Board Schedules Deferment Exam

By ED ROPER, Campus Editor

Local draft boards have now received authority via an executive order of President Truman to review for deferment some 1,000,000 non-veteran college students on the basis of scholastic standing or the result of a national test to be given on May 26 and June 16 and 30.

Recent testimony by military leaders before Congress has evidently effected the drawing up of this order. In this testimony it was said that this country can not hope to match the iron curtain countries in manpower and that our advantage lies in superiority in scientific and technical skills. Under the new plan students will be deferred either by their capacity to learn as demonstrated by the test results or by scholastic record as evidenced by class standing.

New Draft Law Is Appraised By Executives

Two presidents, Harry Truman and Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie, turned the news spotlight on the college student this week.

In Washington, D.C., President Truman issued an executive order which will provide draft deferments for hundreds of thousands of college men; while in San Jose, President MacQuarrie commented upon Truman's order and began making preparations for an annual southern California meeting of Presidents of Western Universities and Colleges where problems relating to the education of youth will be discussed.

"If a student asks to be deferred on the ground that he wishes to attend college," Dr. MacQuarrie stated in commenting upon Truman's authorization of deferment from the draft of college students who make good enough grades or pass an aptitude test, "he must show in a college aptitude test that he probably is capable of good college work."

Dr. MacQuarrie believes the first step in obtaining a deferment "ought to be initiated by the student."

It would be a great mistake if admission to the army ever should be considered a type of penalty for not being able to do college work, Dr. MacQuarrie believes.

Undoubtedly, Truman's order will be discussed by western educators at their meetings this week.

In Los Angeles Thursday morning President MacQuarrie will meet with Deans J. C. Elder, J. C. DeVoss, and Joe West who will brief him on administration matters which they and others will have discussed at Tuesday and Wednesday conferences of California State College Deans in the southern city.

Later the same day, Dr. MacQuarrie will attend a Western College administrators' meeting. On Friday, he and other administrators will report to the State Board of Education. This yearly meeting is required by State law.

The Western College Association will meet Saturday at Whittier college. The major theme of their sessions will be "The Place of Science in Liberal Education."

The Weather

We'll have a little more of that class-poopying weather today with heatometer around 68 to 70.

We've heard that the powers are going to be rough on attendance this quarter so cherish those few allowable cuts and demises of grandmothers until the end of the quarter, when the choice between going to the beach or to the Teach will make a psycho out of you.

Of course if you're flipping your lid already or don't count on passing the deferment test, we'll see you by the third dune from the hot dog stand.

Collegians Give Reactions To Compulsory ASB Fee

By ELWYN KNIGHT

All California State colleges are conducting a poll of the student body to get their reaction to the bill now under study in the State Legislature to make student body cards compulsory in all state colleges, according to Dave Down, ASB president.

"California and Texas are the only two states that don't have compulsory ASB cards," Down said.

"In fact," Down continued, "over 80 per cent of American colleges and universities find this the most efficient method of financing student government."

A summary poll of San Jose State college students brought forth the following comments:

Marilou Borgen, sophomore merchandising major—"Yes, I think it's a good thing so that they'll know how much money they have to spend."

Muriel Rohrer, freshman education major—"Yes, people always want to borrow your card to go to a football game."

Ernest Berwick, junior physical science major and veteran—"It's all right if you go in for the social life. Most of my social life has nothing to do with the school, though."

Joy Aspinwall, sophomore journalism major—"No, if there were a lot of veterans it would be all right. They're the only ones who benefit from it."

Chuck Wing—"The proposal is basically sound . . . 60 per cent of the student body now has to support the other 40 per cent."

Vernon Libby, engineering major—"Many students are now going to school under their own expense . . . the additional burden will be too much. The state will cut our annual appropriations, anyway, if we get more revenue from the student body."

Bob Hall, biological science major—"The compulsory ASB card will benefit the majority of students, but the minority will suffer."

Ted Breeden—"The idea is okay as far as the money situation goes, but there are those who are in college only for an education, and they would not benefit by it. Also, the price of books alone is high enough already for students without GI benefits."

