3 groups get funds despite earlier denial

By Kevin Mendoza

Daily staff writer

Despite being denied funds by the Special Allocations committee, three campus groups were awarded $1,615.30 at Wednesday's Associated Students Board of Directors meeting.

The board allocated the funds to Tau Delta Phi, SJSU Campus Democrats and the Gay and Lesbian Alliance.

At Monday's Special Allocations meeting, all three groups received a zero allocation from the committee. Special Allocations procedures entitle an unsatisfied group to appeal the committee's decision before the board.

Tau Delta Phi, a scholastic honor fraternity, received the most money of the three groups.

Tau Delta Phi is the oldest fraternity on campus, according to Greg Darmohray, president of Tau Delta Phi.

The fraternity has existed since 1916 and is not a member of the Inter-Fraternity Council, Darmohray said. Between 50 and 60 members belong to the fraternity, he said.

Tau Delta Phi was allocated $867 to conduct an international debt crisis forum Nov. 8.

Fred Krumbein, who heads the fraternity's forum committee, said the crisis is a situation in which countries owe money to the international banking system. There is speculation that the system will collapse if the situation isn't remedied, Krumbein said.

Tau Delta Phi originally requested $1,042, but the board settled on the $867 amount.

Sharon Olivier, A.S. controller and Special Allocations chairwoman, said the fraternity's request for $351 to be used for Spartan Daily advertising was "outrageously large."

Tim Kincaid, A.S. director of business affairs and Special Allocations committee member, said other groups have purchased adequate advertising with less money.

The fraternity also included an expense of $150 for hospitality.

Krumbein said the fraternity plans on taking the forum participants to lunch the day of the event. Participants include the consul general of the Korean government and Robert Heller, senior vice president and director of International Economic Research for Bank of America, Krumbein said.

"We just don't want to take them down to the cafeteria for a burger," Krumbein said. "Not that it is a reflection on the cafeteria's burgers."

But Olivier said the $150 hospitality expense was high. She said there is nothing wrong with taking the panel guests to the cafeteria. The expense should be lowered or the fraternity should provide hospitality for the students attending the forum, she said.

Jeff Coughlan, A.S. director of student services, said, "I think they should go down and eat hamburgers like the rest of us."

After the meeting, Darmohray said, "We feel with the high caliber of people that we've lined up that we have to take them out to lunch."

Despite Olivier's concern over the amounts to be spent on advertising and hospi-talities, the board issued a straight allocation with no stipulations that the expenses be lowered in those areas.

Several board members supported the international debt crisis forum.

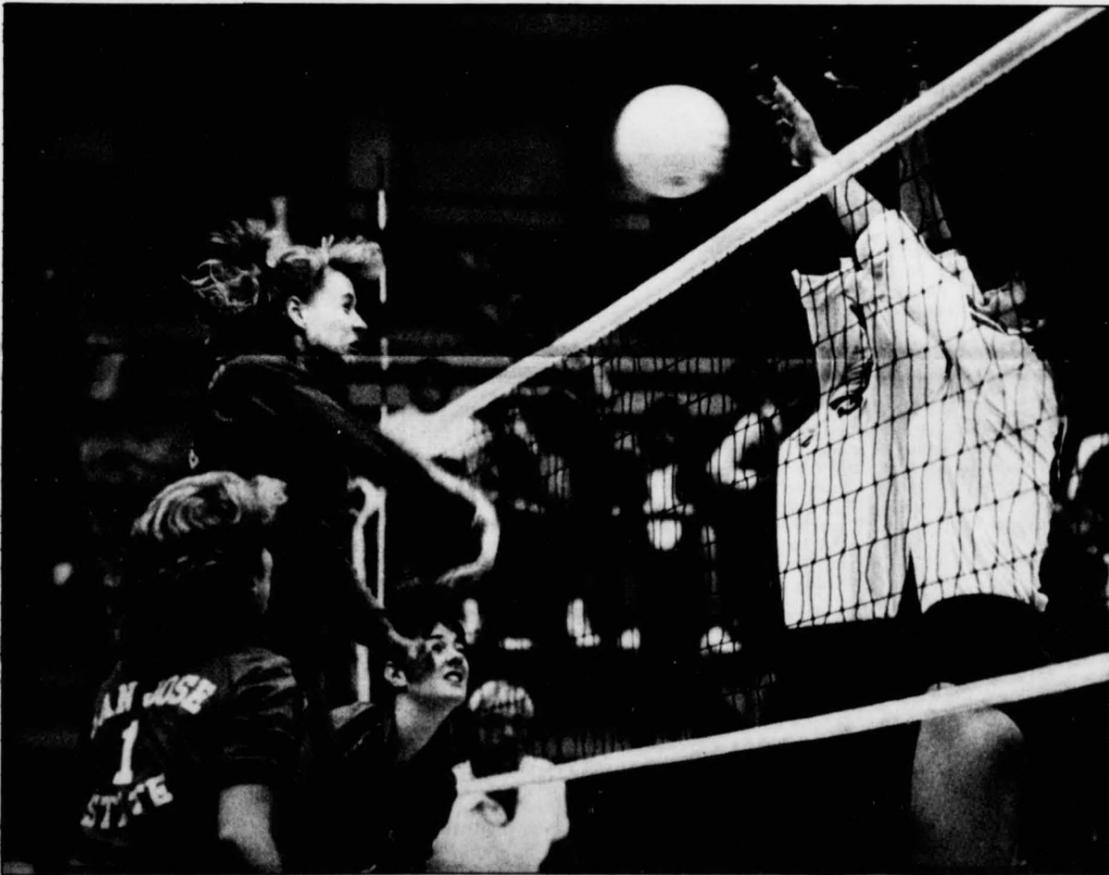

"This is an educational forum that all students can benefit from," said John Stipicevich, A.S. director of non-traditional minority affairs. "We as a board have a responsibility to be educational, and we would be sponsoring a quality event."

