By GARY ENGELL

Don Hubbard, outstanding track two-miler, captured another laurel Friday night as he won the student body presidency of San Jose State College.

Ray Freeman gained the vice president's job, defeating Vern Perry on second place votes.

In the closest race of the election, Al Behr, sophomore president, won over Bob Weiss, sophomore representative, for the position of male representative-at-large by 37 votes. Behr had 1339 and Weiss had 1302. At no time during the vote counting did either candidate have more than a 9-vote bulge until Behr gathered 37 to win.

In the Associated Women Student president race, Ann Dutton, running unopposed, won.

A total of 2791 students cast ballots in what is the largest turn-out ever recorded in any ASB election at SJS. The previous record of 2200 votes was made last spring.

First day results published in the Spartan Daily Friday morning stayed true to course as no outstanding upset took place during the election.

Hubbard had nearly a 450 vote lead over Hank Ramp after the first day of balloting. Ramp ended in second place with 860 votes.

Stan Croonquist, chief justice of the Student Court, said that the three precincts set up on campus definitely attributed to the increase in votes cast. They were located in the Outer Quad, near the Women's Gym and at the corner of 7th and San Antonio streets.

"I do believe that with the high school music students on campus and with some classes being dismissed, that it hurt our vote total, but I'm completely satisfied with the final total," Croonquist said Friday night.

"We will look into all that took place during the two days of balloting to see if any mistakes were made. We feel that in doing this we can make the next election even greater."

Journalism Dept. Gets Top U.S. Accreditation

The Journalism Department of SJS has received the highest possible accreditation, Dr. Dwight Bentel, department head, announced this morning.

The department is now one of four schools on the Pacific Coast and one of 37 in the United States to be accredited by the American Council on Education for Journalism.

The other three are the University of Oregon, Stanford University and the University of Southern California.

"We are delighted that we are accredited," Dr. Bentel said. "The organization approving us is tops in the United States and this is as high as we can go. The department now is accredited fully."

"The faculty is very much pleased about it, too, for the students' sake, because it means a great deal to their education. This will affect graduates as well as persons in the department at present," Dr. Bentel said.

The department was accredited by the Western College Assn. last year.

The accreditation inspection team of five men spent two days on campus in March interviewing members of the faculty, journalism students, the publications advisory board and college administrators. It also observed all the journalism classes in action.

The inspection committee was composed of I. W. Cole of the University of Illinois, Burton W. Marvin of the University of Kansas, Ellis Newsom of the State University of Iowa, Lowell Jesson, publisher of the Beverly Hills Citizen, and Dr. Raymond M. Mosher, representing the Northwest Association.

The American Council on Education for Journalism represents many journalistic organizations, including the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the National Assn. of Radio and Television Broadcasters and the National Editorial Assn.

"We will find out what the accreditation inspection team especially liked about our department when we receive a visitors' report in June," Dr. Bentel said.

Ad Seminar 'Big Success'

More than 130 advertising salesmen from newspapers and advertising concerns throughout the state gathered at Newman Hall Friday and Saturday for the first annual Advertising Seminar.

"The event was 100 per cent successful and it was everything we anticipated it to be," Dr. Dwight Bentel, head of the Journalism and Advertising Department, said.

The seminar was under sponsorship of the California Newspaper Publishers' Assn.

THE GREAT CAP and GOWN CONTROVERSY

The cap and gown season is upon us, and with it comes the perennial question: which side of the cap should the tassel hang on?

This is an argument that arises every year to roil the academic world, and it is, alas, no closer to solution today than it was in 1694 when Fred Tassel invented the troublesome ornament.

Fred Tassel, incidentally, never made a penny from his invention. The sad fact is he never took out a patent on it. This tragic oversight becomes understandable, however, when one considers that patents were not invented till 1851 by Fred Patent, himself a pitiable figure. A compulsive handwasher, he died in his fourteenth year, leaving behind a wife and five spotless children.

But I digress. We were discussing which side of the cap the tassel should hang on.

For many years the universally accepted practice was to hang the tassel over the front of the cap. This practice was abandoned in 1942 when the entire graduating class of Northwestern University, blinded by tassels hanging in their eyes, made a wrong turn during commencement exercises and ended up at the Great Lakes Training Center where, all unwitting, they were inducted into the Navy for five year hitch.

There is one school of thought—large and growing daily larger—which holds that the tassel should be worn on the same side you carry your Philip Morris cigarettes. Thus a quick glance will show you where your Philip Morris are and save much time and fumbling.

This makes a good deal of sense because when one wants a Philip Morris, one wants one with a minimum of delay. One does not relish being kept, even for a second, from the clean, delicate flavor of Philip Morris, so artfully blended, so subtly concocted to please the keen and alert taste buds of young smokers. One chafes at any obstacle, however small, that is put in the way of enjoying this most edifying of cigarettes, so pleasing to the perceptive palate. Here, in king size or regular, at prices that do no violence to the slimmest of budgets, is a firm white cylinder of balm and pure, abiding content.

There is another group, small but vocal, that insists the tassel should hang over the back of the cap. The tassel, they say, is a symbol like the bullfighter's pigtail, signifying honor and courage.

They are wrong. Bullfighters wear pigtails for only one reason: to keep the backs of their necks warm. Do you have any idea what a draft a bull makes when he rushes past you? A plenty big one, you may be sure.