James Russell, industrial arts major—"The proposal is unfair to those who do not attend athletic events regularly. Personally, I do not have the time to use or feel the need for, an ASB card."

Hazel Hoak, junior P.E. major—"No, because the financial hardship on many students would be too great."

Bob Custer, junior merchandising major—"It would give us a secure future budget for student body activities and would distribute the over-all cost to all the students."

Beverly Baier, senior advertising major—"Sure, it will be good for the students, good for the school and good for the vets."

Joe Guthrie, senior music major—"I think the students should be given as choice, as many students do not participate in student activities and therefore should not be forced to pay for them."

Maurice Duke, senior political science major—"Yes, because it would give more funds to the athletic department."

Joan Bley, sophomore G.E. major—"I am against it because I am going to school for an education and am not interested in social activities. I think it is socialistic to make it compulsory, and am in favor of allowing the students to make a choice."

Al Canera, graduate social science major—"Yes, I think it would help student participation in minor sports events and social events."

B. J. Whitney, junior G.E. major—"I believe that the students should support the school, and if cards were compulsory the cost of that support would be more evenly distributed. All the benefits from the student body cards are for the students."

Kitty Gunner, junior justice of the Student Court—"I think it should be compulsory because it would equalize costs and would permit increased activities."

"Most students who have voted while I have been helping at the polls feel that it would be a good thing. Veterans would have their cards paid for by the government and that would save them $15. However, some feel that it is a socialistic trend and the very word compulsory scares them."

Group to Dance In Gym Session

The Spartan Spinners will have plenty of spinning room when they meet tonight, according to Dr. Carl Duncan, head of the Natural Science department, chief spinner.

The first spring meeting of the folk-dancing group will be held in the Women's gym from 7:30 to 10 p.m. The first half of the evening will be devoted to instruction of beginners, Dr. Duncan said.

Cal Vets Note

Mr. J. D. Murchison, representative from the California Veterans office, will be in Room 32, Wednesday, April 4, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

U.P. Round-up Training Bill Is Introduced

SACRAMENTO—Assemblyman Delbert Morris introduced a bill to the State Legislature stating that a two-year course in military science and tactics be passed by male students before graduation from high school or junior college.

Senate Wants Say

WASHINGTON, April 2—There seems to be little disagreement in the Senate over sending four American divisions to Europe to join the Atlantic Pact army; but the Senators passed the McClellan advisory amendment, demanding that no further U.S. troops be promised for the pact army without Congressional approval.

An amendment stating that no American youths under 20 years old be sent to the Pact army was defeated 62 to 27.

Reds Offer Grain

NEW DELHI—Russia has offered famine-threatened India 500,000 tons of grain, while Red China has offered one million tons in a Communist double play, informed sources said today.

Indian Communists have been contrasting the Red offers as compared to U.S. hesitancy on the grain request.

Mosher Announces New Summer Session Lab

"San Jose State college will be the first California state college to provide secondary school observation-participation for education majors during Summer Session," according to Dr. Raymond Mosher, dean of Summer Session. Efforts of Dr. Mosher and Dr. Carl Rich of the Education department have resulted in the addition of Ed. 207—Secondary School Curriculum and Instruction—to the six weeks' summer schedule. Regular session education students may sign for the course and complete the observation-participation requirement in summer session for the first time.

Opportunity to observe in four teaching areas will be available this summer: (1) natural science, (2) social science, (3) languages and literature, and (4) mathematics. Under the direction of Dr. Henry Meckel of the Education department, other students may participate in special projects. —James Lick high school, the new school in the Alum Rock district, will be the laboratory for observation-participation students this summer. High school students in the Lick area will be in attendance. The course will be taught by William O. Woodworth, vice-principal of James Lick high school, who is in charge of the school during the summer.

Ed. 207 will be taught during the six-week session from June 25 to Aug. 3 and will carry from six to nine units of credit.

Vets, 'Tenshun!

The following students must report to Room 32 to clear their tuition by Thursday, April 5, or their registration will be cancelled, Miss Edith Graves of the veterans office announced today.

