'Russification' Topic of Former Czech Diplomat

Benes To Talk On Expanding Soviet Orbit

Bohus Benes, brother of the late Czechoslovakian president, Edward Benes, is to speak at 10:30 o'clock this morning in Morris Dailey auditorium. His topic will be "The Russification of the Soviet Orbit."

The speaker has a long career of diplomatic service for Czechoslovakia. Until 1949 he was Consul General in San Francisco. He resigned from the position in 1949 when his brother allegedly was assassinated by Communists.

Benes' speech is to deal with the reasons behind the Russification of some 335 million people living in the Soviet Union and its European satellites.

According to Benes, "Stalin's dreams about aggrandizement of Soviet territories and might went sky high after the Yalta conference."

He is presently a member of the teaching staff of the college extension division, instructing a course in "Russia Today" at Parks Air Force base.

He is being sponsored by the college Lecture committee. His visit to the college has been arranged by Harold H. Seyferth, coordinator of extension services.

Talk Features American Day

Dr. George Bruntz, professor of history and political science and president of the San Jose World Affairs Council, will be featured speaker tonight at the city's 26th annual "I Am An American Day" observance.

His talk, entitled "The Responsibilities of American Citizenship," will highlight a program to begin at 8 p.m. in Montgomery theater of the Civic auditorium.

Special purpose of the evening ceremony is to honor the 112 naturalized citizens in the area who were granted their citizenship papers this year. The program is open to the public.

"I Am An American Day" is held in conjunction with Civic week activities aimed at increasing interest in good citizenship and voting responsibilities.

Sparta Camp By-law Gets Council's Veto

The Student Council yesterday defeated a proposal which would have put Sparta Camp, all-college leadership training program, in the ASB by-laws.

In defeating the proposal, the council voted to let the camp function this year as stipulated in the proposal.

Yesterday was the last meeting for the executive officers on the council. Officers to be elected Friday will take control next week, according to Tom Evans, ASB president.

Freshman Camp fee was raised from $15 to $17, while the counselors' fees were dropped from $10 to $5.

Six additional representatives-at-large to the Revelries board were appointed. They are Sallie Lotz, Joy Mitchell, Margaret Dornill, Norm Yiskis, Bill Kennedy and Bob Russell.

Don Clouse's resignation as chairman of the blood drive was accepted.

Applications for the position now are being accepted in the ASB office, according to Evans.

A recommendation was made that a corner of each ASB card next year be designated for elections. Every time a student votes, a hole will be punched in that corner. Evans believes this will stimulate interest in elections next year.

Students Air Platforms at Tonight's Rally

Pre-election fever is expected to reach a climax tonight when 30 candidates present platform speeches, entertainment and slogans in a last-ditch effort to "get out the vote" for tomorrow's contest.

Jim Morris, head yell leader, will act as master of ceremonies at the election rally, which will be held from 7:30 to 10 p.m. in the Morris Dailey auditorium.

"I think the candidates have gone out more this year than in previous years in campaigning—especially in regard to the presidential candidates," said Morris. "Both men have very good qualifications, and it is important that students see who they are and what they stand for."

The rally, to be run like a "small-scale national convention," will have audience participation. Posters and balloons will be passed out by candidates. Morris said that there will also be candidate parades up the aisles of the auditorium.

Thanks Given Students

To the Students of San Jose State College:

Mrs. Wahlquist and I desire to thank the student body for its support of the inauguration and participation in the inaugural exercises. We believe that the attendance at the morning exercises added immeasurably to their impressiveness. Likewise, the ROTC units, acting as an honor guard, added appreciably to the academic procession. We are especially grateful to the throngs of students who watched the parade, the thousands who attended the exercises, and the hundreds who stood throughout the morning.

We appreciated greatly the tribute by the Student Body President, Tom Evans; the work of Don Binder and Seymour Abrahams, who served on the Inaugural Planning committee; the efforts of the students who were responsible for the Inaugural Ball, especially Marlon Bergen and Del Bowles; and the cooperation of Ted Foley and his staff for their continuous support of the project and especially for the inaugural edition of the Spartan Daily.

