COUNCIL MAKES NEW APPOINTMENTS

Social Affairs Group Discusses ASB Activities

Social activities on campus this quarter should be peppy and spirited if the turnout of students at the Social Affairs committee meeting yesterday is any indication.

Twenty would-be members attended the session to voice their individual and mass opinions on student body dances and other social entertainment, and to bid for membership in the winter quarter committee.

Tentative plans for the forthcoming George Washington dance were launched. The group decided to make the affair stag, but decreed that Spartans could come with dates if they wish. Spartans may invite service men or other outsiders, too, says committee chairman Beverlee Greer.

The group also discussed possibilities of holding other student body functions than the traditional dances. Skating and theater parties were suggested as a likely means of combating the manpower shortage.

One of the prevailing problems arising from the mass invitation of Santa Clara engineers to the ASB dance last quarter was temporarily ironed out. With two male representatives to speak for other

Revelries Tryouts Slated For Today In Morris Dailey

Singers, dancers, jugglers, comedians, actors and what have you, will gather in the Morris Dailey auditorium this afternoon at 4 o'clock to display their wares a la the old-time vaudeville days for the Spartan Revelries, musical extravaganza.

Any and all student body members are invited to participate. Revelries Director Jeanette Owen will supervise the tryouts. Chorus number prelims are slated for Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the auditorium.

Campus organizations, Co-op houses, and any other group of students who wish may present skits or novelty numbers. The program will be an all-S.J.S. production, with scripts and talent coming exclusively from campus representatives, either student or faculty.

Assisting Miss Owen as directors are Marian Jacobsen, Dorothy Shaw, and Jo Falconi. The production will be presented March 10 and 11 and will be open to students and townspeople alike.

Business manager of the show is Jean Petrinovich, with the experience of a quarter's work as La Torre business manager to aid her in promoting a financially successful Revelries production.

"SCRAPPY" SQUATRITO

ANN ROGERS

Squatrito, Rogers Head Daily Staff Succeeding Sabelman And Coleman; Jane Roberts Leads Rally Group

Heading a long list of Student Council appointments for winter is "Scrappy" Squatrito, who will take over the editor's position on the Spartan Daily, succeeding Wilma Sabelman, fall quarter editor.

"Scrappy" is a senior journalism major from San Jose and a member of the Student Council.

Ann Rogers, sophomore personnel administration major, has been appointed acting business manager of the paper to replace Ken Coleman who is confined in the University of California hospital in San Francisco. Miss Rogers is from Chico. She has been handling Coleman's work for the Spartan Daily since he was taken ill several months ago.

Appointed to head the Rally committee this quarter is Jane Roberts, sophomore general elementary major from Redwood City. She has been a member of the Rally committee for two quarters, serving as assistant last quarter.

At the recommendation of Revelries director Jeanette Owen, Jean Petrinovich was appointed by the council to act as business manager of the annual winter quarter production. Miss Petrinovich is a junior general elementary major and is also business manager of the 1944 La Torre.

Beverlee Greer will continue as

Capt. Kubiskie Flies 'SJ Special'

Capt. George Kubiskie, flyer with the "Jolly Rogers" group, flew over New Guinea in a plane he called the "San Jose Special."

It is conceivable that any plane bearing that name would do a bang-up job; perhaps this was the same plane Captain Kubiskie flew when he shot down five planes piloted by the "sons of heaven."

BULLETIN!

In what is possible the worst defeat suffered by a San Jose State basketball team, the Treasure Island Armed Guard downed the Spartans 82 to 28 at Treasure Island last night.

The Staters had dropped a 66 to 40 verdict to the island five earlier in the season. Like the first game it was Dale Sears, former U.S.C. center, who did most of the damage. He accounted for 24 of the Guard's points.

High point man for San Jose was Kerlin Morgan with 10 points. The next game is scheduled with the Livermore Air Hawks for Thursday in San Jose.

