SJSC Expansion Program Approved By State Board

The expansion program at San Jose State college was given the green light signal by Sacramento officials yesterday as approval came to President T. W. MacQuarrie for the purchase of property sites for the future Music, Engineering and Health buildings.

H. C. Vincent, executive officer of the property acquisition board notified President MacQuarrie that the board had approved the purchases. The new music structure, which the president opines will be the first of the three built, will be located opposite the Home Economics building, facing Seventh st. The engineering quarters are planned to go into the block bordered by Seventh and Eighth sts., and San Fernando and San Carlos sts. The health offices will be situated at Sixth and San Carlos sts., present site of the Bible school.

President MacQuarrie estimates that construction on the music building should begin by next summer and wryly added that "it should take a full year, the way the state works."

Due to an agreement with the Bible school those quarters will not be vacated until the summer of 1950, with construction beginning shortly afterward.

The board's approval authorized the purchase of all lots on Eighth st. between San Fernando and San Antonio sts. Dr. MacQuarrie pointed out that this will enable the closing of that section of Eighth st. to automobile traffic.

In addition to the properties to be acquired for the three above departments, the administration will be permitted to use the remainder of some $300,000 allotted to buy still more sites. Dr. MacQuarrie said that this balance would be used to purchase property on which several dormitories are to be built. According to the present plans, the dormitories will be erected in the blocks between Eighth and Ninth sts., and flanked by San Fernando and San Carlos streets.

NEW 'LYKE' ON SALE MONDAY

"Lycurgus is your magazine," says Michael Thomas, business manager. "Friends of yours worked on it, are in it, and sell it."

The issue of Lyke to appear Monday, Dec. 6, will be a highlight of the fall quarter, according to Thomas. He says that the magazine will be an important link between students and the people back home.

"Save writing a letter this week," he suggests. "Send a LYKE home."

Lycurgus will sell for 25 cents. Selling booths will be located in the Administration building, art wing, library arch, science wing, industrial arts arch, and behind the commerce wing. Sales will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Students are warned by the magazine staff that last quarter's issue of Lycurgus sold out the first day, and that it is advantageous to buy early.

Spartan Shop Reports Theft To S. J. Police

A theft of $140 from the safe in the Spartan Shop was reported Monday by William Felse, graduate manager, according to the San Jose Police department. Detectives George Gannell and Charles Murray are now investigating.

SPARTAN DAILY SEEKS TOYS FOR KIDS' CHRISTMAS

"If you have any toys—old or new—bring them into the Spartan Daily office," Bob Boden, Spartan Daily associate editor said yesterday in announcing the annual toy drive held by the Daily.

Boden said toys will go to needy children in the county and any contributions will be acceptable. Old toys will be fixed before being given to the children, he explained.

"With many married students in school it seems probable that junior has out-grown or is tired of toys that might be of use to other children. It could be, too, that baby brother has something that could be contributed to the drive," Boden said.

Any and all toys are acceptable, according to Boden. Games, metal toys, or books will be received in the Spartan Daily office, beginning today.

Bring 'em in, make the "kids" happy.

USF FIVE WINS OVER SJS, 66-49

By CLIFF DANIELS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2 — San Jose State college cagers dropped their second game of the season tonight to the University of San Francisco Dons, 66 to 49.

Playing before a large crowd in San Francisco's Kezar Pavilion in Golden Gate park, the Spartan hoopsters held the San Francisco team to a tight 30 to 27 score in the first half with USF enjoying the lead.

The Spartan team tired in the second period, however, and USF pulled ahead to win easily on the strength of Don Bennington, who tallied 16 points for the Dons, and Don Folgram, who marked up a total of 15 points.

Rated one of the top teams in California, the University of San Francisco squad showed its supremacy over the tiring Spartan five to come out on top.

High point men for the Spartan team were Stu Inman, who chalked up 12 points, and Bob Wuesthoff, who tallied 10 points for the Spartans. Don McCaslin, who tallied 25 points in the initial game of the season, scored only 7 points against USF, and Ralph Romero and Dean Giles each marked up five points.

Transportation will be provided for students, she said. Cars will leave the Immanuel Lutheran church, 345 S. Market street, at 7:15. Miss Edholm stated that all college students are invited.

'CHRIS BEAN' PROVES TOP STAGE PLAY

By GEORGE STRATTON

Considered by critics to be one of the finest examples of domestic character comedy, "The Late Christopher Bean" was just that in the production last night in the Little Theater.

The presentation of the Sidney Howard comedy by the Speech and Drama department cannot be too highly praised. Evelyn McCurdy carried the role of Abby flawlessly, and Bette Rehors's presentation of a greedy New England housewife left little to be desired.