The students who sang in the A Cappella Choir and played in the orchestra warrant a special word of thanks. Their renditions were the subject of special commendation from various sources.

Countless others whose efforts are not chronicled above, also receive our thanks—the Spartan Spears for ushering, Alpha Phi Omega for general duties, AWS for assistance at the tea, the members of Mr. Pearce Davies' public relations class for arranging the window displays in the downtown stores, and many others who helped in innumerable ways.

From the various comments we have heard, the exercises were decidedly worth while in terms of public relations in the City of San Jose, and in terms of academic prestige in the great circle of Californian and American institutions of higher learning. Moreover, we know the Governor and other State officials were favorably impressed.

JOHN T. WAHLQUIST, President.

Slingshot Wins!

Because Willard E. Schmidt, director of the Police school, didn't think that his gunnery students were shooting quite up to par the other day, he challenged two of them to a target duel. Terms of the challenge said Schmidt would use a slingshot while the students used .38 caliber revolvers.

When the slingshot racked up a high score of 80, the students refused to try and top this mark with pistols, reported Schmidt. He said that a score of 80 was equivalent to a "B" grade in gunnery.

tary of State John Foster Dulles said yesterday the United States is discussing "possible United Nations action" to curb Communist aggression which he said threatens all Southeast Asia and possibly Japan.

Candidates Talk at Feast

Fourteen AWS candidates were introduced at the annual AWS-WAA barbecue held yesterday in the Women's gym. Each candidate gave a one-minute campaign speech to the crowd of 386 girls who turned out for the event despite the sudden cool weather.

Volleyball games and swimming opened the afternoon's activities.

Recreation was followed by dinner consisting of hamburgers, trimmings, salad and desert. It was served to the girls who were seated around the barbecue pit near the Women's gym. The girls sang and talked while dinner was being prepared.

AWS member Pat Berryessa and Barbara Norris of WAA were co-chairman of the barbecue.

Entertainment was supplied by comedy skits and a vocalist.

Today the Natural Science division will open its doors for the second annual open house. All students and townspeople are cordially invited to attend the affair, said Dr. Carl Duncan, division chairman.

More than 450 personal invitations have been sent to various schools, chambers of commerce, mayors, and prominent townspeople, Dr. Duncan explained.

The affair will start at 10:30 a.m. and close at 10 p.m. Between the hours of 5:30 and 7 p.m. the exhibits will be closed.

Demonstrations of the wonders of science will start at 2 p.m. in Room S-112 and S-210. Dr. James W. Tilden, open house chairman, reported. However, he said that there will be movies shown at 12:30 p.m. in Room S-112.

Dr. Tilden explained that he hopes the open house will be very successful. This is a chance for the public actually to take part in some of the demonstrations as well as receive some free samples of articles made and used by the classes, he explained.

He has requested that groups of students who plan to attend the open house take only one printed program, since there is a limited number of them available.

Visitors also are reminded that demonstrations and exhibits will be held in the basement as well as on upper floors. There will be some very interesting exhibits of photography, electronics, plant propagation and glass blowing held in the basement.

On the first floor of the building will be physics and chemistry demonstrations, a cosmetics lab in session giving free sample, paint and petroleum exhibits.

The second floor will have all the plant and animal exhibits, as well as occupational therapy and physiology displays. The Geology department also will be giving out free samples of thunder eggs.

Dr. Tilden said that he has received splendid cooperation from the students and faculty in planning and setting up exhibits and publicizing the event.

Anyone on campus is eligible to enter the contest, being held in conjunction with the "Eleventh Street Capers" street dance, sponsored by Delta Upsilon fraternity.

The dance will be held on 11th street between San Antonio and San Fernando streets on May 22.

ROTC cadets will be permitted to enter the contest provided they do not wear their uniforms of campus while they are growing a beard. All ROTC beards must be shaved off by May 29 for the drill competition between the local ROTC units, according to DU sponsors.

Hard Campaigning Deserves Large Vote

Tonight's pre-election rally marks the end of ASB President Tom Evans' endeavor to promote a "grass roots" election.

