

Spartan Daily SJS Greets 600 Seniors On Annual Campus Tour

SAN JOSE STATE COLLEGE

Vol. XXXIX San Jose, Calif., Thursday, April 12, 1951 No. 118

Taking part in San Jose State college's annual Visitation Day activities are some 600 high school seniors from San Jose, Abraham Lincoln, San Jose Tech and Willow Glen.

Alumni from these schools—except the new Willow Glen school—are playing an important role in the life of Spartans on Washington Square. Graduates from San Jose, Lincoln and Tech have left behind great achievements in every field of Spartan activity.

Revelries Termed 'Best in Years'

By JEANNE THOMAS

Long nights of rehearsal, brilliant costumes, and a well-written script paid off last night, as a near capacity audience registered approval of this year's Revelries' production of "Ye Gods!" Handicapped by lack of coordination between orchestra and cast, production still came through as one of the best student shows in recent years.

Shining light of a fun-filled two hours was talent and projection of Dewey Chambers, in role of greek god "Mercury". Musical talents of Misty Gallot and B. J. Holt added to evening's romantic portion, while Hank Kreutzmann as the German movie director sucked long laughs from a typically-critical student audience.

Dave Woods and Lee Leidig, cast as two of the "mortals who learn to be human," showed poise and stage presence as Bunky Bowman, Jim Hughes, and Jack Shippe cavorted enthusiastically through comic roles. Outstanding production number of show highlighted an Indian Dance, with dancers and music combining to add sparkle to solo performance of Yvonne Gineste.

Director Bob Wyckoff and his crew received deserving applause as last night's curtain fell. Show is slated for a four-night run, ending Saturday.

Some of today's visiting students will return this fall as students of San Jose State college. They can be proud of the past performance of graduates of their alma maters.

From San Jose high school we have such former Bulldogs active in student government as Bob Madsen, vice president of ASB, and Bob Rojka, vice president of the Senior class.

On the Student Court are Bob King, chief justice and Lynn Erickson, justice. Both hail from the neighboring school. The student council has another former Bulldog in Jeannie Kerwin.

The Lincoln Lion is well represented on the student council with Mary Lou Carli, Henry Down and John Moeller. Miss Carli is head of the cultural committee and active in many student government projects.

Anthony K. Medeiros, treasurer of the Inter-Fraternity council, and Ed Mosher, past rally committee chairman, are San Jose high graduates, as is Joe Juliano, alumni director.

Active in Spartan music activities is Helen Kimzey and Terry Bowman, both from next-door school. On the Spartan Daily staff are two SJH graduates, Jeannie Thomas, society editor, and Mike Alaimo, reporter.

The Weather

Phil Phogbound, philosopher, could not conceal his boredom. The antics of the flickering pigmies in the little square of light at the far end of the room had ceased to be amusing as soon as they came into focus. Turning his eye from the screen, Phil reflected:

"Television, smellevision! For once those crass commercialists, the Hollywood moguls are right—movies ARE better than ever!"

Phil Phogbound, philosopher, winced as the third commercial in as many minutes entreated the audience to rush out and buy a gross of shudru. It must be today's warm weather, he thought.

Council: No Dinner

A motion to provide funds for a Revelries staff banquet was defeated by a 9-2 vote at yesterday's Student Council meeting.

The Council also approved a recommendation that a committee be appointed by the president of the Associated Student Body to investigate the problems of awards to student organizations.

Bob King, chief justice of the Student Court, informed the council that the charges against the Student Council for improper use of student body funds had been dropped as a result of the council action in rescinding a motion granting those funds.

Britain: Give Reds Formosa

WASHINGTON.—Britain has proposed giving Formosa to communist China and has suggested the Red regime have a voice in writing the Japanese peace treaty, authoritative sources said yesterday.

Knight Blasts Truman

SACRAMENTO.—Commenting on the MacArthur affair, Lt. Gov. Goodwin Knight said yesterday, "No pipsqueak politician can ever sully the General's magnificent record. Dean Acheson should have been fired."

State Seeks Bids For Music Building

Bids for constructing San Jose State college's new music building will be accepted after April 20, according to Anson Boyd, state architect.

"The Music building plans will be filed with the Secretary of State this Friday," Boyd stated yesterday when contacted in Sacramento by telephone. "One week later bids will be sought," he said.

The Engineering building plans are still on the drawing boards, according to the state's chief architect. However, he expects them to be finished within two or three weeks. Bids for its construction also will be accepted one week after the plans are filed with the Secretary of State.