Everett DeSalles, Robert Phelps, Frank Rao, Donald Schulz, Ken Scott, Arthur Stahlheber, and Claude Wilson.

Our Budget Should Grow With Our College

"I believe that the students should support the school, and if cards were compulsory the cost of that support would be more evenly distributed. All the benefits from the student body cards are for the students," said B. J. Whitney when a Spartan Daily reporter asked for her opinion regarding the proposal which would make the purchasing of an associated student body card compulsory.

Her opinion, with little reservation, is a summation of our attitude.

The advantages of compulsory ASB cards considerably outweigh the disadvantages.

For example, such a requirement would:

1. Provide more funds for "bigger and better" student activities.
2. Permit a relatively accurate method for the Student Council to make a budget for the ensuing year.
3. Prevent those students who have never paid their share for student activities from "getting a free ride."

It is definitely true that the burden of some students who are struggling to pay their own ways might be increased financially. But these are a minority, and they too will benefit from becoming active student body members. Life is not all work. Student activities, might provide diversion which every human requires.

If the state legislature, impressed by a large student expression, passes such a law, our student governing groups will have bigger budgets. Approximately $23,445 will be paid by the federal government which sanctions paying for veterans' cards if the college makes such a purchase compulsory. In addition to this the money derived from increased sales of cards will provide our council with a similar amount.

More money means better athletic teams, better student shows, a better band, a better newspaper, and, incidentally, a better Spardis Gras, if our administration and fraternal organizations ever decide to accept a modified form of the former affair.

Another major point is that the move will permit more accurate budgeting—better financing.

In the past Student Councils during the Spring quarter had to plan the ensuing year's budget by estimating the following year's probable sales of ASB cards. That method has, by trial and error, proven to be a very unsatisfactory one. If the proposed plan becomes a law, the Student Council merely will have to obtain a reasonable estimate of the ensuing school year's enrollment and plan their budget accordingly.

Yesterday afternoon, after learning of the moderate vote cast by SJS students, Bob Madsen, vice-president of the student body, said that a larger favorable vote might influence the state legislators enough so that they would make the proposal a law. He stated that student activities would be greatly expanded as a result of getting more funds.

Madsen said that the cultural committees activities could be increased; money could be set aside for building a new Student Union; a La Torre and a Lyke with many more pages could be published.

Dr. Howard Thurman Addresses 400 In Religious Week Keynote Speech

By LEN WALLACH

Soft spoken Dr. Howard Thurman, noted religious leader and opening speaker for the Religious Emphasis Week told over 400 students, "We are all creatures of faith," as he spoke yesterday in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

"We all live by broad and basic assumptions of faith in our lives," he commented. Dr. Thurman defined this statement when he listed three main assumptions by which we live.

First, he stated that all men are equal in the presence of God. Dr. Thurman emphasized this point by explaining that our democracy is rooted in this assumption.

Secondly, he said that there is a structure of order in the universe with which the mind of man is involved, and therefore he eventually can understand the logic of this structure and apply it to understand the universe.

Thirdly, Dr. Thurman pointed out that man's personality is capable of growth and therefore faith is capable of growth.

In further comments on religion, Dr. Thurman said that there are three facets of God. They are: God is, God is near, and God is love. On the basis of these facets, he explained, man lives his life.

Oils on Display In Art Wing

An exhibition of oil paintings including the works of two San Jose State college instructors and an SJS student will be on display in the Art wing this week, according to Dr. Marques E. Reitzel, professor of art.

Those being represented in the exhibition are Mrs. Vida Miller, a "limited" art student, Mr. Wendall N. Gates, assistant professor of art, and Mr. Nels Eric Oback, instructor of art.

The paintings are on loan to San Jose State college from the Oakland Art gallery where they have been on exhibition in the All-American Art show just concluded, Dr. Reitzel said.

Mobilization News Carries Draft Tidings

Details of the new government plan concerning the draft deferment of college students are forthcoming in the next edition of the Mobilization News, according to Dr. Stanley Benz, Dean of Men.