Response at the polls tomorrow will measure Evans' success. Failure of the student body to vote will mean that a lot of hard work has gone to waste. Most of this work has been done by "the committee" to build spirit for the May 8 election, a few students who were interested in student government, but not seeking office themselves. Several of these students were seniors and not eligible to hold office. Others were office holders whose positions were assured for the coming school year. Still others had commitments which wouldn't allow them to hold positions. Nevertheless, these persons worked hard to make the election a success.

Here are some of the things which were accomplished:

1. The polls were moved so that more students would have access to them.
 2. Speaking tours were arranged so that living groups could learn for whom and for what they were voting.
 3. A radio show was provided so that commuters could be contacted.
 4. This morning a definite attempt was made to get the outgoing seniors to vote by having candidates appear in Senior orientation.
 5. Additional poster space was arranged to aid candidates to advertise themselves.
 6. Tonight's rally was arranged.
- Tom Evans will act as master-of-ceremonies tonight. He has worked hard since the beginning of the quarter to make this election a success. "The committee to build spirit for the May 8 election" has worked hard. Don't let all of the hard work go to waste. Thank these people in the only way possible.

Students Receive Research Awards

Two junior students, Dean C. Taylor and Lawrence N. Yonemura, have been awarded Social Science Research council stipends of $600 each, Dr. Leo P. Kibby, announced yesterday.

The awards are to be used for a sociological study of Japanese communities in Santa Clara valley.

They were granted from a special fund designed to offer financial assistance and encouragement to promising undergraduates planning to conduct post-graduate studies in social science, according to Dr. Alexander Vucnich, assistant professor of sociology, who recommended Taylor and Yonemura for the awards.

The study will be carried out during the summer of 1953 under Dr. Vucnich's supervision.

Co-Rec Activities

Tonight Co-Rec is offering badminton, volleyball, and the camp counselors' course in the Women's gym. Activities will be held from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., according to Bobbie Hoepner, co-chairman.

Students are asked to enter the gym from the San Carlos street side, as the main doors will be open only for the French play.

Natural Science Show Features the Unusual

By JOHN SHANNON

Unusual demonstrations, exhibits and displays that will satisfy the interests and curiosities of all visitors will be featured today in the second annual Natural Science open house. Visitors will be admitted at 10:30 a.m.

Students from county and city schools are scheduled to see the show, according to Dr. James W. Tilden, open house chairman.

One of the featured demonstrations will be the making of paints and pigments at 3 and 9 p.m. in Room S112, by Dr. Elton Stinson, professor of chemistry. He will show the preparation and use of four common paint pigments.

Dr. Stinson also will demonstrate the combining of colors to make the color schemes used in modern homes.

Students of the elementary glass blowing class will demonstrate the techniques of their art in Room S26. Visitors will be shown the processes of blowing and fusing glass and glass tubes.

Students of the cosmetics classes will present continuous demonstrations of the preparation of powders, rouges and lipsticks beginning at 10:30 a.m. in S123, according to Dr. Gertrude Cavins, professor of chemistry.

Free samples will be given to visitors, Dr. Cavins said. Last year more than 2000 samples were distributed.

Included in the radio and electronics demonstrations in the basement rooms, will be an oscilloscope, which traces and pictures the length and path of sound waves. Students and faculty members will participate in the presentation.

A collection of sea shells owned by Andrew McLennan of San Jose, will be exhibited in the first floor hall. Mr. McLennan has spent more than 40 years assembling the collection.

One of the shells is a "deadly as a rattlesnake," if handled improperly, he disclosed. Some of the shells have religious significance to certain sects.

Methods of determining blood types also will be shown.

Student guides will aid visitors in their tour of the Science building.

Lipstick Mixer To Be Shown

A lipstick mill used to blend the color into wax lipstick base by grinding, will be on display today in Room S123 during the cosmetics class demonstrations, Dr. Gertrude Cavins, announced.

The mill, laboratory model, can mix up to ten sticks at one time. Previously the students had to mix the lipstick by hand. "It is a great labor saving device. It took many hours to do it by hand," she said.

The mill will enable the students of cosmetics to obtain a better mixture and more even color, Dr. Cavins said. Since most of the articles made in the class are used by the students it is important to get the proper final product. The specialized piece of machinery uses three rollers, and looks like a printing press.