Collegian Reveals Opinions On MacArthur's Dismissal

"Any other commanding general of the American Army who takes Gen. Douglas MacArthur's position as head of the Allied Forces in Japan would command the same admiration from the Japanese people." Thus feels Kazuo Hara, 22-year-old Oriental student who came to America just five months ago.

"The great admiration of the Japanese people for the five-star general stems from the people's appreciation of the American soldier. Any who can command the respect of Army privates with whom the people associate most, would naturally command the respect of the citizens."

"Thus," says Hara, "the love for MacArthur stems not from the man himself, but from the place he occupies as head of the Allied forces in Japan. The average soldier, and the whole occupation, has done wonders toward correcting the mental attitude of the Japanese toward the Western world."

Hara, who came to America to study through the patronage of an American businessman, is majoring in psychology here at San Jose State college. He was born in Tokyo, where he lived for nine years, and was educated and lived in Osaka until he came to California in December.

"MacArthur is very friendly toward the Japanese and respects them," he says. "They, in turn, respect him and appreciate what he and what he stands for, has done for their country."

"Naturally, I cannot speak for the whole of the population," Hara says, "but, in Japan, I felt that MacArthur was representative of the brilliant American leaders; however, after I came to this country, I realized that there are many men of greater capabilities than Douglas MacArthur."

Decision Unfair

"I think it is very unfair to oust Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur from the top spot of the army of occupation in Japan," said Mariano Villanueva, SJS student who hails from the Philippine Islands.

"He was doing a good job," explained Villanueva. "I believe he was removed from office because he wanted to use the army of Nationalist China against the Communists in Korea." This should not have been the deciding factor; the effectiveness of his administration as a whole should have been weighed and judged, Villanueva said.

"Personally," he added, "I feel that the Chinese Nationalists should bear their share of the burden of Korean fighting, since they are members of the United Nations."

Of the general Filipino feeling towards MacArthur the former member of the Army of the Philippines had this to say: "We all thought he was a fine general."

Villanueva is a business administration student here. He plans to return to the Philippines when he graduates and enter some business field.

Scribe Warns Novices Of College Pitfalls

By ED ROPER, Campus Editor

Did you ever think of going to Pepperdine?

Of course you didn't! It's too far away and can you picture yourself giving a big whispering locomotive for Pepperdine as Majowskowitz lugs the porker over the goal? You'd be tongue-tied in no time at all.

But you have thought of going to San Jose State, or else you wouldn't be here.

As we remember our freshman days, we picked San Jose because it was the best college in the west for our major, journalism; but after we enrolled we forgot about the future and relaxed and enjoyed ourselves and went the party route. At the end of the quarter we weren't asked to join any scholastic societies, nor were we exactly proud of our grades.

This getting by on "C's" and hitting the party circuit is the easiest thing to do around here, also it's about the worst thing you can do. Take it from a reformed party-timer, it's a hard habit to break, and if you don't break it in a hurry, it won't matter, because you'll be on the outside looking in.

On the other extreme is the student who polishes his glasses, sharpens his pencils, sits down at his desk and doesn't move from it until he graduates cum laude four years later.

Sure, cum laude is the acme of a scholastic career, but if this scholar had gotten out and mixed with his friends he would know how much easier he could establish and hold business contacts and broaden his social life.

There is more to being a success than just knowing the right answer. You'll find a lot of people are embarrassed by an astute and brilliant acquaintance because they feel that they can't mix with him. Therefore, they shy away from him.

If you do get fouled up slightly in the freshman year, don't despair. You have three years in which to arch your toes around the ball.

Just Among Ourselves

By Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie

It's visitation day again, and you fine young folks from high schools will be wondering. The thing to do is to get all the information you can, then make your own decision. You're the one who will have to live with yourself the rest of your days.

It's a large order when one person attempts to tell another what to do with his life. It's a large order for me to tell you whether you should go to college or not. That's something for you to decide.

Almost anyone can go to college these days if he wants to, and if he has a reasonable capacity for college work. The financing will not be too difficult for one who is willing to work, and who has enough character to make a schedule and stick to it.

This community is ideal for the young student who has to work his own way. We have an enormous seasonal industry with its heaviest load occurring during the summer months. A student who is in good health, and who is reasonably alert, should be able to get a full-time job in the summer which will pay most of his yearly expenses. If necessary, he should be able to get a part-time job during the year which will pay the rest. That has been done countless times.

So, young folks, you can go to college if you want to, and—I'm afraid you'll be sorry if you don't.

