Athletics ads on radio show offend groups

By Martin Cheek

Daily staff writer The SJSU Women's Resource Center is campaigning against the university's sports advertisements on a radio show some listeners consider racist and sexist.

The athletic department, which advertises on KSJO's controversial Perry Stone show, hasn't decided how to handle the situation, said Randy Taylor, assistant marketing director.

Taylor said the department is waiting to hear results from a meet-ing between Stone, KSJO General Manager David Baronfeld and representatives from the Coalition for Integrity in Media.

Members of the Women's Re-source Center have written to Baronfeld, the athletic department, and SJSU President Gail Fullerton protesting Stone's remarks on the radio, said Teri Ann Bengiveno, coordinator of the center. The Women's Resource Center is part of a coalition trying to influence sponsors to stop advertising with the program

Baronfeld was unavailable for comment

SJSU football and basketball games are advertised on Stone's show because of a contract between the athletic department and KHTT, KSJO's sister station, Taylor said.

We are broadcast on KHTT and under contract on KSJO for X amount of dollars in advertising," he said. "There's some loyalties involved.

The athletic department spends $45,000 for advertising on KSJO and $30,000 for advertising on KHTT, he said. Part of the contract

Taylor said he understands the concern about racist and sexist remarks on Stone's show. But the ath-letic department is in a "tough position" with the contract, he said

The contract ends with the basketball season in March. Stone's show is broadcast from 6 to 10 a.m., the best time of day for advertising, Taylor said. "Drive time is a big time," he said. "It's one of the best times for listeners. It's tough to give that up. But at the same time, we're sensitive to the listeners.

"We don't want to offend any group, but we have to make proper business decisions." Bengiveno said she doesn't like Stone's style. "I'm offended by the Perry Stone Show in that I strongly believe it perpetuates violence against women and minorities," she said. Stone could not be reached for omment Bengiveno said she would like to

Crimes increase during holidays

Tuesday, November 22, 1988

By Teresa Lyddane Daily staff writ

The holiday season is a time for giving. But for some people it's a time for taking, too, according to a crime prevention specialist.

'The stress within the Christmas spirit, unemployment and drug use all contribute to crimes increasing during the holidays," said Rosemary Hernandez of the San Jose Police Department.

Last year, 60 percent of all burglaries and robberies happened dur-ing November and December, according to a report from the Cali-fornia Governor's Office of Criminal Justice Planning. California merchants lost $17.2 million in shoplifted goods, accord-ing to the report. The figure has been rising every year.

Hernandez said several crimes occur more frequently during the holidays.

The crimes include shoplifting, purse and wallet robberies, and vio-lent crimes. House break-ins also increase, she said.

The crime prevention department attributes the seasonal rash of crimes primarily to holiday bustle and the carelessness of the victims.

"People get so caught up in the holiday spirit that they forget to do the simple things like locking doors and windows," Hernandez said. She also said financial pressures often drive a person to steal. "It's an issue between the 'haves and the 'have-nots,' '' she said. "The 'have-nots' feel like they have to secure the money for gifts, even if that means stealing it." The suicide rate is also higher dur-See CRIMES, back page

Daily staff writer Three black students received scholarships in memory of an SJSU alumna and employee who was killed in a 1984 fire.

The awards, based on academic achievement. community-related work or involvement, and quality of recommendations, were given out during the Afro-American Staff and Faculty Nov. 9. Association's breakfast

Tina Williams, a sophomore majoring in social science, received $400. Dana Jones, a sophomore maioring in political science, and Barbara Jones-Hulse, a junior majoring in Spanish, received $300 each.

The scholarship honors Evelyn T.

A war that shouldn't have been

By William Steffens

William Steffens is a senior majoring in behavioral studies. Steffens is a Vietnam War veteran and was discharged from the military in 1974.