The model was suggested to her by Dr. Don Fowler, a consulting chemist. It was purchased from a special mill machine company in San Francisco.

College Roundup

• By GERRY GARBARINI •

There seems to be no end to the number of shapely coeds at UCLA. We often come across photos of demure lasses, decked out in evening finery or leopard skin bathing suits, as we thumb through the Daily Bruin.

No doubt these girls have picked a good avocation. After all, Hollywood is only a talent scout away from the Westwood campus. And if a girl should smile pretty and look as though she could set Gregory Peck back on his heels well, who knows?

All this is idle chatter, though. What we're really wondering is how other college students, males specifically, in mid-west and eastern states regard this feminine pulchritude. Not that they don't have their lov-lies, too. But, California is such a misunderstood state. A rosy-cheeked fella right off an Iowa farm might think these UCLA coeds were posing for Lonely Heart club pictures, sell his plow, and be in Bakersfield before sun-up.

Like John Steinbeck's character, Grandpa, proved in "The Grapes of Wrath," the Golden State sometimes doesn't materialize. Before he left Oklahoma, Grandpa threatened to get himself a tub-full of California grapes and eat himself dizzy. But, darned if he didn't die from some sickness a little ways out on Route 66.

But that was a better way to go than if he'd discovered California's got first chance at grapes and women. Mr. Steinbeck should be commended for removing Grandpa when he did.

What Happened to Custer?

Hencefore, a wood-carved, life-size bust of the famed Indian chief, Sitting Bull, is to be awarded the winner of the annual North Dakota U-South Dakota U football tussle.

Leaving Nothing to Chance

At Montana State U's recent fun day, Aber Day, the schedule began with "Wake-up, 6:30-7 a.m."

Just You-Alling

A not unusual thing occurred at the recent Model U.N. conference at Berkeley a Texan blew his own horn. It was all in good fun, however we think. The fellow, a student delegate from Texas U., proposed that the Security Council vote membership in the U.N. to the Republic of Texas.

His casual appeal went this-a-way: "The Republic of Texas, representing some six million persons with its capital of Austin temporarily united by treaty with United States, would like to apply," etc.

We like to think, when we hear such pompous notions, that the speaker is merely chiding. But, chances are that had the model U.N. okayed the resolution, the Texas delegation would have accepted under the new title.

It must be something in the air down Texas-way.

Scribe Gives New Name To An Old, Old Trait

(Paul Blankley, columnist for North Texas State college, digs to find something admirable resulting from a losing effort.)

After several years of athletic endeavor, during which I have pitted my prowess and 120-odd pounds against all comers in any type of contest, I finally feel justified in claiming an outstanding talent.

That talent is one which may best be described as "inspirational opposition."

Dating back to grade-school days, this quality has been dominant in my athletic accomplishments. I recall with mixed emotions the thrill of charging toward the finish wire in the Allegheny county, Md. relays, a good five yards ahead of my nearest 85-pound pursuer in the 50-yard dash. But, intent on laying a firm foundation for a better claim to the 10 "inspirational opposition" championship, I watched happily as the winner flashed by me in the last few strides.

But a championship such as the 10 title is a thing which requires constant attention. One dares not slacken his zeal in inspiring the other fellow. Competition in three all-college tournaments and several contributions to sweepstakes pots have kept me in fine form.

So it was only natural, last week in the all-college golf tournament, to expect an outstanding effort from my opponent in the latest lap of this perpetual chain of inspiration for others. Sure enough, the man with whom I was paired (who had qualified with a 99) quickly felt the effects of my presence. After taking 19 strokes on the first three holes, he bowed to the weight of inspiration and allowed himself only three strokes over par until the match ended in his favor, of course on the 15th green.

Someday I hope to put this talent to greater use. Perhaps a genius amongst us will devise a practical solution to the evils of society. When that time comes, by aligning myself firmly against the proposition, I will be able to do my bit to bring about the practical solution an accomplishment which will bring me great personal satisfaction, but probably no tangible reward.

Indian Bones Are Excavated; May Prove Prehistoric Tribe

(From U. of Calif. Daily)

By SUE GARDNER

The recent excavation of possibly 30 human skeletons by U.C. anthropologists was "very successful, and uncovered a host of material which may provide evidence of a prehistoric Indian tribe," according to Albert Elsasser, graduate research archaeologist.

