FORMALS TO BE WORN TO BALL

Formals will be the attire of the women attending the Phi Kappa Pi's Chinese Charity Ball tomorrow evening at the Scottish Rite Temple, North Third and St. James streets.

Bob Kent's twelve-piece orchestra and vocalist have been contracted for the evening's dancing. The dance will be from 9:00 p. m. to 1:00 a. m.

Bids may be purchased for $1.50, including tax, at the booth in the Quad or at the Temple tomorrow evening.

A Chinese girl from Palo Alto will be the main attraction of the floor show which will be presented during the intermission. Jewel Haddock and Milo Badger are scheduled to sing. Other entertainment will be furnished by San Jose State students.

Decorations will consist of Chinese lanterns, wrappings, and incense, according to Lois Mendenhall, decoration chairman. She is assisted by Nancy Duncan and Dorothy Pellini.

Refreshments will correspond with the Chinese motif of the decorations. Refreshment chairman is Clorinda Burriesci.

"Everyone knows of the valiant fight the Chinese are making against the Japanese. This courageous action needs every bit of help that can be given. Therefore, as the service project of the Phi Kappa Pi society, we are sponsoring the Chinese Charity Ball," states Jeanne Arrants and Bev Lusardi, co-chairmen.

Mu Phi Epsilon Dinner Tonight

Celebrating the forty-first year of Mu Phi Epsilon, national women's music sorority, a Founder's Day dinner will be held tonight at the DeAnza Hotel. It will be an informal affair.

Members of the Phi Mu chapter, alumni, patrons and patronesses will attend the affair. A musical program by members of the sorority will follow the dinner.

Application Deadline For Revelries' Manager And Director Posts Monday

Deadline for turning in applications for the positions of director and business manager of Spartan Revelries is Monday, November 13, at noon. Any students may apply for the posts.

Appointments are made by the faculty and the Student Council. Applications should be placed in the Student Council co-op box. The date for Revelries will be set in the near future.

The Spartan Revelries board, which will have charge of the production and business management, is composed of one faculty member of the Speech department, appointed by the president; one

New Gold Star

News has been received by the Registrar's office that William Francis Everding, former student of San Jose State college, was killed in action in Holland September 22.

Everding was with the Parachute Infantry. This makes the eighty-fifth gold star on the San Jose State college service flag in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

STUDENTS MAY APPLY FOR CHEM COURSE NOW

Application should be made immediately for enrollment in the government-sponsored class in analytical chemistry to begin Monday night in the Science department.

Dr. P. Victor Peterson, head, and Dr. Gertrude Witherspoon, chemistry professor, will instruct the course. Object is to train workers for war and post-war industry. The government pays tuition.

Class will be conducted from 7 to 10 o'clock Monday and Wednesday nights for 10 weeks. Graduates of previous courses have all been placed in industries of this area.

Applicants should be high school graduates who have had chemistry, physics or biology. Men and women are eligible and there is no age limit.

director, appointed by the Student Council upon recommendation of the faculty adviser of the board; one business manager, appointed by the Student Council; two students to act as stage manager and assistant director; and the college comptroller who will be a non-voting member, and will oversee finances.

Appointments of the offices for the annual winter quarter musicale are made at least three months prior to the production, which is written and produced by students. Music and lyrics to the songs, skits and other dialogue are student-composed. All talent used in the show is drawn from the campus.

Jeanette Owen directed last year's Revelries, "Director's Dilemma," which burlesqued the difficulties of producing a show under the restrictions and shortages, namely the man-shortage, of war time.

The Revelries board is officiating for the first time this year, and this innovation should make for more efficient production. Also, with the new talent which has been added to the school this year, a high standard of entertainment is expected.

'Cookies For Rookies' Drive Monday, Announces Chairman Virginia Miller

"Make a more cheerful Thanksgiving for the servicemen in San Jose! Bring a dozen or two cookies! This is a much needed and worthwhile project," states Virginia Miller, chairman of the current "Cookies for Rookies" drive, "and all assistance will be greatly appreciated!"

Signup sheets will be available at the booth near the Library arch on Monday, November 13, to Friday, November 17. The booth will be open on these days from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. Donations of cookies will be collected in the room across from the Information office on November 21, 22, and 23.