Welcome, Seniors

The Spartan Daily, as a representative of San Jose State college, is happy to speak for the entire student body in extending a hearty welcome to you 600 high school seniors who are visiting us today.

We hope you will take a good look at us while you are on campus this morning; that you will like what you see, and that many of you will make it your campus by enrolling here in the Fall.

Your tour may take you through the various departments of SJS. Among them is our Natural Science department which many educators think is one of the finest in the West.

Across from the Natural Science building is our modern library where students are permitted to enter the stacks and browse around at will. Very few colleges grant students this privilege. The library has a record collection of the works of the great classical composers. These records may be checked out by students who may listen to them in one of the library's sound-proof record rooms or take them home overnight.

Sparta is known for its fine Music and Drama departments. Each has produced eminent performers. The Industrial Arts workshops may impress many of you, and we can understand why.

San Jose State college has lots more that might interest you. It has a daily newspaper, a wonderful addition to the Women's gym, a Social Science department second to none, and mighty athletes whom some of you might know.

We're happy that you are visiting today. Come back again.

Junior Dance Poster Work Closes Today

The Chinese Moonmist organization poster contest closes today, according to Jeanne Neri, contest chairman.

The organization submitting the winning poster will receive a bid to the "Chinese Moonmist" Junior prom to be held at Mary Ann Gardens, April 21, Miss Neri said. The only specifications for posters is that the entries be 20x40 inches. They will be judged on originality, she said.

The Junior class is sponsoring another advertising contest and offering a cash prize of $250. This contest is similar to shaving cream jingle signs, according to Deloris Peterson, jingle chairman.

The rules for this contest are that no more than five signs be submitted per jingle and that they be 4x12 inches. Entries should be placed in the "J" organization box in the Coop by Friday, Miss Peterson said. Winners will be announced Monday.

Installment sale of Junior Prom bids will continue in the Graduate Manager's office, according to Marion Huttman, prom chairman. The purchaser may place a $1.25 deposit and pay the balance at a later date, she said. The full price of a bid is $2.75.

"There seems to be some misunderstanding as to who may attend the prom," Miss Huttman said. "Chinese Moonmist is for the entire student body."

Educator Speaks To Campus Club

Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, American educator, last night severely criticized the lack of vitality in the defense of American ideas, as typified by the Constitution, that is reportedly prevalent today. He spoke before a meeting of the SJS Philosophy club in the Student Union on the meaning of the American concept of free speech.

Citing Roger Williams, liberal thinker of early America, Dr. Meiklejohn pointed out that the principles which Williams stood for and which later came to be included in the Constitution, have been abused specifically by the recent trend of punishing a man for thinking "wrongly." He said that the recent loyalty oath controversy was an example of this concept.

Dr. Meiklejohn was introduced by Dr. Elmo Robinson of the college philosophy faculty.

Candy Sale Today

Home-made candy will be on sale in the patio of the Women's gym today for all students attending classes there, Jessie Matsumoto, publicity chairman of the P.E. and Rec Majors club, said this week.

The freshmen members of the club are making the candy and will be in charge of the sale, under the direction of Carolyn Polenski, chairman. Profits will be used for the spring activities of the club.

Spartan Sports Feature Many Local Prep Stars

By BORIS STANKEVICH

San Jose high school seniors, who today are giving San Jose State college the once-over, should feel right at home in the Spartan sports department. At present there are ex-Bulldogs and ex-Lions who are sporting the Gold and White on the Raider's up and coming teams.

EX LION STAR—Dore Purdy, iron-lunged distance man on the San Jose State college track squad, was Northern California mile champ while attending Abraham Lincoln high school in San Jose. Purdy is a senior and is finishing his last season for SJS.

Dore Purdy, an ex-Lion who earned the title of Northern California mile champion while attending Lincoln, is one of Coach Bud Winter's mainstays on this spring's track squad.

Joe Bonfiglio, San Jose High school, is now center fielding Walt Williams' Spartan nine.

Bonfiglio, who has given an excellent performance in the outfield this year, is currently batting .217.

Chesley Douglas, Lincoln, and Don Feak, SJH, are both breaststroking with Charley Walker's Natators.

Johnny Jackson and Bill Wardrup, both SJH alumni, just finished grunting and groaning on Coach Ted Mumby's wrestling squad. John Cassedy of Lincoln High school is also a matman.

This year's basketball five, under the tutorship of Walt McPherson, featured such Bulldog stars as George Clark and Ray Silva.

When at San Jose High school Clark earned all-PAL and all-Northern California honors.