The bones were found buried 50 to 60 feet deep in a cave located about 15 miles east of Red Bluff. The digging, sponsored by the U.C. Archaeological survey, actually began two years ago. The excavation was abandoned, however, until now when seven members of the Survey, four of them students, again took up their spades.

It is possible that the bones are the remains of Yahi Indians slaughtered by white ranchers in 1870. There is a legend, based on the tale of an aging rancher and Ishi, an Indian found half starved near Oroville many years ago, connected with the Indians' deaths.

Supposedly a group of white men took off after the Indians after discovering a steer that had been wounded with an arrow. They cornered the Indians in a cave where there was a large supply of meat and proceeded to shoot all 30 — men, women and children.

A skull uncovered in the excavation was found with a bullet hole through the bone. Elsasser said that the archaeologists "have no intention of proving or disproving the theory that these bones are those of the massacred Indians, but that there are indications."

Ishi, the Indian who provided evidence of the murders through crude drawings, was brought to the University to live. Scientists are not positive he was telling

A Senator (Joe), A Lady, and Tea

(Senator Joseph McCarthy R-Wis.) seems to provoke more comment than his vices and virtues warrant. Usually the comments are acid mouthings that do little other than drain the speaker of excess animosity. That is why we think the Minnesota Daily's Dick Elsberry is a welcome relief in this spirited race to defame one who is alleged to be the Papa Defamer.)

It seems like only yesterday that a nice old woman, Lady Astor, was glancing demurely over her teacup and smilingly remarking about one of the guests at the party. She was sorry that a conscientious young gentleman named Joe McCarthy, who doubles as a U.S. senator when he isn't exposing Communists, didn't have a little poison in his cup to enhance the tea's flavor.

I'm not at all sure that Lady Astor isn't a direct descendant of the Bergia sisters, but it hardly seems proper, or even subtle, to utter such statements at public gatherings. People are so touchy these days that they are liable to take anything you say seriously, and a senate sub-committee can be ready to investigate you at the drop of a bottle of cyanide.

When you come right down to it, we haven't had any really good assassinations in years. President Truman was shot at a few years ago by a Puerto Rican in a fit of pique, and Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley were dispatched for far less trivial things than McCarthy has done. But, there has been nothing really big of late.

I can't even remember when the last archduke was shot, but that might be accounted for by a shortage of archdukes. You just can't keep shooting archdukes year after year and expect the line to perpetuate itself.

Lady Astor was at least using some originality in the method chosen to eliminate her victim. Somehow it seems rather trite to assassinate someone with a gun or bomb now-a-days, and knives just don't seem to be in vogue either. Poison is swift and efficient, and harder than the deuce to detect.

McCarthy, of course, was a perfect gentleman when he was told about Lady Astor's indiscretion. I don't think Joe is going to attend many teas from now on, though, and I doubt if he'll be able to watch Arthur Godfrey brew tea on television without wincing a little.

Americans are a little lazy about these things, and always wait for George to do it. We are dreamers, and while we think about acting, we rarely do. However, I feel it is quite significant that since the Lady Astor statement, Washington radio stations have been flooded with requests to play a song called, "Wishing Will Make It So."

It has a nice melody, and the lyrics are out of this world.

Spartan National AAU Judo Team

Uchida Names Spartan Team

By BOB KIRCHER

Eleven Spartan judoists have been chosen by Coach Yosh Uchida to compete in the first National Amateur Athletic Union tournament tomorrow and Saturday nights in the Spartan gym. The meet will begin at 7 o'clock each evening.

Foremost on the list of the Golden Raider entries is captain and second degree black belt holder Lyle Hunt. "Outstanding judoist" at State, and overall champion of the Senior Pacific Association of Amateur Athletics Union two successive years are just two of Hunt's many accomplishments.

Other team members representing State in the tourney are Larry Tambellini, Harp Didier, Win Dahl, Jim Foster, Bill Thompson, Chris Bell, Bob McCorkle, John Sepulveda, Pete Gorvad and John Hernandez.