FACULTY MEMBERS RECOVERING FROM INFLUENZA ATTACK

Dr. Harrison Heath and Dean James C. DeVoss, both of the Psychology department, have been reported victims of the San Jose influenza epidemic.

Confined to their homes by the influenza, they will be sufficiently recovered in several days to return to school.

Their classes will be taken over by other members of the department.

CLASSES NOMINATE OFFICERS FOR WINTER QUARTER AT MEETINGS YESTERDAY; NO WHITE BALLOTS

Elections Are Slated For Friday Under Preferential Voting System

Campus spirit took a long leap in the direction of more and better activities yesterday when nominations for class officers came through without a single white ballot in any of the three classes.

Sophomores edged out the seniors by one candidate, but the four-year students went overboard as far as percentage of attendance at the meetings was concerned. This is attributed to the fact that all seniors were required to attend the orientation session, while sophomores and juniors scheduled special meetings for nominating officers.

La Torre Group Will Sell Books In Classes Tomorrow

"Wanta buy a La Torre?"

Such will be the theme song of yearbook staff members tomorrow and Friday when they introduce in their classroom a concentrated sales campaign on 1944 La Torres.

For the convenience of any students wishing to purchase yearbooks, the staff members will come equipped with La Torre stubs and the necessary pen or pencil with which to fill them out.

Prices remain at $3.25 per book, with deposits of $1 accepted as down payment. Balance must be paid by the end of this quarter.

Organizations are requested to look in their mail boxes in the Spartan Shop for notices from La Torre. The notices should be picked up either today or tomorrow, says Business Manager Jean Petrinovich.

Work on the special Service section honoring Spartans in the armed forces began last night at the La Torre staff meeting in the Publications office. Pictures were mounted and staff members instructed regarding more technical aspects of producing a yearbook. The staff will be holding weekly evening sessions throughout the quarter as they push efforts to get the yearbook out in the middle of spring quarter.

Nominees for senior offices are: President, Helen "Boots" Pindriville and Lois Bohnett; vice-president, Jean McInnes and Jeanette Abbott; secretary-treasurer, Thomasine "Tommy" Alexander and Shirley Wilkinson; council representative, Bee Laurence, Jewel Abbott, Caroline Allen, and Josephine Giminiani.

Juniors nominated the following students: President, Bruce Duke and Ed Loudon; vice-president, Bob Coombs and Barbara Lee Rico; secretary-treasurer, Rae Klasson and Dorothy Sayles; council representative, Lorraine Glos and Clinton St. John.

Sophomore nominees are: Presi-

Newman Club Meets Tonight

The Newman club, organized for all Catholic students, will hold its first meeting of the quarter tomorrow night at 7:30 in Newman hall, 79 South Fifth street.

"Big plans for a formal occasion will be made. Come on and help plan it," urges Al Rosenga, president.

The business meeting will be short, and will be followed by an evening of dancing and refreshments.

Gold Star Goes Up For Lt. W. F. Gilson, 1937 SJS Graduate Killed In Italy

Another gold star takes its place on the San Jose State college Service Flag with the announcement of the death of Lt. W. F. Gilson, graduate of 1937 and talented member of the San Jose Players.

Lt. Gilson was killed in action while serving in Italy, according to a recent press release. He was a paratrooper and had been in the Italian theater of war since the Sicilian invasion.

While at San Jose, Gilson majored in speech and took leading roles in numerous college plays. His last starring role was in "The Cassilis Engagement." Following his graduation he went to Hollywood where he spent several years in dramatic work. He was also connected with the Federal Theater movement in San Francisco.

Kappas Initiate New Members At Ceremony Tonight At Hotel De Anza

With the traditional candlelight ceremony, 26 new members will be formally initiated into Kappa Kappa Sigma social sorority tonight in the De Anza hotel at 7 o'clock.

The group will meet in the hotel for dinner, following which the initiation ceremony will take place.