I am really quite proud of the accounting student whose Italian grandfather was a hero in World War I. Yet, I am curious about how this man lived with the memories of his particular horrors of war, especially after seeing his "best friend" blown up. I hope he laughed a lot afterwards. I hope he was able to play and have fun. More probably, he lived the rest of his life as an increasingly angry man — bitter, alienated, enraged. I know he relived that specific horror, his best friend's death, and every other terrible experience every night until he died trying to make some sense out of it. How do I know? Because we all do and if we do not talk about these things we shrivel up and die inside.

Perhaps no one thought about seeing another human being's eyes (not of some vile animal as you were indoc-trinated to believe but human eyes filled with a real human emotion, an emotion common to us all, terror) as he sees his own impending death the instant before you put 18 rounds of Duplex ammunition into his stomach and lungs and briefly watch him explode and splatter his real and very salty human blood and body parts across your face while you turn to reload and "waste" another person before that ultimate, most final human act can come to you - death.

The citizens of this country have a distorted image of what war really is. War is not the flickering screen's neat and tidy death, nor is it simple, clean, quick or easy Real people do not die easily, they fight hard to live and you fight harder to kill them before they can kill you. War is severed arms and legs and blood and someone's insides hanging from a branch and the body of a good friend you cannot even recognize as human anymore War is the hideous stench of urine, burning bodies, fermenting blood, of open intestines and days-old bodies rotting in the heat and your own stench of fear and days old accumulated filth. War is not anger, it is rage because you can feel nothing else and still survive. In war you cannot even mourn your dead; there is no time. War is sheer terror over and above anything you'll ever wake up screaming over because it is unlike anything you have ever experienced. War is your heart pounding in your ears, rasping breath you try so desperately to silence, and a mouth so dry you'd sell your soul for water. War is wondering where the enemy is and straining every sense to hear him first, see him first, smell him first, sense him first, kill him first. It is not an easy task; like you, he doesn't want to die either.

In my war, at 20, I decided most of the time who lived and who died in my area. That was a heavy responsibility for someone who couldn't even vote or legally And in my personal experience, 44 other people drink. died for their country, some of them as near to me as you are to this newspaper. Even today I can remember the faces of all but seven, if I choose to, but for 19 years I Editor could not choose when they came back to haunt me. Talking made the ghosts go away. The physical cost to me of all this death? Not much,

Kennedy's 1,000 days of leadership are often compared to the days of King Arthur's shining knights and lovely ladies in Cam-elot. It was "one brief shining mo-ment." But, just as King Arthur's court was a legend, Kennedy's Cam-elot is a myth created by a nation looking for a beo looking for a hero.

I was born three years after the as-sassination. But I have talked to people who do remember the time.

In retrospect, the national shock and grief shown live on network television seemed to be less for the slain leader than for the end of an in-nocent age. That November day marked the beginning of the turbulent 1960s.

The civil rights movement would begin its campaign under the guidance of a peaceful minister named Martin Luther King Jr. Like Kennedy, King would also fall vicguidance tim to an assassin's bullet civil-rights legislation would not have gained a foothold in Congress without the sympathetic outpouring that came after Kennedy's death. I'm part of the generation that came after the Kennedy era. My perspective of the man and his adminis-tration is screened through the history books of my elementary and high school years. As a teenager, I saw him as the knight in shining armor staring down the dark forces of the world. He was the great war-rior of the Cold War, facing the So-viet threat in Cuba and East Berlin.

My view of the man has changed in the '80s. I'm now trying to see Kennedy as he truly was. I'm start-ing to be skeptical of the media myths.

After reading objective biographies about him, I can see his short-comings. But with his charisma and personal charm, he was able to por-tray an ideal leader.

t was like a trip to paradise. It didn't occur to me to mind the ninehour car ride in the back of my parent's Ford station wagon. All seven of us piled in and headed out for Lone Pine, a tiny community nestled at the base of Mount Whitney. A Thanksgiving journey to Grandma Jones' house meant there would be plenty of time to run free in a huge backyard. A kid could romp away the hours on the swing set or tackle the perfectly climbable fruit trees.