Tambellini is a first degree brown belt, and a member of the five-man 1952 Northern California championship team.

Another member of last year's five-man California co-state championship squad is Dahl. He is a first degree brown belt. Foster, outstanding judoist of the 1952 Northern California championship tourney and captain of the 1952 San Jose team, will be another Spartan who is expected to give his opponents trouble.

Wrestling in the 180-pound division will be Thompson. He was a member of Sparta's co-state championship team. Bell, a senior police major, was second in the heavyweight division of the 1952 Senior PAAAU meet. He will compete in the 180-pound weight division.

McCorkle, a second place winner in the Junior PAAAU, is a second degree brown. Aside from participation in the sport, McCorkle acts as publicity manager for the Spartan judo team.

"Most improved judoist" was the title awarded to Sepulveda this season. This is his first year of judo competition at State. Heavyweight Gorvad, who took a second spot in the 1952 Senior PAAAU, will display his talents in the 180-pound division this weekend. He is possessor of a first degree black belt.

A freshman police major, Hernandez holds the distinction of being crowned champion in the 130-pound bracket of the Novice PAAAU in 1953.

Coach Uchida was undetermined how his Spartan judoists would do in the tourney. He stated, "I will not try to predict how our team will do in the tournament as I have not had a chance to see some of the better judoists in the United States and other territories participate in active competition."

Spartans Play Fresno State

The Spartan baseball club, hoping to reverse two earlier defeats, battles the Fresno State Bulldogs Friday afternoon at Municipal stadium.

The game is slated to begin at 3:15 p.m. with Johnny Oldham the starting hurler for Coach Walt Williams' nine. Truman Clevinger is the probable starting Bulldog hurler.

Clevinger pitched the first contest of the two games the locals played in Fresno, and he blanked the Raiders with a 13 strikeout performance. Oldham hurled for the Spartans, and allowed the Fresno batters just four hits. Four San Jose errors hurt the cause.

Oldham, after Saturday's win over San Francisco State, now has a 6-5 pitching record.

Coach Williams, since the return of Don Visconti to the lineup, has been able to fill the outfield without pressing his pitchers into fly catching chores. Another good sign is the increase in team hitting which has been lacking in the early part of the season.

The Spartans meet the San Jose Zebras Saturday night at Municipal stadium. The Zebras are an all-Japanese semi-professional squad who boast some outstanding baseball talent. Game time is 8 p.m.

San Jose Golfers Meet Frisco-Cops

San Jose State's once-beaten golf squad faces one of its toughest foes Friday when the Spartans meet San Francisco Police at San Jose country club.

Leading the local linksmen is Ken Venturi, who has shot only one over par match this season. This was carded last weekend when the Raiders bowed to Stanford.

Saturday afternoon the Spartan frosh golf squad meets Hartnell junior college in Salinas.

Music Leads Softball Race

Independent and fraternity baseball action continues this afternoon with five games slated for intramural play.

On diamond one at 4 p.m. Sigma Nu faces Pi Kappa and at 5 o'clock Theta Chi plays Kappa Alpha. Lambda Chi Alpha plays Spartan Oriocci on diamond four also.

At 5:30 p.m. APO faces DU and Theta Xi meets ATO.

The Music department is leading in independent standings with a 3-1 record. They have defeated Kappa Alpha, Spartan Oriocci, and the Collegians, while losing once to the Collegians.

Theta Chi is still leading the fraternity end of the race with a perfect 5-0 mark.

Students Plan Opening Of International House

The International house, a rooming house for all students, regardless of race, creed or nationality, is scheduled to open May 15, according to Anton L. Howard and Dan W. Weck, who are to be co-managers.

The house will be located at 1635 The Alameda and will accommodate 28 students.

Howard is a San Jose State student and was a representative to the Model UN. Weck is taking graduate work at the college.

Rent at the house will begin at $20 per month, and will provide study area, a recreation room, and an attractive building with a large dance floor.

"Foreign students have no focal point here, and need this type of home where they, and other interested students, can get together to experience their common humanity," said Weck.

"It is time that students here started into the business of supplying student needs. This house will be different, and we hope that if we are successful our example will be followed by other students interested in the business opportunities offered by the needs of fellow students," he said.

