

INDIANA STATE CAGERS ELIMINATE SAN JOSE

By JOHN GOTHBERG

After playing a brilliant first half, the Spartan hoopsters were unable to maintain their fast pace in the final period of last night's contest and were dropped from the quarter finals of the Kansas City NAIB tournament by Indiana State, 59-54.

San Jose State held a 34-26 margin over the Midwesterners at half time. At this time the Indianans appeared to be on the way out of the tournament. The situation reversed itself in the last period as the Indiana team began hitting the bucket from all angles.

SPARTANS TIRED

The Gold and White cagers did not look like the same team in the second half. The Spartans, who had already dropped two strong teams in as many nights, showed their tiredness as the game neared the final gun.

Stu Inman was the high scorer last night for the locals, tanking 16 points. Chuck Hughes followed Inman with 13 digits to his credit. Wuesthoff and Hagen sank 8 and 7 points respectively.

DOWNED MARSHALL

Although the Spartans were eliminated in the quarter finals, they more than made up for this loss by their unexpected triumph Wednesday night over the defending champions from Marshall college. Tuesday night, in their first contest, Coach Walt McPherson's cagers, outscored the Iowa State Teachers' college.

Roy Ryder, who made guard on all tourney selections in 1946, sparked the offensive for the victorious Indiana team last night. A strong reserve unit helped the Midwesterners outplay the Washington Square quintet in the final 10 minutes of play.

Hamline continued in the win column last night as they dumped Manhattan college, 60-51. Louisville university trounced Beloit college in another, 85-76.

SOPH HOP ENDS SOCIAL SWING

The curtain drops on the last social activity of the quarter at 1 a.m. in the morning, at the conclusion of the Sophomore Hop, to be held in the Rainbow Ballroom in San Jose tonight.

The dance will get under way at 9 p.m. Music will be furnished by Paul Putnam and his orchestra.

Dr. Duncan Slated For Science Post

FACULTY POSITIONS YET TO BE NAMED

By LOUIS NOIA

Three shifts in faculty administration, contingent upon Dr. P. Victor Peterson's appointment as president of Los Angeles State college, were announced by President T. W. MacQuarrie yesterday.

Entomology Professor Carl Duncan is slated to replace Dean Peterson, who is the present head of the Natural Science department. Registrar Joe West assumes the deanship of Professional Education, and Dean James C. DeVoss changes his field from Personnel and Guidance to Professional Education.

"In view of the probability that Dean Peterson will become president of the new Los Angeles State college next year, it becomes necessary for us to make certain changes here," states the memo to the faculty issued by President MacQuarrie.

"I have asked Professor Duncan to become head of the Science department, and he has consented," reads the memo.

"In the general college organization it has seemed desirable for Dean DeVoss to change his field from Personnel and Guidance to Professional Education, and to add to his duties the responsibilities of our budding graduate field," the communique said.

"I am asking Mr. West to assume the deanship in the field of Personnel and Guidance, which will become effective upon the resignation of Dr. Peterson," President MacQuarrie's statement continued.

"I have nothing to say except that stepping into Dr. Peterson's shoes will be quite an order," declared Dr. Duncan.

"I will be greatly aided by the fact that there are such friendly relations within the department," he explained. "I sincerely hope I can do a satisfactory job in my new position."

"Dr. Peterson is one of the finest administrators I have known," declared Dr. Duncan. "He built up the Science department here from virtually nothing into the fine department we now have."

Eskay Sunday Show Features "Laura"

"The picture you should see with the one you love," is the way press agents preview "Laura," film to be shown by the Spartan Knights at 7:30 Sunday evening. Gene Tierney, Dana Andrews and Vincent Price are the stars.

The Knights are planning to sell season or quarter booklets of admission tickets for the shows next quarter, announced Ray Bishop, Knight in charge, yesterday. The season booklets will sell for $2 and will entitle holders to see 10 movies.

"The idea is still new to me and I'm still in the 'pinch me' state," smiled Registrar Joe West, "but I am very flattered to have been selected for this new assignment."

"My 19 years in the Registrar's office have been most happy ones," Mr. West declared. "I look forward to the new assignment with a great deal of pleasure."

President MacQuarrie's office reported that no one has been selected as yet to replace Mr. West as Registrar.

"TOO MANY LIVES HAVE GONE DOWN DRAIN"—BURTON HENRY

By JEAN STEVENS

"Too many lives have gone down the drain," declared Dr. Burton Henry, Psychology department, at yesterday's protest meeting held to appeal for a stay of execution for a Negro mother and her two sons, accused of murdering a white tenant farmer.

