Remember! Vote For State Yell Leader Today

Women Represent San Jose State in Pacific Tongue-fest

IS PART OF RIVALRY WITH COLLEGE OF PACIFIC ACTIVITIES

Women's Team Is Chosen

NO DECISION TO BE GIVEN IN DISCUSSION OF STATE POLITICS

Establishing a precedent in the debate activities for this year, a symposium will be held with the College of Pacific on November 7th.

This debate each year is one of the standing annual events between this school and the College of Pacific, and is generally anticipated with the usual intense spirit of rivalry existing between these two colleges. That this spirit of rivalry should exist, is apparent; it has fostered many a clean-cut activity, and has always called for the utmost in competitive spirit and ability in combat of all kinds. But in later years it has become evident to authorities on the art of argumentation that, due to the many and various ways of misconstruing the verbal statement, the debate has become merely a contrivance to express that spirit of competitive rather than a means of determining the truth.

In an effort to eradicate this corruption several things have been tried. Among them is the no-decision debate—that is, the form of the debate remains the same, but no decision is made as to who has won. Another is the symposium.

State Education Director Heads Meeting of College Heads

The State Director of Education has called a meeting for Thursday, October 27th, is incorporating an attempt to bring all of the people's organizations of California to the place where they take an active interest in education. It is the desire of Mr. Kersey to form a plan which will harmonize the efforts of these various organizations.

They will discuss fully the recommendations made in the report on higher education recently submitted by the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching.

The group from which representation is invited, are the following: The Governor, the California State Legislature, the State Department of Finance, the State Department of Education, State Teacher's Colleges, the California Teacher's Association, the California P. T. A., the American Legion, the California School Trustees Association, and other educational organizations.

The meeting is to be held in the chambers of the State Department of Education at Sacramento, at 10 a. m.

College Organizations Will Attend Meeting

All members of Skylight Club, Smock 'n Tam, and Sigma Tau, the three art societies, are requested to attend an important meeting today at 12:30 in Room 1. The purpose of the gathering will be discussion of the coming bazaar held by the Art department.

Four Candidates Vie for Office of State Yell Leader

ELECTION BOOTHS CLOSE AT FIVE O'CLOCK TONIGHT

Elections for varsity yell leader were opened today in front of the assembly hall at eight o'clock, and the polls will remain open until five o'clock this evening.

Candidates for the position of varsity yell leader are: Jim Hamilton, Charles Spencer, Howard Burns, and Carl Palmer.

The person on this list who receives a majority will be varsity yell leader for the year with a seat on the executive board of the San Jose State College student body, while the two individuals with the next highest total of votes will be his assistants.

Dario Simoni, newly-elected election judge, is in charge of all arrangements for the elections.

Chapel Services Will Be Held Today During Noon Hour

Today (Wednesday), from 12:00 to 12:15, the regular weekly All-College Chapel will be held. The five-minute speaker will be Dr. Richard Aberley, who is well known among local students and faculty. These short talks have proved most interesting and vital to the large groups who have formed the "Chapel Habit." The music will be in charge of Kathryn Smith.

This service has gained a great deal of notice and recognition from community and college leaders, and is making traditions on the campus.

Mrs. Holliday Showing Signs of Improvement

Every one is delighted to hear that Mrs. Holliday, wife of our own Dr. Holliday, is reported to be recovering nicely at the San Jose Hospital from a very serious operation. There have been some tense moments in the past few weeks for the Holliday family, as well as for the many friends of Mrs. Holliday ever since she underwent the operation October the thirteenth.

It is expected that Mrs. Holliday will return home about next Tuesday.

State Finance Director Calls Meeting of Presidents

The State Director of Finance has called a meeting of all of the presidents of California State Colleges, to be held Wednesday, October 26th.

The meeting is called to discuss and decide on the various college budgets for the next fiscal year. Dr. MacQuarrie says, "This meeting is the most important financial meeting of the year and much depends upon its outcome."

A number of the State Senators from the various college communities have expressed a desire to be present. Among those who have definitely stated their intentions to be there are the following: Senator Herbert Jones of San Jose, Senator Hayes of Chico, and Senator Harper of San Diego.

The financial condition of San Jose State depends upon the outcome of this meeting. Dr. MacQuarrie says, "that the outcome is entirely indefinite as to results."

Miss Corinne Davis Has Returned to College

Miss Corinne Davis, of the Psychology department, who has been confined to the local hospital for the past few weeks is back at college now. Miss Davis suffered a sprained back and hip in an accident recently and will have to walk on crutches for two or three more weeks.

Cast for O'Neill's "Anna Christie" Composed of College's Leading Stars

"Anna Christie," the Speech Arts department's first production is now in its third week of rehearsals. The director's personal comments on the play indicates that it is to be on a par with "Romeo and Juliet" as far as the staging itself, and far in advance of "House Party" in that it is the type of play that will appeal to the superior intellect (?) of college students.

