

STUDENT COUNCIL HEARS NSA DETAILS FROM CALIFORNIA OFFICERS

By PAUL CANE

With Dick Heggie and Sally Holt, California regional officers of the National Student Association, offering information pertaining to the constitution and operation of the NSA, the first regular Student Council meeting of the spring quarter was held in the Student Union yesterday afternoon. Heggie discussed the development of the NSA from its inception in 1946 to the present favorable position it now holds. Stressing that the organization is strictly non-political, he asserted, "The NSA is but a channel through which principles and ideals of college students may be directed and re-directed to the best possible mutual advantage."

QUESTIONS ASKED

Both Heggie and Miss Holt opened themselves to questions from the Council members and from the student audience. In answer to a query regarding present California schools belonging to the NSA, Heggie stated, "16 colleges and universities in the state are already members."

According to Heggie, these 16 schools include California, Stanford, Santa Clara, and UCLA, with USC due to join momentarily.

Also discussed by the Council yesterday was the election of 1948-49 ASB officers. Balloting for the college student executives is yet tentatively scheduled.

SPARDI GRAS GRANT

John Peterson, chairman of the committee for Spardi Gras, was granted a budget of $400 for preparations for the annual spring celebration. Peterson explained to the Council that the $45 deficit Spardi Gras experienced in 1947 was due to a misunderstanding in the disposal of the used lumber.

After the Council had voted Spardi Gras the $400 request, ASB President Emerson Arends, stated "that would be the only appropriation Spardi Gras will be voted this year."

Peterson said the present date for Spardi Gras is scheduled for Friday, May 28, but hinted this may be changed in favor of an earlier date.

The largest allotment of student funds during the afternoon involved the Council voting a $700 appropriation to itself.

Among the activities which will draw from this fund is the delegation of President Arends and the Student Body President-elect to Arizona in June to attend the Pa-

Power Cut-Off Seen By Superintendent

Unless power consumption is cut to 80 per cent of normal, there is a possibility that power will be cut off completely from time to time, according to Mr. Byron Bollinger, superintendent of grounds and buildings.

Mr. Bollinger stated the power shortage is so serious that installation of generators on campus is being considered. He stressed the importance of student participation in conservation measures. "Students should turn off all lights not being used," Mr. Bollinger explained.

DeVoss Talks At Meet

Dr. James DeVoss will address a meeting of all Christian denominations in room L211 today at 12:30. The meeting, sponsored by the Student Y Chapel Service, is to be a half-hour service of inspiration.

Exchange To Close

The student book exchange in room 8 will close today at 4 p.m. and students are requested to call for their books or money, stated Ray Sommer, chairman, yesterday.

The exchange will then be closed for the remainder of the quarter and will not reopen until fall. Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, sponsored the exchange.

cific States Association convention.

This convention serves as a formal indoctrination for the new presidents of a great many western colleges, and universities, and affords the student governors an opportunity to discuss governmental policies.

CALHOUN APPEARS

Kenneth Calhoun, representing the Spartan Rifle team, was granted $200 by the Council. Calhoun was questioned before the money was voted.

In another approved expenditure the Student Council agreed to allot the Men's Physical Education department $300 for miscellaneous athletic purchases. The request for this money came in the form of two letters from Glenn Hartranft, physical education director.

The Council acted upon a suggestion by Miss Margaret Twombly, health director, that steps be taken to urge college students to offer a pint of their blood to the Red Cross.

A campus service organization is expected to volunteer to assist in recruiting blood donors.

State Student To Run For City Post

Manuel Alves, 23, sophomore journalism major from Pleasanton, has announced his candidacy for the post of City Councilman in that city. Alves is married and has a sixth-month-old son.

In regard to the campaign, Alves stated, "Some of the young returning veterans feel that a change is needed in our city government. We feel that a need for younger blood is indicated."

As for individual issues, Alves stressed his feeling concerning Pleasanton's lack of industrial development. "One of the main issues is in regard to business and industry in our town. Both have been willfully barred for the past two decades. This is a mistake, and the policy should be changed," stated the candidate.