The News is prepared by the Dean's office, with the purpose of "keeping the faculty and students informed about selective service regulations, and other matters directly related to military service."

Dean Benz, in commenting upon what the next issue will contain, stated that according to the U. S. News, 700,000 full time students will be seeking deferment under the new draft plan. "It is speculated," he said, "that the majority of these students will probably receive deferments."

Dean Benz stressed the fact that good grades pay off in the form of a deferment.

"It is believed by some," Dean Benz said, "that if the student is in the upper half, two-thirds, or those three-fourths of his class as the case may be for the different grade levels, he will be deferred and will not have to take the test now being proposed to act as a basis for exemptions."

Further information on this subject will be in the next edition of the Dean's publication.

Copies of the latest edition of the News, which came out yesterday, can be obtained at the Dean's office, the library, and offices of all department heads.

Yesterday's edition is concerned with opportunities for academic education in the armed services and with details which should assist students in determining their present draft status.

Yale Professor To Speak at SCU

Dr. Harold G. Cassidy, associate professor of chemistry at Yale university, will address the April meeting of the Santa Clara valley sub-section of the American Chemical society Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Adobe lodge on the Santa Clara university campus, according to the Natural Science department.

The subject of Dr. Cassidy's talk will be "Some Aspects of Oxidation in Organic Chemistry."

Dr. Clarice Wills' Book Receives Recognition

By AGNES BOLTER

The author's reward, recognition, now belongs to Dr. Clarice Wills, assistant professor of education.

"Living in the Kindergarten," the book she wrote in collaboration with Dr. William Stegeman of Chico State college, has been placed on the Phi Delta Kappa list of the most outstanding educational books of 1950. A review of the book will be published in the May issue of the National Educational Association Journal.

Her reaction when she received the information yesterday was one of "happiness and surprise."

"I wrote because I felt there was a need for this type of book," she said. "I wanted the book to serve a real purpose and have a real use, and I feel that the recognition of its merit by educators confirms my purpose."

Dr. Wills has just returned from an international meeting of the Association for Childhood Education held at Seattle March 26-30.

"I have attended a lot of conferences, and of them all I feel that this was the most worthwhile and interesting," she said.

Five general areas were covered in exploring the theme, "Living with the Child in Today's World". They were "The Child and Why He Is That Way", "Children Need Help in Meeting Social Impacts", "Curriculum Acquaints the Child with the World", "Children Need Adult Guidance", and "Research, the Perpetual Quest".

Approximately 1500 delegates from every part of the globe attended. "There was absolutely no discrimination either at the conference or in the city as to race, color, or creed," said Dr. Wills.

This, to her, was one of the outstanding features of the meeting, because it proved that associations can "practice what they preach." "It was also very gratifying that I didn't have to explain where San Jose was," she said. "They all seemed to know where we are and what a good job we are doing in education."

Boy's Weak Cry For Help Causes Frantic Search

"Help, I'm caught!" came a weak little cry east of the women's gym Friday afternoon.

"I'm caught! I'm caught!" echoed the plea, which seemed to drift down from the lofty pepper trees at the side of the building.

Simultaneously dozens of heads turned toward the trees and puzzled eyes searched for the small child, as the voice indicated, who apparently was trapped somewhere nearby.

Once again the cry was repeated. Frantic students searched the trees, the bushes and finally the cars parked at the side.

There, to their surprise, bobbed the head of a little boy. His eyes twinkled mischievously and a broad grin spread from ear to ear. He was having his April Fool's joke two days early!

Frosh Council To Meet Today

The freshman council will meet today at 3:30 o'clock in room H-44.

"In order to obtain unity and also to keep the students well informed, all Greek letter groups are invited to send representatives to the meeting," Mr. James F. Jacobs, freshmen adviser, said.

Included in the agenda will be the nomination of four freshmen students, from which two will be chosen to receive the Patrons' association scholarships.

The students will be chosen on the basis of scholastic standing and need.

The council will also decide on the future Frosh-Soph Mixer. The tentative time and location is a Friday afternoon this month at Santa Cruz.

Student Debators To Judge Contest

Three members of the San Jose State college debating team will become judges for a night when they preside over a high-school speech contest tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in Lou's Village.