Diana Garcia, A.S. director of student rights and responsibilities, said the forum would benefit students.

Although the amount allocated was less than the original request, Darmohray said the fraternity will probably be able to sponsor

G.E. program to be reviewed

Academic Senate undertakes task

By Mike Di Marco

Daily staff writer

Critiques of SJSU's general education program will be reviewed by the Academic Senate Oct. 29 to evaluate its impact on students and whether it meets California State University standards.

How the Senate interprets the

— Ruth Yaffee, chairwoman of the Senate's Curriculum Committee

CSU requirement will determine its impact on students. Ruth Yaffee, chairwoman of the Senate's Curriculum Committee, which first developed the current SJSU requirements, said one of the primary concerns of the committee is to interpret CSU general education requirements and their application to SJSU students.

"The CSU mandates that a student demonstrate competency in certain areas," Yaffee said. "The question is how competency is to be measured." She said the Curriculum Committee has been trying to determine if competency refers to completing G.E. courses or taking exams.

"I think most students would prefer taking general education courses rather than exit exams," Yaffee said.

Students are currently required to complete 48 units of general education — 39 lower division and nine upper division.

In addition to the Curriculum Committee study, the Senate's Board of General Studies has also conducted its own review of general education requirements. Among BOG's observations is that CSU requirements are too complex to readily apply to SJSU students.

"Part of the board's responsibility is to evaluate general education in parallel to the Senate's review," said Leon Dorosz, interim associate academic vice president of Undergraduate Studies and chairman of BOG. Dorosz said the Curriculum Committee asked for BOG's observations.

Yaffee said the review began last year with questionnaires sent to SJSU faculty, local high school and community college advisers and counselors. SJSU students were also surveyed.

The survey, conducted last spring as a class project of Jerome Reed, associate prof of marketing and quantitative studies, interviewed 331 students and 40 high school and community college counselors.

The student survey asked for an evaluation of SJSU's general education classes as "very favorable," "favorable," "unfavorable," "very unfavorable," or "no opinion." Of these categories 19 students judged the program as very favorable, 145 favorable, 77 unfavorable, 44 very unfavorable, and 46 had no opinion.

Of the 40 counselors surveyed, 9 judged it as very favorable, 24 favorable, 5 unfavorable, and 2 had no opinion. No counselors viewed the program as very unfavorable.

The review meeting will be held in the Student Union Almaden Room, beginning at 1 p.m.

riculum Committee is to periodically review general education," Yaffee said. "The Oct. 29 meeting will be a chance to find out faculty concerns and to address these concerns."

"The meeting is just another step in a long sequence," Yaffee said. "It will be a chance for the Senate to give us its input before going on to the president for her approval."

"I guess the bottom line is to provide the best possible general education program for students."

Correction

In yesterday's Spartan Daily, the story on Special Allocations erroneously stated that the American Society of Civil Engineers was allocated $600 to conduct a concrete canoe race.

The Associated Students Special Allocations committee allocated money to ASCE for a dance to be held the night before the group's annual canoe race. Participation in the race will be limited to people affiliated with civil engineering departments of Northern California universities. However, all SJSU students will be able to attend the dance and watch the race.

The breakdown of the allocation is:

- ✓ $200 Dance (D.J.)
- ✓ 150 Dance (hospitality)
- ✓ 100 Media (on campus)
- ✓ 38 Posters
- ✓ 60 Brochures
- ✓ 52 Contingency

SJSU President Gail Fullerton officially opened the environmentally designed $3.2 million Spartan Village apartments with a ribbon cutting ceremony Wednesday, although not all of the apartments were open because of a delay in furniture deliveries.

About 50 persons attended the ceremony in which she also praised the design of the apartments. Housing Director Willie Brown gave a tour and thanked some employees for their assistance in coordinating the apartments. The ceremony was held at the complex's community center.

Before the ceremony, Fullerton thanked U.S. reps. Don Edwards and Norman Mineta,

Student banking made easy; automated teller in operation

By Wendy Stitt

Daily staff writer

Bank of the West's automated teller opened for service Wednesday, the first of four automated tellers to be in operation at SJSU.

The tellers are located east of the Student Union on Ninth Street.

San Francisco Federal Savings is expected to begin operation in early November, said Patrick Wiley, S.U. associate director, adding that he had no idea when Bank of America and Imperial Savings were going to open.

Wiley cited scheduling conflicts between the banks and the telephone companies as the main reason it has taken so long for the tellers to begin operation. Pacific Bell and AT&T are the two major companies installing the tellers' computers.

In September of 1983, more than 100 financial institutions in Santa Clara County received invitations to install tellers at SJSU from S.U. Director Ron Barrett. Approximately nine banks and saving and loan corporations responded.

Wiley said they received responses from Wells Fargo, Eureka Federal Savings and Loan and Mercury Savings, but they did not show enough interest at an informational meeting held last October.

Bank of the West, Bank of America, San Francisco Federal Savings and Imperial Savings were the four banks, out of eight, that attended a meeting in June to decide whether or not those banks would install automated tellers.

Although Wiley said he had not planned on having two savings and loan institutions install tellers, he was nonetheless pleased.

The cost for the installation of the tellers was about $100,000; each vendor paid 25 percent of that cost, said Wiley.

As of Wednesday, Bank of the West is paying the Student Union $275 per month for maintenance and utilities costs. The tellers will not cost the university because they are a public service to students, he said.