Weck and Howard are looking for furniture donations for the International house.

Anyone intending to live in the house next fall who will not be there this summer must reserve a room before the end of this quarter, as there are many who have expressed a desire for reservations.

Co-Rec Opens Registration For Tourney

The second annual Co-Recreational volleyball tournament will be held May 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the Women's gym, according to Judy Zent, publicity chairman for the leadership methods class which is conducting the tourney.

Participation in the tournament is open to everyone. Teams will be made up of eight players, four men and four women, and they need not represent specific groups.

Sign-up sheets for individual participants are located in the Women's and Men's gyms. Deadline for sign-ups is May 15.

Rosters for groups wishing to enter may be obtained from the Co-Rec desk, Room 7 in the Women's gym.

Preliminary meeting of team managers and individual signees will be held May 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the Women's gym.

Grads Serving With Army

Three former San Jose State college students are serving overseas with the Army, according to bulletins received from the US Army news center.

Pvt. Edward H. Conkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Conkle, 333 Valencia boulevard, Woodlake, was awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge for excellent performance of duty under enemy fire, while serving with the fifth regiment in Korea.

Pvt. Conkle is a 1952 graduate of the college and entered the Army in September of the same year.

Serving with the occupation army in Austria, Drury C. McMillan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert H. McMillan, Manteca, was recently promoted to the rank of first lieutenant.

Lieut. McMillan was a teacher at the Lammersville Elementary school, Tracy, before entering the Army in September, 1950.

Second Lt. Gerald A. Nelson has completed a two-week course at the Eta Jima Specialist school in Japan. The course is designed to teach defenses against chemical, bacteriological and radiological warfare.

Lieut. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Nelson, Santa Clara, was graduated from San Jose State in 1950 and has been serving in the Army since May, 1951.

Heat Overbearing

Los Angeles, May 6 (UP) Some 400 rioting University of Southern California students touched off huge bonfires, knocked the caps off fire hydrants and tried to overturn a police car early today because, according to one, "we're crazy with the heat."

Fifteen police cars answered the "major riot" call as shirtless male students and barefoot coeds raged up and down the street.

Several youths invaded a nearby sorority house, according to police, and emerged with several articles of lingerie.

SJS Students Named Miss, Mr. Newmanite

Two San Jose State students were selected Mr. and Miss Newmanite at the eighth annual convention of the Central Pacific province of the National Newman club federation, held here last weekend.

Diane Reese, recording secretary for the province, was selected Miss Newmanite. Sal Giammona, president of the San Jose State Newman club, teamed with her as Mr. Newmanite.

Father John Duryea, chaplain of the San Jose club, Miss Reese, Giammona, and Bob Keller, all of San Jose, were awarded memberships in the John Henry Newman Honor society. Frank Campanella, from Cal Poly, and corresponding secretary for the province, also was received into the society.

The San Bernardino Valley college Newman club was awarded the Achievement trophy for making the most progress in the Central Pacific province clubs.

The convention, which closed Sunday evening, was attended by more than 300 delegates from Hawaii, Nevada and California. Next year's province convention will be held in Sacramento. A bid is to be submitted to have the national convention in San Francisco in 1954.

CCF Hears Missionary

Dr. David Adeney will speak at a special meeting of the CCF at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday in Room 53, according to June Barcus, program chairman.

Dr. Adeney was working among Christian students in the Chinese universities when the Communists took over that country. His topic will be "Christian Students in a Communist Society."

The lecturer will remain on campus after the meeting for questioning and discussion.

Paul Jennings, president of the group, invites all interested students and faculty members to attend the meeting.

Deadline for Radio Contest Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the deadline for women to enter the "29-30" radio show's "Why I Didn't Enter the Last Contest" contest, according to Dave Woods, one of the show's trio of authors.

The women's boarding or sorority house sending in the entry with the most signatures will win the hashing services of Ron Wren, Jerry Morrison, Clyde Allen, Fred Hare and Woods for one dinner. Entries must be postmarked by midnight Thursday night and sent to Hash, KLOK, San Jose.

The winning group will be announced Saturday at 8 p.m. over KLOK on the variety show.