The squad members chosen to judge the 14th annual Beverly-Burbank Lions club speech contest are Kathryn Sproul, Sam Datri, and Jack Nix. They will judge speeches by students of Lincoln high school, San Jose, and Campbell high school on the basis of general effect of speech, thought and content, and delivery, according to Mr. Wilbur Luick, adviser to the forensic squad. The topic chosen for discussion is "American Voters' Responsibilities."

Local Nine Meets Capital City Club

By CARL FERNANDES

Coach Walt Williams' San Jose State college baseballers will attempt to return to the win road when they play host to the Sacramento State nine, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Municipal stadium.

The Spartans lost two games to Fresno State on their southland tour recently, and came home to act as perfect hosts to the Arizona Wildcats, losing two to them last week.

What the mysterious Sacramento Staters have to offer, no one knows. The capitol city nine will come and go with as little noise as possible, we hope.

Con Maloney, the chunky righthander, will start on the mound for the locals this afternoon. Acting reliefer, Glen Davis, who has been bothered with a sore arm, will be on hand to spell Maloney if needed.

Williams cited the following for duty today: Tom Burch, 1b; Dick Lane, 2b; Bob Graves, 3b; Cookie Camara, ss; Andy Miller, rf; Joe Bonfiglio, cf; Dean Giles, lf; and Walt Johnson, c.

Giles, fresh from the basketball courts, is making the rounds. He took a turn at first base in the second Arizona game and will see action in the greener pastures today.

At practice yesterday he looked up to form playing the outfield. A long fly from the bat of Rod Fielder took Giles up, up, and away, but he came down, ball in hand.

There was even a little body contact mixed up in the afternoon's frolicking. Dick Lane and Ed Hallberg bumped heads, when the latter tried a second base steal. Lane remained on his feet, but Hallberg did a one-and-a-half.

Later, however, Hallberg regained his dignity by knocking a round tripper over the head of center fielder Joe Bonfiglio.

The Moffett Field sailors are next on the Spartans' books. They invade Municipal stadium Thursday afternoon.

'Mural League Gets Six Fields

The San Jose Recreation department has granted San Jose State college the use of six playgrounds for intra-mural softball play, according to Bill Perry, intra-mural director.

Playgrounds which will be used are: Peter Burnett (north field), 850 N. Second; Grant playground, 491 E. Empire; Darling playground, 33rd street and McKee road; Jefferson, 73 Hobson street; Olinder, 1125 E. San Fernando; and Lowell, E. Reed at Seventh street.

Perry said that the fields may be used beginning today, for practice games, but must first be cleared through him. He emphasized that certain rules must be abided.

No practice may begin before 5 p.m., no smoking or profanity will be permitted in the area, and no spikes can be worn on the grass fields, according to rules of San Jose recreation department.

Applications for both independent and fraternity teams should be turned in to the P.E. office before 3:30 p.m. tomorrow, Perry said.

A meeting of representatives will be held tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Local Mermen After Sixth Victory Today

Spartan mermen journey to Moraga this afternoon to face the St. Mary's Gaels in a return meet attempting their sixth win of the season.

The swim squad will be led by co-captain Dick Lebedeff, but will be without the services of frosh star Howard Hays, who is lost to the squad because of scholastic difficulties. The loss of Hays, a versatile sprint star, will cost San Jose from five to ten points per meet for the remainder of the season.

The first engagement held at the Spartan pool resulted in a 96-15 San Jose triumph. The Blue and Red are a rapidly improving outfit and this meeting should prove to be much closer, according to Coach Charlie Walker.

Outstanding on the Gael squad are Keith Clark, breaststroke; Joe Waltham, distances; and Jim Bastian, sprints.

Frosh Oval Team Vies HS Tracksters

Lincoln and San Jose high schools will combine forces against Coach Don Bryant's SJS frosh thinclads this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Spartan stadium.

Dick Balfour, who is still climbing in the pole vault, attained 13 ft. Friday.