Initiates are Allis Marie Bachan, Betty Berlingen, Pat Dunleavy, Mardi Durham, Shirley Everett, Clare Emigh, Bobbie Fields, Diane Graham, Jane Henry, Jewell Haddock, Betty Jerras, Jo Ann Jackson, Betty Knowlton, Carol Lantz, Marjorie Lynch, Alberta Mumby, Pat O'Donnell, Pat Renz, Ann

Rogers, Barbara Russell, Ruth Schalow, Jeanne Simas, Shirley Sibbitt, Mary Ann Stangohr, Marilyn Thompson, and Arta Williams.

The Kappas are planning as their next social event a formal dance which will be held soon. Details of the dance arrangements will be announced later.

Officers of the organization are: president, Peggy Akard; vice president, Laurie Fear; corresponding secretary, Margaret Regan; recording secretary, Marilyn Toy; treasurer, Barbara Holbrook; and inter-society representative, Bobbie Jones.

Mrs. Sarah Dowdle is adviser of the group.

ACTIVITIES FOR STUDENTS

"... to build up Spartan spirit to pre-war heights by doing all you can to promote college activities."

This is one of the basic purposes set forth by members of the newly-formed on campus fraternity, Theta Mu Sigma, and it is a precept that every true Spartan would do well to follow. That word "spirit" encompasses far more than the rah-rah boosting of our basketball team and other athletic groups.

Contrary to many mumblings and grumbings of students "for the good old days," we contend that there are more activities right now than there is spirit and willingness to participate in them.

Of course, there are the leaders who have organized dances, rallies, the War Chest drive for funds, blood bank donations and so forth, and they and their workers deserve much credit for such work. However, our "artillery" is aimed at the men and women who can't seem to work up any enthusiasm for campus life now, after hearing of those wonderful pre-war days at San Jose State college.

It is true that football is a memory, that the population has decreased, that Sneak Week is out for the duration, that Spardi Gras has been curtailed in size . . . etc.

But may we suggest that each and every griper take note of the following PARTIAL list of activities that are available to everyone, and then come in and tell us that dry rot has set in on Washington Square!

How about seeing what you can do in the Spartan Revelries, the Phelan literary contest, Red Cross work, the Student Christian association, USO dances (for coeds), the AWA, class meetings and elections, the debate club, or taking a responsible part in organizing a campus scrap paper drive or fourth war loan campaign to supplement the town's program? Here are the opportunities to get out of the doldrums of living in the past. Do we hear any responses?

Campus Personalities

By GERRY REYNOLDS

Spartan Daily feature editor, junior council member, and W.M.I.M. society member, Lorraine Glos holds the limelight on her own page today, as we delve into her past history for a few enlightening facts.

Lorraine was born on April 16, 1923, in San Francisco. Her first five years were spent keeping up a constant chatter, and fighting with her cousin, Beverly Decker . . . who now attends State, too.

When Lorraine was five, she moved to Fairfax . . . there her pet pastime was whistling. She started early so she'd be in good form by the time she came to State and, with her partner-in-crime Bee Laurence, became interested in the Navy and Coast Guard!

Aside from whistling, Lorraine spent a good deal of her time skating . . . but she fell down too frequently for comfort. It took some years before she realized that cause of all her sit-downs was the fact that 'Cuz Beverly kept telling her to wear sandals when she went roller-skating . . . now she knows that you just can't keep your skates on unless you have sturdy shoes, and when you can't keep your skates on, you can't stand up!

In Fairfax Lorraine attended the local grammar school, where there were three grades in each room. Most of her time there was spent throwing desk pens at the wall in imitation of the dart-and-target game.

Lorraine entered a school draw-contest, and won first prize for her picture of a dog. She was also active in dramatics . . . in one play she was understudy for all the characters, learning all their parts in case they didn't show up for rehearsals. The big day came, and all the actors were present . . . so all Lorraine got for her trouble was a front-row seat in the audience.