The audience was put in a receptive mood from the start by the excellently executed stage by J. Wendell Johnson. John Kerr must be given credit for the direction of the play. The stage business was almost perfect.

Although the first act was a little slow, that is only to be expected of opening night, and is sure to pick up in the remaining five productions of the play. Every actor in the comedy carried his part well. There was not a single instance of miscasting, as is so often the case where young actors are asked to portray elderly characters.

Stanley Schwimmer had just such a part. Although only a freshman in college, he played the part of the aging Dr. Haggett very convincingly. His voice and mannerisms were that of a man in his late fifties, although his movements were a bit too brisk.

Dorothy Williams and Clifford Roche, who had the romantic leads in the story, handled themselves like veterans. Especially was this true of Roche, whose manner fitted into the part excellently.

Doris Perry's interpretation of the simpering older sister brought a number of laughs to the capacity audience. She was very good in the parts where she lamented the fact that her younger sister was to marry before her.

Presentation of the oily New Yorker, who specialized in faking paintings of the masters, was admirably played by James Jensen. Matt Pelto and Jackson Young both had parts similar to that of Schwimmer, which required them to portray elderly men, and both of them did it very well.

Graduating?

Graduating seniors, this item is for your eyes alone. Leaving the cloistered halls in mid-winter is a distinct disadvantage—you miss out on all activities granted June graduates. But at least you can get your graduation cards at a greatly reduced rate—IF enough of you want them. Senior George Souza arranged it for you. All that remains is for you to sign up with Mrs. Ruth Matlock (Dean James DeVoss' secretary) in room 112 before Monday, Dec. 6.

Joe Penner Stars In Eskay Movie

The "Ya wanna buy a duck" man, Joe Penner, will be featured in "The Boys From Syracuse," a movie to be shown Sunday night by Eskay Productions, Inc. The movie will be shown Sunday night in Morris Dailey auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

O'Connor-Farrel Decision Causes Fight Fans To Register Protests

By DAVE PARNAY

Spartan gym was a madhouse at 10:30 last night. In the last semi-final bout on the Novice boxing card between heavyweights Jim O'Connor and John Farrell, Farrell was knocked out after a comeback that seemingly would have given him the nod. The bout was a slugfest from start to finish. It might have been the Irish Civil War all over again. The first round was even. O'Connor dropped

SPARTANS CLOSE 1948 CAMPAIGN AGAINST MEXICO

Twenty-seven San Jose football players, including eight seniors, arrived at the Mexico City airport this morning in preparation for their final game of the 1948 season with the University of Mexico tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

The three Spartan coaches, Bill Hubbard, Bob Bronzan, and Hamp Pool, will be the busiest members of the outfit since they must act as trainers, managers, and possibly water boys, in addition to directing the team.

Just what kind of a squad Mexico has is a big mystery. It has been rumored, however, that they showed terrific offensive strength in drubbing the University of Cuba by an undisclosed score.

The eleven San Jose seniors playing their last game for the Spartans are:

FROSH POLOISTS DEFEAT SJ HIGH

By WADE WILSON

With George Haines leading the attack, the San Jose State frosh water polo team took the measure of San Jose High, 13-2, yesterday afternoon in the Spartan pool.

The still undefeated frosh, although tied once by the Olympic Athletic club reserves, had little trouble in downing the prep school. Haines flipped in five goals, Dale McElroy 2, and one each by John Spoon, Chesley Douglas, George McFetridge, Ray Bennett, and Broadus. John Justice scored the two goals for the losers.

Tomorrow afternoon the Spartan varsity journeys to Davis to engage the Cal Aggies. The frosh will meet the Cal Aggies reserves in the opener.

The Spartans, back from their successful invasion of the southland, will close out their season in the Spartan pool Dec. 10 at 9 p.m., when they meet the COP Tigers. The frosh meet the Stockton JC in the preliminary game at 8 p.m.

No Report From Life Committee

A meeting of the College Life committee was held yesterday afternoon at 3:30, according to Dean Joe H. West, committee chairman.

The committee declined to allow representatives of the Spartan Daily to attend the meeting. Dean West said that findings of the committee will be released at a future date, perhaps at a press conference.

Farrell with a hard left early in the second round but from that point on Farrell took the aggressive and the fight looked to be all his. Farrell scored a clean knock-down in the third. The boxers stood toe to toe with lefts and rights coming with an ever increasing tempo.

At the bell, the boys were still swinging and they kept right on going. And Farrell, who probably thought he had won the decision, reeled for a hard right and found himself flat on his back out cold.

The 165-pound brawl between Vic Viviano (SAE) and Woodie Kennamer (TMS) was another first class match. The nod went to Viviano, but Kennamer's terrific third round comeback left the decision in doubt.