Of the six candidates in the contest for the three offices, one is an incumbent, one a civil engineer, one a garage owner, and the three remaining are veterans. The election will be April 16th.

Alves, and his veteran colleagues, have filed on a non-partisan basis and have the backing of various local veteran and civic organizations.

Former Student Aids In S.F. Convention

Cecil Dumballion DeMille, former San Jose State student, is on the platform committee that is currently reorganizing Young Republicans of California in their current convention in San Francisco.

The new administrative body is headed by Homer Smith of Los Angeles and J. H. Copple of San Jose is vice-president.

Here are some of the proposed resolutions: Limited draft for military service through selective service; repeal of the California law permitting cross filing by political candidates; and some reduction in federal taxes.

Free Movies Today

Free movies, sponsored by the World Student Fellowship Organization, will be shown today, Wednesday and Thursday in room L210 at 4:30 p.m., according to Miss Backus, head librarian. "Seeds of Destiny," an academy award winner, and "Pale Horseman" will be shown.

Al Campbell, executive editor of Lycurgus, recently announced new staff positions for the Spring quarter. Marian Ellis and Mike Thomas will continue as editor and business manager respectively. Sal Millan will take the position of promotion manager.

Also serving the campus literary magazine will be Bob MacFadden as art editor. Bob replaces Bill Wagner, who is not on the staff this quarter.

Plans are being initiated by the promotion and editorial departments for trips to be taken to various production sources. Included in the tours will be visits to print shops and engraving laboratories in order to acquaint staff members with the techniques of producing a feature magazine.

According to both Campbell and Ellis, a greater variety of literary material is being sought from students at large. All contributions will be given full consideration.

VACCINATION

Miss Margaret M. Twombly, Health office director, urges students to take advantage of small-pox vaccinations in room 31 between 11:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. today.

W.A.A. Elections To Be Wed.-Thurs.

The run-off election of the Women's Athletic Association, determining the positions of vice president, secretary and treasurer, will take place Wednesday and Thursday in the women's gym, announced the physical education department Friday.

Running for office of vice president are Carol Nysteum and Shirley Plowright. Barbara Albaugh and Derell Stockfleth are vying for the position of secretary while Clydagh Enos and Noel Thompson are running for the office of treasurer.

The polls will be open from 9:00 until 4:30 in the women's gym and those eligible to vote are women students who have participated in the following WAA activities during the past year: softball, hockey, basketball, bowling, tennis, riding, swim club, orchesis, volleyball, archery, fencing and golf.

The officers elected shall serve until the end of winter quarter 1949. New officers previously elected, who will also take office this quarter are Mona Morris, president; Mary McNeil, recorder of points; and Sandy Macy, publicity manager.

Already on the schedule for this quarter are two sportsdays this month. On April 10, Santa Rosa Junior college is holding the annual intersectional sportsday. Girls will be participating in softball, archery, volleyball, badminton, tennis and ping-pong. All girls interested in participation should sign up on the bulletin board in the women's gym. Transportation for the girls is furnished.

A softball and tennis sportsday has also been planned for April 30 at the University of California. Further details will be posted on the WAA bulletin board.

Dept. Gets Recorder

A new wire recorder has been added to the equipment of the Psychology department.

"The recorder will be used to aid in the study of counseling techniques," says Dr. Raymond Mosher, head of the Psychology department.

Police Student Helps Discover Clues In Investigation Of Saratoga Murder

The suspicions of Gerald R. Frank, police student here, led to the arrest of Mrs. Giovanna Magnasco on suspicion of shooting her rancher husband to death. Deputy Sheriff Frank and his partner were the first to be sent to the home of the victim, Peter Magnasco, 68, of Saratoga.

RALLY CANCELLED

College of the Pacific cancelled its exchange rally for the World Student Service Fund to have been held here this week, it was announced late yesterday in a telegram to G. Hall Landry, local WSSF chairman. Landry said that we will put on the rally scheduled to play at COP.