The Glos family moved back to San Francisco after three years in Fairfax, and Lorraine enrolled in Frank McCoppin grammar school. Her first few weeks in the city by the Golden Gate confused Lorraine no end . . . they had no sidewalks in Fairfax, so the people walked down the middle of the street. Lorraine tried that in San Francisco, but gave up after she was a near victim of onrushing cars more than once.

School activities for the Glos girl included being on the basketball team, and writing for the student newspaper. Upon graduation from Frank McCoppin, Lorraine registered at Roosevelt junior high. There she was on the basketball and baseball teams, and she was girls' sports editor of the school paper.

Lowell high school found her a reporter, and subsequently sports editor, of the Lowell, which "came out whenever it came out." Lorraine covered the Sacred Heart-Lowell football game one year, and received the thrill of her life when her story was printed, with a by-line, in the San Francisco Call-Bulletin.

Other activities at Lowell included ice-skating, and membership in the Block L society. While in high school, Lorraine answered to two names . . . her older sister, Marion, also attended Lowell, and many teachers juggled their names. One

JUST AMONG OURSELVES

By DR. T. W. MacQUARRIE
 President San Jose State College

"It's going to be harder this year," I heard a student say. "My classes are all small."

And isn't that too bad? May have to recite every day now, may have to think a bit, even make an effort. One student spent most of her time last quarter in the library. It's such a lovely place and she reads nearly all of the good stories we have. Had a flock of blue cards and incompletes to show for it. That new library is a lovely place.

But this is a professor's market, young folks. You just can't get out of it. All you can do is wish for the end of the war and great big classes again where you can take a bit of a snooze.

Actually, though, if you're serious about it, you should have a better year than ever. No reason why you should not do your best. Everybody else is working, some of them struggling, some of them dying. A little extra effort, effort to the point of inconvenience, effort where you are almost sorry for yourself, that should be your objective.

Now I'm preaching again, and the funny thing about preaching is that the people who heed it most probably don't get it. Some of them, of course, can't read very well, some are so busy with this and that they haven't time, and some just don't care. So what can we do about it?

Well, there's the Personnel committee, disq's and all that. Sort of discouraging, those meetings are, makes us feel that a good many of our young Americans are not interested, not serious, too physically and mentally lazy to get a college education. And that's too bad, for the day will come when they'll wish they had made an effort.

Why, y'know, professor, I'm awfully sorry I didn't work while I was here. A college education is necessary if a man's to get anywhere in this world."
 And all that. Ho, hum.

Marine Corps Women's Reserve Will Present Recruiting Program In College Little Theater Tomorrow

To acquaint coeds with the work and activities of the Marine Corps Reserve, a meeting of SJS women will be held in the Little Theater at 12:10 tomorrow.

The program is under the auspices of the college AWA. Bobbie Jones, AWA prexy, will preside over the meeting, at which former San Jose State student, Lieutenant Eileen M. Twohey will speak.

Lieutenant Twohey

LIEUTENANT TWOHEY

To speak to college women at the Little Theater tomorrow will be Lieut. Eileen Twohey, former San Jose State college student. She is a member of the local Marine Corps Women's Reserve recruiting party.

Prior to her enlistment, Lieut. Twohey was well known in this vicinity. She is presently in charge of the recruiting party now touring the Santa Clara valley in this latest drive to secure new enlistments for the Marine Corps Women's Reserve.

She will speak to the college women and attending men tomorrow on women's boot camp, the need for women marines, the uniforms and accessories of the enlisted members, and she will later answer any questions that may arise. Lieut. Twohey completed her training at Mt. Holyoke college, Massachusetts, in February, where she was a member of the first officers' class of the Marine Corps Women's Reserve.

College men are invited to attend, as Sergeant Walter Mails, former big league pitcher and San Francisco Seals public relations manager, will show moving pictures of actual training that the men of the Marines go through.

College USO Board Meets Tomorrow In Women's Gym

Tomorrow, at noon, the college USO board will gather in the Women's gym office for the first meeting of the quarter.

