Governor May Request Folk Dancing $720,000 for San Jose

California Governor Goodwin Knight is expected to request money for two SJS construction projects when he makes his budget public Feb. 1, according to E. S. Thompson, business m a n a g e r. The request will be for $650,000 library completion work and $70,000 for a boiler. Thompson explained that the library completion is not the same as the addition for which plans were drawn recently.

For financing purposes, the li-brary remaining to be constructed was divided into an addition and completion. Money has already been appropriated for the addition. The requested $650,000 is to

The addition will contain mostly offices, according to Thompson and the completion is for reading rooms. He also stated that he did not think work on the addition would begin until the money was granted for completion of the building.

'He stated that "there is a very good chance" that the money would be appropriated for the two projects. Although the governor is expected to make his budget public Feb. 1, Thompson pointed out that the legislature does not

Plan May Give New Student Health Funds

If an experimental program which will be tried out at San complete the library Diego State College next year is successful San Jose State may some day participate in a plan for state-supported health services, according to Joe H. West, dean of

The plan, which would offer health services uniformly available at all state colleges, already has been accepted by the state college presidents, West said.

Services beyond the minimum furnished by the state would be borne by the students through a state fee. This would include the prevention and doctoring of minor governor's requested monies. maladies and disorders. The plan also provides that the colleges would meet particular service needs through a subsidy provided by a local organization, such as the Student Body.

San Diego State was chosen for the experimental plan, West said, because that college has a new health building and other adequate facilities. He stated that none of the other state colleges received a budget increase for books, is internationally acknowladded health services.

Possibility of the plan being approved for the other state col-leges will await the outcome of the San Diego experiment, West emphasized.

Department Heads Take Varied Views on Change

The shock of the sudden news that San Jose State will change to the semester system in the fall of 1955 hit the campus yesterday and died slowly as division chairmen and department heads begain looking to the future and discussing the troubles that the new system will bring. It was evident yesterday that only the President's Council knew

1. marky her

of the change prior to its release and that division chairmen were surprised at the news

College President John T. Wahlquist, who announced the switch Monday evening at the quarterly faculty meeting, was in San Francisco yesterday and was not available for comment.

Dean of Students Joe H, West said yesterday that the council's decision was not hasty.

"We appointed a committee to investigate the matter almost a year ago," Dean West said,

Serving on the committee were Executive Dean James C. DeVoss, Dean of Instruction Fred F. Harcleroad, Associate Professor of Business Jack H. Holland. Professor of Biology G. Alexander Mc-Callum, Admissions Officer Viola Palmer. Professor of Education William G. Sweeney, Psychology and Philosophy Division Chairman Charles W. Telford, Business Manager Edward S. Thompson, and Dean West.

In November, 1953, the committee submitted a four-page report to the President's Council titled, "The Comparative Merits of the Quarter and the Semester Systems."

In the report, the committee did not make a definite recommenda-"The decision was left to the President's Council,' Dean West

The decision was made Dec. 31, but Dr. Wahlquist has been out of town most of the time since then and did not have a chance to make the announcement until Monday, Dean West continued.

Another thing that will have to be decided, Dean West explained, is whether SJS will have an Easter vacation under the new system, "Most semester colleges have spring vacations," he

Meanwhile division chairmen across the campus were diverse in their opinions of the semester change. Glen "Tiny" Hartranft, director of physical education, stated that although the department generally voted in favor of switching to the semester system, the quarter plan is better from a teaching stand-

Hartranft also said that the se mester plan will eliminate ineligibility problems that benched Joe Ulm, Clarence Wessman, and two other reserves midway during this football season

Dr. Dwight Bentel, journalism department head, anticipates difficulty in making the switch because the present quarter plan seems "made to order" for the 12-week internship each journalism and advertising major

He also pointed out that fewer persons will have an opportunity to edit the publications Lyke and Spartan Daily which normally change staff assignments each

Dr. Raymond Barry, English department head, states that he is delighted with the change and has been looking forward to it for a long time, because of the bookkeeping reductions which will result and the increased class time which will become available, "Making required adjustments will be easy," he said.

I find it rather pointless to

Coffee in Lilliput

The recent raise in coffee at the Coop is a farce. We were under the impression that the Coop charged seven cents for coffee because they served it in thimbles. Now we learn that Bessie has upped the price of cream and South America has squeezed the last drop out of the Spartan Board with coffee bean bills.

We learned the other day that a cup of coffee ranges in price from five to ten cents in ordinary restaurants (sometimes they charge 15 cents in the swankier spots). But at least you get a cup of coffee. In the Coop they serve coffee in "Dallas Ware," which, even though from Texas, is not the "biggest" cup in creation.

We even would venture to say that the Coop serves the "smallest" cup of coffee we've ever seen. Gulliver had it so good?

Something Wrong With the Troops?

Apparent apathy on the part of students, even the leaders, has left the Thrust and Parry column relatively blank this quarter. We are not infallible and sincerely attempt to print any letters to the editor, provided they are in good taste, abide by the libel laws of the State of California, are not more than 250 words in length, and include the sender's ASB number and signature.

Irate student leaders have stopped the editor on campus and pointed out various things in the Spartan Daily's editorial columns that they vigorously resent. They are indignant, flabbergasted, and yet the Thrust and Parry box in the newsroom remains empty. We are not adverse to criticism and are willing to accept it without

We invite, even challenge, students with gripes, yens to write, or drums to beat to submit Thrust and Parry's.
