Swimming Extravaganza Will Open This Evening

By BARBARA DEEMY

Tonight marks the first performance of "Western Splash-up" San Jose State college's version of Billy Rose's "Aquacade", with show time at 8 o'clock. Doors at the Men's gym will open at 7:30 o'clock.

When the stage of your show is a swimming pool and you've got to keep your actors and properties bobbing right side up on the surface of the water, you've got problems. But the WAA swimming club is coping with them nicely, thank you, and club officials are holding the reins of the "Splash-up" in firm hands.

The fact that the performers are all excellent swimmers eliminates the possibility of their sinking from the view of the audience, and the properties have been specially built for aquatic antics.

The cleverly-made covered wagon for the "crossing the prairies" skit will float along on a huge, concealed inner-tube. Horses' heads will grace paddleboards which skim along under swim-suited riders.

Even the bustles on the florasora girls' suits are guaranteed not to bog down in the water, because they are made of plastic material.

Ingenious WAA members made all their own costumes and properties for the show, which promises to exceed their efforts of last year, when they produced "Water Carousel". Performances will be presented Friday and Saturday nights also. Admission is 50 cents with an ASB card and 75 cents for a general ticket. Tickets are still on sale at the Graduate Manager's office, with no seats reserved.

President Leaves To Attend SBE Meet at Fresno

College President T. W. MacQuarrie left yesterday for Fresno where he will attend a joint meeting of state college presidents and the State Board of Education.

The conference, to be held today, Friday and Saturday, is provided for by the State Board of Education which requires a meeting once a year.

Ten state colleges and Cal Poly will be represented at the meeting to be held on the Fresno State college campus. Business to be discussed will include:

- 1) Report on the administrative organizations of the state colleges.
- 2) Discussion of the number of units to be required for BS degree.
- 3) Report on the factors reducing autonomy in state colleges.
- 4) Report on a definite policy for out-of-state travel.
- 5) Discussion of a program for meetings of the college presidents with the State Board of Education.

ICC Meeting

Frank Horst, president, announced yesterday that the ICC meeting will be held at 10:30 today in the Associated Student Body office. This is a change of the formerly announced time. Discussion will be on the campus blood donor drive.

Spartans Air KEEN Show

Two radio shows, entirely directed, written, and acted by San Jose State college students, will be broadcast over radio station KEEN tonight, according to Dr. Edgar E. Willis, associate professor of speech.

"Spartan Review" at 8 p.m. will feature an interview with the Spartan personality of the week, Mac Martinez, NCAA 125 lb. boxing champion. The show, written and directed by James Caputo, Nick Lickwar, and Dick McGlinchey, will also include campus news and the most popular song of Spartan students.

Following immediately on KEEN at 8:15 p.m. will be "Drama Time", presenting "Gold Rush Justice", written by Jim Veteran and directed by George Schirle.

Russel Holcomb will be the announcer. The cast of "Gold Rush Justice" will consist of Dick McGlinchey, Jim Veteran, Ed Hayden, Myron Havens, Russ Holcomb, and Morton Fine.

Senior Ball Bids On Sale May 15

Senior Ball bids go on sale May 15 in the Library Arch, according to Ball Co-Chairman Russell Benioff. Price of the dance ducats has not yet been set.

More than 1000 couples are expected to attend the June 17 affair, Fred Michels, class president, said. Featuring Freddy Martin and his orchestra, the dance setting will be at the Bay Meadows Jockey club in San Mateo.

The $2000 contract which the class of '50 signed with Band Leader Martin hits an all-time high in SJS senior ball expenditures. One-quarter of the $2000 will cover transportation costs for the musical group, according to Michels.

Committee for the hop is headed by Co-Chairmen Benioff and Gale Morelock, with Eugene Hartman in charge of publicity.

Notebooks

The Education office asks that all winter quarter penmanship students call for their notebooks in Room 161 by April 14.

Pictured above is a scene that will be re-enacted tonight when the WAA-sponsored "Western Splash-Up" begins its three night run in the Men's gymnasium pool at 8 o'clock. The performers to be seen tonight are all excellent swimmers. The western theme lends itself to use of covered wagons, florasora girls replete with bustles, and other typically Western scenes and costumes. Admission for the show is 50 cents. Tickets may be purchased at the Graduate Manager's office. —photo by Gmelin.

$20,000 in Budget Earmarked To Pay Supervising Teachers

Funds with which San Jose State college and Los Angeles State college can pay public school teachers who supervise student teachers are included in the 1950-51 budget adopted by the Legislature and signed by Governor Earl Warren.