To encourage students to use the tellers, Bank of the West promised to donate 25 cents per transaction, with a guaranteed amount of $1000, to the Kevin Collins Foundation for missing children, during the first month of operation, said Mike Neiman, Bank of the West's marketing and public relations person.

Collins, the boy who was abducted in San Francisco last year, is still missing despite searches to locate him.

The bank does not expect to make money from the tellers, Neiman said.

Bank of the West has worked the hardest in promotional activities, Wiley said.

He said the main purpose of installing automated tellers was to serve students by making transactions more convenient.

Russ Lunsford, administrative services officer for the university police, said he does not expect any security problems.

"We purposely put them (tellers) in an area that is safe," he said.

But because there is heavy student traffic in this area, community service officers will still be patrolling it regularly, he said.

The facility now housing the automated tellers previously was a rat laboratory used by the Psychology Department.

Construction of the facility began June 16, 1984.

Reagan's foreign policy is foreign

An unnamed young Republican says this country is standing tall around the world. We are all proud Americans again. Other countries around the world look up to us now. Patriotism is at an all time high with Ronald Reagan as our fearless leader. Interest rates are down and employment levels are high. Hurray. Let us all vote for America Nov. 6 by voting for the incumbent president.

As the national anthem fades, the young Republican is in a state of euphoria and is free to ignore injustices imposed by the current leadership of this nation.

If standing tall can be equated to being feared by much of the world then it seems we are taller. The Reagan administration has taken its lion taming chair and stood on it for added height while holding the whip to use as a threat.

Since Reagan has taken office, his foreign policy has been to the detriment of the U.S. standing as leader in the fight for human rights.

At the end of 1980, this country could truly stand proud among other countries of the world. The Carter administration was a leading supporter of raising the human condition in foreign countries. Nonetheless, it was accused of trying to force its morality down the throats of other nations because it had the notion that human rights should be tied to economic aid. Countries that didn't want to comply with human rights standards were denied aid.

Human rights should be the focus of the foreign policy of this country and at times there are reasons for disregarding the call for democracy. One good example would be the status of Nicaragua.

Before becoming U.N. ambassador, Jean Kirkpatrick complained that in nearly two decades, Carter's administration was the first to lose a country in the western hemisphere to communism. She was referring to Nicaragua and the overthrow of Anastasio Somoza in 1979, by Sandinista guerrillas.

Now, how can the United States lose something it never had? Nicaragua is a sovereign nation, not a U.S. subdivision. Certainly, it can be argued that Nicaragua under Somoza was a puppet government of the U.S. and that we did lose his standing vote for all U.S. policies in the U.N. But the people of Nicaragua were not being served by the Somoza family and in order to justify the government's existence, Somoza had to go. Government exists to serve the people.

President Reagan, since taking office, has done all he can to topple the Sandinista government in Nicaragua.

The Sandinistas enjoy wide support from the citizens of Nicaragua, because they have begun to be served by their government. But Reagan continues to call for covert aid to CIA backed guerrillas fighting the Sandinistas along the Honduran border.

This policy is hypocritical. The CIA backed guerrillas have been named the Contra Freedom Fighters. What these guerrillas actually should be named are State Funded Terrorists. How can Reagan state that he is adamantly opposed to terrorism, then turn around and sponsor such activity?

Nicaraguans fear the Reagan administration. Jokes have circulated about when the United States will declare war on the Sandinistas. Just last week, Nicaraguan leader Daniel Ortega, predicted in front of the U.N. Assembly that the United States would invade Nicaragua before January.

His prediction may not be correct but his fears are evident. Reagan has conducted foreign policy deplorably in several other areas. Canadian officials worry about their environment and have called for U.S. regulations over industries that emit pollutants causing acid rain. Reagan has opposed regulations because further study is needed, but every corner where research is conducted, Reagan has cut funding.

If there was ever a leader of another country that deserved to be abandoned it certainly would be Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines. President Reagan has continued to support this corrupt government.

What about Lebanon, El Salvador, NATO deployment of Cruise and Pershing II missiles, the trade deficit and the dubious victory in Grenada?

All these foreign policy mistakes have made the United States appear as a military hothead and a bully around the world.

Come November voters should remember that the president of the United States has the primary responsibility for conducting this country's foreign policy. President Reagan's showing in the foreign policy area is poor and should not be continued for four more years. Let us truly stand tall around the world again.

PEOPLE WANT TO BELIEVE

Learning a lesson on school spirit in another class

The subject of school spirit on the campus of SJSU has been discussed a number of times this semester in the Spartan Daily, most recently in an article by Sports Editor Joe Roderick, but the lack of spirit still remains an issue.

When the Spartan football team traveled to Berkeley to take on the Cal Bears, I decided to buy two tickets, one for myself and one for my dad, and take in four good quarters of football.

When I got to Cal's Memorial Coliseum, I remembered that the visiting student section was in the end zone.

Marty Picone

I quickly prompted my dad to follow me into the alumni section and sit comfortably, in the shade on the 50 yard line.

In my attempts to sneak over into the next section of seats, I was quickly turned back by the ushers and was forced to return to my seat in the visiting student section.

I turned to my dad and said, "Dad, I don't really want to sit in the end zone all game and watch the backs of the players." So I quickly looked around to see if there was another way to get to a better vantage point in the stadium.

Then I spied the Cal student section, and how easy it was to get past the ushers, and tried to convince my dad into sitting with me in the "raucous" Cal student section, as he put it.

I pointed out to him that we would sit far enough away from the students, and besides, it beats sitting in the end zone any day. He agreed and we quickly found our way up to our seats on the 45 yard line. Not the 50, but good enough.

There for the next 30 minutes I sat with my dad before the game started and took in how differently the student spirit was in comparison to SJSU.