There were 18 bouts on the three-hour card, most of them good. Jack Monroe started things off with a decision over Howie Hutchinson using a good left hand to advantage. In another 125-pound bout Frank DeRoos out-pointed Jack Fourcade.

In the first 130-pound semi-final Wes Mathews decisioned George Johnson and was joined in the finals by another Johnson, Bob, who used a good left to beat Don Camp.

At 135 pounds Howie Bryant's good footwork and aggressiveness brought him the decision over Russ Gibbons. Bryant will meet Al Grass in tomorrow's final. Al had too much reach for "Shorty" Joe Ingram.

Newman's Les Walters decisioned wrestler Bill Wardrup at 145 pounds. Wardrup's instinctive crouch was ineffective. Speedy Don Desch decisioned Taylor Chambers despite Chambers' last round comeback.

Both 155-pound bouts were fairly close. Johnny Johnson decisioned Art Budros and Dick Finnegan's relentless attack brought him the nod over Bill Peach. Finnegan landed several hard rights in the third.

At 165 pounds an outstanding prospect, Ernie Esch, joined Vic Viviano in the finals. Each decisioned Val Donaire.

In the light heavyweight class football halfback Vince Sempronio won the decision from crowd-pleaser Slim Penterman. Sempronio came out of every exchange with the harder punch. Don Harryman decisioned Dick Pea to join Sempronio in the finals. Harryman was probably the best counter-puncher of the night.

In another good bout Don Foster used a lightning-like left hook to decision Joor Bol.

Lou Agnelli joined Foster in the finals of the 190-pound class. Tom Johnson started fast but Agnelli caught him late in the first round and scored a clean knockout with solid lefts and rights to the head.

Nick Moolenjer joined Jim O'Connor, the above mentioned winner of the Irish Civil War, in the finals of the heavyweight class. Bray came out swinging at the bell and ran into Nick Moolenjer, a windmill from Holland.

Team standings have the Newmans way out front with 24 points. Following the Newman club are SAE, 15; DU, 10; KA, 8; PSK and TMS, 5; CPS, 4; TC, 1, and DSG and KSK, 0.

COLLEGE LIFE COMMITTEE ACTS, FIRST AND LAST, AS AN ADVISORY GROUP; DOES NOT LEGISLATE

By BOYD SCHULTZ

As far as Dean DeVoss can ascertain, the College Life committee now functioning on Washington Square is the only such student-faculty organization on college campuses today.

This unique group was formed in the spring of this year as an experiment to foster better student and faculty relations and to act in an advisory capacity for individual students, professors, and student organizations.

Dean DeVoss emphasizes the word "advisory." "We do not sit as a legislative or administrative body, but merely draw from our experience to make recommendations to those seeking advice," he says.

At the time of its conception, the committee consisted of three faculty members and three students. They were: Dean Paul Pitman, Dean Helen Dimmick, Dean DeVoss, Tom Wall, Bill Logan, and Dorothy Moody.

Informal Beginning

"It all began very informally," says Dr. DeVoss. "Students and instructors alike, puzzled over strange campus traditions or policy, or seeking information and advice, flooded various professors with their problems."

So a free discussion committee, a sort of central agency, was in order, and that committee grew into the present College Life group.

"Our main purpose then was to interpret and clarify student and faculty problems on a very informal basis, Dr. DeVoss said. But business was so good the committee, to keep abreast, had to become more organized . . . and with organization it took on more prestige.

"Now," Dr. DeVoss explained, "problems are studiously heard and recommendations for definite action are made." Dr. DeVoss also said that the group's personnel has grown and problems of a more serious nature are coming its way. Such a problem was the recent COP train controversy, and here is where Dean DeVoss wants to be certain that all students do understand the purpose and function of the College Life committee.

"We DO NOT administrate or legislate in any way. We listen to gripes, problems, etc., and then advise, recommend, or refer. That is the extent of our action and power. Definite passage of rules, laws, regulations, and policy is out of our jurisdiction. The committee simply was not formed for that purpose."

Good Will Worth The $20 To Dr. Hermanns

"Two years ago a student veteran who had no invitation for Thanksgiving dinner dropped the challenge for me to hear that it was quite different when he was in uniform—now he was forgotten," said Dr. William Hermanns of the Modern Language department recently. "With the aid of friends I found a wealthy man who gave a table in a hotel near San Jose for the veterans far from home. The next year the invitation was repeated."

With the Thanksgiving holidays approaching, Dr. Hermanns again started to compile a list of veterans that could not be home for their "turkey." Then, only a few days before Thanksgiving, he found that the dinner would not come from the unknown benefactor. Since the veterans were depending on Dr. Hermanns, he felt that another person must be found to provide the dinner.

