

PHI KAPPA PI PLANS BALL FOR CHINESE WAR RELIEF

Phi Kappa Pi's Chinese Charity Ball will be held at the Scottish Rite Temple Saturday evening, November 11, from 9:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. Music will be furnished by Bob Kent and his orchestra.

Proceeds from the dance will go to Chinese War Relief. "We hope to have a large attendance because the money is going for a worthy cause," stated Jeanne Arants and Bev Lusardi, co-chairmen.

The affair will be the first formal dance of the year. This will also be the first dance given by a campus organization to have an orchestra.

Bids will be on sale until November 11. They may be purchased at the booth in the Quad, near the library or from any member of Phi Kappa Pi for $1.50, including tax. Tickets will also be sold at the dance.

"Chinese lanterns will be used in decorations," announced Lois Mendenhall, decorations chairman. She is assisted by Dorothy Pellini and Nancy Duncan.

Spartan Co-op Board Turns Over $1135.61 To Student Council

Spartan Shop co-op board, following its quarterly business meeting Wednesday, turned $1135.61 over to the San Jose State college Student Council to do with "as they see fit."

The money from the co-op board was the profit from that organization's business transaction for the year. It is to be used for the benefit of the students.

Milburn Wright of the Commerce department is the chairman of the board; E. S. Thompson, comptroller, is secretary; and the post of vice president is filled by Dr. William Poytress, head of the Social Science department.

Milo Badger is the new representative from the junior class. Other members of the board are: Dr. Raymond Barry, Dr. W. Howard Myers, Dr. Carl Duncan, Mr. Milton Lanyon, Jeane Petrinovich, and William Shapiro.

Teachers' To Visit Museum Saturday

First excursion of members of California Student Teachers association will be held tomorrow at the Rosierucian Museum.

The members will meet at 10:30 a. m. at the Student Union and proceed by bus to the museum. Miss Barbara Leam, president, announces that this will be a very beneficial and interesting meeting for those who attend.

Novel Entertainment For Noon Rally Today In Quad To Boost Water Polo Team

"We want today's rally in the Quad at 12:30 to be the biggest and best so far, so let's have every Spartan there to help make it a success and spur our team on to victory over Palo Alto in the water polo game in the Men's gym tonight at 7:30," states Shirley Forbes, Rally committee chairman.

The rally program will feature Ken McGill and Jerry Evans in a surprise skit, and songs and yells will be included in addition to selections from the band. Yells will be led by yell-leaders Ken McGill, Freida Hinck, and Dolores Dolph.

COMMITTEES

Plans have been made by the Rally committee to have cokes sold at tonight's game. The committee in charge is made up of Claire Zanger, Louise Grace, Betty Jurras, Mary Gander, Betty Prouse. Carmendale Fernandes is in charge of the music for the game and rally, while Betty Doyle will take care of the platform and public address system.

Yvonne Welsh is heading the committee to make pom poms; and Dorothy Lewis, Georgina Bihlman, Nancy Lynn, June Robertson, and Betty Davis will usher for the game.

MEMBERS

Rally committee members are to arrive at the game 15 minutes before starting time in white blouses or sweaters. The women should wear navy blue skirts. All committee members are to meet in the Student Union at 12:15 today, according to Miss Forbes.

NAMES

Names of those on the Rally committee are Bonnie McPherson, Pat Rhodes, Mary Gauder, Barbara Stewart, Phyllis McDonald, Irene Hull, Dorothy Lewis, Betty Jurras, Marialice Foster, Virginia Miller, Louise Grace, Freida Hinck, Margie Lynch, June Kopplin, Kathie Landis, Joanne O'Brien, Olga Popovich, Jickey Mitchell, Georgine Bihlman, Jan Hagerty.

Talent Needed By SJS USO Unit For Camp Show

Talent is being recruited for the USO camp unit in process of organization on campus, announced Dorothy Keesling, chairman, adding that all persons interested in being in the variety show should attend the meeting at 4 o'clock today in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

Specialty numbers and men are wanted for the production. Those students who signed up Monday and Wednesday and have not yet tried out should also attend the meeting.

