP

"Air and Variations", an example of the classic Ballet with the fundamental "five positions", twists in the air, turns, starred Gisella Caccialanza of Italian heritage and an outstanding ballerina of the troupe. The costumes which cause comment Mr. Kirstein defended as giving the idea of formal dress with freedom for movement and definitely not of the Bach period. The set as well as the design on the costumes were to give the impression of marble statuary. The number was different in what would be expected of a Bach theme but was well done.

"Filling Station" used much pantomime and modern dance technique and seemed to indicate as in "Bill the Kid" that the ballet alone was inadequate to express modern themes with stylized and conventional technique. Lew Christensen enthralled the audience with his grace and skillful movement and the pantomime of the dancers greatly amused the audience especially when the meek and worried tourist, his domineering family, and the tipsy boy and girl appeared on the scene and turned the station into a ballroom for a "truck on down".

THE "KID" COMES BACK

Finally "Billy the Kid" was presented in which Eugene Loring as Billy and Marie Jeanne as his Mexican sweetheart were outstanding. The costuming was clever and the pantomime bowlegged horseback movement across stage was as amusing as the dance hall girls' swagger to the audience.

When Billy the Kid called out "Quien Es?" in the last scene of the ballet, the audience was startled and puzzled, being taken by surprise. Finally the curtain closed on the pioneers, ever coming and going, finding new lands and living other sagas of early American life of which Bill the Kid was a part.

Thus the Ballet Caravan came as pioneers in a new movement—the American Ballet—and left the impression that it has much talent and potential possibilities which should develop in depth of idea

Four million California voters will cast their ballots today for their favorite candidates, who are campaigning for the three major political positions—the senatorship, the governorship, and the lieutenant-governorship. The main issue of the campaign sees to be the California Pension Plan, supported by the Democratic nominees.

But no matter who of these are elected, California will survive. There will be no chaos if any certain candidate is elected or defeated. Whether the voters of this state approve of a liberal or conservative government in this state will little affect their future well-being.

MILLION LURED

The real danger lies in the possible passage of that half-baked proposal which sprang from the befuddled minds of certain economic idiots, known collectively as the Ham and Eggs Brigade. Over a million voters have been lured into the belief that the "previously unworkable but now workable" scrip scheme on which Thirty Thursday is based, will afford them security in their old age.

GOODBYE S.J.S.

This writer hopes that are still enough sane people this state to offset the Ham and Egg vote. Otherwise might as well forget San Jose college, because it will here next year, along with of other state institutions.

Every economic thinker of state, whether he be "reactionary" or communist, have openly the adoption of this pension. They know that it will hurt the state and every county municipality in the state. The writer agrees with their urges: VOTE NO ON PENSION 25.

Spartans Prepare For Redlands Game

Nation's High Scorers To Battle Southern 11 Friday, Armistice Day

Back for a home game after two week-end trips into southern California, San Jose State's undefeated Spartans yesterday began preparations for their Armistice Day game Friday with Redlands University.

WIDE OPEN STYLE

Casting all thoughts of their eight-game winning streak, and the nation's top point total behind them, the DeGrootmen went right to work. Topic of the week for the San Jose squad will be the perfecting of a defense for the Redlands razzle-dazzle style of play. Coach Cecil Cushman of the Bulldogs, is an advocate of the wide open style of play, featuring laterals and flankers. Whether or not this will confuse the Spartans remains to be seen. The San Jose team beat College of Pacific, a squad versed in this style of play, by a 19-6 score two weeks ago.

SEVERAL STILL INJURED

Members of the Spartan injury squad hobbled back for practice last night, but did not enter the scrimmage session. Art Carpenter, veteran tackle, was in suit but limited his activities to jogging, as did Morris Manoogian, right half-back, who is favoring a hip pointer. However, one of the 'cripples', left at home Saturday when the Staters invaded Santa Barbara, was in uniform and raring to go. Doan Carmody, junior tackle, was making it tough on the offense during scrimmage drill.

Not too impressive in early season games, the Bulldogs have improved in their more recent contests. Last year Redlands lost a 12-0 battle to the Spartans.