The baby Raiders' distance quartet of Ardel Johnston, Jim Van Zant, Paul Bowen, and K. S. Jensen, hope to repeat Friday's performance by sweeping the mile

Five Spartan Mittmen Leave for NCAA Meet

By JIM DOWNS

Coach Dee Portal and five San Jose State college boxers—Capt. Al Tafoya, Don Camp, Johnny Johnson, Nick Diez and Jack Scheberies—will leave by plane this afternoon for East Lansing, Mich., the site of the 1951 NCAA tournament.

Still somewhat staggered by the weird fortunes of war marked by strange judging which took place at Sacramento over the week-end, the five-man crew will be out to wreck Gonzaga and Idaho, 1950 co-champs.

Leading contenders for this year's national crown are Syracuse, Idaho and Minnesota.

Sparked by its four-alarm fire—Frank Echevarria, Norm and Len Walker, and Larry Moyer—Idaho captured the PCI title Saturday with 33 points. The four Vandals won individual titles in the 125, 145, 155 and 175-lb. classes, respectively.

Washington State finished second with 21 points as Jack Melson, Ev Conley and Herb Christianson won the 130, 135 and heavyweight divisions.

It was a sour victory for Melson, however, as he won the judges' nod from Spartan Al Tafoya. The lean Cougar spent six minutes racing around the ring—with Tafoya in pursuit.

Tafoya caught Melson repeatedly and landed three punches to one over his opponent. In the second round, Melson stopped long enough to hit the Spartan with a straight right. Tafoya dropped to his haunches, touched the canvas with his right glove, and immediately went after Melson again but the referee halted him, giving the Cougar credit for a two-point knockdown.

HAPPIER DAYS . . . SJS Boxing Captain Al Tafoya is shown jarring Gonzaga's Arlan Gallagher in a dual meet here recently. Tafoya won this match handily but lost a questionable decision to Washington State's Jackie Melson Saturday night at the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate tournament at Sacramento. Winter Quarter Student To Get Kaucher Award

Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, professor of speech at San Jose State college since 1930, will be honored Thursday when the first award in her name will be presented to the outstanding student of the winter quarter in the field of oral interpretation at SJS.

Dr. Hugh W. Gillis, head of the Speech and Drama department, will present the award to the winning student at the close of the bi-monthly reading program conducted by the department. The programs begin at 4 p.m. and consist of readings in prose and poetry by the students and faculty members in the Speech department.

The award was made possible by an anonymous donor who wished to express appreciation for the many years Dr. Kaucher has devoted to speech education at San Jose State college, according to Dr. Edgar E. Willis of the Speech department who is a member of the award committee. Other members of the committee are Dr. Lawrence Mount, Mrs. Helen Hall, Mrs. Katherine Johnstone, Mr. Wallace Murray, Mrs. Courtney Brooks, and Dr. Kaucher.

"As an indication of her standing in the field of oral interpretation, Dr. Kaucher was chosen to speak recently at the annual banquet of the Mid-winter Speech convention with Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon and Dr. Irving J. Lee of Northwestern university, author of several philosophy textbooks," said Dr. Willis.

Dr. Willis also noted that Dr. Kaucher was recently selected as the outstanding woman of the San Jose metropolitan community by the Quota club, of which she is an honorary member. She was honored the previous spring by her sorority, Phi Mu, at their national convention when she was selected their "Woman of the Year".

Before coming to San Jose State college, Dr. Kaucher was professor of speech at Wells college in New York. She holds a doctorate from Cornell university in English and Speech, and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She also belongs to Chi Lambda Theta, national honorary organization for women in education, and the Phi Mu sorority. Dr. Kaucher is also a member of the local branch of the National League of Pen Women.

Several one-act plays written by Dr. Kaucher have been produced by the local college, Cornell university, and over a nationwide radio network.

A pioneer in women's aviation circles, Dr. Kaucher at one time had logged more flying time than any other aviatrix. One product of her love of flying was a book published within the last few years entitled "Wings Over Wake".

The award is open to all students in college who participate in the reading hours every other Thursday at 4 p.m. in Apt. 3, revealed Dr. Willis.

