

Inter-Fraternity Dance Tonight

Six On-Campus Fraternities Present Semi-Formal Dance In Scottish Rite Temple Tonight

Tonight, Sparta steps out as 250 couples attend the interfraternity semi-formal dance at the Scottish Rite Temple. The dance, slated as one of the big affairs of the year, is taking the place of individual fraternity dances, and is a pooling of resources of the various social groups.

Lasting from 9 to 1 o'clock, the affair will incorporate the atmosphere of a formal dance with the fine setting of the Scottish Rite Temple.

The complete list of the patrons and patronesses was announced today by Don Campbell, interfraternity member. They are: Dr. and Mrs. Boris Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Rendahl, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Mosher, Milburn Wright, and Dr. Earl Campbell.

Ronald Hadley, in charge of bid sales, stated today that since so many people have asked for bids, they will be sold at the door. He also declared that bids were well received by the student body, and a large majority of them have already been sold. The price of the bids is $1.25.

A band which has been playing locally for several years will handle the music requirements. Featuring "sweet" music, they plan to try the faster tempos now and then in order to please all tastes.

Stressing again that the dance is semi-formal, Joe Talbot, general chairman, said, "Men can wear either tuxes or dark suits and still be appropriate. Corsages will be the order of the day."

Doran Nielsen, decorations chairman, pointed out that the decorations will include replicas of the various fraternity pins and a floral interfraternity emblem.

The Scottish Rite Temple is situated on the corner of St. James and Third streets, facing St. James Park.

LAST CHANCE FOR MEN, 17, HERE IN NAVY PROGRAMS

Spartan 17-year-olds will have a last opportunity to enlist on the campus in the Navy V-1 and V-5 programs when Lt. Com. H. F. Taggart returns to Washington Square tomorrow.

Lt. Com. Taggart and his staff will be located in the Men's gym tomorrow only, where men with the proper qualifications may apply for enlistment in the reserve programs. March 15 is the deadline for enlistment in V-1 and V-5 by 17-year-olds, according to Dean of Men Paul Pitman.

Following his one-day stand here on Washington Square, Lt. Com. Taggart will move over to Santa Clara university and will be available Monday and Tuesday for those who do not complete their enlistment tomorrow.

Seniors

Seniors who will be doing student teaching in the spring quarter, and any others wishing to learn more about placement procedure, should come to room 110 at 4 o'clock Wednesday, February 10. Miss Doris Robinson, acting appointment secretary, will explain the work of the Appointment office and answer questions regarding placement. Another meeting will be held in the same room at 4 o'clock Tuesday, February 16, for those who are unable to be present February 10.

Spartans' Letters Encourage Service Men; Humor Not Lacking

When Spartans at home write to Spartans in service, they talk about everything from gas rationing and PEV to their mothers in the WAACs and moron gags.

This is proven by excerpts from the notes which students at Wednesday night's rally added to the mimeographed newsletter which Dean Paul Pitman is sending to over a thousand soldiers, sailors, and marines from Australia to North Africa.

Typical of nearly all the letters is the following bit of encouragement from a girl's note:

"WE APPRECIATE YOU"

"I'm glad to have this chance to write to a former San Jose State man who's doing so much for us kids here still in school. I need (Continued on page 4)

FRESNO IN TOWN FOR CAGE SERIES TONIGHT, TOMORROW

By SEBASTIAN SQUATRITO

Winding up a busy week on the Spartan sports front, San Jose State's varsity cage team swings into action tonight and tomorrow night against its arch-rival, Fresno State college. The games will find the locals trying to break a four-game losing streak, and the invaders attempting to wind up their short and not so spectacular season with at least an even split with the Spartans. Both contests will be played in the Men's gym with the tip-off slated for 8 o'clock. The Washington Square yearlings will engage a pair of prep teams in the 8:30 p. m. preliminaries.

Mainly because they are playing on their home court, the Spartans are favored to thump the Bulldogs. Although they haven't got a Jim Pollard, the Fresnans come to town with a fairly tall team led by 6 ft. 5 in. center Don Page, clever Negro lad, who averaged close to 20 points per game while playing for Reedley Junior college last year.