All throughout the section I could hear students actually talking about football. "Man, I can't wait until Cal walks all over San Jose State," I heard many Bear backers claim. I was surprised.

It just wasn't the common jargon from your typical jock supporter, but from all types of students. It sure beat hearing the old rhetoric of "I can't wait till I get plastered after the game."

Then, on top of that, whenever a Cal student walked down into the student section not wearing the colors of blue or gold, the students, all in unison, would start the chant, "take off that shirt." They harrassed them until the student took off the shirt and frantically looked around for the appropriate attire.

Finally, when the Cal marching band marched onto the field and began the fight song, every student stopped what they were doing and began to clap and sing to the song. Can you believe it? They actually knew the words to the song. Everyone of them. Now that's spirit!

My dad and I just sat there in amazement and turned to each other and said in unison, "Now how come SJSU can't have spirit like that?" I proceeded to tell my dad that the majority of students probably don't even know that SJSU has a fight song.

Well, SJSU went on to roll over the Cal Bears and defeat them soundly and put the question of school spirit out of my mind for a few minutes. But after the game I couldn't keep from telling my dad over and over how great the school spirit was and how rich the tradition was at Cal.

I continued in my ranting and raving over Cal, but my dad, who didn't see the student section as exciting as I did, only kept repeating, "I'll never sit in another student section again."

But I could only keep thinking how great it would be if SJSU could develop that much school pride and get all pumped up for our "blue and gold."

It's been a down year for Ragin' Cajuns

By Dan Fitch

The Ragin' Cajuns of Southwestern Louisiana come to San Jose for a 1 p.m. game with the Spartans Saturday, and their coach thinks they may have strayed a little too far from the Bayou country.

"It's a long trip, and sometimes a team loses their concentration on a long trip," Cajun head coach Sam Robertson said in a phone interview yesterday.

The journey west didn't seem to bother the Ragin' Cajuns last year, as they stormed back from a 21-0 halftime deficit to beat SJSU at Spartan Stadium 25-21.

"That was a once in a lifetime game," Robertson said.

It seems SJSU has been on the road for a lifetime. After playing the last five of six games on the road, the Spartans play at home for next three weeks.

But even though the Spartans played the Cajuns at home last year, it didn't help much. The Cajuns, using their option formation, ran through, over and around SJSU for 292 yards.

"Their running attack is going to test our defense," SJSU coach Claude Gilbert said. "They run a power and an option attack. It's difficult to defend the option when you don't see it very much."

But so far this season the option hasn't gotten the Cajuns a lot of points. The Cajuns are 2-4, and have scored more than 16 points only once — in a 31-3 win over Wichita State. Last week their offense could muster up only 217 yards in a 20-7 loss to Memphis State. The Cajuns also dropped a 37-14 decision to Alabama.

But their other two losses have been by a total of three points — 7-6 to Northeast Louisiana, and 9-7 to Tennessee-Chattanooga — giving Robertson cause for optimism.

"We've lost some heartbreakers," he said, "but we haven't played our best game yet."

Junior quarterback Donnie

Schexnider may have played his best game against the Spartans last year, completing 14 of 23 passes for 124 yards, and leading the team in rushing with 86 yards on 13 carries. He was one of three Cajuns who rushed for more than 80 yards on the night. Unfortunately for USL, Schexnider is out for the season after suffering an injury in the Cajuns' wins over Northeast Louisiana.

Senior Don Wallace has taken over at quarterback and leads the squad with two rushing touchdowns while ranking third with a 124 yards on the ground. In the passing department, Wallace has completed 49.3 percent of his passes and averages just under 15 throws per game. Wallace directed USL to its highest output this season, a 312-yard effort in a 31-3 win over Wichita State.

Running back Trinion Smith, a 5-8, 180-pound senior, leads the Cajuns in rushing with 286 yards and a healthy 5.7 average per carry.

The Cajuns win with defense, and they are currently rated fifth in the nation in total defense and first in pass defense. So far in 1984, they have yielded an average of only 248.2 yards per game. The Spartans have given up an average of 333.4 yards per game.

"We're hoping we can throw," Gilbert said. "They are tough to run on, they love to snuff out your running game."

The Cajuns biggest defender is 6-5, 250-pound tackle Charles Bennett, nicknamed "Gator" for his ferocious play on defense. Senior Oliver Ford is small for a defensive end at 5-11, 192, but is very quick and recorded 50 tackles and two sacks last season.

"They line up in a front, tell you they're coming, and then do," Gilbert said. "They also like to blitz a lot."

The linebackers are led by a pair of juniors, 5-11, 222-pounder Steve Spinella, who led the Cajuns in tackles last year with 97, and Chris Jacobs, a 6-0, 227-pounder.

USL finished second in the nation in pass defense in 1983, but lost all four starters in its secondary to graduation. Junior free safety Clarence Glenn is the most experienced returner, recording 19 tackles and breaking up three passes last season.

The Spartans should be healthier Saturday than they have been in awhile.

Linebacker Jim Hollinger is suffering from a viral infection and missed last week's game against Fullerton State and is listed as uncertain this week. Defensive tackle Edwin Bird has missed the last two games with an ankle injury but should play this week.

Cal Poly harrier run a tune-up for SJSU

By Paul Kozakiewicz
 Daily staff writer

The Spartan cross country team will run tomorrow in the five-mile California Poly San Luis Obispo Invitational.

Currently, seven teams are scheduled to compete in the invitational, but several are bringing along "B" squads, bringing the total to over 10.

"The Cal Poly Invitational will be a tune-up for the PCAA championships next week," Spartan coach Marshall Clark said.