Dr. Henry, member of the National Association For the Advancement of Colored People, said that Democracy is supposed to teach that each human life is of worth, no matter what skin it is in.

The meeting was attended by at least 100 members of the student body and faculty, many of whom stood on the sides of the room or in the doorway. Charles Ware introduced the speakers.

ONE OF MANY

Dr. Henry cited many cases of racial discrimination, and said, "This is only one of innumerable cases occurring all the time, which are not publicized in the daily press."

Emmett Dollarhyde, president of the local branch of the NAACP, told of the aims of the organization and what it is doing now to combat all types of racial discrimination.

Reviewing the Ingram case, Dollarhyde said that the woman is a widow, the mother of 12 children whose ages range from 22 months to 22 years. Mrs. Ingram was outside when her neighbor, a white tenant farmer, entered her yard carrying a shotgun and attempted to shoot her pigs. Mrs. Ingram, trying to prevent the killing of the animals, was struck on the head by the butt of the farmer's gun. Two of her sons rushed to defend their mother. One of them struck the man on the head with a hammer.

BLOW FATAL

The blow proved fatal, and Mrs. Ingram and her two sons, aged 14 and 16, were convicted of murder by a jury of white men. They were sentenced to die in the electric chair. Another son, aged 19, arrived home later. He was arrested and sentenced to one year on the Georgia chain gang.

The NAACP, Dollarhyde said, has obtained one stay of execution

'Earnest' Principals Enthuse Audience On Opening Night

By HAL SNOOK

Spartan Daily Staff Writer

John Calderwood and Donald Holladay gave exceptionally fine performances as the leads in Oscar Wilde's play, "The Importance of Being Earnest."

The play opened a two-night run last night in the Studio Theater before an enthusiastic audience in a packed house.

Stella Pinoris, Bette Rehorst and Gwen Samuelson were featured as the feminine leads, with William Furnell, Joan Buechner, Chloe Kay and John Kerr in the supporting roles.

Donald Titcomb, originally cast as the Rev. Canon Chasuble, was unable to appear due to illness. He was replaced by John Kerr, director of the play, who gave a fine performance and was not hampered by lack of rehearsal.

It would be difficult to give individual honors, as all actors turned in exceptionally good performances and were well received by the audience.

LAST CALL

This is the last call for applications for spring vacancies in Spartan City, according to Miss Bernice Van Gundy of the Dean of Men's office.

Miss Van Gundy stated, "Those who have filed applications for Spartan City apartments, and do not renew their letters by Monday, will automatically be placed in the inactive file."

WANT GRADES?

Grades will be withheld from those students owing fines or those who have failed to return books, the Library department announced today. Monday is the deadline for returning books. However, if a particular book is needed for a final examination, it may be renewed at the circulation desk on Monday.

Seniors graduating next week are reminded that they must have returned all library books and paid all fines by Wednesday noon, March 17.

Spartan Shooters Re-Defeat Broncs

The Spartan rifle team defeated the Santa Clara Broncs 1326 to 1295 at Santa Clara Wednesday afternoon. It was the Spartan's second consecutive victory over Santa Clara and their second in the Northern California Rifle conference. The victory moved the Spartans into second place behind the University of San Francisco in conference standings.

Carroll Collier and Harvey Felt led State with scores of 268 out of a possible 300. Art Bayley, the conference's individual leader, finished with 263. Bayley and Gosnell of the Broncs each scored 99 out of a possible 100 from the prone position.

'Tis Spring, The Poet Said, But Profs, Finals Frown

"In Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." No! No! A young man's fancy turns, and not so lightly, to thoughts of final examinations. Whoever wrote out that little ditty evidently didn't go to school—in the Spring at least. If he had gone to school he would have approached his subject from a different angle—perhaps like this:

He waited, as usual, till the final hour,
Having wiled away time in an idyllic bower;
He frantically burned the midnight light

In a last ditch stand to make things right.
But alas; he studied to no avail
And awoke o'er his books both wan and pale.
With quaking legs he hurried to class
Hoping answers would come in a last-minute flash.
He desperately strived to master the questions
But his addled brain offered no suggestions.
The professor screamed out 'cease and desist!'

"Give me five minutes more" the poor lad did insist.
'Tis over, 'tis ended; he failed, he failed.
'Mebbe next time you'll Study," his conscience bewailed.
Sorry, Alfred.

THRUST AND PARRY

'Round Three'

Broyles Defends Views On Religion

Dear Thrust and Parry:

While the Christians were a bit pagan in their treatment of this poor little lamb who, maybe, has lost his way, I turn the other cheek and ask that they be forgiven.