San Jose High school alumnus Ernie Paramo and John Jackson were members of Coach Dee Portal's potent boxing squad. Ex-Bulldog Bob Phelps is a member of the tennis team.

Lincoln and San Jose High school alumni who are out for spring football are: John Avila (L), Al Cadeua (SJH), Phil Hattenfiller (L).

The local high schools have long been a fertile reservoir for Spartan athletes. San Jose State college competes in not only the major sports but also skiing, rifle shooting, swimming, golf, and an array of others.

The college faculty and students hope that today's tour will be a pleasant and instructive experience.

Spartan Golf Team Seeks Third Triumph

Undefeated in two dual matches, Coach Walt McPherson's strong San Jose State college golf team have high hopes of extending their short win streak to three straight this afternoon when they face the San Francisco Police linksmen on the Harding golf course at the Bay City.

Named to represent the Gold and White in today's match are Ken Venturi, Jay Hopkins, Bill King, Ernie King, Dominic Paganano, and Wally Regan.

Frosh Mermen, Local Preps Splash Today

A band of San Jose State college Frosh swimmers, short on experience but long on determination, meet the Bellarmine Prep school plunge team this afternoon at the latter's pool in search of their first victory of the current season.

Spartan Frosh entries in this afternoon's swimming meet are: 50-yd. freestyle—Keil, Parish; 100-yd. breaststroke—Cudney, Endersby; 200-yd. freestyle—Smalley, Whitman; 100-yd. backstroke—Self, Hathaway; 100-yd. freestyle—Keil, Parish; 150-yd. individual medley—Cudney, Endersby; diving—Lundy, Tweenen; 150-yd. medley relay—Self, Cudney, Keil; 200-yd. relay—Smalley, Malone, Wegener, Parish.

WAA Net Club Meets Today

The WAA tennis club will meet today from 3:30 to 5:30, according to Anita Carr, manager.

There will be transportation to and from the courts at 3:30, 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. Students are asked to meet in front of the Women's gym on San Carlos street.

SJS Nine Bows To San Jose Red Sox 8-0

By CARL FERNANDES

The professional San Jose Red Sox took the measure of the San Jose State college Spartans yesterday afternoon at Veteran's hospital field in Palo Alto, as they shut them out 8-0.

Glenn Davis made his 1951 debut as a starter on the mound for Coach Walt Williams' nine.

Although the Spartans lost their ninth straight game, one outlook of the contest was bright. Davis, who has been bothered with a sore arm which has held him to relief duty, looked promising against the pros, Williams said.

Davis allowed 10 hits and walked only three batters. His rough inning was the fourth, when the Red Sox pounded out six runs.

If Davis can shake the aches and pains and be depended upon as a starter it would bolster the sparse Spartan pitching staff.

Walt Johnson was back handling the catching chores. Williams has been shifting Johnson between second base and catcher in the last few encounters, looking for a smooth working combination.

The locals knocked out a total of six hits. SJS centerfielder Joe Bonfiglio was top man for the Spartans, hitting two for three. The other Spartan hits were scattered.

Skilled Hands

Those special hands... the guiding, teaching hands of the occupational therapist or the physical therapist... the strength-giving hands of the hospital dietitian... are the ones Air Force men in hospitals look to with admiration and respect.

Those mending hands are hands to fly with... the skilled fingers that bring the flying and supporting men of the Air Force back to duty strong and healthy.

Graduates and prospective graduates in occupational or physical therapy, or dietetics, can now have interesting, challenging careers as commissioned officers with good pay and allowances in the Women's Medical Specialist Corps of the U. S. Air Force Medical Service. Opportunities for further professional education are also available.

Regular and reserve commissions are offered to qualified specialists in these fields. Write for details to The Surgeon General, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Dietetic Internships, Occupational Therapy Affiliates, and Physical Therapy Training Courses are offered to selected individuals. For information, write to The Surgeon General, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Hospitals Issue Urgent Plea For Accredited Therapists

The supply of occupational and physical therapists today is sharply exceeded by the demand, according to Miss Catherine M. Wallace of the physiotherapy lab and Mrs. Eleanor P. Mann of the occupational therapy staff.

One of the major blocks to training of occupational therapists is the lack of training facilities, Mrs. Mann said. Only 24 training centers, with an estimated need for 56 more, are operating at the present time, she revealed. The need for O.T. specialists was great before the Korean war, and the new development has brought additional need, stated Mrs. Mann.

The Army is offering commissions for those trained in occupational therapy, showing that the need is felt in higher places, also. Women under 26 who are unmarried and have graduated from accredited schools are offered commissions as second lieutenants. After completion of nine months of clinical training in the Army, they will become first lieutenants, she said.