Plans are being formulated for a potluck supper held for all the USO Victory girls. Two tentative dates have been set for the supper which will be held either January 20 or 22 in the Women's gym. The supper will precede the regular Thursday night dance.

Committees are being selected and all those interested are cordially invited to attend the meeting, states Mrs. Sarah Willson, adviser.

The college USO celebrated its first birthday last Thursday with a dance held in the Student Union, parties both formal and informal are presented by the college Victory girls throughout the quarter.

Women are asked to sign either in the office of the Women's gym or with Mrs. Izzetta Prichard in the Dean of Women's office for the Thursday night dances.

String bass class to be taught this quarter. Those interested please contact Music office. Course given in Music department.

AWA REPRESENTATIVES WILL PRESENT PROGRAM TO MOUNTAIN VIEW GIRLS

Answering a special invitation from the Mountain View High School Girls' league, five members of the A.W.A. will participate in a program given at the high school today.

The women of San Jose State college will be introduced to the Girls' league by Bobbie Jones, president of the A.W.A., who is in charge of the program. The women will be accompanied by Dean of Women Helen Dimmick.

Various highlights of the college and explanations of some of the organizations will be given by Mrs. Jones as an introductory talk.

Activities of Orchestration, college dance organization, will be discussed by Eleanor Fammatre, which will illustrate the principles of modern dance.

From the Speech department will be student Carmendale Fernandes, who will give a dramatic reading. Ernestine DeFord, college vocalist, will sing several numbers.

Women Asked To Call For Shoes Left In Lockers

With shoes at a premium these days, especially those with rubber soles and heels, all coeds who have those priceless articles, namely, tennis shoes, are guarding them with their lives . . . we thought.

But recently a plea came from the Women's gym office that quite a number of tennis shoes were left in the gym lockers last quarter.

Dr. Irene Palmer asks that all students who left their "precious items" in the lockers should call for them by noon January 14.

Farm Subsidies Are Discussed By Commerce Prof

By GUY G. GEORGE

Associated Professor of Commerce Mr. Broyles (January 10) states that, "Farm organizations oppose subsidies." Do all of them oppose subsidies? Even if they do, is their desire for higher prices consistent with the general welfare?

Could farmers expect price rises prices and wages going up? Mr. Broyles does not, of course, argue for inflation, even if farmers want it.

Again, he assumes that the amount saved in lower retail prices would be paid in taxes, and "there would be no net gain or advantage generally. . . ."

CASES CITED

Let us take the case of a local dairyman. About three months ago he said he was paying $63 a ton for concentrates, whereas a year before he was paying $36. Several of his cows had thus become sub-marginal producers. He was going to cut them out. But when a small subsidy was paid, he was able to keep the cows in production.

This subsidy payment was much less than one cent a quart, the amount the consumer would have had to pay to keep those cows in production. It is not true in this case that the amount paid in taxes for the subsidy equals the amount the consumer would have paid on the price increase.

DISAGREES

Mr. Broyles states that the price control authorities probably can do as well without subsidies to farmers as they could with them. In the above case, had the price been held down and no subsidy paid, the amount of milk produced would have been less. Probably this would be the case with many other types of food production.

How can we get production from sub-marginal cow or a sub-marg-

One important thing Lorraine learned while in high school was How to Travel by Street-Car. She commuted to Lowell by said means of transportation each day, and now she has the knack of knocking people out of her way . . . she always gets a seat. That's really an accomplishment these days.

Graduation in December, 1940, found Lorraine and her classmates marching down the aisle of the San Francisco Opera House, to the strains of Pomp and Circumstance. They couldn't ignore the tradition of all graduates, so they "desecrated" the Opera House by eating peanuts throughout the ceremony.

In March of 1941, Lorraine registered here at State as a journalism major, and now her activities, aside from the ones mentioned in the first paragraph of this column, include tracking down any and all members of the Navy with La Laurence . . . they use coverage of athletic contests with said Navy men as an excuse.