I did not intend to take from any man his song nor to refute nor ridicule any religious belief. Nor did I discuss theology as did some of the devotees of devolutionary theopantism.

My point is that religion in general and organized religions in particular are not answers to the crises of our time. The difficulties of the twentieth century exist in spite of religion, or because of it. Even if one were to accept religion as the end and means of life on earth, the practical, political, and proselyting questions would be: "Which religion, and what to do about conflicts with other religions?"

A SOCIAL INSTITUTION

My interest in religion is because it is one of the social institutions. It has not functioned well and does not seem to get better. The social functions of religion can be supplied by other social institutions such as the political, educational, and domestic. Social conscience is only in part a product of religion. Outside of the Church the individual can be brought up to be true to the ideals of good, truth, and beauty; he can be trained to reason. Responsibility can be to himself, to society, and to social ethics.

There are "rights of man" apart from the ethics of religious faiths. Our Constitution provides for separation of Church and State: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof." However, religious groups are continually seeking privileges. The Supreme Court has just ruled that public school systems may not be used to assist religious groups give instruction about their beliefs; that a system of voluntary religious instruction in Champaign, Illinois public schools is unconstitutional.

NO COLLEGE CHAPEL?

This is a State college and emphasis on religious groups, activities of Church-sponsored organizations, even a College Chapel, are not properly a part of the College. The College may treat of religion only from the point of view of history, philosophy, sociology—that is, religion in the abstract and the organized religions only as part of social action are the limits of our study.

Some would make it the fashionable thing to return to revelation as the key to world peace and individual peace of mind. The line between the spiritual and the material is said to be blurring and that rationalism in thinking is giving way to revelation as end and master.

The conflict between science and religion is being shaped into a unity in which religion swallows science and uses it for its own ends. The twentieth century will be back in medievalism if religious leaders and faiths do not cease to seek their security by enslaving man to revelation and in engaging in political action.

There is a great flow of printed material now on religion. The SATURDAY REVIEW OF LITERATURE, February 21, pp. 18-25, lists some of the 630 religious books published last year. TIME, March 8, features the views of Reinhold Niebuhr and conflicts in theology. Harmonizing reason with revelation, so that reason becomes the instrument for revelation the end, does not seem the means to truth.

Christianity is not the answer to the present crises. Is Christianity Jewish, Catholic, Protestant, or all three? How could we convert the world? If we were perfect Christians how would that discipline the USSR, the people of Asia, India, the Islamic world? How would perfect Christianity here end religious conflicts elsewhere?

The religious groups were as well organized in 1939 as they are now, yet World War II came. World War III is at hand and what is religion doing except hasten it? Religious thought is mixed up with political action and political disunity. Wars in the name of religion are now raging and grow so terrible that our national policy is to concentrate on preparation for war.

The big questions for study by college people are: what is the function and place of religion in the twentieth century, what to do about the competition and political action of the organized faiths, and what religion or substitute is the wholehearted, scientific-minded person to hold to in the Atomic Age.

Writer Continues His Survey Of History Of Wrestling Through 20th Century

(Ed. Note.—The following is the third of a series of four articles tracing the progress of wrestling from its inception to its present status in the American sports scene. The author is Jack O'Neil of San Quentin and is printed through the courtesy of Mel Bruno, former Spartan wrestler, and athletic director of all state penal institutions.

Frosh Take Second Game At San Mateo; Face Bellarmine

The San Jose Spartlet baseballers defeated San Mateo High school 5 to 1 Tuesday evening on the latter's diamond.

The next Freshman game will be today with Bellarmine High school on the Bellarmine diamond.

Bill Hurst made the first tally for the Sparta-Babes with a hard-hit homer high over the left-fielder's head. Earl Wright later hit a single into left field which was missed, allowing Wright time for a round trip to home plate.

Cliff Craig pitched the full route for the Frosh. He allowed only two hits, one run, and struck out eight batters. He averaged at least one strike-out an inning.

SJSC Wrestlers Enter F.W. Tourney

The Spartan wrestling team will not enter a full squad in the Far Western AAU Championships being held at the Oakland YMCA this weekend, Coach Ted Mumby announced yesterday. Only two Spartan first stringers, Pat Felice and Freddie Albright, will compete. Pressure of final examinations will keep the rest of the varsity out of competition.

The Spartans finished a strong third last year behind the University of California's defending champions and Mumby believes that, barring examinations, the Spartans would have more than an outside chance of winning the team championship.

With the exception of standouts like the club's Ted Stanniford and Doc Northrup, individual titles will be wide open. The team championship should again be decided between the club and California.

The catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling now prevails in the United States. Ju-Jitsu, Judo, and the Greco-Roman styles of wrestling are shown generally only in the form of exhibitions.

Even though wrestling was popular as a sport from earliest Colonial times, it was of the purely amateur variety until about 1880. At this time the reputations of spectacular local champions spread until there was a demand in other areas to see them wrestle. These outstanding men then went on tour, meeting the champion in each community they visited. These matches were usually presented as the lead attraction at county fairs.

Entrance of professionalism into the sport came when some men realized the financial possibilities connected with matching various sectional champions. These men became the promoters and brought the sport indoors. Naturally the supporters of the various sectional champions claimed that their man was the best in the world and it wasn't long before a national champion was produced.

Even today there are several claimants to the national wrestling championship and the era from 1880 to 1900 was even worse. First recognized champions were the original Ed (Strangler) Lewis and Farmer Burns. However, the feats of Tom Jenkins of Cleveland were such that he became acknowledged as the greatest.

Jenkins held the title until 1905 when he was dethroned by Frank Gotch. Not as well known as Lewis, Gotch nevertheless is recognized as the greatest wrestler in American history.

Frank lost the title to Freddie Beall in 1906 when he butted his head against a ring post. He regained the title from Beall shortly after and was never again defeated in his entire career. He held the title until 1913 and his life-

Spartan Track Aces Invade Southland For Long Beach Relay Meet Tomorrow

Nine San Jose State track stars invade the southland today where they will participate in the annual Long Beach Relays tomorrow afternoon. Among their opponents will be Southern California and other prominent colleges.

Don Smalley and Woody Linn lead the vanguard of the Spartans and have entered two events.

Linn is entered in the discus and the shot put. He also is aiming to gain recognition as one of the top flight discus hurlers and has hopes of entering the Olympic Games this year in that event.

Smalley is entered in the sprint relays and the open 100 event. He is a consistent performer and should provide his rivals with plenty of competition.

His teammates who are entered in the sprint relays along with him include: Fred Mangini and Steve O'Meara of football fame and also the reliable Don Birmingham.

DISTANCE

The distance races down south are expected to furnish the spectators with a lot of excitement. In the mile event Gene Haynes will face some of the most formidable opponents on the coast, while Merle Knox, the 5000 meters Pacific AAU champ, which he won last Sunday, is entered in that event down there.

The fearless threesome will represent San Jose State in the discus division. The trio placed one, two, and three several times last year against some of the finest discus men on the coast. With Linn in this event will be Ray Overhouse, who won the event in

FIELD AND GYM

By PAUL VON HAFITEN

As we looked through the new 1948 Chicago YEARBOOK recently, we ran across an interesting item. It was the box score of the first National league game ever played in Chicago. This famous event took place on May 10, 1876, some 72 years ago.

CHICAGO vs. CINCY

The Cubs were playing the Cincinnati squad on that memorable date. The batteries for the home town club were Spalding and White, while Fisher and Fields toiled for the visitors that day. Spalding was manager of the team as well as the pitcher and later became president of the league and of the Spalding concern whose name is synonymous in baseball. His first name was Albert G.

CHICAGO WINS 6-0

The Chicagoans lambasted the visitors that day to the tune of 6-0 and collected 12 hits in doing so. The Cincinnati nine was held to a mere three hits, and made seven errors, while the Cubs made two.

Another interesting note about that lineup was the fact that the Chicago pitcher, Spalding batted in fifth place. He did all right at hitting also, as he collected two hits. Glenn, however grabbed three hits for batting honors that day.

In those days the Cubs were known as the White Stockings, and they went on to win that first National league pennant in 1876. They used only one umpire in those early days and there were only two doubles out of 15 hits.

POWERFUL HITTERS

Hines and Anson were terrific home run hitters those days and led the White Stockings with two apiece. Yep that's right. Barnes had an average of .403. Meanwhile, Spalding won 47 games and lost 13 that year which is an all time Chicago Cub record.

There has been no real changes or improvements in the box score since that day.

The Cubs last pennant was in 1945 under the famous Charlie Grimm. Prior to that Grimm piloted two championship teams for the Cubs. The first was in 1932 and the second was in 1935. Gabby Hartnett who succeeded him in the year of 1938 took the pennant that same year.

Huskies Arrive In California

BERKELEY, Calif., March 11. (UP)—The University of Washington basketball team, northern division conference champions, were scheduled to arrive here today preparatory to week-end games with California.