Official notice to this effect has been received by San Jose State college officials from Dr. Aubrey A. Douglass, chief of the division of state colleges and teacher education of the State Department of Education.

Money to pay these supervising teachers was cut out of the budget last year by the Legislature, thereby ending a practice that had been in use for many years. Efforts to restore these funds for all state colleges which offer teacher training courses was successful, however, only in the case of San Jose and Los Angeles. The total amount available for this purpose at San Jose State college during the fiscal year beginning July 1 will be $20,000.

Russian Charge Being Investigated by Wash.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dean Acheson said yesterday that the United States is making a complete investigation of Russia's charge that an American bomber fired on Soviet fighter planes, before it decides on its next step. Official Washington explored the alleged Latvian incident seriously, but calmly. Officials said it did not heat up the cold war.

"AND NO OTHER OATH . . ."

LOS ANGELES — Dr. John W. Caughey, UCLA history professor, yesterday pointed out that the state constitution says that no special oath shall be required for "any office or public trust". Caughey quoted the constitution in a letter to the Native Sons of the Golden West, which has endorsed a demand of University regents that professors sign a special loyalty oath. "California's founding fathers, in constitutional convention, wrote the real loyalty oath, used ever since for the governor and all other state officers. We professors have all signed that complete pledge of loyalty," Caughey said.

NO COLLEGE AT LONG BEACH

SACRAMENTO — The state senate assembly rules committee yesterday killed a move to get reconsideration of the selection of Long Beach as a site for a new state college. ## Debating Teams To Go to Modesto

Two teams from San Jose State college's Forensics squad will debate two Modesto Junior college teams Friday in Modesto, according to Wilbur F. Luick, Forensics director.

The team of Leslie Groshong and Robert Whitall will argue the affirmative of the proposition: Resolved, That the United States should nationalize all basic non-agricultural industries, while Glyndon Riley and Willis Morris will take the negative.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dean Acheson said yesterday that the United States is making a complete investigation of Russia's charge that an American bomber fired on Soviet fighter planes, before it decides on its next step. Official Washington explored the alleged Latvian incident seriously, but calmly. Officials said it did not heat up the cold war.

SJS Officials To Attend SF Convention

A number of San Jose State college officials and personnel plan to attend the 36th annual national convention of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers to be held in San Francisco April 17 to 21.

College officials who will attend are Miss Viola Palmer, registrar; Mr. Joe H. West, dean of student personnel and guidance; and Mr. Leslie Ross, assistant registrar. In addition, Miss Virginia Mansfield, Winson Quinley, Mrs. Margaret Henningsen and Miss Eileen Wilson of the Registrar's office will attend some of the sessions.

A highlight of the convention will be a speech, "Expanding Opportunities for Higher Education in the United States," to be given by Earl J. McGrath, U. S. Commissioner of Education.

Dean West, who is serving as chairman of the tours and sight-seeing committee and as a member of the general convention committee, says this is the first time the convention has been held on the Pacific coast since 1929 when it was held at Seattle.

Convention plans call for a trip to the University of California and Mills college Tuesday afternoon and a visit to Stanford university on Thursday.

Dr. H. Donald Winbigler, registrar at Stanford university, is convention chairman.

Man of the World To Marry Dancer

ELLSWORTH, Me., April 13 (UP) — "World Citizen" Garry Davis said yesterday that he and Hollywood Dancer Audrey Peters will be married on the stage of the City Hall auditorium tomorrow in a public "unification of love" ceremony in which they'll be the only participants.

Then, he said, they will go to a justice of the peace for a legal wedding.

Davis, 28, said he and the 21-year-old Miss Peters desired the public ceremony, without benefit of an officiating third party, because they believed marriage "a matter between ourselves and God and the people of the community."

He invited the town's residents to fill the auditorium and repeat the marriage vows with himself and his bride.

"We believe the people in Ellsworth would recognize us as married as God would," he said. "Our marriage is a unification of love."

"We had planned a very private ceremony but we found such a friendly spirit here we felt we wanted to share our happiness with everyone."

Davis said he and Miss Peters will prepare the services themselves for the public ceremony, which is scheduled for 2 p.m.

The ring they plan to use will be given to the city after the service, he said, "for couples who wish to wed and have no ring."

He said the ring would be symbolic so that "those who marry after us may realize that the basis of security of the world is love."