Soloists, voices for the mixed chorus and choir, a popular piano player, and students willing to participate in a skit which has already been written and approved are needed. After the unit has planned its show, it will tour army camps in the surrounding area.

IBSEN LECTURE TODAY AT 2 IN LITTLE THEATER

Mrs. Dorothy Bock Pierre, of "A Doll's House" company, will lecture on Ibsen, playwright and author of the immortal drama which so shocked audiences of its period, this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Little Theater of San Jose State college.

All drama students and all those interested in hearing Mrs. Pierre are invited to attend the lecture. There will be no admission charge.

"A Doll's House," with an all-star cast, including Francis Lederer, Dale Melbourne, Phillip Merivale, Jane Darwell and Lyle Talbot, gives one performance in the civic auditorium on Monday evening, November 13.

Mrs. Pierre's talk on Ibsen has been arranged by Mr. Gillis of the Drama department.

Chinese Study Group Meets At Noon Today

Students interested in China and things Chinese are invited to meet at the Student Union at 12:15 today, to help form a China study group.

One of the objectives of the group would be the addition to the school curriculum of a course in the Mandarin Chinese language.

SHOP DRIVE CONTINUES TILL NOV. 6

"Shoemaker Shop" drive for the rehabilitated men at the Camp Shoemaker hospital will be extended until Monday, November 6, according to Beta Chi Chairman Nancy Page.

"We are extending the length of the drive so that students going home over the weekend may look around home for the articles we are collecting," she stated. She is assisted by Betty Hilton.

Old buttons, zippers, silk hose, materials and yarn are being collected in the drive for the men who are unable to be out of bed or out of their wheel-chairs. These men spend long, dreary hours in the hospital and for something to do they make purses, afghans, rugs, pillow covers and other handcraft articles from these materials, according to the conductors of the current drive.

"This is one of the few ways in which the arts and skill organization at the Shoemaker hospital has to obtain the material for the men in the hospital," announced Stan Black, Delta Sigma Gamma chairman. Stan is co-chairman with Vernon Parrish.

Bulletin!

In a five-minute period during orientation yesterday, freshmen collected $245 for the War Chest drive.

The contributions filled a German helmet from the last war. The fact that many freshmen donated substantially was indicated by the presence of 2 $5 bills, 48 $1 bills, and 160 half-dollars.

This money will be added to the San Jose State college student body quota of $2500, which leaves the college now $132.54 short.

"If the other three classes would come anywhere near these individual contributions," stated Mr. Donald Sevrens, freshman class adviser, "the college would easily surpass the $132.54 still needed."

SCA-Sponsored Faculty-Student Forum Monday

Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie has just announced that any faculty members wishing to do so are invited to dismiss their 11:00 classes on Monday, November 6, in order that they and their students may attend the SCA-sponsored Faculty-Student Forum on campaign issues.

Speakers for the forum will be Dr. William Poytress, Dr. Hugh Gillis, and others to be announced later, according to SCA Secretary Bob James.

"The meeting will be held in the Morris Dailey auditorium, and all students and faculty members are urged to come, if possible," states Anne Buxton, chairman of the SCA Social Action committee.

SJS vs. Palo Alto Water Polo Game Tonight At 7:30 In College Pool

Spartans will meet a smooth-stroking, powerful aggregation of water poloists from Palo Alto high school tonight in State's pool at 7:30 p.m. Led by Bruce Moody, the Viking high-scoring forward, Paly, undefeated to date, is expected to furnish the most determined opposition the Spartans have yet encountered.

The Spartans' starting lineup is indefinite due to the presence of colds among the team members. The starting lineup will probably include Reiserer, Sheets and Altshuler at forwards; Cecil Dombalian, Tom Wyman, Bob Wallace at guards, and Ted Meyers at goalie.

It should be interesting to note how well Paly's high scorer, Moody, will do against the ace guarding of Cecil Dombalian. Dombalian, a member of past Spartan teams, with the help of Ted Meyers, stellar goalie, is expected to smother many Viking scoring threats.