Miss Wallace reported that definite need for physical therapists is being felt in many organizations that require their use. Army and civilian hospitals, crippled children's homes, rehabilitation centers, cerebral palsy clinics, psychiatric clinics, the U.S. Public Health service, and industrial clinics all need more physical therapists, she pointed out.

For the benefit of those who might wish to qualify for this work in physical therapy, Miss Wallace indicated the groups from which most applicants come. Those who have been registered nurses, or have majored in physical education, or have had three years of biological science may, with an added year in an approved school, enter the field. San Jose State college does not have such a school, but Stanford university and the University of California at Berkeley have these facilities, she said.

For those who wish more information about the field of physical therapy, Miss Wallace requested they see her in her office, Room 37-A.

Cinema Preview To Be Presented

First film previews of the spring quarter will be presented tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in Room 210 of the Library, according to Miss Joyce Backus, librarian.

California and Australia will be the celluloid centers of interest. "California in the Century of the Pacific" shows the tremendous growth of population in California and the steps taken by government, industry, and agriculture to solve the resulting problems. Informational in nature, "They Bring Us Milk" describes the organization, people, and process which brings dairy products to communities of the state.

Several films from the Australian News and Information bureau are being shown in answer to student demand, said Miss Backus.

"The films from Australia presented last quarter were exceptionally well received and we have had many requests for more," she explained.

"Touring Through the Centre" is a story of a journey through the little-known interior of Australia. "Pacific Terminal" describes the city of Sydney in New South Wales, and "Marvels in Miniature" is a color study showing underwater life in the coral reefs.

The preview programs are presented by the Library, with the cooperation of the college Audio Visual Service Center, and are open to all. There is no charge.

American Friends Service Committee Enlists SJS Aid

The American Friends service committee is enlisting the help of San Jose State college, Stanford, and University of California students for weekend work camps to develop an inter-racial summer camp for boys, according to Mrs. Joyce Tappan of the committee.

Students interested in this project can attend the camps on the weekends of April 13-15, April 27-29, May 11-13, and May 25-27. The committee is asking the aid of both men and women.

The weekend workers will live out of doors.

Interested students may contact Mrs. Tappan or Gordon Tappan at 1830 Sutter street, San Francisco. Further information can be obtained from Mr. Goodwin B. Petersen, assistant professor of engineering and industrial arts.

Visitor to Discuss Near East Scene

Discussion of "The Present Conditions in the Near East" will be presented by Dr. John D. Crose at tonight's International Student organization meeting in Room 21 at 7:30 o'clock, according to Niels Nielsen, president.

Dr. Crose recently returned to San Jose after spending 27 years in the Near East in such countries as Syria, Palestine and Egypt. He is now pastor of the 20th Street Church of God.

His missionary work and travels have taken him to all parts of the world in the past 43 years. During this time he has accumulated a collection of rare and ancient coins dating back 2500 years ago.

Nielsen says that tonight's program is open to all persons.

Blue Key Schedules Campus Meet for Regional Chapters

About 60 men are expected on campus for the Blue Key Regional convention April 20 and 21, according to Dick Shaffer, convention chairman.

Sixteen colleges will be represented on the Spartan campus, Shaffer said. "Even groups as far as Pacific university, Oregon State and San Diego State are sending delegations of six, and with the nearer colleges sending more representatives, we expect a very good turn out," he said.

The idea of the convention is to exchange ideas in Blue Key organization and worthy campus projects, Shaffer said. "Serving we live" is the motto of Blue Key, national honorary service organization.

Latin Problem To Be Probed

Dr. Ronald Hilton, director of Hispanic-American studies at Stanford university, will address students and the faculty tomorrow morning at 11:30 o'clock in the auditorium.

The eminent Hispanic-American scholar will talk on, "Is Democracy Possible in Latin America?", according to Dr. William Poytress, Social Science department head.

Dr. Hilton has been instrumental in bringing Latin American conferences to Stanford in the past. This year's conference will discuss the economic, social, and political problems of our southern neighbors.

MEXICO EDUCATIONAL TOUR
An educational tour of Mexico will be conducted this summer by Prof. Juan B. Rael of Stanford University. The tour will include Acapulco, Cordoba, Guernavaca, Guadalajara, Guanajuato, Mexico City, Morelia, Queretaro, Patzcuaro, Puebla, Uruapan, and other interesting places. Cost from Los Angeles by plane: June 24-July 6, $278; June 24-July 21, $478. Rates from elsewhere quoted upon request.