Sotzin's Class Plans Group Print Projects

Interesting projects are being undertaken this quarter in Heber Sotzin's curriculum analysis course in the Industrial Arts department.

The curriculum analysis class, composed entirely of industrial arts education majors, is undertaking a group project in some way related to printing. Each student will analyze the general area in which he plans to teach, as ground work, after which a group project will be selected.

Typical of the projects is the one which was recently completed by Tom Moore, industrial arts student. Moore constructed a small hand press, similar to that developed by William Caxton in the 13th century.

Moore's press is not large—about eight by twelve inches in width and three inches in depth. It consists of two hinged wooden frames. The type, which is zinc, is locked between the two frames in the center. The type is inked, paper is pressed between the two frames and the impression is made.

The frames are usually placed between an ordinary office press, which employs the same principle as the early wine press commonly used in the early days. Moore's press must be operated by hand, and only one impression can be made at a time.

According to Moore, the purpose of the curriculum analysis course is to incorporate history, art, woodwork, and printing through the use of individual projects.

Mixed Faiths Hold Religious Meeting In 'Y' Building

Seventeen students of mixed faiths participated in the religious forum held Tuesday in the lounge of the Student Y. The discussion centered around the topic, "What Kind of a God Do I Believe In, and What Difference Does It Make?"

The forum was led by Gordon Shouldice, Bob Fossgreen, and Dorothy Howard. Because of the intensity of the discussion, it was decided by the participants that the same topic will be "talked over" next Tuesday.

Suggested topics for discussion were passed out on mimeographed sheets for members of the forum to vote on. These topics will be taken up in order of popularity at future meetings.

Three new volunteers will lead the forum for next week. They are Norman Robertson, Cecil Webb, and Marcia Royce. To date, the First Methodist Seekers and the Congregational Student Fellowship have been cooperating on the forum.

Special guest at yesterday's forum was Dean Paul M. Pitman. He evaluated the discussion and expressed his approval of the work of the inter-denominational group.

The forum closed with the singing of a hymn, and benediction was led by Bob Fossgreen. All interested students are invited to attend the forum next Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. in the Student Y lounge. Students may bring their lunches.

Prof. James Tilden Rescues Lizard

Dr. James W. Tilden, instructor in entomology, is in line to receive a life saving award for heroic action in saving a life in the Science building Monday afternoon.

A four-inch lizard, one of 16 on display in a show case on the second floor of the Science building, was so intent on chasing flies that he fell into his water supply.

Dr. Tilden found Mr. Lizard floundering in the drink, and quickly pulled him to safety. Yesterday, Mr. Lizard, none the worse for his swimming lesson, was back to his old tricks—chasing insects.

This information was revealed in a letter from the San Francisco bureau of the United Press to Mr. Dwight Bentel, head of the Journalism department.

The by-line story was the United Press story on the foreign submarines off the California coast a few weeks ago, and was the first association by-line story to appear on the front page of the Dallas paper in the memory of the oldest living Texan.

Geduldig had been with United Press for only two weeks when he wrote the story, according to the letter from the press association.

KO'd Boxer Can Still Win Fight

By JACK RUSSELL and ROD RODRIGUES

The most revolutionary step in collegiate boxing history is now before the NCAA Rules committee. DeWitt Portal revealed yesterday. The proposal received unanimous endorsement from the boxing coaches at the recent NCAA meet at Penn State college.

The new rule states, in effect, that a boxer who is ahead on points may get the decision even though he is knocked out by a clean blow from his opponent. Thus for the first time in the 75 years of boxing regulations the emphasis has switched from the K.O. smash to boxing skill.

Under the new proposal a boxer may be declared the winner while lying unconscious, if he has proven himself the superior ringman up to the point of the knockout.

According to Portal the change is being contemplated in order to offset the current criticism that "boxing is the only sport where the chief purpose is to injure and knock out the opponent."

The stress will now be definitely on skill and speed. A flurry of well-placed jabs will count more than one hard smash, declared the Spartan boxing coach. All blows will be scored equally, as points, regardless of whether they are heavy or light.

The new revolutionary measure was first proposed by Gene Rankin, ex-Wisconsin university three-time NCAA champion and now a referee at the national bouts.

Rankin quietly gained support for his plan which startled the Rules committee when it was first presented. Coach Portal, who had long considered such a measure, immediately went on record as favoring it and the coaches rallied as a body behind the move.

Other effects of the rule, if passed may be:

1) Scoring will become more standardized. (San Jose State has long been one of the leaders in experimenting for an adequate scoring system that will satisfy both contestants and fans.)