The probable loss of "Hap" Hyman, Ken O'Brien, Arthur Bond, and Bob Smith for tonight's game due to illness should knock a sizeable dent in Sparta's chances. In spite of the aforementioned illnesses, State's chances of another victory should be enhanced by their greater experience and their determination to be victorious before their home crowd.

Captain for tonight's game will be announced at the noon rally today.

MISS BACKUS SPEAKS MONDAY TO CITY LIBRARIANS

Gathering at an open house Monday, November 6, at 7:45 p. m. at the San Jose State college Library, will be a group of San Jose librarians. Speaker of the evening will be Miss Joyce Backus, who will report on the California Library association conference which was held in Los Angeles October 19-21.

Miss Maude Coleman of the Arts reading room, and Miss Elizabeth Groves of the Education reading room, will present a program to show a correlation between folklore for children and symphonic music. This will be further supplemented by illustrated children's books and recordings from the college collections.

The group will assemble in the Arts reading room where the program will be held and refreshments will be served.

This gathering at the college Library is similar to those held annually several years ago for librarians of Santa Clara county. However, due to transportation difficulties, invitations were extended this year only to San Jose librarians.

Requiem Mass For Former Spartan

Msgr. Edward J. Maher will celebrate a requiem mass at St. Patrick's church Monday morning at 7 o'clock for Staff Sgt. Cecil Mattos, former Spartan who was killed in action October 14.

Sergeant Mattos was turret gunner and engineer on a B-24 and had been overseas for about four months. He was killed in action over Italy.

While at State he was active in athletics and was a star soccer player.

Vote Intelligently

In four days, the voters of the states of this nation will journey or write to their respective polling places to do three things.

First, and probably most important, they will be faced with the responsibility for choosing a President of the United States. The importance of this choice has been emphasized sufficiently in the past weeks that it need not be mentioned here.

Second, they must select a House of Representatives and one third of a Senate. The present ratio of Republicans to Democrats in the House is evidence in itself of the weight each individual vote will carry.

Third, they must vote on a number of amendments to the State Constitution, some good, some bad.

It is not too late to get all sides of the picture in each case. If you are eligible, vote—BUT VOTE INTELLIGENTLY.

—Marion.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By MARGARET MOORE

There's nothing quite like a chery, and Department Head Hugh Speech department gathering. Utterly informal, they propose a date, decide upon a few meager details, such as food, notify each other, and let it go at that.

Finally the big day arrives and while the food is ready — food being one item this set of characters never lose awareness of — nothing else is.

At five o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, the day San Carlos lake filled again, two bedraggled waifs of your reporter's acquaintance, set about preparing the Student Union for the honor of sheltering this group on their evening of gaiety. In their frenzy they found the Union locked and a total lack of anything in the way of decorations, excepting a lovely fat pumpkin clutched tightly in the hot grasp of one of them.

Today, some of the trees about our fair campus are minus their sheltering limbs and the wall of the Speech wing is devoid of quite a lot of Virginia creeper. These beauties of nature were sacrificed to the cause of decorating art.

At eight o'clock, that evening, the Speech major — San Jose Player party was off to a surprisingly civilized start. Together with faculty members, Drs. Margaret Letzter and Dorothy Kau-cher, and Department Head Hugh Gillis, an occasionally quiet evening was spent with all parties involved in the tradition Players' game, "Identification."

Drawing on the dramatic talent — or lack of it — of all members of the group, the game lasted until cider and doughnuts took the spotlight.

May we hereby make clear to any with doubt in their hearts, that reference to the affair as being a Hallowe'en party in the strict sense, was purely malicious gossip.

Alpha Chi Epsilon Hold Reception For New Members

Alpha Chi Epsilon reception was held last week at the Student Union with twenty new kindergarten-primary majors attending the affair.

Games and songs were enjoyed by the women. Mildred McConachie did a hula dance and Marji Black sang two solos.

Miss Emily DeVore, club adviser, and Miss Mabel Crumby, Delta Phi Epsilon adviser, were also present.

JUST AMONG OURSELVES

By Dr. T. W. MACQUARRIE
 President, San Jose State College

"We have not yet begun to fight." Some of you are taking too much to heart that famous remark of John Paul Jones. John Paul didn't mean that he wasn't going to fight. He meant that what he had already been doing was as nothing to what he was going to do.