Clark said that he would take a full team to the meet, but Dan Gonzalez and Rich Masino, the top Spartan runners, won't run if the course is muddy or the weather turns bad.

A source at Cal Poly said, "We're a little concerned about the rain factor here since it's supposed to rain this weekend. If it rains, the course could turn into a swamp."

However, Cal Poly head cross country coach, Tom Henderson, said that a 5.2-mile rain course laid out over concrete and gravel roads could be used if the normal course is too muddy.

"The key thing is not getting anybody hurt," Clark said, "and I'm concerned that nobody catches the flu. The most important thing is our conference meet next week."

SJSU zips to ninth-straight win

By Eric Rice
Daily staff writer

The Spartans' volleyball squad broke the team record for most consecutive wins Wednesday night at Spartan gym, blasting the University of San Francisco, 15-2, 15-12, 15-7, in a match that lasted only one hour.

The Dons were the Spartans' ninth-straight victim, breaking a record set in 1982 and equalled last season. And in so doing, the Spartans moved up from 12th to 11th in the coaches' poll.

To prepare the Spartans for the San Diego match, assistant coach Dave DeGroot said the team would have a short, but hard practice today and then go watch the Aztecs battle Stanford on The Farm tonight.

"If we can block well we'll take them," DeGroot said.

Braymen feels the team will do well if it can play as smoothly as it did against USF.

"We don't have any problems playing against the ranked teams," Braymen said. "I think we'll be really fired up."

The team will have to pay close attention to Aztec setter Kim Takacs, an All-American last year. Outside hitter Angela Rock could also prove hazardous to the Spartans. Rock is ranked second in the nation in kills, a fact that concerns DeGroot.

"She's like a rock," he joked. "She's really strong. We're going to have to neutralize her."

SJSU to compete in Cal tourney

By Marty Picone
Daily staff writer

The Spartan field hockey team travels to Berkeley today to begin play in the three-day, eighth-annual Cal Invitational Tournament, which will match SJSU against Stanford, Cal and Chico State.

Field Hockey

In last year's tournament, the Spartans finished second at 3-1, losing only to Stanford, 1-0.

This year's Spartan team, which has won the tournament two times, has an overall record of 5-2-1. Cal is the defending champions, but many feel the Spartans are the team to beat.

"We're going into the tournament as the favorite," Spartan coach Carolyn Lewis said, "but that puts pressure on us to perform and come out on top. But I think we'll do alright."

One of the major obstacles Lewis and her Spartans will have to hurdle will be the artificial turf at Cal's Kleeberger Field.

"The quickness of the game is so excellent that we are going to have to rely on good stick-to-stick passing," Lewis said. "We are going to have to be very specific on our passes and concentrate on a controlled offense."

The Spartans first opponent at noon today is Stanford, which brings a 7-4 overall record and 4-2 NorPac mark into the tournament.

The last time SJSU played the Cardinal, Jeannie Gilbert and Yvon Hoogeweegen scored three goals each in a 10-3 Spartan win.

But Lewis still feels that match was closer than the score indicated.

"Stanford is going to be tough because we start off with them in the tournament and they will want to avenge their loss," Lewis said.

Sheryl Johnson, Stanford assistant coach, refuses to say whether the Cardinal will have revenge on their mind. But she says SJSU will "be tough only because their on top right now."

Stanford is led by All-America goalie Bonny Warner, who held the Spartans to only one goal in last year's tournament match.

The Cardinal, who will play only two games in the tournament, also faces the University of Pacific, who recently defeated the Cardinal in a double-overtime match, 1-0.

On Saturday at 10 a.m., the Spartans face Cal, which brings an overall record of 4-4 and a NorPac mark of 2-3 into the tournament.

The last meeting between Cal and SJSU ended in a 4-1 Spartan win.

But this time, the match will be on Cal's turf, where the Bears play extremely well.

"The turf will be a big factor in this game," Lewis said. "Cal always play tough here, especially against us. They're the only team to have beaten Northwestern this year."

The Spartans fell victim to Northwestern in their first game of the season in a 1-0 double-overtime decision.

Coach Donna Fong of Cal says her squad is much weaker than last year's team that won the tournament, and believes its chances of repeating as champions are slim.

"It's a matter of not playing together as a team," Fong said. "We've been making costly mistakes."

"I don't feel we will do that great this year in the tournament, but San Jose, Stanford and UOP will do well."

The Spartans will then go up against Chico State Sunday in a match beginning at noon.

SJSU beat Chico (0-6), the NorPac's last-place team, 2-0, last week.

Although victories in this tournament will not count in the league standings, Lewis believes there are other factors involved.

"This tourney is important to us in the national ranking situation," she said. "I think we're ready to play."

stayed a jump ahead of their competition in the NorPac Athletic Conference at 9-0, while improving their overall record to 14-5.

The Spartans closest challengers in the NorPac are Fresno State (5-1) and the University of Oregon (4-1).

Spartan spiker Linda Fournet was enthusiastic following the win because she said the team showed it could play the sub-par teams with a high level of intensity.

The Dons are just 1-7 in NorPac play, but 12-10 overall.

Spartan outside hitter Julie Braymen also said the team played smoother and more consistently than it did against UC-Berkeley Tuesday.

"We each worked on a certain skill instead of thinking of the other team," said Braymen, who concentrated on her passing.

The Spartans took a lead in the first game and never relinquished it. Early on, with SJSU leading 3-1, Linda Fournet began a devastating serving attack, accounting for seven straight points, including three aces in a row. Overall, Fournet had five aces.

With USF's defense in disarray, the Spartans coasted to an easy victory in the first game.

But in the second game, the Dons matched the Spartans point for point. Finally, with the score 10-10, SJSU took command, led by the setting of Teri DeBusk and blocking of Felicia Schuller.