When it was time to come inside, a special corner of the front room seemed the best place in the world to be. Waiting there was a towering bookcase filled with both books and toys along with a rocking chair sized perfectly

Of course there was the traditional feast with everything from turkey to pies. Somehow even the vegetables tasted fantastic

But the best part of a visit was always Vera T. Jones herself

She is old enough to remember the 1906 earthquake. At the time of the temblor her family was living in a small cabin near Oakland. There was no damage to her home, but she did recall nearly being thrown off a top bunk bed.

This mother of 10 is a survivor. There were bouts with measles, malaria, yellow fever, typhus, and an ulcer. She's been a widow since 1954 who remains hardworking and independent. Feelings of hardship or suffering have never come through. Her expressions were rich with experience and caring.

At night she would take down the braid that circled her head and allow her grandchildren to brush her thick, knee-length gray hair.

lthough her hair has since thinned, A whitened, and been cropped short, her warm brown eyes still hold the same sparkle.

There were times when she revealed that she had indeed grown up in a different era. When Grandma spoke about someone acting 'queer'' and "gay" the reference had nothing to do with sexual oreintation.

But at other times her views were quite modern. She clearly could not understand the concept of prejudice. Her father was from Quaker stock and had helped run an underground railway to bring runaway slaves north

In the first part of this century, talking to a black man as if he were human was not popular with the founding fathers of Monticello Florida, one of Grandma's childhood homes. It seems there was even a committee formed to inquire just where my great Grandpa Taylor stood on the "negro question." He had passed his thoughts on the equality of man to his daughter.

She once wrote:

'Our life has been good and since we have eternity to learn in and grow spiritually gain and apply wisdom on and on to perfection — I am content to grow flowers, paint, embroider, do some church work and read and study

They say whatever we learn in this life will be ours in the next so I hope to have a good start over there.

I love you Grandma, and am grateful to have learned from your experience.

Spartans rout the Rebels 42-0, Lutz keeps passing game alive

Daily staff writer You have to wonder what the fortune of the SJSU football team this season may have been with a healthy Ken Lutz

In Saturday's 42-0 spanking of University of Nevada-Las Vegas, the senior quarterback made his first start since Oct. 22. That was the last time SJSU won a game. With Lutz in the lineup, the Spar-relief appearances in SJSU's three previous losses — the team was lifeless. His long list of injuries in-cluded shoulder problems and turf

We had our share of frustration. Up until Long Beach and Fullerton, we were still happy with our perfor-mances and achievements.

Gilbert said the team rolled over after losing to Fresno State Oct. 29. Emotionally revived for UNLV, the Spartans played like the California Bowl was on the line. Lutz was 28 of 39 for 372 yards, with five touchdowns and one interception. For the season, he completed 61.9 percent of his throws, establishing a school record. Doug Hooker, starting at slot re-ceiver in place of the injured Kevin Evans, was one beneficiary of Lutz's magic

The junior receiver had his best game as a Spartan, catching 12 passes for 144 yards and two touchdowns

Although he played sparingly, SJSU tailback Johnny Johnson rushed for 35 yards on 10 carries and one touchdown. In the process, he added to his record-bashing season. Johnson set an SJSU single-sea-son rushing record of 1,219 yards, eclipsing the mark of 1,210 set by Gerald Willhite in 1980.

In addition, Johnson set school repose yards established a new Big Lutz and galloped 20 yards for an West mark and ranks eighth in other score, the Spartans lead 21-0, and the romp was on. The 6-foot-3 junior also had four receptions for 77 yards and a touch-

The Spartan defense, led by line-backer Dave Moss (10 tackles) and tackle George Muraoka (three sacks) recorded six sacks and held the Rebel offense to 127 yards in total offense.

Lutz continued his magic in the second half, throwing touchdown passes to Hooker and reserve wide receiver Adrian Manns.

Manns, making only his second trip of the season, caught a 13-yard pass with 4:45 to play in the game. It was his first reception and first touchdown as a Spartan.

aily staff writer The SJSU volleyball team has put together its fifth consecutive 20-win season under Coach Dick Montgomery.