In fact, upper respiratory infections, contracted in the wake of passing bulls, are the largest single cause of bullring fatalities. I have this interesting statistic from the Bullfighters Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut, one of the few insurance companies in Hartford, Connecticut, which writes insurance exclusively for bullfighters. Incidentally, Hartford, the insurance capital of America, is a most interesting city and well worth a visit if you are ever in New England, as northeastern United States is, for some reason, called. Hartford can be reached by bus, train, plane, and the Humboldt Current. Try to make your visit in spring, when the actuaries are in bloom.

But I digress. We were talking about what side to wear the tassel on. An ingenious solution to this troubling problem was proposed a few years ago by Fred Sigafos, perhaps better known as "The Quoit King of Delaware." An early forbear of Mr. Sigafos, Humboldt Sigafos (who later invented the current which bears his name) was granted a monopoly by King George III on all quoits manufactured in Delaware. Somehow the royal appointment was never rescinded and from that day to this, every quoit made in Delaware has been a Sigafos Quoit.

Well, sir, Fred Sigafos once suggested that an equitable settlement to the great tassel controversy would be to starch the tassels so they stood upright and hung on no side of the cap at all. Mr. Sigafos was, of course, only seeking to broaden his market, because after graduation, what can you do with an upright tassel but hurl quoits at it?

The makers of PHILIP MORRIS who bring you this column make no recommendation about what side to hang the tassel on. But with cigarettes they say: Stay on the gentle, tasty, vintage side—with PHILIP MORRIS, of course.

IT'S ALL OVER but the memories for the more than 9000 high school and junior college students who congregated at SJS Friday and Saturday to participate in the Northern California State Music Festival. While on campus, bands, orchestras, choruses, soloists and ensembles competed against a standard of excellence established by the Music Educators National Conference. The groups were graded on the basis of superior, excellent, good and fair, according to W. Gibson Walters, co-chairman of the event. On the left is one of the 68 choirs here for the festival. Several of the buses which brought the thousands of secondary music students from schools all over northern California are pictured in the center. On the right is the Los Banos High School Band, one of the 46 here for the festival, the largest ever held in California.—photo by Sims

Editorial

Fumes down . . . what about next time?

Now that the election fumes have settled down, let's take a look at the results and see just what took place.

More than 2790 of you voted during the two days, which is nearly 600 more than the all-time record last spring.

Maybe the old hoot and holler to get all students out to vote is all wrong? Maybe the idea that if everyone votes, then the final tally will result in the best student winning, is wrong? Who knows?

The question is this: is it better for 300 informed students to cast their ballots? Or is it better for 3000 students, 2700 of whom are uninformed, to rush to the polls and vote for their choices?

We feel that it is better for 3000 persons to vote, but there must be a larger percentage of them who know what they are voting for.

This is the stickler.

To accomplish this, we want a rally the day before an election. At this rally, which would be held in the Inner Quad from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., we want to hear every candidate tell his platform.

We think that by holding such a rally interested students could hear the prospective officers do a bit of public speaking. We feel this would help greatly when the voters cast their ballots.

A similar rally held at night in the spring of '53 fell through as only about 100 persons attended. To attend such a rally at night is out of the path of the average student, and he won't be there. So with the rally at high noon in the Inner Quad a larger group could be in attendance, and maybe the whole thing could be a great success.

We say give it a try. What say you new Student Council members? Isn't it worth a try?

WEEKEND ROUNDUP

Fresno State, Rain Douse Spartan Nine, Cindermen

The golfers saved the Spartans from a complete washout this weekend as the baseball, tennis and track teams lost their encounters with Fresno State, San Francisco State and the rain.

BULLDOGS EDGE SJS

Rain killed the Spartan nine's chances of gaining at least a single victory from the Fresno State Bulldogs Saturday, after the valley team handed San Jose a 4-3 set-back on the Fresno diamond Friday.

The triumph for the Bulldogs was their third win of the season over the Spartans.

Although the Spartans outhit the Bulldogs, 12-9, and were aided by three Fresno errors, Fresno was in command from the first inning.

The winners pushed across a single run in the first frame and then matched tallies with the Spartans in the third to hold a 2-1 edge. Two more markers in the bottom of the eighth gave the Bulldogs the winning tally despite a two-run rally in the ninth by the Spartans.

Ken Rahming and Dick Brady singled in the ninth to scare the Bulldogs, but the threat fell short. Rahming collected four hits in five times at the plate.

Ted Ellis got credit for his second win over the Spartans although he needed help from George Milhorn in the ninth. Doug Boehner went the distance for San Jose to get tagged with his sixth defeat of the season.

MEET RAINED OUT

SJS's second annual All-Comers track meet, scheduled for Saturday, was washed out by old man rain. The meet may be reset for May 28.

The meet was to have been one of the big features of the Spartans' home season. Nearly 300 athletes, representing seven teams, were to have participated in the events. In addition several unattached athletes from as far as Missouri were on hand for the activities.

Bill Bangert, former weightman at the University of Missouri, was to have been one of the featured performers of the day. Larry Anderson, ex-Cal pole vaulter, was slated to be another big attraction. Anderson did 14-4 last year despite the fact that he had part of his hand blown off in an explosion in chemistry lab.

The Spartans' next appearance will be at the West Coast Relays at Fresno Saturday.
