Court Throws Ad Violations At Justices

Junior justices Gayle Hansen and Bob Daggett were sworn into office yesterday afternoon only to be presented with summons to appear before the Student Court next Tuesday on charges of violating campaign poster regulations. Four other class officer candidates also will appear before the Court for hearings on similar charges.

The two junior justices, Emily Dennis, Vivienne Andres, Bob Harman and Patrick Moloney all were charged with violating Article V, section 2, clause 3 of the ASB by-laws which states that campaign posters must be taken down by 6 p.m. the final night of elections.

The six new violations bring to nine the number of hearings pending on advertising violations, according to Curtis Luft, ASB prosecuting attorney. Alpha Phi Omega, the Student Affairs Committee and the Freshman Class also will appear before the Court next Tuesday to answer charges of alleged violations.

In another decision, the Court designated April 25-26 as ASB election days. Applications for the Student Council positions open Monday, the Court decided.

Following the Monday applications date, will be a sign up deadline March 29; a candidates meeting April 4; petition pick ups April 8; petition returns April 10; and publication of official candidates in the SPARTAN DAILY, April 11.

Following Easter vacation, posters will go up on April 22. Election rallies are scheduled for April 23 and the night of April 24.

Prof. Wood Hurt in Crash

The Police Dept. issued a citation charging Pinnon with violating the right of way and for speeding. Pinnon was not reported to be injured.

Dr. Wood has been an instructor at SJS since 1925. He is currently working on the forthcoming Shakespeare festival, which will be presented by the Fine Arts Division this spring, in conjunction with the college Centennial celebration.

The five men's ages are 20 years apart and are being played by Ken Savickas, Ed Holmes, Dick Tash, Jim Davis and Mel Peterson.

Conrad Mendenhall is directing the second play, "M. Lamblin." M. Lamblin's mother-in-law attempts to persuade Mme. Lamblin that she should understand and accept the infidelity of her husband.

By the time Mme. Lamblin has been brought to this point of view, she finds out that her husband is sincere in his protestations that all he wants is a fire-side, and his wife.

Melvin Laub plays the title role and Marlene Balogh portrays his wife Martha. Gail Anderson is his mother-in-law, Mme. Bail, and Berenda Cullins is his mistress, Mme. Coge. Charles Cook plays the servant.

The slogan contest was held in connection with the all-campus blood drive which begins Monday at 9 a.m. in the Student Union. SJS is attempting to retain the Selah Pereira Blood Drive trophy which the college has won the past two years.

Today is the last opportunity for students to obtain pledge cards and release cards for the blood drive. The pledge booth in the Outer Quad will be open until 2:30 p.m.

Pledge cards are not necessary to donate blood, however, they will facilitate work at the Student Union Monday. Release cards must be signed by the donor's parent if he is under 21 and unmarried.

NEWS SCRAPS

This News Will Never Make Headlines

By ROZ BERTHOLD

This story might serve to bolster the average man's morale and faith in the continuity of the universe, according to "The Kent Star," Kent State University. Here are some of the events for now and the immediate future which will not make headlines:

"There are some 169,922,000 Americans who are not members of the Communist party."

"Some 37,011,460 couples will stay more or less happily married in 1957."

"Most of the time, 15,720,000 organized workers are not on strike."

"At least 169,977,472 people have not been frightened by seeing flying saucers hurtling through the air."

"There are 83 countries in the world that have not discovered the secret of the hydrogen bomb."

"Of the 18,977,472 little boys in the country who are under the age of ten, only six or seven will have to go through the terrible ordeal of being President of the United States."

And it seems interesting to us that the "Kent Star" reprinted this information from the "Atlantian," federal prison magazine.

HAIR STANDS ON END

And from the "Valley Star," Los Angeles Valley College, comes this letter to the editor column:

"Congratulations on your last edition of the "Valley Star." It was so good it made my hair stand on end... especially your editorial." Unfortunately, the letter was signed, "Yule Brenner."