In the Babson Letter for January 10 appears this sentence: "There is no question that the administration has been at least passably successful with its system of limited subsidies."

Public Health Head Advises Check On Gas Equipment

Gas cooking and heating equipment should be checked for safety by experts, advises Dr. Wilton L. Halverson, director, state department of public health, in a warning concerning carbon monoxide poisoning.

"Carbon monoxide, a deadly, colorless, odorless, tasteless gas, is present in artificial gas and is produced when fuels which contain carbon are incompletely burned," Dr. Halverson said. "These fuels include gas, wood, coal, oil, and kerosene."

"Incomplete burning may occur when oxygen in the air has been exhausted by the fire, when a flame on a gas stove is brought into contact with a large cold surface, or when coal or wood fires are banked. There is never complete combustion by a gasoline engine and for that reason it is important to keep garage doors open if an automobile engine is running. A safe rule is to keep a window open in any room in which a fire is burning."

"Individuals should have gas cooking and heating stoves checked by representatives of the gas company to make sure that adequate vents have been installed, burners are adjusted to provide for complete combustion and pilot lights will not flicker out."

"If carbon monoxide poisoning is suspected, the victim should be carried to fresh air at once and a doctor called. If the victim has stopped breathing or is gasping, artificial respiration should be started without delay, and an effort made to secure apparatus for administering oxygen from a fire department, hospital or other source."

"While waiting for the doctor to come, administer artificial respiration if necessary, loosen the victim's clothes, rub his hands and feet, keep him warm and at rest. Never let a victim of carbon monoxide poisoning get up and walk until a doctor says he is completely recovered. Many lives have been lost because people thought victims could walk off the effects of poisoning immediately after they regained consciousness. Exercise speeds the attack of carbon monoxide on the heart."

"Even small amounts of carbon monoxide may cause illness. The first symptom is a feeling of tightness across the forehead, followed by a throbbing headache. The victim may become nervous, depressed, dizzy and nauseated."

"When carbon monoxide is breathed into the lungs it combines with the red coloring matter in the blood and prevents the blood from

'Rationed Ripples' Practices Are Set

"Rationed Ripples" practices will get under way today. All who are participating in the Extravaganza should watch the bulletin board for names and dates their group is scheduled, requests Laura Smith, chairman.

Starting today at noon, the Waterwing Ballet will practice, followed by the Flora Dora group from 5 to 6 in the gym.

Other practices will be held Thursday at 12, the flashlight, and at 4 life saving and functional swimming.

Everyone is asked to turn out for practices Friday at 2 o'clock.

One sophomore nominee was disqualified by the Registrar's office for a deficiency in units.

ELECTIONS

Elections will be held Friday with polls open from 8 to 4:30 o'clock. All Associated Student Body members are entitled to vote. Head election judge Jean Webster will supervise the balloting assisted by Kay Doris Matthews and Audrey Carmody. Student body cards will be punched at the polls. No student is entitled to vote more than once.

Under preferential balloting, the system used in all campus elections, candidates should be marked in order to the student's choice. Each student will mark his favorite candidate as number 1, and all others will be designated as either two, three, or four, depending upon the student's preference.

ILLEGAL BALLOTS

In the elections last quarter a number of ballots were tossed out because of improper marking. Directions are printed on each list of candidates and should be carefully read before the ballot is marked. Students are warned that if they fail to designate candidates as second or third choice, their ballots are disqualified.

Regular freshman and senior orientation meetings will be held Tuesday at 12:30 o'clock. The junior class will also meet weekly at this time in room 110. New presidents will take over at the two upperclass meetings next week.

SCA RETREAT SET FOR WEEKEND AT LIONS DEN; JAMES TO LEAD EVENTS

Student Christian association cabinet and members will hold a retreat this weekend at Lion's Den. This announcement was made following the cabinet meeting Monday when plans for the retreat were completed.

Cabinet members will go Friday evening at 7 o'clock for their first discussion, which will be followed with fellowship.