Winner of the best two-out-of-three series will represent the West as Pacific Coast Conference champions in the Western NCAA playoffs at Kansas City next week.

time record shows 154 victories against only six defeats.

When Gotch retired there was a mad scramble for the crown. It was at this time that the so-called "trusts" were created and charges were flung that the promoters and a few star grapplers controlled the entire field. The trusts were eventually broken up but nothing was accomplished since they reformed into smaller groups.

Nobody appears to know who is the greatest wrestler at catch-as-catch-can rules in the country today — and apparently nobody cares. There are almost as many "heavyweight champions" in the game today as there are states, and each one has his own ballyhoo organization to proclaim him the greatest.

Chuck Hughes And Stu Inman Named On All CCAA Conference Casaba Team

SANTA MONICA, Calif., March 11 (UP).—San Jose State college, which dominated California collegiate athletic conference basketball play all season, today placed two men on the 1948 All-Conference team.

Chuck Hughes and Stu Inman of San Jose, as well as little Hank Moroaki of Cal Poly, were unanimous choices by all coaches. Rounding out the quintet were Santa Barbara's Harvey Hubler and San McWilliams of College of the Pacific.

RECORDS SET

Two new records were set during the season. Al Cano of Fresno State tallied 30 points against San Diego State for a new individual scoring mark, and San Diego ran up the highest score ever compiled by a loser when it bowed to Fresno 64-70.

San Jose, which won 10 games and lost none, led final standings, trailed in order by Santa Barbara (6-4), San Diego (5-5), COP (5-5), Fresno (3-7) and Cal Poly (1-9).

Graduate Manager William W. Russell of Santa Barbara compiled the statistics.

Many counties in southern Illinois have from 40 to 50 per cent of their soil listed as unproductive land.

JC Cagers Play In Compton Tourney

COMPTON, Calif., March 11. (UP) — Phoenix college, first semi-finalist in the Western States Junior College Basketball tournament here, today watched six possible opponents play quarter-final matches.

Championship games today pitted Riverside and Glendale; Compton, Western States Conference champion, and runner-up Ventura; and Santa Monica, Metropolitan Conference champion, with Visalia, Central California king and undefeated in 34 games.

Settle Bay Meadows Race Track Strike

SAN MATEO, Calif., March 11. (UP)—William P. Kyne, manager of Bay Meadows race track, said today an "amicable settlement" had been reached between four Northern California tracks and Pari-Mutuel Guild No. 280 which had been asking a 10 per cent pay increase.

Chess Club Drops Game To Hayward

The San Jose State college chess men lost a 5-1 verdict to the Hayward Chess club at Hayward Wednesday evening.

Scoring the lone win for the Spartans was R. Johnson. Jim Thomsen and Chester Smith played to a draw with their opponents. Ed Lanini, Les Talcott, Ted Richmond and Eugene Hartman lost.

The Hayward team has been recognized as state chess champions since 1934. Earlier this season they defeated Stanford 7-0.

Spartans Defeat Bear Nine, 4 To 3

The San Jose State Spartans exploded for three runs in their half of the seventh inning to knock the national champion California Bears off their perch, 4 to 3, yesterday at Edwards Field.

Bob Pifferini was the man of the hour on the Berkeley campus, much to the chagrin of a partisan California crowd. He not only had the Bear batters eating out of his strong right hand throughout the majority of the game, but led the Spartans at the plate, collecting a lusty triple and a clean single in three trips to the plate. Pifferini drove in one run and scored two more to personally account for three of the San Josean's four tallies.

The Bears grabbed a one-run lead in the first stanza on a single and three walks. The Spartans tied it up in their half of the third and again dropped behind as the Californians countered with a score in the last half of that inning.

In the seventh the Spartans pieced together two hits, three walks, and an error for a lead they never relinquished.

In going the route for the Gold and White, Pifferini struck out five, walked seven, and gave up eight scattered singles.

CAMPUS DISCRIMINATION

When Ware asked for comments or questions from the audience, Ed Kerr stated that this case does warrant our action, but that students could find evidences of racial discrimination in San Jose and on this campus. He said that there is a colored member of the varsity who does not live in the varsity house, and questioned the fact that there are no Negro faculty members.

In answer to another audience question, Dr. Henry advocated that two protesting telegrams be sent, one to Governor M. E. Thompson in Georgia, and one to Attorney General Tom Clarke.

have been larger, had it not been for sketchy fielding. Six Spartan errors put "Piff" in the hole several times throughout the contest.

The Spartans got only four hits off the combined pitching efforts of the Bear's "Wimpy" Jones and Verne Horton, but they made every one count in a classic version of clutch scoring.