In our Personnel committee meeting last week we had about twenty cases for consideration, cases of students who were not doing so well. Most of them were young folks of good ability who had come here five weeks ago with all the enthusiasm in the world. Most of them had never done very much in school before. Their high school records were not good, but they were turning over a new leaf and would show the world this time.

But they had not yet begun to fight. They had always gotten by, if somewhat ingloriously, without too much effort, and the old habits and the old delusions were strong upon them.

It's a real job to change a habit. You have to sit down by yourself and work out a campaign. Then you have to do something about it. You have to study one minute tonight, two minutes tomorrow night, and maybe five minutes over the weekend. If you keep that up you'll finally be able to put in the two or three hours that are necessary if you are going to do good college work.

I don't know whether you can start this or not. Some of you are constitutionally lazy, constitutional and habitual quitters. Several have already left college. Thought they could do better, with less effort, out in the business world. Study just did not appeal to them. The old bones and

O. K., laugh, you original people, but what else would you call this? Maybe "And?"

As an introduction, I could define jetsam, only I never can remember which is flotsam. One of them is floating seaweed, as I recall, and the other is just any other junk. There isn't much choice, anyway, so why waste valuable time on that? Maybe I'm not a fit successor to Noah W., but that has little bearing on things of the moment, either.

However, I'd like to say that this column is dedicated to the inclusion of (almost) anything which doesn't merit space in more commonplace, conventional columns. Bring your crumbs to this campus version of a beachcomber, and while I won't guarantee publication, who knows, I might at least make a nasty comment.

As an example of the kind of notable notes that will be welcomed, "hear this": That big rain on Tuesday really gave Mr. Eagan of the Music department a bad time, for he hadn't yet cleaned

FLOTSAM

By GLORIA TERESI

After hiding out for three days, we ventured forth only to be way-laid by the editor and again bullied into this mad scheme. Being bitter after this rough handling, we decided on revenge by writing (we call it that) about this den of iniquity, the Publications office. (Be it ever so humble, home was never like this!)

This sanctum is at present the scene of a tender little serenade, "You Always Hurt the One You Love," rendered by the slave section as they reverently strangle the editor with yards of old typewriter ribbon. (This we have plenty of, in and out of the typewriters.)

Another project under consideration in the Pub office (if you'll pardon the expression. Yeah, we listen to Fibber McGee, too!) at this time is a scientific discussion between the learned colleagues on the significant topic of perspective. The tables are littered with drawings which will undoubtedly revolutionize the whole concept of perspective as it exists today.

Our efforts indicate that the staff is under the influence of Dali. (Not to be confused with plain-old being "under the influence . . .") The whole object of the research seems to be the drawing of a cube by means of allegedly straight lines radiating from a point. The feat is said to be possible, but somehow we doubt it.

After attempting the operation a mere 975 times, we retired to the Co-op and soon had the place littered with more of our efforts. Having achieved a few optical illusions in wrestling with the problem, we tried to create one concerning the check, but they grabbed us at the door and demanded our nickel or else.

These ominous words brought forth tears, threats, curses, and eventually, the nickel. It isn't that we're tight with our money; we just feel "that way" about Jefferson, and any separation hurts our hearts (not to mention our pocketbooks).

To return to the Pub office (probably for the last time), let us describe this sanctuary for broken down writers. The distinguishing about the place is the air of dignified peace and quiet. That is the air about the place.

Inside, a small bedlam runs rampant. On the desks are typewriters, and on the typewriters are feet. The desks are standard in every respect except for the heavy wrist and ankle chains attached to each one. These are to persuade reporters that they really should finish that story for tomorrow's paper.

Not that we are bullied into working. Perish the thought! We just wear the initials S. D. branded on our foreheads because we think it's chic. Besides, the editor will take our yo-yo's away from us if we don't toe the mark.

For those of you (we assume someone is reading this, aren't you, Dad?) who are foolish enough to wonder who we are, leave us inform you. Just turn to any magazine and look above the caption, "Don't let this happen to your cocker spaniel!" Glover's Mange Medicine's top model, and we've got the ears for it.