In a work session Saturday morning the group will plan the work program for the quarter. Members will meet Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at Varsity house and will have lunch at Lion's Den.

AFTERNOON ACTIVITIES

Afternoon discussion will be followed by various recreation activities. These will include hiking, ping pong, volley ball, group singing and wood chopping, according to Bob James.

Saturday evening after supper a "bull session" will be held around the fire. Robert James, executive secretary of the Student Christian association will share in the leadership of the discussions.

Sunday morning the group will hold their own worship service although arrangements will be made for those who have obligations in their local churches, to return in time for them. For those who stay at Lion's Den another discussion will be held after dinner Sunday. They will return late Sunday afternoon.

RETREAT ATTENDANCE

People interested in attending the retreat are required to sign before tomorrow evening, in the S.C.A. office in the Student Union. Fee is $1.75 for cabinet members and $1.50 for members. Anyone interested in becoming a member is welcome to come to the retreat, announces the executive secretary.

WAR BOND QUIZ

- Q. Are "Baby Bonds" still available?
A. No. They have been succeeded by Series E War Bonds, the terms of which are substantially the same.
- Q. In what denominations are Series E Bonds available?
A. They are issued in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500, and $1,000 (maturity value).
- Q. How may I keep Stamps while I am accumulating them?

By Gib Crockett.

- A. An album is given free upon request with the first Stamp you buy. Spaces are provided for mounting the Stamps.
- Q. Is it permissible to name both coowner and a beneficiary on a War Savings Bond?
A. No. Either a coowner or a beneficiary may be named, but not both.
- Q. When a woman who owns Bonds gets married, should she have the Bonds reissued in her married name?
A. The Bonds will be so reissued, if she desires. It is not necessary, however.

Remember—the longer you keep War Bonds, up to 10 years, the more valuable they become.

Spartans, the group concluded that masculine approval of such a project could be warranted if Spartans were not forced to bring dates but could come stag as the service men would be doing. The group also decided that fewer service men should be invited to the future if dances were to be open to them.

PERMANENT MEMBERS

Members of the permanent Social Affairs committee will be chosen following the next meeting of the group Tuesday at 4 o'clock in the Student Union.

Any student interested in working with the group should attend that meeting. An executive committee will select those who will be considered permanent members. Others will be placed on the waiting list. In the event that a regular member drops or is disqualified

RULES

The rules for entering contributions are as follows:

1. All contributions must be typed in double space. The full title of each contribution should be placed at the top of the first page and an abbreviation of this title should be placed in the upper left hand corner of each page following. Number the pages carefully.
2. The name of the writer must not appear anywhere upon the manuscript. The writer's name must not appear beneath the title on the first page. A signature must not be at the end of the manuscript.

COVER SHEET

3. A cover sheet must be submitted with the name of the author, the title of each contribution, and the division into which each contribution is submitted. These cover sheets will be retained for identification of your contribution.

This contest was made possible to S.J.S. students by the bequest of $10,000 to San Jose State college by the late Senator James D. Phelan. The money available for awards is due the interest received annually from this bequest.

Senator Phelan had a deep interest in creative writing, particularly in poetry, and he made the bequest to the college to insure a continued stimulus to student in creative writing.

Any student interested in working with the group should attend that meeting. An executive committee will select those who will be considered permanent members.

Others will be placed on the waiting list. In the event that a regular member drops or is disqualified from the organization, a student on the waiting list will be selected to replace him.

The group is limited to 15 students. Failure to attend meetings regularly or to help in decorating for the dances will disqualify members.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Scouting on foot in Tunisia, Pfc. Charles H. Evans was captured by 30 Italian infantrymen and marched to the rear. A bayonet at his back, Evans whirled, disarmed his guard, and escaped. Although wounded by rifle fire, he hid in a cactus patch till nightfall, slipped back to our forces with valuable information picked up as a prisoner. For this he wears the Purple Heart and the Silver Star. Celebrate Evans' escape with another War Bond.