Viola Gillis, as Anna, will undoubtedly stand out for her acting, not only from the point that the play is centered about her,

Cinema Stars Are Featured in Plays by National Group

TIMES SPONSORING SHOW TOMORROW AFTERNOON AND EVENING

Two Shows Will Be Given

ALL STUDENTS ARE INVITED TO SEE BACK-STAGE PARAPHERNALIA

Enroute for an engagement at Madison Square Garden, New York, the Monro Hollywood Marionettes will present two performances in the Morris Dailey auditorium, Thursday, October 27, at 2:15 and 7:30 p. m. These nationally famous marionettes sponsored by the San Jose State Times, are making their bow to local audiences in an afternoon performance of "Cinderella", and an evening performance of "The Lost Adams Diggins," and a selected bill of vaudeville acts. Admission for the productions are fifteen and thirty-five cents. It is understood that school children planning to attend "Cinderella" will be excused from school for the afternoon performance.

Gala Performance
The Monro Marionettes billed as the "smartest show in Hollywood," has with it the original puppeteers and fifty marionettes. The Marionettes performing in their own Puppet Theatre in Hollywood, have created international comment, and are an educational as well as an interesting and fascinating event.

Actors in Miniature
The Marionettes, standing between four and five feet in height, represent a number of Hollywood's glittering movie actors and actresses, and have been endorsed by the famous people they represent. (Continued on Page Three)

Dr. Carl Holliday Releases Latest Book, "Old Man of the Woods"

"If all the world were mince-meat pie,

And all the trees fruit-cakes—" began the Old Man of the Woods, while little Jimmy listened, round-eyed.

"And think—what would horses do?

And all the birds that fly?

And all the cows and kittens, too,

Who don't like mince-meat pie?"

"The Old Man of the Woods" is a collection of intriguing tales by Dr. Carl Holliday, a little book in which mountains have backaches and stars play fiddles and brooks are tempted.

Clever pen and ink sketches illumine the stories. Imaginative verses are here and there, relieving the prose. There is appeal to childhood's humor; there is pathos that a child can comprehend.

The book may be ordered from Dr. Holliday. A more delightful gift could not be purchased for the price of "The Old Man of the Woods" for that little sister or brother or that small friend who waits expectantly the arrival of Christmas.

State Students Urged To Give Contributions To Community Chest

"I'm hungry." "So is I." Tired gray eyes looked out of thin, unhappy children's faces as Jimmy McGregor Williams Smith and Sarah Jane Smiths Scoggins sat on the curb and listened to their little tummies growling and groaning.

"If I jis had an apple," lisped Jimmy McGregor Williams Smith. "I'd jis feel fine if I had a pickle," retorted Sarah Jane Smiths Scoggins. But pickles and apples were not forthcoming out of thin air, so the children just heaved their shoulders in big discouraged sighs.

How can you do it? Now then, one ten cents. You say ten cents won't go very far? You're wrong, entirely wrong. There are approximately 2700 students enrolled in this college at the present time. Say, every-one gives a dime. Right there you have $2700.00.

Up to date the students of San Jose State College have not organized so as to get their Community Chest drive under way. Come on, gang! Let's get going. Remember the slogan of the youngsters, "Don't Fail Us NOW."

So gang, let's make our war cry "A Dime for the Smiths and Scoggins."

characterization of that play. Bernard Pritchard is just about the perfect Mat Burke, the stoker. His deep rolling voice and his immense build, gave him the advantage over the others who tried out for the part, and his ability as an actor has become evident in the fine way he has taken his part at the rehearsals.

"Anna Christie" is a play for those who like the better things in the drama. Eugene O'Neill is the classic author of our time and "Anna Christie" is his first play to take the Pulitzer prize for dramatic writing.

Skylight Club Opening Activities for Quarter

The SkyLight Club opened its program of social activities for the fall quarter with a delightful luncheon on Monday. The luncheon was served at adjoining tables attractively decorated with cut paper animals in bright colors.

The president of the society, Miss Charlotte Howard, introduced the new members and made announcements of future activities. Mrs. Ruth Turner, head of the Art department and faculty advisor, gave a short talk on topics of general interest. Other faculty members present were Miss Suzan Byrne and Miss Carolyn Berry.

The group was entertained during the luncheon with popular music of Evelyn Hartman's orchestra.

Home-Makers Are Busy Taking Care of Small Children

IS WORK OF CLASS GIVEN FOR ALL MEMBERS OF DEPARTMENT

"Dood morning, Miss Temple," lisped the three-year-old, as she started to unbutton her little coat, and Miss Verna Temple, new member of the Home-Making department, beamed happily as her little charges began to drift into the laboratory.