Two performers who will also give Coach Ed Blesh's men plenty of trouble are Jim Molich and Bob Heeren. Both are seniors and have played before Spartan fans in the past. Last year Heeren averaged over 20 points a game in the two-game series played here.

Molich, who operates from the guard position, is rated one of the best guards developed at the Raisin City school. He was the fourth highest scorer for his team last year. Heeren was first with 219 points.

For the Spartans, although they dropped their fourth straight tilt to the Guardsmen last Tuesday night, Coach Blesh wasn't too disappointed in that Cas Breuer regained his shooting eye in scoring 14 points and again taking the team-scoring lead with a total of 97 points.

Hal Sonntag, who might start in Roy Diederichsen's guard position tonight, also came through in fine style against the Sea Lions. Other Spartan starters will be Captain Bert Robinson at guard, Willie Gamboa and Cas Breuer at forward, and Peter Filice at center.

The Fresno series will mark the final appearance of Porter McConnell, gangly sophomore center, who will be inducted into the Army next week. McConnell, mainly through his greenness, hasn't had much chance to play this season, but if possible he'll be used a good deal against the Bulldogs in this series.

Probable starting lineup:
SAN JOSE FESNO
 12 Breuer.....F..... Heeren
 5 Gamboa.....F..... Caldwell
 17 Filice.....C..... Page
 15 Robinson.....G..... Molich
 7 Diederichsen G..... Kelley

'The Little Foxes' Will Hold Second Performance In Little Theater Tonight

With tickets selling at a rapidly increasing rate, "The Little Foxes" will go into its second-night performance tonight in the Little Theater at 8:30. The play will make its last appearance tomorrow night.

The famous play, written by Lillian Hellman, has been produced successfully on both stage and screen. Barbara Trelease takes the part of Regina Giddens, a selfish, cruel woman, which part Tallulah Bankhead and Bette Davis so memorably enacted on the stage and screen.

PLAYS HORACE

Jack Hume is playing the part of Horace, Regina's invalid husband. Herbert Marshall popular movie actor, played the part in the movie version of the play. The part of Regina's pretty, young daughter, Alexandra, is being portrayed by Bette Gardner. It was in this screen role that the young movie actress, Teresa Wright made her debut.

Milt Brietzke is doing the part of the smooth Ben Hubbard, Regina's unscrupulous brother, who Charles Dingle characterized on the screen. The part of the disillusioned and unhappy Berdie was playing on the screen by Patricia Collinge. Charlotte Waltes, a newcomer to State's Speech department, is playing the part here.

Student-Written Play On KQW

"Private Detective", a 15-minute radio play to be presented over KQW Saturday at 1:30, is a detective story to end all detective stories, according to its authoress, Eleanor Wagner.

KSJS members will present the play, which tells the story of a policeman whose wife nags him into becoming a private detective so that he can make a name for himself. How the police force manages to outwit his attempts as a detective to solve a crime makes an amusing and slightly screwy story.

Jeanette Thimann will enact Shady Sadie; Ruth Banks, Miss Niles; Margaret Moore, Gay; Leon Fletcher, Tony and Earnest; Johnny Sayers, Dan; and Ed Kincaid, Zeb.

Ward Rasmus of the Speech department directs the play, and Alice Modry assists as student director.

STUDENTS URGED TO HAVE LA TORRE PICTURES TAKEN

A threatened shortage of engraving supplies and a prevalent shortage of photographers, leads La Torre editor Barbara Kurz to ask of students all possible cooperation so that there may actually be a La Torre published in June.

According to Miss Kurz there is a possibility that the government will take over all engraving materials before the annual is entirely in shape for publication. She asks that students who have not yet made picture appointment to do so at once as it is absolutely necessary that layouts be completed and sent to the engravers before the threatened shortage sets in.

After The War, Then What?

Only recently, some high-ranking Marine officer came out in the newspapers with a detailed account of the procedure used in teaching our soldiers war tactics. Said gentleman went to great lengths to inform the public just what training the men received.