Medico Withholds Okey On Injured Spartan Gridmen

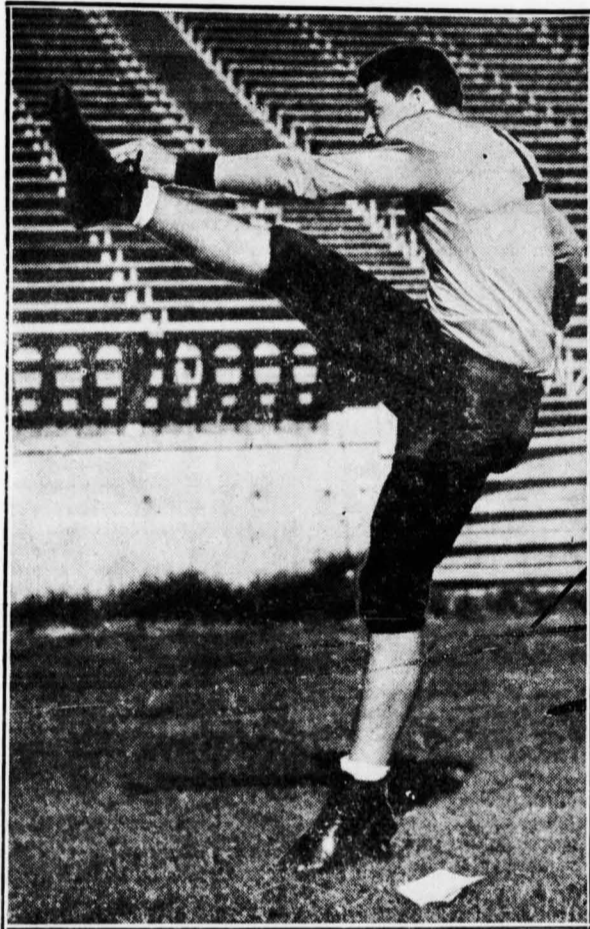

When San Jose's trio of seriously injured grid stars, Captain Walt McPherson, Bob Berry, and Romeo Simoni, will again be ready for action still remains a puzzling question-mark. However, Team Medico J. W. Slattery expects to withhold his okey on the Spartan 'cripples' physical conditions for another week or two.

Bob Berry, brilliant senior end, who received an injured back in the College of Pacific game, and his understudy, Romeo Simoni, injured in the San Diego game, were both able to attend classes late last week.

Captain McPherson's back injury, sustained at San Diego and later reinjured in an automobile accident last week, is improved but may be on the sidelines until the Thanksgiving Day game with North Arizona State.

Art Carpenter, senior tackle suffering from water on the knee, is expected to be in shape for this week's clash with Redlands, but may be withheld for another week if the joint has not thoroughly healed.

Spartan Captain Out Of Lineup. Another Week

Walt McPherson, above, captain and fullback of the undefeated San Jose Spartan grid machine is expected to be withheld from this week's Armistice Day game with the Redlands Bulldogs. The triple-threat backman is still nursing a bruised back sustained in the San Diego game over a week ago. McPherson is expected to be back in harness in time for the Thanksgiving game.

FOUR WATERPOLO MEN PUT ON INJURED LIST

Undefeated Freshman 'Seals' Expect To Capture Title; Five Games Scheduled

After spending the week-end in recuperating from the Stanford games last week, Coach Charlie Walker's frosh and varsity water-poloists are working now for the Athen's club game Wednesday night, and the frosh game with the South End A.C. on Friday night. The varsity squad has been pretty well butchered up, as Frank Savage is still on the shelf with a boil injury; Captain Martin Wempe sliced his hand on a lathe; and Dick Savage turned his ankle while surf board riding over the week-end.

Billy Latka To Face Miles Here Tonight

Billy "The Kid" Latka swings into action tonight at the Civic auditorium when he meets Elmer Miles, undefeated welterweight from Oakland. Miles is a tough customer and hits with terrific power. Both boys are slated to go four rounds.

Latka, last week in his first start in four months, knocked out Tel de Nero of Sacramento in the fourth canto after a bristling encounter at Dreamland auditorium in San Francisco.

Wempe will be out for at least two weeks, but Coach Walker is expecting to use both of the other injured players. In addition to these, Jack Windsor is in the Health Cottage at present.

The frosh team is in good health in comparison to their varsity brothers, and are now planning an undefeated season. Their biggest hurdle, Stanford frosh, were successfully turned back, so now the Hood-Hatch captained team seem destined for a highly successful season. To date they have won nine games, with five more on the schedule, they stand a good chance of hanging up such a record.

STOOGES, MIDGETS IN CRUCIAL GAME TODAY

Now that the Stooges and Flits have definitely established themselves as the teams to beat in the intramural basketball tournament, today's battle between the Stooges and Midgets will be a deciding factor in what the outcome of future play will be.

With the Midgets still in the running and seriously fighting for recognition, the tournament has become a three way fight for the title. The Stooges and Flits have become slight favorites by their one-sided victories of last Thursday.

The Midgets have become serious contenders because of the experience of men on the team. Kotta, who plays forward on Bill Hubbard's championship team, and Carruth, up from the frosh, are the main reasons that the Midgets are favored to win today's game from the Stooges.

Boasting of a well balanced team and one that averages an even six feet in height, the Stooges refuse to concede a thing to their opponents. Therefore, the game today finds experience versus unity. The Flits play their second game when they meet the Scrubs.

Today's schedule is as follows: At 11:00 the Midgets vs. Stooges, Flits vs. Scrubs; at 11:45 the

Anxious Student SEEKS DAY OFF To Get 'Hitched'

"May I have a day off from class tomorrow, Mr. Spaulding?" inquired Charles Bever, student in Industrial Arts activity lab.

"What do you want with a day off?" queried Mr. Benjamin W. Spaulding, Industrial Arts instructor. "Tomorrow is not a holiday as far as I know. And I don't believe that fishing season is opening."

"I'm going to be married tomorrow," answered the prospective bridegroom, with a hopeful look in his eye. "That is, I'm going to be married if I can get out of class. In fact I would like to have two or three days off."

"You don't need two or three days off to get married," commented the genial Industrial Arts instructor. "It only takes twenty-five minutes to tie the knot. However, if you must get married, I suppose you can take the day off."

"Gee! Thanks, Mr. Spaulding," muttered Bever, as he wiped his perspiring brow.