Montgomery. After a near-winless Novem-ber, the Spartans were worried about reaching the goal. But they found the magic num-ber with a win against Cal-State Fullerton 15-10, 15-9, 10-15 and 15 8 Endowniable 15-8 Friday night. "It was relieving," freshman setter Janine Ward said. "It gave us more confidence On Oct. 22, the Spartans earned their 19th win of the season, defeating San Diego State University at home. But it would be 17 days and nine matches later before the squad would take its 20th match.

"At the time, we were doing better than we imagined," SJSU assistant coach John Corbelli said. "But then a mysterious virus hit and we went down. We were going great until we hit a flat spot about a month ago.

The Spartans' victory celebration ended the next night when the squad lost to SDSU 11-15, 15-7, 4-15 and 9-15. "We came off slow and never really got on track," Corbelli end

said

Under SDSU Coach Rudy Suwara, the Aztecs sharpened their game just in time for a second round against the Spartans.

We were hitting better because of our passing," Suwara said. "And that made all the difference. Overall, we played a much better match than last time and that's why we won

But Suwara gave the Spartans

"They battled the entire natch," he said. "And with Kim Hicks in there, you can never take them too lightly

Hicks led the Spartans with 18 kills and 16 digs. Teammate Laura Boone had 12 kills and 7 digs

Although leading the match 2-1, the Aztecs had to fight for the victory. The Spartans went up 5-0 in the fourth game, but the Aztecs battled back to win the game 15-

"We were down," Suwara said. "But we rallied and came back. It was a good way to finish the match.'

Senior hitter Kim Washington led the Aztecs with 18 kills, as they finished in fourth place in the Big West.

In Friday's contest, the Spartans had an easier time handling the 0-17 Titans

'Because they are winless in conference play during the last two years," Corbelli said, "we had a lot of confidence going into the match.

But Corbelli said the Titans didn't go down without a fight. "Our right side was weak," he said. "That was our weakness during the entire weekend.

Junior hitter Mona Sualua agreed.

"My timing was off and I wasn't adjusting myself," she said. "When they took away a shot, I lost confidence.

For the Spartans, however, SDSU's Big West Conference fi-

"(SDSU) took charge and played well the whole game," Corbelli said. "This was not how we expected to finish. We were hoping that we would be in the top two or three by now. But we ended up in sixth."

The Cardinal ties the Bears with 'The Block'

BERKELEY (AP) - It wasn't quite as satisfying as The Play was for Cal in 1982, but Stanford won't complain about The Block.

Cornerback Tuan Van Le's de flection of what would have been the game-winning field goal by Robbie Keen staved off a fifth Cardinal loss by four points or less in the Big Game on Saturday.

The result was a 19-19 tie, but Le's leap let Stanford salvage the spoiler's role before a mostly hostile crowd of 75,662 fans who turned out to watch the two last-place teams in the Pac-10. The block prevented California from having its first winning season in six years

Oswald's bullets may have been aimed at Connally

NEW YORK (AP) - Lee Harvey above dishonorable, after he tried to Oswald bore a grudge against Texas Gov. John Connally and may have intended to kill him instead of President John F. Kennedy, according to a new book.

Oswald was angry because Connally had done nothing to help re-store his honorable discharge from the Marine Corps, according to the book, "The Great Expectations of John Connally," by James Reston Jr., son of The New York Times columnist. Excerpts of the book were published in this week's Time mag-

Child witnesses being called to trial

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - Only his head and shoulders were visible above the witness box as the boy calmly told a murder trial jury how, when he was 2 years and 10 months old, he watched as his aunt was grabbed and thrown down by a man with a knife.

"I saw a knife in his case on his

There is no minimum bid for any of the pieces in the collection. Amnesty International member George Gonzales said the auction is just one of the group's holiday projects.

He said members are sending Christmas cards to "prisoners of conscience" to express support.

'We want them to know that y're not alone,'' he said.''The they're not alone, shirts are great Christmas presents. It's for a good cause during the holiday season

HAYWARD (AP) - Fingerprints taken from a scooter belonging to a kidnapped 9-year-old girl are the only firm lead in the child's abduction by a pockmarked stranger, police said.