"They (the soldiers, marines, commandos, etc.) are taught every trick of dirty fighting and every foul method of hand-to-hand combat we know," he said. "They learn to relish jabbing an enemy's eyes out; kneeling him in the groin; and if they are extremely artful they may learn how to aim a punch so as to drive his jawbone into the brain. He continued, "Our boys are going to be tough, because no tactic of dirty fighting has been omitted in their education."

Excellent training for war time, Colonel, but by the slightest chance may not some of this "education" be carried over into peace time? One of these days this war is going to end. Your soldier, sailor and marine is going to return home. For a while the men will be satisfied with conditions as they are. But gradually the stultifying effects of the sedentary peace-time life will pall upon them eventually to the extent that they are going to seek some means of satisfying the desire for raw, brutal action inculcated in them by the war. And they are going to satisfy this appetite, be it by legal or extra-legal means.

Make no mistake about it, we are not advocating that our soldiers be armed with a lace handkerchief and a yo-yo and sent out to meet the Jap. By no means.

Instead we are suggesting that some of our better brains get together before long and find some way sublimating these desires of our fighting men after they have returned from the war.

Bluntly spoken, those men will have to be given more than a veteran's pension or there will be hell to pay.

—Cook.

Flattery is telling the other man precisely what he thinks about himself.

CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN

Tom Marshall:

Sorry for your comment on "The Little Foxes". Evidently you don't know the play. So that you won't have to write from ignorance again, there are two complimentary tickets for you in the Speech office.

Ted Hatlen.

Dear Thrust and Parry:

This is not an editorial but an outright protest! The signs stating "Mary George Cooperative Hall" and "Mary Post" have disappeared. Inquiries have been made by the Cooperative Council, but neither sign has been returned. We are still hoping that it was a joke because the thought of our signs being stolen sounds like the persons involved could not be college students.

For seven years the Women's Cooperatives have worked to get these signs and seven months' use is too little. We are proud of our cooperatives, and what better way is there of pointing them out than to have the name denoting the house! Not only that, but frequently deliveries are made to the name and not just the address, so anyone can see our urgent need.

CAMERON CADET CAPTAIN IN ARMY

Ex-Spartan Murray Cameron has been appointed Aviation Cadet Captain and Group Commander in the Cadet corps of the Army Air Force's Pre-Flight Pilot school at Maxwell Field, Alabama, according to word received by the Spartan Daily.

He has been in the Air Corps for almost two years, and attended San Jose State college before his entrance into the service.

Cameron was accepted for pilot training on September of 1942 at McChord Field, Washington. He was also a student at the Air Corps Training school at Chalmers Field, Illinois.

Upon completion of his training at Maxwell Field, where he is receiving an intensive course in ground training preparatory to his primary flight instruction, Cameron will be sent to one of the many primary flying schools in the Southeast Army Air Force's Training Center.

Has anyone seen these signs at other locations than 146 South Tenth or 438 South Ninth? We would like to hear from them and see our signs back in their proper places.

Sincerely,
 The Co-Op Council.
 (Irish Bakeman, President.)

KSJS CALLING

By Jacquie Jurgensen

And now, ladies and gentlemen, we will present, under the auspices of the Mutual Don Lee System, "The Adventures of Jerry Steel", that all-American boy, namely one Leon Fletcher.

Maybe you were one of Jerry's ardent radio followers; maybe you listened with tense excitement to his colorful adventures which were broadcast every Saturday from San Francisco; and maybe you didn't know that this illustrious radio character is now among us.

Yes, although Leon seemed reluctant to admit it, he who is now vice-president of KSJS, a speech major at State, was once a high school boy hero of a soap-box opera. Once every week while attending the San Mateo Junior college, he lived through the loves, fights, and perplexing problems of Jerry Steel.