'Jeans Week Plans Near Completion,' Says Soph Leaders

Plans are nearing completion for sophomore Jeans Week, November 13 to 17, according to George Millas, soph vice president.

Friday, November 17, the date set for the class "Turkey Trot" party, has been declared "Denim Day." Soph women as well as men may wear the traditional garb on that day.

Junior and senior men have been asked to aid the sophomores during the week by refraining from wearing jeans.

INITIAL FACULTY RECITAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW NIGHT

Miss Maurine Thompson and Mrs. Lydia Boothby will present the first faculty recital of the year in the Little Theater tomorrow evening at 8:15. Open to the public free of charge, the concert will be the thirteenth annual recital given by Miss Thompson. Although Mrs. Boothby has not been in San Jose as long, she is very well known for her artistry on the harp.

Jean Long, well-known and able accompanist, will assist in the presentation.

The program of the evening is as follows:

F. LEDERER TO SPEAK ON DRAMATICS

Francis Lederer, famous actor of stage, screen, and radio, will address students and faculty interested in modern acting techniques Monday, November 13, at 2 o'clock in the Little Theater.

Mr. Lederer is an expert technician in the field of acting and interested in the development of new actors for the stage. He is currently playing the leading role of Torvald Helmer in Ibsen's play, "A Doll's House," which will appear at the Civic Auditorium Monday night.

There is no admission charge for the meeting. No one will be admitted to the auditorium after the lecture begins.

ART DEPARTMENT PARTY TONIGHT

Tonight is the date for the annual Art department party. The theme is "International Settlement," and the wearing of costumes is optional. Tickets are on sale in the Art office, Seminar, and may be obtained from committee members for 35 cents.

Starting at 7 and ending at 10 p. m., the party will be held in room 1 of the Art wing. Decorations will carry out the theme of an international museum. Holding with the theme, refreshments and games will be of many countries.

Mr. Milton Lanyon, art instructor, will act as emcee, introducing the program featuring "The Duttons," Hawaiian dancers and singers, and Sally Colorado.

Paly High Meets State In Water Polo Tilt At 3:30 Today

Palo Alto High school will meet State's water polo team this afternoon at 3:30 p. m. in the college pool in the third meeting of the two teams this season.

State won the first game, 8-6, and tied the other one, 2-2, last Monday afternoon. This afternoon's game should conclusively decide which is the better team. The Spartans will be attempting to keep their unbeaten record clean, and the Vikings will be attempting to prove that Monday's tie was no fluke.

State's weakness lies in letting the other team get the jump on them by 2 or 3 points and then staging a come-back to finally win the game. Palo Alto realizes that if they can get an early lead on State and hold it, they will go home with a victory. They were almost successful in doing this last Monday and will be primed to attempt to do it this afternoon.

Last night's game was a perfect example of State's having to come from behind to win. Sequoia led at half-time, 2-1. The Spartans were having a hard time finding a clicking combination. Only the magnificent defensive skill of Cecil Dombalian kept the Viking's score as low as it was at the half. In the last half, lightning struck as the Spartans poured through four quick goals.

"Unfinished Work"

"How can anyone feel enthusiastic over anything today?" This question was asked by a student here recently, and it deserves attention. At such a time as this, we should be evaluating the position of ourselves in relation to our country. Patriotism is taken for granted during wartime, but its fires can be dimmed by the long period of constant strain and uncertainty of these war years.

Patriotism is above partisanship, and mere political verve does not speed our national effort in this war. Perhaps enthusiasm is at its lowest ebb, however, in those who have no sustaining interest, no vital sense of the realness of this war that has only indirectly struck at the lives of us at home.

War weariness is besetting us in various forms. It is insidious and hard to put a finger on, but it will flourish, parasite of war that it is. It may well hinder efforts to create a successful peace, or even to carry the war through to its ultimate conclusion, which is the final and complete defeat of our enemies.

Need we say that there can be no lying down on the job at the battle fronts of the world? And no matter how much you decry the comparison, we at home must have more sustaining power to our patriotism than is shown when we lose our enthusiasm and even think of lying down on the job here.