The children's laboratory is a project of the Home-Making department, and is under the enthusiastic and competent direction of Miss Temple.

Miss Temple has worked with children for some years and is always the sympathetic and understanding person that all children love.

There is a routine program for the children attending this laboratory. Arriving at ten o'clock they receive a daily nurse's inspection, after which they hang up their wraps. This is a very important part of the day's program, as each child has his hanger with name written on it. Each child has learned to designate his hanger and keep it in its proper place. Each child then has a drink of water, and as Miss Temple says, it is a good habit to form, as most of us are too prone to let it go.

Following this comes an hour of free play activity. For a half hour preceding lunch the children rest on mats, and at one o'clock the parents call for the youngsters. Miss Temple extends an invitation to students of the college to visit the laboratory, and see the type of work that the department is carrying on.

For three years previous to her acceptance of her present position, Miss Temple taught in a vocational school at Bevine, Wisconsin. She received her A. B. from Stout Institute of the same state, and her master's from Iowa State College.

Miss Temple is thoroughly enjoying her work at State College and hopes that more students will become familiar with the type of work the department has instigated in its children's laboratory.

State Affected by Latest Rolph Upheavals

Possibility that San Jose State may be affected by the threatened upheaval of Governor James Rolph's administration was expressed with the knowledge that Superintendent of Finances Roland A. Vandegrift was in line for the investigation which will be undertaken by Senator J. M. Inman.

The report was circulated in political circles that Vandegrift may resign his $10,000 job within the next few days, as he was in the thick of the controversy which caused the removal from office of Colonel W. E. Garrison, Superintendent of Public Works. The college has been directly under the supervision of Vandegrift who enforced the drastic budget cuts of this year and last. In event of Vandegrift's resignation it is understood that he will be succeeded by State Controller Ray Biley.

Theron Fox Announces State College Football Games Over Station KQW in Series of Sponsored Broadcasts

Theron Fox

Theron Fox, San Jose State's own Graham McNamee, has suddenly found himself to be one of the most popular men on the campus.

No sooner was it announced that he would handle the mike for the football broadcasts over KQW, than he began to be swamped with offers of assistance in the work.

Feeling that it would be a good time to unload work, he tried to have his would-be benefactors write term papers for him on the pretext that he could then devote his time to memorizing jersey numbers.

This did not seem to take so well, however, for the two term papers that must yet be prepared by "McNamee" Fox are still unwritten.

He has also received many requests from co-eds who wished to

Anonymous Poem Owned by Dr. Bland Read at Poetry Meeting

The original of an anonymous poem which was found in the effects of the late Dr. Henry Meade Bland, California Poet Laureate and local English professor, was the center of interest at a recent meeting of the San Jose Poetry Club. The poem entitled, "The Charter Oak," was read by Miss Alma Williams, music instructor. The theme is based upon the historical signing of the Massachusetts charter under an ancient oak tree. The manuscript was written in 1854 and sent to Dr. Bland accompanied by an oak leaf from the original tree.

The poetry group, in discussing it, agreed that the poem expressed much of Dr. Bland's philosophy and ideals.

The meeting was held at the studio of Leda Gregory Jackson, voice instructor, and was the first gathering this year. Initiation of the new members of Smock 'n Tam, lower division are society, will take place tonight at 7:30 in Room 1 of the Art department. The president of the organization, Doris Standefer, is in charge of the affair, and the committee heads are as follows: entertainment, John French; reception, Virginia Hanse; and refreshments, Yenni Berry.

accompany him in the booth during the broadcasting. As painful as it must have been for him, he has up to the present time stood his ground working in the booth with only his usual assistants.

With two more games to be sent over the ether waves, Fox lives in fear of catching a cold that will ruin his voice. During each of the two games already sent out, he has consumed a bottle of cough medicine and a box and a half of cough-drops.

So fearful is he of catching cold, that he walked two blocks the other day to change his shoes after he had stepped in a mud puddle. Men from six to sixty would not do this without some deep motivation.

Many favorable comments have been received in regard to the broadcast of the games over KQW. It is considered a forward step for San Jose, and the work will probably be continued in future seasons.

Fox was particularly well equipped to handle the announcing of the game play-by-play. In addition to having been a sports writer for several years, he has been a member of the Pacific Coast Football Association for four years, and for over a year directed a weekly sports program over KQW.

Two more games are to be broadcast this season. San Jose's game with Chico on Saturday will be the next contest, while the broadcasting season will close with the Nevada game on November 5th.

Students are urged to write their friends who might be interested in tuning in on the Spartan games.