The Spartans continued to dominate in the third game. Two kills by Fournet and a service ace by Braymen gave the Spartans the early lead.

But a bit of a burst by USF, led by middle blocker Sharon Mellen, closed the score to 4-3. However USF's fire was quickly doused by SJSU, led by Fournet's serving, and Braymen and Schuller's blocking. These factors helped the Spartans rattle off four points for an 8-3 lead.

After a sideout, the Spartans upped their lead to 11-4. Both teams traded a couple of points, but a pair of nasty kills by Braymen and Christa Cook finished off the Dons, 15-7.

SJSU was able to hold down USF's Kathy Schindler to seven kills and two aces. Schindler leads the NorPac in service aces and is second in kills per game.

"This tells San Diego State we're going to be fired up," said Braymen, referring to tomorrow's important 7:30 p.m. match against the sixth-ranked Aztecs in the Spartan Gym.

The Aztecs were ranked ninth in the nation in the last coaches' poll, but moved up with victories over No. 1-ranked USC and UCLA, ranked second in the nation.

Yesterday

Because many students at SJSU attend classes twice or three times a week, the Daily is including news items from yesterday's paper to help keep everyone informed on campus everyday.

Campus

The American Society of Civil Engineers was allocated $600 at the Associated Students Special Allocations meeting Monday to finance a dance prior to its concrete canoe race.

Other campus organizations to receive funding at the final special allocations meeting of the semester were MECHA, Escencia, Frances Guiland Child Development Center and Pi Sigma Alpha.

Theta Chi President Glen Gunter admitted Wednesday that he was involved in the attempted theft of a lion statue from Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

SAE filed a formal complaint against Theta Chi at the Inter-Fraternity Council meeting Monday. The council voted to ask the IFC Judiciary Council to review the case.

Pi Kappa Alpha submitted a request to the Inter-Fraternity Council on Monday asking it to mail a letter of complaint to the Spartan Daily for its cartoon, "Daley."

"Daley" artist, Jim Bricker said he thinks the fraternities are sore losers and can't take a joke. Bricker said Daily editors did not ask him to change the subject of the cartoon.

Poet and feminist leader Adrienne Rich is a distinguished visiting professor at SJSU. She is teaching a poetry writing class and a course entitled "Women Novelists as Historians."

Local

Police found a handwritten note seeking a male or female roommate Wednesday in the apartment of Fernando V. Cota, the prime suspect in the death of six San Jose area women.

Police said they did not know whether the ad had ever appeared in any local newspapers or on campus bulletin boards, such as those at SJSU.

Cota, who committed suicide on Highway 101 Sunday night when California Highway Patrol officers stopped him, also had a 3 by 2 1/2-foot foot cell in his converted Victorian house outfitted with shackles, handcuffs and a peephole so that prisoners could be watched unknowingly.

Sports

The Spartans continued to roll over NorPac Athletic Conference rivals, beating University of California at Berkeley, 15-10, 15-6, 7-15 and 15-7, at Spartan Gym Tuesday.

This extends their winning streak to eight matches, one short of a team victory.

win. Schulner, who recorded five blocks, goes up for one of her five spikes here.

SJSU zips to ninth-straight win

By Eric Rice
Daily staff writer

The Spartans' volleyball squad broke the team record for most consecutive wins Wednesday night at Spartan gym, blasting the University of San Francisco, 15-2, 15-12, 15-7, in a match that lasted only one hour.

The Dons were the Spartans' ninth-straight victim, breaking a record set in 1982 and equalled last season. And in so doing, the Spartans moved up from 12th to 11th in the coaches' poll.

To prepare the Spartans for the San Diego match, assistant coach Dave DeGroot said the team would have a short, but hard practice today and then go watch the Aztecs battle Stanford on The Farm tonight.

"If we can block well we'll take them," DeGroot said.

Braymen feels the team will do well if it can play as smoothly as it did against USF.

"We don't have any problems

playing against the ranked teams," Braymen said. "I think we'll be really fired up."

The team will have to pay close attention to Aztec setter Kim Takacs, an All-American last year. Outside hitter Angela Rock could also prove hazardous to the Spartans. Rock is ranked second in the nation in kills, a fact that concerns DeGroot.

"She's like a rock," he joked. "She's really strong. We're going to have to neutralize her."

Volleyball

stayed a jump ahead of their competition in the NorPac Athletic Conference at 9-0, while improving their overall record to 14-5.

The Spartans closest challengers in the NorPac are Fresno State (5-1) and the University of Oregon (4-1).

Spartan spiker Linda Fournet was enthusiastic following the win because she said the team showed it could play the sub-par teams with a high level of intensity.

The Dons are just 1-7 in NorPac play, but 12-10 overall.

Spartan outside hitter Julie Braymen also said the team played smoother and more consistently than it did against UC-Berkeley Tuesday.

"We each worked on a certain skill instead of thinking of the other team," said Braymen, who concentrated on her passing.

The Spartans took a lead in the first game and never relinquished it. Early on, with SJSU leading 3-1, Linda Fournet began a devastating serving attack, accounting for seven straight points, including three aces in a row. Overall, Fournet had five aces.

With USF's defense in disarray, the Spartans coasted to an easy victory in the first game.

But in the second game, the Dons matched the Spartans point for point. Finally, with the score 10-10, SJSU took command, led by the setting of Teri DeBusk and blocking of Felicia Schulner.

The Spartans continued to dominate in the third game. Two kills by Fournet and a service ace by Braymen gave the Spartans the early lead.

But a bit of a burst by USF, led by middle blocker Sharon Mellen, closed the score to 4-3. However USF's fire was quickly doused by SJSU, led by Fournet's serving, and Braymen and Schulner's blocking. These factors helped the Spartans rattle off four points for an 8-3 lead.