With the list of veterans that had already accepted the invitation to dinner, Dr. Hermanns started to look for someone else to give the dinner.

Then at last an invitation for ten veterans came from a gentleman in San Jose. The dinner was to take place in a downtown restaurant. Dr. Hermanns accepted for the student veterans.

"Again," Dr. Hermanns concluded, "you can imagine my amazement when six additional veterans arrived. The table was lengthened, and the wine was stretched. Shall I worry about the bill? No, the heavens are high and America is big!"

Now Dr. Hermanns, a turkey eater by adoption, is $20 in the hole but many times richer in spirit. After three years and many Thanksgiving dinners, perhaps this work of Dr. Hermanns will become a tradition.

Glenna, a past editor of Lycurgus, wrote to NBC's "Bride and Groom" program describing the way she met Nick. Her letter was chosen winner by the judges. Monday afternoon, Nov. 22, Nick and Glenna were interviewed on the marital program in Los Angeles, and then were married in the private chapel

The new Mr. and Mrs. Roukes were graduated last June with ABs in art and journalism, respectively. The couple are living in Pomona while Nick attends art school in Southern California.

LIBRARIANS ATTEND INFORMAL DINNER

Librarians of Santa Clara county had an informal dinner-meeting last night at Adobe House near the University of Santa Clara. The get-together was sponsored by the University of Santa Clara.

Librarians from all the libraries in the county, including Stanford and Santa Clara universities and San Jose State college were present at the meeting.

Father Boland, librarian of Santa Clara university, was in charge of arrangements.

NEWSLETTER SENT BY DEPARTMENT TO SCRIBE ALUMNI

A Who's Who among journalism graduates was included in a newsletter recently sent to San Jose State college journalism alumni, according to Mrs. Dolores Spurgeon of that office.

Information in the bulletin concerned former journalism, advertising, and press photography majors of the local college. Individual achievements of alumni were reported. Marriages, engagements, and births of ex-Spartans were covered.

Many alumni have been employed as editors, advertising managers, and chambers of commerce executives. Others have entered the fields of radio and printing or publicity work, the report said.

Development of a placement service for departmental graduates has been begun under the direction of Mrs. Spurgeon. Professor of Journalism Dwight Bentele asked alumni to inform the department of job requests or vacancies.

It was hoped to publish a similar newsletter three times a year.

Remarks that are uncalled for are usually delivered.

ENGINEERS PLAN FIELD TRIP TODAY

Ernest Folendorn of the Engineering society will lead a field trip to the Westinghouse-Hendy corporation at Sunnyvale today.

The party will leave the engineering quonset about 2:30 this afternoon.

Among the things the students will see is the machine shop, the testing facilities, and they will view the cutting of a huge reduction gear.

This gear, because of its tremendous size and weight must be cut in a temperature controlled, air conditioned room to insure a high degree of accuracy.

Dr. Smith says that the slightest variation of the temperature will cause the cutting, which takes a matter of weeks, to be inaccurate.

WINTER TEACHERS GET ASSIGNMENTS

County and city assignments for winter quarter student-teachers will be given out Thursday, Dec. 3, at 12:30 in B-3, according to an announcement from the Education department.

Twelve Frosh Seek Offices In Class Election Today

Election of freshman class officers will be held today, with balloting in the Student Union from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., according to Tom Eddy, chief justice of the student court.

Candidates for the office of freshman class president are Jinx Johnson and Lud Spolyar; for the office of vice-president, John Steele and Max Fuzzy.

In competition for the office of secretary are Barbara Meeker, Betty Ishimatsu, Nancy Mason, and Loretta Knudson. Those running for treasurer are Richard Thiel, Stanley Schwimmer, and Spencer Sutherland.

Run-off elections will be held Tuesday, Dec. 7, according to Don Schaffer, Student Council representative. Schaffer urged as many freshman as possible to turn out and vote since this is the first time the class as a whole has had a chance to elect its own leaders.

'Y'ers To Spend Weekend At Coast

Twenty-five Student Y'ers will attend the "Overnight" being held this week end at Monte Toyon, near Aptos, for the purpose of planning future activities of that organization, according to the Rev. Malcolm ("Mac") Carpenter, executive secretary.

"The trek will be devoted primarily to working out future plans for 'Y' activity," Rev. Carpenter said. "We will not only plan our activities for next quarter, but will make long-range plans which should, in a general way, determine the nature of 'Y' activities for the next several years."

The group plans to leave the "Y" lounge for the scene of the retreat this afternoon. They will return Sunday.

Committee chairmen who will head committees at the meet are Marie Herold, Joe Galatz, Sally Moody, Fred Jobs, and Hal Ely, according to Rev. Carpenter.