GOVERNOR COMMENTS

"Governor Orval E. Faubus (Arkansas) does not believe that students of the University of Arkansas are qualified to discuss editorially the state highway commission nor the Governor's relation with the commission," according to the "Arkansas Traveler."

The Governor was referring to an editorial printed in the "Arkansas Traveler."

He said, "The University students are idealistic young people, the finest in the state; but, as well known by anyone with experience, they have a lot to learn. I am sure they know less about the conditions and affairs of the highway commission than Mr. Crain (highway commissioner)."

The editorial concerned criticized Commissioner Crain for hostility toward Herbert Eldridge, highway director, and criticized the Governor for "interference" in the department, said the "Traveler."

Expose! Reporter Unravels Myth Of That Knotty Old Gordian Worm

By BILL HOWARTH

Today, to prove that it is not run by Mid-Victorian Sunday school teachers, the SPARTAN DAILY explodes a myth concerning a worm.

By this we prove that we are not hackneyed. This myth involves worms and horses. (Which should prove that we do not have an inferiority complex.) It also concerns allusions to Classical Mythology—which should remove all doubt that we are no nothings, (in the literal sense).

This worm we are going to expose is presently tied in a knot in a cage in the Science Building. The horse did not tie the knot.

This worm has four common names, (names used by common people): It is called a hairworm, a hairsnake, a horsehair worm, (which is where the horse comes in), and a just plain worm.

Scientists call these worms Gordian worms. Phylum-wise the worm is a round worm. (It's round.) It's also long — four feet.

And now, back to the horse: A lot of common people think these worms arise from horsehairs through abiogenesis, (look it up).

This is not true. Such a form of mass delusion is prevalent because many of these worms are found in horse troughs, and because they somewhat resemble horsehairs.

Who is covering up? The real inside, expose, Confidential, myth-busting dope on these worms is that certain insects are the culprits.

Here is the story: In their larval stage the worms live in grasshoppers, spiders, snails and worms, (a worm within a worm — beat that, you no nothings).

Like some people most of us know, these worms are parasitic—a scientific euphemism for leeches. They hang on to the insides of these insects and suck their blood. (So snails and worms aren't insects — so what?)

How do these worms get into horse troughs? (WARNING: Be prepared for a banality.) That is the question that has been puzzling great minds for centuries.

This we do know: When the insect gets ready to kick off it heads for water — often a horse trough. There, in the water, it proceeds to expire. Out comes the worm, no longer in its larval stage.

What causes the insects to head for water to die is not known. Perhaps the worm lights a fire.

This may remain forever one of Nature's unjigsawed puzzles. However, the worm's life cycle is finished when it comes out of the dead insect. It lays its eggs in the water, ties itself in a knot and croaks.

And then, O foul plot, along comes a poor, innocent, happy-go-lucky, not a care in the world grasshopper (for instance); he imbibes of the water and, O cruel world, unknowingly swallows some of the ex-worm's eggs.

And so the whole thing starts over again. Another grasshopper gets an unwanted guest; one who isn't even a relative of his.

The particular Gordian worm we speak of is presently knotted on the second floor of the Science Building. If you want to learn more about this, see Dr. Arnold G. Applegate, associate professor of zoology.

He's still up there trying to untie that darn fool knot.

They promised him the Kingdom of Asia.

Spartans Nip Sacramento State

Winstead's Single Provides 8-7 Win

Joe Winstead singled home Bob Columbo in the 10th inning to give San Jose an 8-7 victory over Sacramento State at Municipal Stadium yesterday.

Hal Kolstad, who relieved Larry Peterson in the ninth inning, was credited with the win.

In scoring their eight runs, the locals collected 12 hits with the major punch coming from Winstead, Jerry Clifford and Ed King. The trio accounted for seven RBIs and eight base knocks.

King had a triple, double and a single; Winstead had three singles and Clifford chipped in with a double and a single and three RBIs. Clifford's two blows brought his seasonal average up to an even .300.