In the immortal words of Abraham Lincoln, "It is for us, the living, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they . . . have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us . . ."

This war isn't over yet.

—Webster.

VETS' GUEST COLUMN

By HOWARD RIDDLE
President Associated Students

Many people have wondered just what kind of an attitude a returning veteran has toward school.

We have approximately sixty veterans on campus at the present time. Within the next year this number will probably be doubled. The urge to come back to school falls into two categories: First, those coming back to pick up where they left off when they were inducted. Second, those returning to college to rest up and readjust themselves to civilian life.

Many of these men need help in developing better study habits. Cooperation from faculty and students will help these men who are lagging in their studies.

Veterans do not want sympathy. Many prefer to remain silent about their service record, rather than have someone gushing over their mishaps. We are fortunate in having a student body composed of intelligent, helpful college students.

Speaking as a veteran, let me congratulate the faculty and students on the constructive, uplifting attitude displayed toward the men once more donning "civies."

By DWIGHT MATHIESEN
President, SJS Veterans

The Vets of San Jose State are now in their third quarter of activities on campus. They have taken part in all of the bond drives, War Chest and Red Cross contribution drives, and helped to put them over the top.

The Vets were originally organized to help the fellows who are returning to understand and take advantage of the various bills that have been passed to help them to continue on in college. Since that time the group has become one of the largest in school, and as such has been helping in every way possible to advance the day of Victory.

As the Vets march down First street on Armistice Day, the hope for peace before next November 11 will be uppermost in their minds.

ON WASHINGTON SQUARE

By LORRAINE GLOS

This Armistice Day edition is dedicated to the Spartans in the service. We hope that we all will be celebrating soon the Armistice Day for which they are fighting.

The war came to Washington Square from the very start—on December 7, 1941. Our fighting Spartan football team was visiting in Hawaii at that time awaiting the annual gridiron tangle with the University of Hawaii on December 23.

When the first bombs fell, the State squad immediately volunteered to work with the police force. From that day on Spartans have been joining the service, fighting on all battlefronts—as flyers, sailors, soldiers, marines, coast guardsmen—in submarines, airplanes, and tanks. They are patrolling in the sea, on the sea, and above the sea.

San Jose State college took its hardest blow on April 9, 1942, when almost 100 Spartans left in a group with the ERC unit. They were sent to Monterey presidio, and from there were scattered throughout the world.

Today, the Spartan Daily receives letters from many former Spartans, from Italy, Germany, India, England, islands in the Pacific, Alaska, and almost any fighting center of World War II.

SPARTANS IN THE SERVICE

By ED MARION

ON CAMPUS

Visiting in the Publications office this week were Jerry Vroom, former Spartan Daily reporter, and now a seaman first class in the Navy; T-5 Charles Brown, who was a DSG at State, and is now with the Signal Corps at Camp Crowder; and Ensign Don Campbell, '44, who was a member of SGO fraternity and Spartan Knights.

NEWS NOTES

Lt. John Blair Beach, former journalism major and Spartan Daily columnist (In The Headlines Today—1938) is one of the officers who led American units through France and Belgium into Germany. Lt. Beach graduated from West Point in 1943 as an infantry officer. He is a resident of Palo Alto.

Capt. Frederick Rogers has been promoted to the rank of major at the AAF Instrument Instructors school, Bryan Field, Texas. Major Rogers is squadron commander of an instrument instructor's group at the field.

Esther T. Greenwood, a Kappa Delta Pi while at State, has recently been promoted to the rank of captain in the Marine Corps Women's Reserve. She is in command of the Women's Reserve detachment at the Depot of Supplies, San Francisco. She enlisted in February, 1943.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We had to cut out most of Al Gross' letter in the last issue because of lack of space, but we think it will be interesting to many Spartans, so here it is. "Thanks a lot for the Spartan Daily—every issue brings back memories of Washington Square. Of special interest has been "Boys in the Service" for it helps me to keep tab on the rest of the "gang." "Other Spartans in the 21st class include Roy Brophy, Jack Chinchin, D. A. Tompson, and Jim Nordyke. Graduation is slated for December 14, so we all hope to visit the campus soon. Keep up the good work, Lorraine."