Old Power-Faye Epic In Auditorium Sunday

"In Old Chicago" will be the feature picture presented by the Spartan Knights next Sunday night at 8 o'clock. The film, starring Tyrone Power, Alice Faye, Jack Haley and Alice Brady, depicts the life and atmosphere of the windy city prior to the great fire.

Chapter 8 of the "Adventures of the Flying Cadets," a cartoon, and a special attraction will complete the program. The number of short subjects has been cut down because of the length of the feature.

Teachers' Association Meets Today

The California Student Teachers' association will hold its first meeting of the quarter today at 3:30 p.m. in room A1, according to Betty Jean Stevenson, vice-president.

Speaker will be Pete Bancroft, superintendent of schools in Kern county. The organization, which is a pre-professional club, will also elect new officers. Dr. Carl Rich of the Education department is advisor.

Silvey Gets Editorship

Jack Silvey, Winter quarter Spartan Daily editor, is the new city editor of the Los Gatos Times. He will assume his editor's duties April 10.

Silvey's job is on a part-time basis, as he must spend part of his time in class until his graduation in June.

SUSPICIONS AROUSED

"Our suspicions were aroused when the victim's son, Manuel, insisted we first see footprints of the supposed killers before showing us the body of his father," Frank said. "They didn't look like real footprints when studied closely," he added.

The time element in Mrs. Magnasco's story failed to check with Frank's investigation. He and his partner found the victim's blood already crusted when they arrived at the murder scene.

FOUND DEAD

Magnasco was found dead in the bedroom of his home, Box 162, Bucknell Ave., Friday, April 2, the victim of a blast from his own shotgun. Mrs. Magnasco, who asked her son to notify police of the slaying, contended that her husband was shot by prowlers.

Mrs. Magnasco, according to the report given by Frank and his partner, said she had loaded the gun at her husband's plea, handed it to him and then fled the house in fright as he re-entered the room where she said two men were hiding.

Frank was not at liberty to give further information, but said the case can be followed in the local papers.

New Look Petticoat Display Gives Men Jolt During Parade; No, Gals Not Losing Undies

By BOB BODEN

It's snowing down south these days! In other words, petticoats are showing.

No, the gals are not losing their undies, it's just the latest new look development. The rage is on. The recent Easter parade saw as many as three of these dainties peeping from under the skirt.

Who wore the first petticoat is a fact lost in the dusty pages history, but it seems the first such garment was seen in ancient Egypt.

SHOWED ALL

In those far off days the girls let their gay colored "slips" show all the way; they didn't play peak-a-boo, but wore the petticoat under a transparent overskirt.

The term "petticoat" came into being during the middle ages. The garment was literally a little coat and was worn by both men and women. Men wore petticoats over suits of mail.

Developing along with the petticoat was the "farthingale." This creation was a sort of preview of the hoop-skirt and was worn under the petticoat after it became full length.

Many countries passed laws forbidding use of the farthingale, but women were stubborn and rapidly increased the size of the apparatus.

RENAISSANCE STYLES

Today's trend harks back to the Renaissance when ladies wore several different colored petticoats which they coyly contrived to display when walking.

In France, three petticoats usually were worn. The outer skirt was known as "the modest"; the second, which showed, was called "The rascal," and the third or inner skirt was "the secret."

Eighteenth century England saw hoop skirts develop and in America quilted petticoats were the rage.

The early Victorians brought the petticoat back following the Directoire period which was one of nudity and transparent garments—petticoats were shunned.

WOOLENS AND STRIPES

Later, flannel petticoats came in vogue, woollens and stripes were the things to wear. The outer one became a showpiece and was displayed through a wide opening cut in the dress front.

The peak of petticoat consciousness came about 1909. In 1910 Paul Poiret designed the straight silhouette and killed the art of slip showing.

After 38 years the age old art of coy petticoat display has been revived with the new look to put milady back in the class of the Floradora girls and Can-Can dancers of the Gay Nineties.