Yesterday's struggle saw the Spartans coast into the ninth inning nursing a 7-4 lead. Peterson, who had been having his troubles after the third, walked Don Olson to open the ninth. The fleet Olson stole second and moved to third on a fly to center. Coach Ed Sobczak replaced the tiring Peterson with Hal Kolstad. Bob Heath greeted him with a triple off the glove of back peddling left fielder Columbo to tie the score.

Columbo walked to start the Spartans' final rally of the day in the tenth. King and Kolstad filled the bases when they were plunked by a pair of stray pitches to set the stage for Winstead's game winning single.

The Spartans meet California at Berkeley today and will return home for games against Oregon tomorrow and Friday.

Williams, a Castlemont of Oakland product, was seldom in serious trouble in winning his third consecutive game of the year.

Spike Standouts Compete Friday

San Jose State's top track talent competes before local eyes for the first time this season in Friday's Interclass Meet at Spartan Field. Action begins at 2:30 p.m.

Five teams, captained by Lang Stanley, Clint Redus, Chuck Hightower, Gene Tognetti, and Ron Vavra, will take aim on the squad championship copped last year by Sigma Chi and Alpha Chi Omega. The teams this year appeared to be evenly balanced and stuffed with talent.

Stanley, whose tidy 1:48.7 recording in the 880 was one of the country's best last season, will use the Interclass as a means of getting into top shape.

Redus equaled all his press clippings in SJS's two Arizona exercises. He ran in four hurdles events; he won four. His 220-yard low sticks time of 24.5 tied the Arizona State meet record.

Chuck Hightower set 14 ft. 1 1/2 in. at Tucson to seal the stadium pole vault record and then deadlocked the Sun Devil's Joe Rose for first place at Tempe at 14 ft.

Tognetti helped furnish the spark in the Spartans' victorious mile relay effort in Tempe. Vavra ran the second leg of this triumph.

Chuck Pollizzi, whose previous efforts did not exactly strike fear into the hearts of his foes, hurled the javelin 193 ft. against Arizona for his all-time best heave. He also nailed down second place in the shot put against Arizona State.

High jumper Don Smith flew 6 ft. 4 in. in his specialty and will bear watching this season. He should be ready for hard labor Friday.

While on the topic of surprises, the recent efforts of Ron Gross should not be excluded. Gross had to battle to make the Arizona trip, then showed his appreciation by winning the 880 in Tucson (1:59.9) and placing second at Tempe with an even better time (1:58.1). Ken Napier zipped to a 1:58.2 clocking.

Netters Down SFS 6-3 In 1957 Curtain-Raiser

Spartan varsity netmen opened the 1957 collegiate season yesterday in grand style by bouncing the Gators of San Francisco State 6-3, as the weatherman smiled kindly upon the Spartan Courts on Seventh street.

The singles wins of the four lower men on the San Jose State squad, Don Anger, Sam Waggoner, Harold Smith and Rod Barrette, provided the locals with decisive early wins. Barrette, a strong stroker with an eye for spikes, won the first match of the day with an easy 6-0, 6-1 score over Roland Braga of SFS. Waggoner, playing sharp ball, shut out his opponent, Gator Jim Allen, 6-0, 6-0, in singles action.

Smith had little trouble with his foe as he powered to a 6-0, 6-1 win over Dave Richardson of the Gators but Anger had to work his way through three sets before topping Ron Samet 6-2, 3-6, 6-1.

Slicer Marty Halfhill, playing first singles, met and lost to one of the top netmen in Northern California as Joe Dawkins jumped all over him 6-2, 6-2. Kent Clunie, winner of the recent all-college tourney, fell under the hard playing of Tick Axtell 6-3, 6-2, in the number two singles feature.

Clunie and his two-handed stroke came back in the doubles match with Anger and blanked Samet and Allen, the Gators' number two doubles pair, 6-0, 6-0. Smith and Waggoner teamed up to give SJS the other doubles victory with a 6-4, 6-1 drubbing over Jim Spierkna and Richardson.