CAPT. GREENWOOD, USMCR

Al Gross

And from Sgt. R. L. Frelier, at Fort George Meade, Maryland, comes the following:

"Well, here I am a long way from home and ready to go a lot farther in a very short while. I have been getting my "Daily" regularly. . . . It sure helps a lot to get news from home. As far as I can tell, Ill probably go to (censored) soon, and I hope to be able to use my languages while I am over there.

"Coming over here I met an ex-Spartan on the train, John Ferranti, and we had a wonderful time together just talking about the good old days at State.

"If you have Charlie Walker's address I sure would like to have it. Say 'hello' to everybody for me. If you know of any Spartans here in Fort Meade, let me know and I'll try to get in touch with them.

(Signed) Roger Frelier

If anyone wishes to take him up on that offer to get in touch with friends at Fort Meade, we have Sgt. Frelier's address in the Publications office.

This next letter comes from a former member of the class of '47, Bill Folsom. Bill was an aeronautics major last year before receiving Uncle Sam's call. Among other things, he says:

" . . . Boy, have we been busy. So far I have been through a gas attack and fired carbines, .45 pistols, and sub-machine guns. In fact, tomorrow we get up at 4:30 a. m. and ride 10 miles in an Army truck to fire 200 rounds with the carbine for record. After that, we fire the M-3 machine gun. . . .

" . . . This morning I was on fire guard. I am the little boy who blows the whistle to get the boys up. I sure learned some new language, but not the kind to write home about.

"A couple of the fellows are stationed here. Al Rosenga and Bob Siebert have been given ground assignments. I was lucky enough to make 'cadet' . . .

(Signed) Bill Folsom

OUR ISLAND REPORTER

October 29, 1944
Sunday morning

Editor, Spartan Daily
San Jose State college
Dear Miss Glos:

Just about a year ago I was, in a rather informal way, appointed a foreign correspondent for the Spartan Daily. Well, it's been more of a compilation of former Staters' names in a little black book—fellows (and young ladies, too) I have seen and talked to and from whom I received meager information as to their work, censor permitting. I must say, that very important-sounding title, "Foreign Correspondent," is a farce in my case as this is only my third letter to the paper and also I haven't been transferred from these Hawaiian islands in the eleven months I have been away from the states; and anyway, I am not a writer by any means. So with the formalities taken care of, I shall get on to the more "meaty" part of this letter.

Now, here is some information on "Spartans in the Service" I have seen. This list will include all the guys I've talked to since my last letter to your office.

The first man on my list is Lt. George Ford, USNR, of the Navy Air Corps, who has seen his share of action. He was a Spartan Knight at State in 1939, '40, '41, and quite active in sports. I ran into Ensign "Buck" Wheat a few weeks ago with the football boys (you know, the guys who stayed here after the '41 blitz with police department) so the bunch of us went out to one of the favorite Chinese eating places (steaks an inch and a half thick) and had a real bull session. "Buck" is on a minesweeper and most of you will remember him as a cracker-jack football player and a grad of June, '43.

I understand the Vasconellas family is still whereabouts on these islands. A fellow who was a student councilman in '39-'40, Jerry Fitzgerald is an Army captain stationed here. I haven't had a chance to see him yet. Another guy I missed who was quite a swimmer if I remember right at

Spartans' Service Flag

San Jose State college's three service flags now hanging in the Morris Dailey auditorium represent a total of 3852 Spartan men and women in the service, with 84 gold stars for those killed in action.

These figures include 18 prisoners of war, 21 missing in action, and faculty members now on leave of absence in the service.

Dean of Women Helen Dimmick has released new figures on the women in the service, announcing that there are now 252 Spartannes in uniform. Her last report in February stated that 212 women from San Jose State college were in the service at that time.

Of the total, 126 are in the WAVES, 64 in the WAC, 19 in the Marines, 14 in the SPARS, 10 in the Army Nurse Corps, one in the Navy Nurse Corps, seven in the WASP, three in Red Cross field work, one Army dietician, two physio therapist, one in the Nurses' Aid Corps, one in the Nurses' Corps, one in the Red Cross Nurses, and one in miscellaneous.

The tally reveals that 45 hold commissions, four have been honorably discharged, and at the present time, there is one woman veteran on campus.