At State, Leon has continued his speech studies and has contributed much to the radio-speaking society in the way of acting and directing. You might remember him in a recent Saturday afternoon KSJS ra-

ROUND THE SQUARE

By Boyd Haight

Those unfortunate prophets, the editors of the now defunct Literary Digest, did a lot of prophesying through the medium of nation-wide public opinion polls back in the depressing '30's. One of their brain-childs was a "Peace Poll" taken regarding the feelings of students in American colleges and universities about the possibilities of the United States staying out of war. This was in 1935 with no wars in sight but several due to break out unexpectedly within two or three years.

On the specific question, "Can the U. S. stay out of war?" 90,000 students in 115 colleges and universities voted this way. Yes, we can stay out, 62,682; No, we can't stay out, 29,376.

It's evident that 60,000 college students were wrong on this question, but perhaps no more wrong than 100 million or so Americans who felt the same way at that time. In fact, as a good indication of the strong pacifist feeling of the times, it is interesting to note that as many as 15,000 college students said they would not fight if the U. S. was invaded. Of course a big majority, 76,000, said they would take up arms in defense of their homeland in case of enemy attack, but now that we are at war with a power which invaded our territorial rights, it seems unbelievable that anyone, let alone 15,000 college students, should have felt no desire to defend their country in time of emergency.

Some more of the questions voted on involved government control of armament and munitions industries, and universal conscription of capital and labor to control all profits in time of war.

An overwhelming number of the 90,000 college students favored government control of war industries, 83,868 to 8,513. Social and economic changes since that time have perhaps brought such a change to an almost-but-not-quite possibility. The students also voted in favor of universal conscription of capital and labor—we're just getting around to it now, eight years later and a year since we declared war.

All the information regarding this peace poll was contained in an editorial of the February 12 edition of the 1935 Spartan Daily. It was commented on in a very cynical

SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1943

OUT OF THE SCRAP PILE

By CHARLES COOK

This is a laxy man's column today. Scrappy was too tired to put forth more than the statistics seen below and yours truly is now trying vainly to bat out something halfway intelligible.

Coach Dee Portal bowed out in a blaze of glory last night as his college battlers pounded out a 7½ to 2½ decision over a game team of soldiers from Camp Tanforan. Especially impressive was 165 pounder Stan Smith, who scored a TKO over his opponent. Smith, looking to be in the best shape of any of the Spartans should have clear sailing the rest of the season if he keeps up the furious pace.

Regaining the scoring lead he relinquished to deadeye Roy Diederichsen for two weeks, forward Cas Breuer is again heading all Spartan basketballers with 97 points in seven games. Hitting the hoop against last Tuesday's Coast Guard five, Breuer jumped to a four-point lead over Diederichsen.

Tonight, against a strong Bulldog quintet from Fresno, Coach Ed Blesh figures to shoot the works in an effort to put the Spartans back in the win column.

Chief threat for the Fresnans is forward Ed Heeren, who is far in the front in the valley scoring race. The Bulldog roster also features several of last season's gridders in starting positions. Jim Molich, star end, is expected to open the game at a guard spot, with capable relief in the person of Jack Kelley, speedy halfback.

Invading the local gym for the last series before the Spartans leave for a southern sojourn is the clever University of Nevada five. The Wolfpack outfit is rated as the best in several seasons by Coach Blesh.

Frelier, Rudloff Head Varsity, Freshman Tank Teams Respectively

Eugene Frelier and Ed Rudloff were elected captains of the varsity and freshman swimming teams respectively at a meeting of the squads held Tuesday. Frelier won the Northern Pacific Coast title in the breast stroke last year, and Rudloff has recently been picked by Coach Claude Horan as one of the best swimmers on the 1943 team.

Following the elections, the new captains were called upon for short speeches. Captain Rudloff remarked that possibly with the help of a few varsity men, the freshman squad could whip practically any team on the coast. Captain Frelier then declared that possibly with the help of a few freshmen, the varsity squad could take any team in the country. The upshot of the controversy is the fact that the varsity squad will meet the freshmen next Wednesday in an inter-class meet.