Men, if you have the impulse to tap some campus queen on the shoulder and say, "Hey, your slip is showing," curb it—it's the style.

Sale Of Diamond Ring Set To Swell SJS Chapel Fund

A matched set of diamond engagement and wedding rings may be purchased in the Dean of Men's office. All proceeds of the sale will go to the Memorial Chapel Fund.

Ordinarily Dean Pitman is not in the habit of selling jewelry, but the rings in his office are special. They symbolize the power of war to disrupt the plans of man.

SEVEN DIAMONDS

The platinum rings, containing a total of seven diamonds, originally belonged to a former "Stater" who purchased them for his fiancée in an Army P.X. at the beginning of the war. He was a lieutenant in the Army Air Corps at the time, and he paid $375 for the solitaire and wedding band. The rings have never been worn.

Before the young couple could be married, the Air Corps lieutenant was killed. One of the 201 gold stars on our service flags was placed there in his memory.

PITMAN AUTHORIZED

The late flyer's fiancée contacted Dean Pitman recently and authorized him to sell the set for $250 and turn the money in to the Chapel Fund. He agreed to sell the rings.

"I permitted a jeweler to look at the diamond rings," said Pitman, "and the set is worth $300 to anyone. I would like to have a couple buy the set who would not only cherish the rings for their beauty but also for their sentimental value," he said.

Hear From There by Louis Noia

Our Speech and Drama department's production of "Medea," which played to enthusiastic audiences here, received a rave notice in the Stanford Daily during its three-day run there. "Lawrence," their Alexander Woolcott, stated:

"Roxana Hildreth and Dorothy Lyon carried college drama to new achievement last evening with their performances in Euripides' great tragedy, 'Medea'."

Critical praise came not only from campus critics but also from our two city papers, Evening News and Mercury-Herald. The San Francisco Chronicle, especially noted for its critical severity, also applauded the production. It was regarded as good theater, whether amateur or not.

College of Pacific, whose annual

Mardi Gras is patterned after our Spardi Gras, will not be satisfied with ONLY one name band for their affair this year. Darrel Richardson, COP's General Chairman of Mardi Gras, declared in Pacific Weekly:

"Bands we are trying to obtain are Les Brown, Claude Thornhill, and Woodie Herman."

Contrary to the opinions of many "hard-knock school" professional theater people, college drama graduates ARE able to crash the legitimate theater, even if "hampered" by the education these short-fused critics pan. John Holmes Pierce, a grad of COP's Little Theater productions, is currently in Broadway's highly-successful "Mister Roberts." Henry Fonda is also in the cast—as star.

WOMEN ATHLETES CHOOSE JOHNSON SUPER SPARTAN

By BETTY WHITAKER

Edith A. Johnson, senior physical education major, has been chosen to join the rank of Super Spartans by the women's physical education department. She was named one of the outstanding students in that field.

Edith is from Santa Cruz, the land of water and sand. She attended local schools there and states that she has always had an interest in physical education.

She will begin student teaching this quarter at San Mateo High school and will be graduated from State this June.

At present Edith is president of Tau Gamma, physical education honorary society, having been treasurer of the group last year. She was hockey manager for the Women's Athletic Association during the past year. She also holds membership in Kappa Delta Pi, national education fraternity.

"I enjoy all sports," states Edith, "but my favorite is hockey" she added. After graduation she plans on joining the Northern California Hockey Association, a club team at the University of California.

Edith infers that she is strictly a career girl, then replied, "for a while that is."

Last year she received a national basketball officials rating and has been officiating games at schools in the bay area during the past year.

During the summer, Edith plans to attend the Red Cross National Aquatic School at Catalina. Following this, she will instruct swimming for the Santa Cruz chapter of the Red Cross.

There 'Ain't' No Love Aboard The College Special On Its Morning Jaunt To Spartanville

By DAVE LEONARD

One day, a while back, some song writer sat down and hacked out a silly little ditty which he called "Love on a Greyhound Bus." Evidently he had never caught the "College Special" which leaves Palo Alto at the ungodly hour of 6:31 a.m.