After a sideout, the Spartans upped their lead to 11-4. Both teams traded a couple of points, but a pair of nasty kills by Braymen and Christa Cook finished off the Dons, 15-7.

SJSU was able to hold down USF's Kathy Schindler to seven kills and two aces. Schindler leads the NorPac in service aces and is second in kills per game.

"This tells San Diego State we're going to be fired up," said Braymen, referring to tomorrow's important 7:30 p.m. match against the sixth-ranked Aztecs in the Spartan Gym.

The Aztecs were ranked ninth in the nation in the last coaches' poll, but moved up with victories over No. 1-ranked USC and UCLA, ranked second in the nation.

The Spartans, meanwhile,

SJSU to compete in Cal tourney

By Marty Picone
Daily staff writer

The Spartan field hockey team travels to Berkeley today to begin play in the three-day, eighth-annual Cal Invitational Tournament, which will match SJSU against Stanford, Cal and Chico State.

Field Hockey

In last year's tournament, the Spartans finished second at 3-1, losing only to Stanford, 1-0.

This year's Spartan team, which has won the tournament two times, has an overall record of 5-2-1. Cal is the defending champions, but many feel the Spartans are the team to beat.

"We're going into the tournament as the favorite," Spartan coach Carolyn Lewis said, "but that puts pressure on us to perform and come out on top. But I think we'll do alright."

One of the major obstacles Lewis and her Spartans will have to hurdle will be the artificial turf at Cal's Kleeberger Field.

"The quickness of the game is so excellent that we are going to have to rely on good stick-to-stick passing," Lewis said. "We are going to have to be very specific on our passes and concentrate on a controlled offense."

The Spartans first opponent at noon today is Stanford, which brings a 7-4 overall record and 4-2 NorPac mark into the tournament.

The last time SJSU played the Cardinal, Jeannie Gilbert and Yvon Hoogeweegen scored three goals each in a 10-3 Spartan win.

But Lewis still feels that match was closer than the score indicated.

"Stanford is going to be tough because we start off with them in the tournament and they will want to avenge their loss," Lewis said.

Sheryl Johnson, Stanford assistant coach, refuses to say whether the Cardinal will have revenge on their mind. But she says SJSU will "be tough only because their on top right now."

Stanford is led by All-America goalie Bonny Warner, who held the Spartans to only one goal in last year's tournament match.

The Cardinal, who will play only two games in the tournament, also faces the University of Pacific, who recently defeated the Cardinal in a double-overtime match, 1-0.

On Saturday at 10 a.m., the Spartans face Cal, which brings an overall record of 4-4 and a NorPac mark of 2-3 into the tournament.

The last meeting between Cal and SJSU ended in a 4-1 Spartan win.

But this time, the match will be on Cal's turf, where the Bears play extremely well.

"The turf will be a big factor in this game," Lewis said. "Cal always play tough here, especially against us. They're the only team to have beaten Northwestern this year."

The Spartans fell victim to Northwestern in their first game of the season in a 1-0 double-overtime decision.

Coach Donna Fong of Cal says her squad is much weaker than last year's team that won the tournament, and believes its chances of repeating as champions are slim.

"It's a matter of not playing together as a team," Fong said. "We've been making costly mistakes."

"I don't feel we will do that great this year in the tournament, but San Jose, Stanford and UOP will do well."

The Spartans will then go up against Chico State Sunday in a match beginning at noon.

SJSU beat Chico (0-6), the NorPac's last-place team, 2-0, last week.

Although victories in this tournament will not count in the league standings, Lewis believes there are other factors involved.

"This tourney is important to us in the national ranking situation," she said. "I think we're ready to play."

Yesterday

Because many students at SJSU attend classes twice or three times a week, the Daily is including news items from yesterday's paper to help keep everyone informed on campus everyday.

Campus

The American Society of Civil Engineers was allocated $600 at the Associated Students Special Allocations meeting Monday to finance a dance prior to its' sponsored canoe race.

Other campus organizations to receive funding at the final special allocations meeting of the semester were MECHA, Escencia, Frances Guilland Child Development Center and Pi Sigma Alpha.

Theta Chi President Glen Gunter admitted Wednesday that he was involved in the attempted theft of a lion statue from Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

SAE filed a formal complaint against Theta Chi at the Inter-Fraternity Council meeting Monday. The council voted to ask the IFC Judiciary Council to review the case.

Pi Kappa Alpha submitted a request to the Inter-Fraternity Council on Monday asking it to mail a letter of complaint to the Spartan Daily for its cartoon, "Daley."

"Daley" artist, Jim Bricker said he thinks the fraternities are losers and can't take a joke. Bricker said Daily editors did not ask him to change the subject of the cartoon.

Poet and feminist Adrienne Rich is a distinguished visiting professor at SJSU. She is teaching a poetry writing class and a course entitled "Women Novelists as Historians."

Local

Police found a handwritten note seeking a male or female roommate Wednesday in the apartment of Fernando V. Cota, the prime suspect in the death of six San Jose area women.

Police said they did not know whether the ad had ever appeared in any local newspapers or on campus bulletin boards, such as those at SJSU.

Cota, who committed suicide on Highway 101 Sunday night when California Highway Patrol officers stopped him, also had a 3 by 2 1/2-foot foot cell in his converted Victorian house outfitted with shackles, handcuffs and a peephole so that prisoners could be watched unknowingly.

Sports

The Spartans continued to roll over NorPac Athletic Conference rivals, beating University of California at Berkeley, 15-10, 15-6, 7-15 and 15-7, at Spartan Gym Tuesday.