The inter-class meet will include the following events: 50 yd. freestyle, 150 yd. backstroke, 100 yd. freestyle, 200 yd. medley relay, 400 yd. relay, 220 yd. freestyle, diving, 200 yd. breast stroke, and the 440 yd. swim.

When meeting another school, the two squads (fresh and varsity) combine their efforts, but Wednesday should see the two spiritedly trying to beat each other. Coach Claude Horan explained today that the meet will be an added inducement for a stricter training schedule. "Training has become stricter as the weeks pass along, and the spirit which has risen between the two teams help them over the tough spots," explained Horan.

The four men to watch, according to Coach Horan, are Ed Rudloff, Moe Richardson, Roger Frelier, and Pat Daley. He added, however, that this week's practice might bring several other members of the squad under the limelight. Meets with California, Stanford, Olympic club, and Santa Clara are anticipated by the team.

Spartan Yearlings In Pair Of Games Tonight, Tomorrow

After having folded completely in the last half against the Exchange Linen, Bill Perry's frosh cagers are due for a reversal of form tonight when they meet the Monterey high school quintet in the preliminary to the varsity tilt. Tomorrow night they tangle with the Santa Clara preps, also a preliminary to the varsity game with Fresno. Both contests are slated to begin at 6:30.

Perry has been carrying the crying towel all week because he cannot find time to give his lads the necessary workouts and scrimmages between games. With all of the PEV programs and other classes, there is hardly any time left for the use of the gym.

The frosh are meeting the Monterey lads for the initial time this season, but they have met and conquered the Santa Clara Panthers by the slim margin of 30 to 28.

If the freshmen can emerge victors over these two prep foes, they will have their strongest opponents of the current season here next weekend when they entertain the newly crowned state Jaycee champs here in a two-game series.

P. E. Fraternity Initiates Nine

A formal initiation was held recently for the new members of Phi Epsilon Kappa, national men's physical education fraternity, at the home of Coach Ed Blesh.

The new members are Paul Borg, Hal Sonntag, Elwood Clark, Bill Perry, Fenton Hill, Hans Wiedenhofer, George Hearn, Bill Duran, and Angelo Colombo.

Paul Borg was elected treasurer and Fenton Hill was chosen secretary.

Stan Smith Stops Ken Griffin In Second; Haas Takes Close Decision

By JOHNNY HUBBARD

Spartan boxing Coach Dee Portal, private Max Baer of the U. S. Army, and the ring teams of San Jose State and Tanforan Army Camp together last night in the Civic Auditorium to put on a show which the capacity crowd on hand will long remember.

On the more serious side of the evening's activities, State's fighters punched out a convincing 7½ to 2½ team victory over the soldiers, taking advantage of better physical condition and superior ring knowledge.

On the lighter side, Baer, manager and coach for the boys in khaki, put on the gloves for four rounds of exhibition boxing—one each with Bob Creighton and Danny Conforti, San Jose heavies, and two (believe it or not) with Portal himself.

PORTAL KNOCKS BAER DOWN!

This last shindig was a complete surprise to the fans in attendance, and in amusement value was worth the admission charge all by itself. Made tips the Toledo's at approximately 235 lbs. while Dee weighs about 155 or 160. Despite this tremendous weight advantage, Portal dropped his man twice—all in fun, of course. The first time Baer hit the canvas, he claimed he was fouled, and ran around the ring moaning in "agony."

Then, to avenge himself for this dastardly trick, the giant former heavyweight king knotted Dee up in the ropes, almost choking him.

Portal, thoroughly "enraged," immediately landed a "terrific" right on Baer's jaw, sending him to the floor again. Max rose to his feet at the count of nine, but the blow had rendered him "punchy," and in his "numbed" condition he mistook the referee, Frank Bramhall, for his opponent and began to throw vicious punches at this hapless gent—who was saved from "annihilation" by the bell.

These exhibitions of Baer "clownology" were an added attraction to the main business of the occasion, which was the duel between the Army team and Sparta's pugilists.