The "College Special" generally pulls into the depot before you've had a chance to saucer a cup of coffee at the snack bar. You rush to the bus, grab a seat, then sit for five minutes while the driver has a cigarette and your coffee grows cold inside.

NO LOVE

If that song hacker had climbed out of a warm bed, fumbled around in the dark getting dressed, forgetting half the things he wanted to take, missed breakfast, and then bumped and jostled forty-five minutes to San Jose, love would have been far from his mind.

At least that's the impression you get riding the "River Styx Special." There isn't a lot of talking going on, even between friends. A gloomy, tired, "Hullo Skinny," or a slight nod of the head usually is all the recognition you get. But that's more than enough. Every motion takes effort and at that time of day or night you're trying to conserve what energy you can muster.

SILENCE

So most passengers sit in silence, staring vacantly out windows watching dawn arrive and shapeless shadows form into trees, and hills and houses, and wondering what in the world they're doing in a Greyhound bus at that hour.

A few riders open books, apparently seriously considering study, but before long they, too, succumb and gaze, unseeing, at the dreary surroundings.

ARRIVAL

Finally, after an endless ride, you arrive and pile out of the bus into the coop for that wonderful cup of coffee you left standing in Palo Alto. Somehow you get to and last through the dreaded 7:30 session, and shortly thereafter begin to feel and see and think, and generally become human again, whether you want to or not.

There's no moral to the story. "Next time try the train!" Uh uh. It's as bad if not worse. A 7:30 is just something you have to bear with and hope you hang on for thirteen weeks. And something you promise yourself you'll not do again for a long, long time.

Critic Selects Worst Movies Of The Year

Everybody is busy these days picking the "10 best movies of the year." Of perhaps more sensational interest are the "10 worst pictures of the year," according to United Press Hollywood critic, Virginia MacPherson.

Greer Garson's ill-fated "Desire Me" was listed as the most notorious flop of the year 1947.

"Unconquered," "The Exile," "Slave Girl," "Christmas Eve," "Lost Moment," "Green Dolphin Street," and "Dark Passage" were also the critic's choice of "the movies least likely to cop an 'Oscar'."

"Forever Amber" was called by the critic, "Forever Ugh!"

A lot of people wanted their money back after "Golden Earrings." They'd been counting on a look at Marlene Dietrich's legs. All they got was a gypsy trying to lure Ray Milland with "greasy fish stew," according to Miss MacPherson.

Thus we recognize a few of Hollywood's "stupendous productions" that were too bad to forget.

SJSC Ski Club Has 'Swell' Time In High Sierras

By BILL WAGNER

Perhaps you went to the beach over Easter vacation and grabbed those few days of good weather that existed before the storm came; but if you were lucky, and a member of the San Jose State Ski Club, you went to the Cal Lodge in the High Sierras, and had a darn good time regardless of the weather conditions.

That is exactly what eighty five members of the organization did. When it was raining cats and dogs here in San Jose it was just plain snowing to beat the band in the High Sierras.

During Wednesday and Thursday it snowed between three and four feet. This didn't stop or dampen the spirits of Sparta's skiers though, for they were out there in the very thick of it and really enjoying that powder snow which makes excellent skiing.

The Club here at State is very grateful to the University of California Ski Club for allowing us to use their lodge from the 21st to the 26th of March, and at the very reasonable fee of three dollars a day for meals, and bed.

Unfortunately we always have our share of accidents, but that is usually the case in all large scale skiing operations. Our casualty list ran as follows:

Ann Herrington broke both ankles.

Chris Smith, sprained an ankle.

Frank Imsen sprained an ankle.

Fred Mushke chipped a knee bone.

Bobbie Hill and Ben Harpole suffered knee injuries.

Jean Chesbro, and a lot of the rest of us really got burned by Old Saul, who was out Friday with a vengeance. So all in all, everyone, even the injured, had a good time.