Two Veterans Added to Air ROTC Staff

Two new sergeants, in the persons of Glen C. Steed and Vincent W. Staniszewski, were added to the Air Force ROTC cadre personnel over the Easter holidays, according to Lt. Col. Thomas A. Lee.

Twenty-nine-year-old Sergeant Steed, a veteran of 11 years of service, comes to San Jose State college from Tenth Air Force headquarters, Selfridge Air Force base, Michigan. At Selfridge, he was a chief clerk; here, he will be assigned to students' records. Sergeant Steed was born and educated in Ohio.

Supply is the major field of Air Force Sergeant Staniszewski, who was assigned to San Jose from Fourth Air Force headquarters at Hamilton field. While taking over the AF supply and training aids on campus, Sergeant Staniszewski also will train AF ROTC students in rifle marksmanship.

The rifle instructor, with twelve years of service behind him, served in Australia with the Fifth Air Force during the war. Before his assignment at Hamilton field, Sergeant Staniszewski, who was reared and educated in Niagara Falls, N.Y., spent three years with Port-Air Liaison at the San Francisco Port of Embarkation.

Air ROTC to Call 28; Grads Face Quick Duty

Twenty-eight students, to be commissioned through the Air Force ROTC, will leave for active duty within 45 days of their June graduation, according to Lt. Col. Thomas A. Lee, professor of air science and tactics at San Jose State college.

Col. Lee, in announcing the induction, quoted a recent Air Force directive, which says in part: "All Air Force ROTC students to be commissioned between Jan. 1 and June 30, 1951, and who also will receive academic degrees will be ordered to active duty."

He pointed out that students who have been commissioned in January and February, 1951, will be ordered to duty within 90 to 120 days of the date they were appointed.

The air science professor stated that veterans who complete the ROTC course and receive commissions, but who do not receive baccalaureate degrees will not be ordered to active duty prior to graduation unless they volunteer, or subsequently withdraw from college.

Col. Lee also pointed out that under new Air Force provisions, May-June appointees may apply for flying training while still in student status. Applications must be accepted by him within time for the officer in charge to forward the applications, along with supporting documents, prior to the student's graduation date.

Interim initial duty assignments will be furnished May and June appointees who have requested flying training so that they may be brought to duty as soon as practicable after their graduation, Col. Lee said.

After reaching their first active duty station, interested officers will be offered a chance to apply for schools for electronics countermeasures officers, radar observers, and all-weather fighter. These flying courses will be offered only after reaching the first active base, the colonel stated.

The professor of air science and tactics also pointed to another opportunity offered by the Air Force. The USAF offers career opportunities to college graduates having Air Force commissions who qualify to study meteorology, or, if without commission, who are qualified for a direct commission as meteorologists. Minimum educational requirements, he said, are a baccalaureate degree with mathematics through integral calculus and 12 hours physical science.

Minimum professional requirements for appointment as a commissioned weather officer are a baccalaureate degree with at least 20 semester hours of meteorology. Experience is not necessary.

Interested students are invited to come in and talk over the possibilities with Col. Lee or a member of his staff, he said.

Panel Chooses Vital Issues

Representatives of the three major religious faiths will discuss controversial religious issues this afternoon at 2:30 in Room 112 in an inter-faith round table discussion of "The Basic Philosophy of Protestantism, Judaism, and Catholicism, with Its Implications for Family and Political Life," according to Barbara Price, Religious Emphasis week chairman.

Some of the questions to be discussed will be, "Should a Catholic marry a Protestant?" "In what faith should children of a Catholic-Jewish marriage be brought up?" "Should the church take a stand on political issues?" "Should one's religion make a difference in the way he votes or influence the way he makes a living?"

Leading the discussion will be Rabbi Joseph Gitin, rabbi of Temple Emanu-El; Father John Durycia, Newman club chaplain, and Dr. Robert Fitch, professor of Christian ethics at Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley.

"This is the first time we have been able to have representatives of all three major faiths appear on the same program for such interesting and important topics," Miss Price commented. She urged all students and faculty members to attend, and added that the panel was open to the public.