SMITH STOPS OPPONENT IN SECOND

Probably the outstanding fight on the main program was the 169-lb. clash between San Jose's classy Stan Smith and his opponent—rated as Tanforan's best fighter—Ken Griffin. Smith took charge of the proceedings in the first round, landing often and hard with sharp-shooting lefts and rights. In the middle of the second round, Griffin took a hard smash right on the chin, which shook him up pretty badly. He stood up against the ropes, unable to defend himself, as Smith hit him at will—and his manager tossed in the towel, giving Stan a T.K.O. victory.

Another thriller was the Bob Mason-Alpheus Hawkins 145-lb. battle. Mason proved to the spectators that he has come a long way since his last appearance here, in the All-College bouts, by completely dominating the three-round go. Although he was much the shorter, Bob boxed and slugged his way to a decisive decision.

JOHNSON SCORES DECISION VICTORY

Jim Johnson, San Jose's 130-lb. boy, outpointed the Army's Dan Wooten—with a talented performance, using counter-punches to good advantage. The little Spartan took every canto by a wide margin.

Don Haas, at 135 lbs., had a tough time with his Tanforan adversary, Sam Jones, but managed to eke out a hairline verdict.

JUNIOR CLASS SETS FEBRUARY 20 AS DATE FOR ANNUAL PROM; SCOTTISH RITE TEMPLE IS SITE

February 20 is the date chosen for the Junior Prom at the Scottish Rite Temple.

Bids for the affair will go on sale soon. They will sell for $1.75. General Chairman Thomas Kerr announces that the dance will be semi-formal. "Black suits or tuxedos will be appropriate."

After hearing a military band at the basketball game Tuesday evening, students have announced their anxiety in hearing the 125th Infantry swing band that is playing for the Prom. Junior council members have promised that it is to be "really solid".

Elaborate decorations are being planned by the Decoration committee. It will be comprised of a garden setting to fulfill the theme, "Salute to Spring".

President Earl Poytress is urging all juniors to make their dates now as the affair is only three weeks away, and extensive plans on the part of all juniors to attend the affair will make it an even greater success than is already anticipated.

Spartans' Letters

not say that we appreciate all you fellows out there, but you can be sure that you are always in our thoughts."

A prominent theme of girls' letters was State's current man-shortage. A typical note along this line read:

"Max Baer was at the rally tonight, and it's been so long since most of us have seen a real live man that the sighs shook the building!"

Speaking of Maxie, one co-ed noted, "I am to tell you the 'dope' that's cookin' at school. Right now Max Baer is cooking. He just stood up—next to our yell-leader. What a contrast—it's like a splinter and an M. P. club."

"WE'LL BE WAITING"

One feminine correspondent promised, "... just remember we'll be waiting to cook our way to your hearts." Another said, "This gas rationing is a lot of fun—walks in the moonlight and stuff. Can't beat a car, though, I guess."

Among the most interesting bits of off-the-record info was from a girl who wrote:

"My brother's too young for the service, but my mother's a WAAC (don't laugh), and I know how much mail means to those in the service. (P.S.: She's going to be a sergeant just as soon as Washington hears about her.)"

MORONS AGAIN

Humor ran rampant in co-ed's notes. A couple of examples:

"By the way, did you hear about the little moron who always saluted the refrigerator because it was General Electric . . ." ". . . If you have trouble going to sleep at night, lie on the edge of the bed and you'll drop right off."

Men who wrote also mention the shortage of males on-campus:

"The school is rapidly becoming a girls' school, as most of us expect to be called. Gad! What a time the 4-F's will have!" ". . . What men are around the campus are either 4-F or physical wrecks resulting from PEV. If we aren't 4-F, they intend to make us so."

Another fellow wrote: "We have not much time to write; so all I can say is, good luck and get 'one' for me."

Thrust and Parry:

When 750 students take 15 minutes at 10 o'clock to write personal greetings to Spartans in service, I feel that these letters are just that—personal. Therefore I restrained my curiosity. With the single exception of the letter writ-

Freshman Council Chooses Twelve At Meeting Yesterday

Twelve new freshmen council members were chosen at the freshmen council meeting yesterday afternoon.