Most reporters have a nose for news but we're individualistic, in addition to being young, talented, rich and good-looking. (Just ask us and we'll tell you.)

With that modest little declaration, we leave you. Adios, leetle wans. (That's our border accent. Border of Insanity.)

Pfc. Arthur Shoup visited the campus this week after 30 months in Guadalcanal and New Guinea. He was assigned to Army field artillery fire control work and is now in this country awaiting re-assignment.

LETTERS . . .

NOT TO THE EDITOR

Here are some more excerpts from letters received in the Dean of Men's office and released for publication.

"Mrs. Maxwell:

"I want to thank you and the college for the—well, I can't very well say letter—all right then, I will thank you for the manuscript.

Although I recall several of the names mentioned . . . an equal number were complete strangers. I recall Mr. Pitman very well because of dealings that I had with him, and Mr. Minssen because he was one of my math profs. Others strike a familiar note, but time has somewhat deadened the memory.

"If you noticed my return address (below), you are probably wondering just what it means. Ships Complement is just that. I make up the permanent party of various Army transports, just as sailors are the complement of battleships and submarines. All those in Ships Complement aren't honored to ride the boats, though, just a small minority. The majority are stationed in the numerous offices of the Ports of Embarkation throughout the country to handle the paper work involved in sending one ship to sea.

"But, I am one of the fortunate ones. Beyond a doubt it is the best branch of the Army. Our travels take us far and wide to the far corners of the world. Places that we used to read about in geography books, places that in normal times would be beyond our reach, England, Scotland, Ireland, Greenland, France, Italy, and many more.

"So far my travels have been somewhat limited to Europe . . . but I still have hopes of sailing from the west coast ports. The work is interesting for one that likes to travel—that's me—and very educational. Here is history and geography at your fingertips, you can see it, you can touch it, and you can live it. Here is education in its best form, through actual experience. . . ."

Sincerely yours,

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

BY WARREN BRADY

San Jose State gridders invade Salem, Oregon, tonight in quest of their ninth straight victory. Willamette College Bearcats, who last week thumped the College of Puget Sound, 42-6, will be the worthy opponent.

State's high-scoring Spartans have run up a grand total of 193 points in their first eight games. The Staters will be facing a team that has come along very fast in the last few weeks. Willamette tied Portland university a few weeks back, the same ball club that knocked over the St. Mary's Gaels, 14-12.

The same lineup that has been clicking all year will face the Bearcats: Chuck Johnson and Johnny Allen at ends, Bob Bronzan and "Truck" Tornell at the tackle posts, Ken Cook and Don Prestley at guards, and Captain Bob Titchenal at center.

The high-scoring backfield will be composed of those fleet-footed halfbacks, Aubrey Minter and Morris Manoogian, either Joe Rishwain or Herm Zetterquist at quarterback, and that "Little All-American" Leroy Zimmerman at full, with Carlton Peregoy doing the substitute work at that position.

Mu Phi Founders' Day Concert

Mu Phi Alpha, national music fraternity, has announced its fifteenth annual Founders' Day concert. It is to be held in the Little Theater Wednesday evening, November 15, at 8:15 p. m., and is open to the public free of charge.

Featured performer of the evening will be Mr. Benning Dexter, accomplished pianist of the music faculty. Others participating in the program will be Mr. Thomas Eagan, James Wright, Duran Hernandez, Russell Wollfram, and Carl Wilson.

ART COLLECTION BEING SHOWN

A collection of water colors by Douglass Parshall, a professional painter, is now on display in the Art department. The subjects include life studies and landscapes. The exhibit will last until November 12.

Mr. Parshall's work is characterized by outlining the subject and filling color.

Education Society To Hold Meeting

Students who have been invited to join Kappa Delta Pi, the national education honorary society, are requested to attend an important meeting Monday at 4:00 p. m. in room 155, announces Dr. Harry Jensen, adviser.