SOCIAL SCENES

Allenian

At their final meeting of Winter quarter members of Allenian society were entertained by their pledge class at a "backward" party.

The affair was held at the home of Marijane Lyman, a pledge. Pledges provided entertainment and refreshments for the members.

Delta Theta Omega

Fraternity Alumni President Jack Carraher and Alumni Member Bob Tonkin visited the last meeting of the fraternity and plans were discussed for the annual reunion of fraternity brothers which will be held soon.

Pi Beta Sigma

Spring quarter activities are under way with plans for a "Prelude to Spring" dance to be held in May at the Ste. Claire hotel.

Officers recently elected for the organization are: Don Lathrop, president; Rodger Woodruff, vice-president; Win Neff, secretary; Mel Hulse, treasurer; Bob McFadden, corresponding secretary; and Boyd Johnson, historian.

QUARTERBACK CANDIDATE

Dick Finnegan, quarterback and co-captain of last year's frosh team, one of the many who have turned out for spring football practice under the direction of Coach Bill Hubbard. Finnegan hopes to see lots of action next season, but he will face tough competition from returning lettermen and transfers.

After smothering the Olympic Club last Saturday, San Jose State's track team is pointing for their meet with the Stanford Cards at Angel Field Saturday in what should be their closest battle of the year.

RED REVENGE

The Indians intend to whittle down the Spartans' win of 78-53 last spring, and although San Jose will be favored, an upset is entirely possible.

Once again, however, the weather may play an important part in the proceedings. It's beginning to look as though the drought of the past several weeks could have been avoided if the colleges throughout the state had scheduled more track meets.

The Spartan thinclads have managed to get the jump on all the schools in the Bay area despite the poor weather, but they just did get under the wire when they met the Olympic Club last Saturday.

WET TRACK

Friday's downpour left the track so wet and soggy. Coaches Bud Winter and Bill Perry spent most of Saturday morning burning gasoline on the worst spots in hopes it would dry enough to be at least runnable.

The runway to the high jump pit, however, was a morass of mud, making it necessary for the jumpers to take off on grass and land near the edge of the pole vault pit.

ABSENTEEISM

Despite these difficulties, many of the Spartans turned in outstanding early season marks. It should be noted, however, the lopsided score of 94 4/5 to 35 1/5 was in part due to the fact that four of the Olympic Club's top men failed to arrive for the meet, or did not compete because of injuries.

They were 14'6" pole vaulter Guin Smith, 54' shot putter Jim Delaney, Martin Biles, who has thrown the javelin 236', and Bob Lehman, a 1:54 880 man. Even had these outstanding performers appeared, and all taken first, San Jose would have still scored at least 80 points. It was simply a case of too much youth against the "old men" of the Winged "O."

THOMAS HEADS
SOFTBALL LEAGUE

"Dutch" Thomas has been selected as tournament manager for the 1948 Independent Softball league. Coach Ted Mumby stated yesterday. The softball league is sponsored by the Spartan Daily.

ENTER NOW

Those wishing to enter teams in the league should contact Coach Mumby or see Rex Parrish in the Publications office. According to present plans, varsity or professional baseball players will not be eligible to compete in the tournament.

Games will be played on the San Carlos turf near the Women's gym. A play schedule will be worked out and announced later.

Bill Hubbard, Spartan grid coach, doubles in brass, being a basketball official during the cage season.

BOXING PROSPECTS
LOOK GOOD FOR 1949

Prospects for the 1949 boxing team were bright today, Coach Dee Portal said that only one man from the team that won the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate title will be lost. That man is Charlie Townsend, rugged featherweight, but replacements from the excellent frosh squad will help make up the loss. Portal said that both the boys and himself wanted to say they were sorry that they didn't do better at the National Tournament held in Madison, Wis. "Don't get the idea I'm apologizing for their showing, I'm proud of them, and so would the student body be if they had seen them."

HERE'S THE DEAL

By BARNEY BARNETT

Now that Editor Phil Robertson, in one of his weaker moments, has appointed us Sports editor, we think it only fair to introduce the lads who will be covering the antics of the Spartans this Spring.