After careful consideration of freshmen who attended council meetings and who participated in the committees helping with the Hobo Hop and the freshmen activities last quarter, the following new members were chosen: Pat Dunlavy, Pat Cavanagh, Wiley Wood, Betty Regan, Manuel Alvarez, Thelma Simpson, Roberta Ramsey, Joan Ross, Audrey Anderson, Jim Nordyke, Betty Lennon and June Storny.

It was so difficult for the members of the council to choose from the many members of the class those who did the most service that the number chosen was raised five, bringing the total number of council members to 25 rather than 20, and a list of class members who did work for the class and who were not placed on the council is being kept, and if a council member drops out or neglects his duty he will be replaced by one on the list.

Tom Marshall, president of the Sophomore class, discussed plans for the Frosh-Soph Mixer with members of the council. A definite date for the mixer has not been set as problems of finding a place for the dance and a date that has not already been taken are obstacles standing in the way of the Mixer committee.

Faculty Musicians Taking Part In Annual Concert Have Studied Under World-Famous Teachers

Taking part in the annual Faculty Concert of chamber music February 10 will be faculty musicians who have studied under famous artists and well-known teachers, according to George Mathews, Music department head.

Miss Frances Robinson, teacher of violin and chamber music at San Jose State, is a former pupil of the late Leopold Auer, who was one of the world's greatest violin teachers. She also studied at the Institute of Musical Art of the Juilliard School of Music in New York City, and lately under Ferenc Molnar, violist, with the San Francisco String Quartet.

Last year in New York Miss Maurine Thompson, teacher of voice and director of the Madrigal Singers, studied with Coenraad V. Bos, internationally famous Dutch coach-accompanist for Helen Traubel; Rise Stevens, and formerly for Madame Schumann-Heink. Frank La Forge and Richard Hageman are also coaches with whom Miss Thompson has worked previously.

A pupil of the Dutch pianist, Egon Petri, and Gunnar Johansen, William Erlendson has also sung in the celebrated St. Olaf's Choir under the direction of Dr. Christiansen. Mr. Erlendson is a teacher of piano and director of the a cappella choir.

Benning Dexter, instructor in piano, studied with Siloti, who was the teacher of Rachmaninoff, at the Juilliard School of Music. Siloti, himself, received instruction from Franz Liszt, Hungarian composer and pianist.

Mr. Dexter wife, Miss Betty Barbour, is a member of the Stanford String Trio. Her teacher was the famous 'cellist, Felix Salmond, also of the Juilliard School of Music. She will appear as guest artist with the faculty members.

Featuring an evening of all Bach, Beethoven and Brahms, the concert will start at 8:15 in the Little Theater.

KSJS Calling

dio play, "The Man Who Liked Dogs", or in the successful reproduction of Orson Welles' "War of the Worlds". Leon has played in a number of stage plays, but he emphatically professes that his one and only ambition is to be a radio announcer. He appeared here in "The Rivals", "Winterset", and "Pickwick Papers"

"There is only one thing that scares me, and that is getting my pages mixed up when I am reading script on the air," he shuddered. "It happened to me once when we were making an important recording for a sponsor. It cost some poor fellow $35 for a new recording, and nearly cost me my life."

Tomorrow Leon will be heard as Tony in the play, "The Private Detective", over KQW at 1:30.

Any student who has enough writing ability to turn out a clever, short, and snappy radio script might find it to his advantage to do so immediately. KSJS is looking for good scripts, and will present them on their weekly program over KQW. Also, automatically any student submitting an acceptable script will become a member of KSJS.

Rally committee meeting today in the Student Union at 12:30. Important, and therefore all members should be present.—Lorraine Titcomb.

ten by the president of the freshman class, I read none of them.

However, I have felt that it would be in the public interest to share with the student body a few of the highlights of this unusual expression of comradeship. One member of the Daily staff has, therefore, been granted access to these letters. He is a man in whose discretion I have complete confidence. This is written to assure all who wrote that their letters have not been made available to anyone else.