This extends their winning streak to eight matches, one short of a team victory.

A.S. allocates funds to Demo's, GALA

the forum without financial problems. He said the group included possible speakers' fees in their request.

"We hope to get all of the speakers for free," Darmohray said. He said the speakers who have agreed to come will participate for free.

The international debt crisis program is planned for Nov. 8 in the Student Union Umunhum Room at noon. The board allocated $198.30 to the SJSU Campus Democrats to sponsor a leader awareness forum.

Paul Sonneman, acting vice chairman of SJSU Campus Democrats, said the forum will provide students with an opportunity to meet with Santa Clara County political leaders.

Sonneman said Sen. Alfred Alquist, D-Calif., Martin Carnoy, 12th Congressional District candidate, and Gloria Rose Ott, 22nd Assembly District candidate, have agreed to participate.

"After the speakers do a short presentation," Sonneman said, "students will be able to meet informally with them at the reception."

The leader awareness forum is scheduled for 12 to 1 p.m., Nov. 2, in the Student Union Amphitheater.

GALA, the third group to appeal the Special Allocations' zero allocation, was granted $550 to sponsor three movies and an education panel.

Olivier said the Special Allocations committee recommended a zero allocation because too many questions concerning GALA's request were not answered at the meeting.

"Because of time conflicts," Olivier said, "no one from GALA could represent them."

She said Stipicevich made the presentation for GALA at Monday's meeting, but could not answer the committee's questions.

"We had to recommend a zero allocation," she said.

Also at the meeting, the board approved the Special Allocations committee's recommendations for Escencia, the American Society of Civil Engineers and MEChA. Escencia, a women's radio collective, received $455 and MEChA, a Chicano student group, was given $470. ASCE received an allocation of $600.

The A.S. Election Board also received funding.

Coughlan said the source of the election board's allocation is the A.S. emergency fund, rather than the Special Allocations budget. He said the election board bypassed Special Allocations because it doesn't have time to go through the committee's procedures.

both D-Calif., for securing a loan needed for its construction.

"It will serve a lot of students for a long time," Fullerton said.

In a tour after the ceremony, Brown showed specific ways the apartments used natural resources, such as the wind and the sun.

"We have a passive solar system," Brown said. "All of the windows in the apartments have double-paned glass, which will keep the environment comfortable inside the apartments."

The complex is also slanted in relation to the lot to take advantage of trade winds that pass through the area. "This way we don't have to use any air conditioning," Brown said.

Although the apartments are conventionally heated with a forced air gas heater, solar panels are used to heat hot water for Spartan Village, he said.

Brown said the solar panels of the apartments were working perfectly.

"Of course, when everybody is in the apartments, there will be more hot water used," Brown said. "But right now the water valve is blowing off steam, so the water is more than hot enough," he said.

According to Fullerton, Edwards and Mineta greatly assisted in funding Spartan Village by securing a $2.7 million low interest loan from the federal government for its construction.

"They put in the right word at the right place," she said. "They helped secure the guaranteed loans. Without the federal loans, the apartments would have cost twice as much."

She said the loan was in the form of a 20-year, 3 percent loan. If a firm or private citizen wants to pick up the 3 percent bond from the federal government, they can, but Fullerton said, "It's been a long time anybody has done that."

Edwards represents the district that the university is in. Mineta's district is adjacent to Edwards', but he "treats us (SJSU) like it is in his district," she said.

Brown also made a speech thanking Jeri Allen and Mary Dannelly, both employees of the housing office who assisted in coordinating the apartments.

Although the apartments are officially open, Spartan Village continues to be plagued with delays.

Housing Director Willie Brown, in an interview Wednesday, said the furnished apartments will definitely open Nov. 1. The unfurnished apartments opened Oct. 4.

The 58 apartments, which consists of 38 furnished and 20 unfurnished apartments, were scheduled to open at the start of the semester, but Brown is still waiting for furniture to be delivered. The company contracted to build the furniture, California Prison Industries, is late on delivery. The furniture was supposed to be delivered before the start of the fall semester.

Brown is waiting for delivery on couches and two lounge chairs that go into the living room of each furnished apartment. He said he would like the delivery right now, but said the furniture might not arrive until the middle of November.

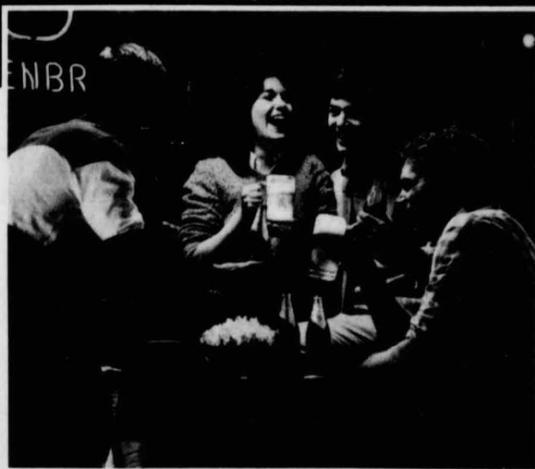

Beds, chairs and kitchen tables have been delivered to the housing office, and will be installed in the apartments by the opening date.

Brown said the furnished apartments will open on schedule, even if the last of the furniture hasn't arrived.

Good friends won't leave you flat.

1984 Beer Brewed in U.S.A. by Miller Brewing Co., Milwaukee, WI

The moon was up, the stars were out and—pffft!—your rear tire was down. Good thing there was a phone nearby. And a few good friends who were willing to drive a dozen miles, on a Saturday night, to give you a lift. When you get back, you want to do more than just say "thanks." So tonight, let it be Löwenbräu.

Löwenbräu. Here's to good friends.