Purpose of the meeting is to explain the purposes and functions of the organization.

out the drain from the roof of his house. By noon, things were in a terrible state. It seems an uncooperative rat had dug a hole at the corner of the house, and when the water began overflowing from the drain, it poured down the rat-hole and into the Eagan basement. Being equal to the situation, however, the man of the house simply traded his baton for a bucket and got to work out in the rain in his waders and cleaned out the drain, stopped up the rat-hole that had been acting as a water main into the basement, then set to work and bailed the whole place the hard way.

Say, would a few hundred of you people quit eating your lunch up at the cafeteria? It's getting so you pretty near have to cut your eleven o'clock class in order to get lunch and make a one o'clock. Not to say the lines are long up there in the Home Ec building, but yesterday some early bird who had already enjoyed his worm came down the line comforting the footsore hopefuls, and saying, "Well, the first mile's the hardest, folks; after that you get your second wind." And I leaned against the Tower and laughed in his face!

Right here I have a serious proposition to make. Isn't there some good looking young lady who would like to help me (us) out of these dire straits? Now my idea is this: across the hall from the Cafeteria there is a whole roomful of nice shiny cook-stoves. I'd be glad to put the water on to boil (no, I don't burn it very often), if you, my dear young lady, would, with infinite skill, come and drop in a couple of eggs. Maybe we could get together and decide whether we should boil them or just have them coddled. Personally, I'd rather have the chicken.

Students And Faculty Invited To "Hobby Fair"

Hobbyists among the student body and faculty are invited to participate in the annual "Hobby Fair" of the Junior Chamber of Commerce November 9 and 10 in the civic auditorium.

Charles Pryor, secretary of the Jaycee, and Maurice Beckley, chairman of the fair, announce that 100 entries are expected; 50 are already registered.

Collections of various types are wanted; also displays of objects which hobbyists have made, such as woodwork, ceramics, needlework. Persons who wish to enter hobbies may telephone Charles Pryor, Columbia 3000, or Maurice Beckley, Columbia 3866, or write the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Civic Auditorium, San Jose.

A program will be given each evening of the fair. On the first evening a magic show will be given by the Mystic Thirteen club, and on the second evening a variety program will be given. Hobbies will be on exhibit in the main auditorium from 1 o'clock until 10:30 p. m. both days.

RED CROSS MATERIALS ARRIVE

Materials for Army sweaters and the cotton for hospital wash cloths has arrived, announces Mrs. Elizabeth Marchisio, faculty chairman of knitting activities. Rae Klason and Jane Turner have been appointed student chairmen.

The San Jose State college Red Cross unit has a project to make 100 washcloths for the hospital, and all assistance will be greatly appreciated, according to the chairmen.

They urgently requested that all knitted garments made last year be handed in as soon as possible, and also that those knowing how to crochet sign up in the Red Cross room at once.

Miss Bernice Tompkins, chairman for the entire unit, announces that the layette materials have also arrived. Any society which is interested in working on them as a project should get in touch with her in the Social Science office.

NOTICE

Will members of the Rally committee meet in the Student Union at 3 on Friday to make pom-poms.

Allenian Society Goes To Fort Ord To Entertain

Working in conjunction with the Red Cross, some members and guests of the Allenian society went to Fort Ord last Monday to entertain hospitalized soldiers.

Accompanied by Dean Helen Dimmick, twelve co-eds rode to the Fort Ord hospital to give a Hallowe'en party for the soldier patients who had birthdays in October. The entertainment was provided by the Allenians and their guests, while refreshments were served under the sponsorship of the Red Cross of San Jose.

The members who entertained were Olga Popovich, who danced, accompanied by Joan Kennedy. Dorothy Byers, Alice Harker, and a guest, Pat Fontenrose, also accompanied by Joan Kennedy, sang two popular songs, and Barbara Warfield played her accordion.

Others who assisted in the serving and general entertainment were Joanne Faw, Frances Schubert, Peggy Roberts, Peggy McGunnigal, Emma Wishart, and Barbara Lee Rico.

muscles and nerves were not attracted by the effort.

One warm afternoon two young colored fellows were sunning themselves in a southern town. One of them was down in the dust, luxuriating in complete relaxation. The other was still leaning against the wall but sagging badly. Said the one on the ground, "Lissen, Boysie, effen yo goin' t'lay down, ya gotta make an effort."