Blue stars on the flags represent Spartans in service, while the gold stars stand for those killed. At present, three flags are hung in the auditorium, but a fourth flag is soon to be constructed.

TOM TAYLOR'S LETTER

 State is Frank Savage. He is also an Army captain. Frank Bumb, storekeeper first class, USNR, who happens to be on a carrier, and I got together at Waikiki Beach and the "good ole days" went the rounds.

Also present at that meeting were my very good friends; 2nd Lt. Izzy Gold, USMCR, and the former college librarian, Bob Gitler, Lt., USNR. Bob had a lot of news to pass on to us. He is a personnel officer stationed not far from where I am situated. Izzy hasn't changed a bit and is still full of the same old stuff. He is now stationed at another of the Hawaiian islands where is located a frat brother of mine, 2nd Lt. Chuck McCumby, a good Delta Theta Omega man. I'm visiting both of them next week. That ought to be quite a get-together. Gitler and I had a little party in Waikiki night before last with DTO adviser Harry Brakebill and Dick Demming who graduated from State with me last year. We spent four solid hours discussing "guys and gals" from Washington Square.

My buddy of long standing (another fraternity brother), Orlyn Gire was supposed to have been there but he is awfully busy these days. All three of these latter-named fellows are stationed here temporarily and I'm seeing them all again. Two former State instructors, neither of whom was I able to see, George E. Stone, the photography instructor, and Jack Vogelmann, the former doctor of State (and a great all-around guy), have been seen hereabouts. 2nd Lt. Doran Nielsen passed through about four months ago and we had about a five-minute talk before he boarded one of our planes. He's in the Air Corps.

A Sigma Gamma Omega man approached me a few weeks back making himself known to me; his name is Hudson Dempsey, a Stater in 1942. Capt. Ross Miles, USMCR, (flies Marine transports) was headed home when I saw him; he attended San Jose in 1941-42. Holy cow, as I sit here and type, in walks Bob Robarts, an old, old friend and a member of that great outfit: DTO. He sends regards to anyone he might know still around.

I've had brief meetings with Pharmacists. Mate. First. Class James O'Neill, at State in 1937; with Lt. Len Morten, USNR, a former Spartan Knight, he's on a minesweeper; with another brother, Vergil Greenley, a Navy Lt. with the Supply Corps, who attended State in '39-'40 (now in New Guinea, I believe); saw Corporal Jack Galvin of the Marine Corps, who seems content with his work and has his heart set on a young lady in your midst on the campus (a hello to Roberta Ramsay).

Believe it or not I ran into a Gamma Phi out here in the person of Ed Baldwin, a yeoman third class, who left State in '42 as a junior. (Incidentally, I understand that outfit is still active.) A fellow speech major, 1st Lt. Dean Palzis, USMCR, of the Marine Air Transport, was heading home when I saw him. Another flier with the transport service of the Marine Corps is Capt. Stan Murdock, who spent the evening here a few weeks ago. He tells me that Dick Ofstad is with him. Bud Nygren, another transport pilot, is with Stan in that particular Pacific area also. Nygren's happily married to Betty Wool now.

There are two Navy flyers attached to squadrons right here on the base who I see every once in a while. They are Ensign Jack Maciel, who attended college in

'39 and '40 and Lt. (Jg) "Dutch" Boysen, both of Naval Air Transport Service. They manage to fly home every few weeks. Big Bill Kidwell and I and Orlyn Gire sure had some fine times which only can be described in person and not via the postal service. Kidwell being the guy he is suggested a party and I suggested the B. O. Q. where I live and we were set. Bob Gitler was there and suffice to say a good time was had by all. Bill is an ensign on a submarine and is perfectly content.

State's activities (particularly Red Cross and other war activities) mean a gold star after the college's name; more service flags being made and put up on the walls of the auditorium makes any student and alumnus throw back his shoulders and puff out his chest in pride. These and a hundred other things small and large add to the college and its many traditions and makes a guy like myself say, "Yesiree, I graduated from San Jose State college."

I'll close with an aloha. I sincerely hope I'll be getting a good look at the campus around Christmas.

Best regards,
 Tommy Taylor.