2) Brute strength and slugging power will be de-emphasized in favor of clever boxing and sharp punching to win points.

3) Boxing will be a sport for growing high school youths as well as mature professionals.

4) The desperation blow or so-called "lucky punch" will no longer be an important factor in the sport.

5) Body punching will receive the same credit in scoring as will blows to the head.

In summing up, Portal said that the new rule is in line with a long-range trend towards emphasizing boxing skill and speed and the de-emphasizing of the knockout.

"For the first time, this measure really gives us some meat that we can get our teeth into, it brings to a head the crowning point of a long climb towards making collegiate boxing a better, safer and faster sport," Portal said.

Bulldog, Mustang Netters Play Here

Encouraged by their fine showing against USF, the San Jose State varsity tennis aggregation will entertain Fresno State college and Cal Poly, two northern division CCAA foes, in a pair of week-end matches on the Spartan village courts.

The locals tangle with the Raisin city Bulldogs at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, and face the Cal Poly Mustang netters at 9 a.m. Saturday. Fresno State is considered one of the stronger teams in the conference, and the Mustangs are classed as a greatly improved team over last year.

Tom Okagaki, McCarty Star; Sparta Nips Pros

By ROSS MASSEY and ROY HURLBERT

Walt Williams' varsity baseballers stretched a paltry five hits and the old college try into the right combination in Salinas' municipal stadium yesterday with a surprising 8-7 comeback victory over the San Jose Red Sox.

These elements coupled with a fat six-run sixth inning were all the collegians needed to get back into the ball game and eventually win out with the clinching plate-tally of hurler Ralph Romero.

Handcuffed for no hits by Jo-Sox righthander Jim Sweeney for five frames, the Spartans found the scoreboard when reliever Jules Hudson hit the skids, yielding six runs on two hits and four free passes.

Tom Okagaki, busy on the sacks all day, started the splurge with a walk. An infield miscue gave Tom Burch life at the gateway, Okagaki moving to second. Consecutive walks to shortstop Lopes and Will Conklin shoved across the tally from third. Then, Dean Giles rapped a screamer to third which was bobbed providing another run, making it 5-7. Pinch-swinger Dave McCarty evened affairs with a blast to left, chasing home Okagaki and Burch.

ROMERO

In the fateful ninth, McCarty walked, Romero sent a scorching single into center, advanced on a Hudson wild pitch, and came in on a tag-up of Burch's fly to left. Romero, taking over after starter Pete Mesa in the fifth, set the hometown pros down for good with a strikeout of pinchhitter Quinn ending the encounter.

Mesa stayed four cantos and was touched for five hits and a pair of runs. Ron Root paced Marv Owen's play for pay lads with 3 for 4, including a double and triple. All told, the hometown pros collected 10 hits, five off Mesa, the rest off Romero.

Spikemen to Duel With Indians, OC

Seeking an upset win over talented Stanford university and the San Francisco Olympic club, Coach Bud Winter sends the Spartan trackmen into their last hard workouts before Saturday's encounter at Palo Alto.

So far as San Jose's chances are concerned, they depend on the slender feet of two sprinters, Bobby Crowe and Bill Smith. Neither can be expected to be at peak condition against Stanford, though, this being the first meet of the season for both. The two are entered in both sprints and broad jump. If Winter's men can swing added points in these three events they can take the meet.

Walt Bealey's freshman spikers mix with the Stanford freshmen at 11 a.m. Saturday at Palo Alto. The Papooses will field a very strong team, headed by the famed Bob Mathias, the former 17-year-old Tulare high school whiz.

JV Golfmen Open at Menlo

Temporarily lost in the shuffle due to the varsity's space-worthy playing, the San Jose State college junior varsity golf squad comes into its own next week.

They play their first match of the season against Menlo JC Thursday, April 20, at the Crystal Springs course.

Bill King is the most promising and outstanding golfer in the group. It is expected that in a few weeks he will make a spot on the varsity.

The other five players who probably will compose the team are Hooks Loveland, Bud Watts, Jack Longsberry, Tony Poschepny, and Lee Osborne.

Swimmers Cancel Meets With Frosh

Coach Charlie Walker announced yesterday afternoon that today's Livermore and Friday afternoon's Bellarmine High school swimming meets with the San Jose State college frosh swimmers have been cancelled.

The freshman paddlers will journey to the Cal Aggie water relays Saturday for their next meet.