FOUR SPORTSMEN

Dave Parnay, the unwounded tennis player, will be handling four sports for our Daily subscribers. Dave is embarking on his second quarter on the staff and will be writing up golf, tennis, swimming and wrestling.

Rex Parrish, the Porterville plowboy, is a third quarter staff member. Sexy-Rexy has been handed the rough, tough job of taking care of the forthcoming softball tournament.

TRACK SCRIBE

Carl Underwood, starting his first quarter on the sports desk, will be trying to keep Bud Winter and the Spartan track fans happy with his reports on the thinclads during the season.

Arnold Wechter, the slicker from San Francisco City College, will be our general feature man. Wechter is a newcomer to Sparta's sporting scene.

FOOTBALL MAN

Bob Blackmon, one of the better Day Editors, will be taking care of Bill Hubbard's Spring practice and contributing an occasional column.

Hal Sousa and Paul von Hafften will be pinch-hitting from time to time.

Okay, lads, let's get the sheet to press.

The 1942 Cal Poly Mustang baseball team did not suffer a single defeat during the entire season. Among their victories was a 32 to 8 win over Templeton.

WETTERSTROMS
JOIN RED SOX

Former Spartans Gale and Don Wetterstrom, the baseball playing brothers from Sunnyvale, have been showing up well at the San Jose Red Sox training camp being held at the local Municipal Stadium under the watchful eyes of Manager Marv Owen.

Gale is under contract with the Red Sox Class C organization and is an infield candidate. While at San Jose State college, the diminutive blonde played outstanding ball for the Gold and White J-V nine last year.

The other half of the Wetterstrom combination, Don is trying to land a contract with the professional club. At a recent try-out camp conducted for hopeful prospects, the slender infielder drew the attention of Owen with his classy fielding and stickwork.

After a successful season with the Spartan Freshmen basketball quintet, Don was slated to turn his cage suit in for a college baseball uniform. However, he decided to take a crack at the "pay for play" sport.

If the Wetterstroms fail to make the grade with the Class C squad, all indications point that the pair may hook up with Oroville for seasoning. Nino Bongiovanni, San Josean and former major leaguer, manages the Boston Red Sox Class D Oroville club.

SJSC Swamps AG Swimmers

Coach Charlie Walker's Spartan swimming squad sank the California Aggies in a dual meet held at the local pool, by the score of 52-23.

The Spartans took all but one first place in the meet. Dave Moore and Pete Wolff were outstanding for the local squad. Heyl of Cal Aggies won the visitors only first place in the meet. He took the 100 yard freestyle in 55.4.

Pete Wolff nosed out Ed Rudloff in the 200 yard breaststroke in an upset. Frank Peters, frosh, won the 150 yard backstroke.

Dave Moore won two events during the evening. He took the 220 yard freestyle and also the 440.

Jack Daly won the 50 yard freestyle event in 25.5. McConnell won the diving event.

H. E. Kenny, boxing and wrestling coach at University of Illinois, conducted eight matches between boxers and wrestlers. The wrestlers came out on top in seven of the eight bouts. Kenny's conclusion was that if the boxer failed to land a knockout blow before the wrestler could close in, the bout was practically over.

Athletic teams of the University of Idaho are known as the Vandals.

Seniors To Need Sheepskin, La Torre

"A sheepskin without a La Torre just isn't enough," advised Bob Rexroad, publicity director of the 1948 yearbook. "We especially want to remind seniors to make their deposits now in order to assure them a copy in June. There will be no better way of obtaining a permanent reminder of college days," he continued.

According to Rexroad, the printers have been especially impressed with this year's outstanding football action shots.

With fast-working staff members on the job, pictures of the Spardi Gras to be held next June will be another surprise feature. Only a few hundred copies of La Torre remain to be sold. Books are limited and students who want to purchase a ticket may do so by contacting any staff member or by going to the La Torre office, B95. Purchasing price is $5.00; deposits are $2.00.