G. E. Majors Holding Series of Meetings

Last night the General Elementary Majors held a meeting in Room 17 at eight o'clock. Gertrude Gibson, retiring president of the organization conducted the elections for the quarter. The new officers elected at that time are: President, Matt Sasanj; vice president, Lorin Miller; secretary-treasurer, Georgia Owen.

The students were divided into three discussion groups, one under the supervision of Miss Toles which will discuss rural education, one under Mrs. Walsh will discuss extra curricular activities. Mrs. Hall will conduct the group interest in Junior High schools.

Plans were formulated for the next dinner meeting to be held Wednesday night, October 19, at the Hotel De Anza. Punch and cookies were served.

Eckert Sponsors Group of Informal Forums on Monday Evenings

"As I'm just out of college I think I still have the student viewpoint. I want to get and remain very close to the students—sort of a big brother, you know. Drop in any time for a chat."

Ralph Eckert, new member of the Speech Arts department, hereby officially welcomes one and all to take an active interest in many of the fascinating projects that he has planned for the coming year.

An Open Forum On Monday evenings in Room 1 of the Art building, Mr. Eckert will conduct an open forum. Everyone is invited to attend and participate. It is people chosen from these open forum discussions that will represent San Jose State College in her forensic endeavors this year.

Up to and including the Presidential election the forums will center around that affair. After that they will deal with subjects of interest to the students.

Debate Plans Many new plans have been instigated for the forensic activities of the year. The symposium type of debate will be introduced in the institution, a type in which several ideas are represented and presented, instead of the regular type. During the winter and spring quarters a cross examination type of debate will be tried.

Interesting Background Mr. Eckert comes directly to us from the University of California with post-graduate work at the University of Southern California. He expects to receive his M. A. next year.

Mr. Eckert stated that he came to San Jose knowing that he would like it here as he had met several of the faculty prior to his acceptance of the position, and now that he is here, he likes it even better than he expected.

Chas. Gubser Leads Frosh Orientation for the First Time

WALTER BACHRODT TELLS OF WORK DONE BY COMMUNITY CHEST

Charles Gubser, newly elected class president, conducted Freshmen orientation for the first time yesterday. After his introduction to the students by Dr. Goddard, he made a brief talk outlining the future of the Freshmen class, and then turned the chairmanship of the meeting over to Dan Feeley, vice president of the class.

Walter Bachrodt, superintendent of city schools and prominent in Community Chest work, was introduced and spoke on the worthwhileness of the Community Chest from the food, health and courage standpoint.

Dr. MacQuarrie, campaign manager for the Chest, spoke next, paying a tribute to Mr. Bachrodt for his interest and support in community doings in the past years. He made a brief plea for student support, and concluded by asking students to visit personally the numerous shelters and day nurseries in town.

The subject of the annual Freshmen ball was brought up by Bill Townner, who was appointed chairman for the affair by the president. Last year's ball was conceded to be the best yet given by any first year class, and this year's class will endeavor to repeat the success.

To further interest in the Community Chest drive, President Gubser appointed John Longinotti to visit the Community Shelter, Hilda Gussfeldt to visit the Day Nursery, Kenneth Miller to inspect the Salvation Army, and Roy Steffenson to go to the Little Sisters of the Poor.

Blue Cards Will Be Sent Out Next Week

On the blue Monday of October 31, the mailmen in their blue uniforms will be conveying blue cards to State students whose general color schemes is not so hard to guess. These little notes of cheer will be sent by instructors to all who have fallen below the scholastic average during the first mid-term period.

Home-Making Club Gives Informal Party Honoring Freshmen

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS AND TRANSFERS ARE ALSO HONORED

The Home-Making Club gave an informal party in honor of the Freshmen, the transfers, and the new members of the faculty of the Home-Making department, last Thursday evening, October 13, in Room 1 of the Home-Making building.

The party was in the form of a burlesque on registration day at San Jose State College. As the guests arrived, they were obliged to stand in line and wait their turn to register. The idea was carried out in every detail, even to the handsome looking pictures on the identification cards. Also, the booklets showed an occasional "probation," stamped across them.

The games were in the form of personnel tests, which included the Iowa Mathematics Aptitude (Lotto), the MacQuarrie Mechanical Aptitude (Picture Puzzles), the Thorndike Thurstone Intelligence Test (Matching Proverbs), and the Physical Examination (throwing balls at Sambo). The intelligence displayed was certainly complimentary to the Home-Making department. Of course it took some hard thinking to answer such questions as, "If the cabbage leaves, will the tomato ketchup?" and "If the ham hangs in the smoke house, where will the veal loaf?"

Mayme Bock's card showed high score, so the honors went to her. Other prizes were given to those with lesser scores. After the games, the food committee, consisting of Mayme Bocks, Marion Osterman, Dorothy Stanton, and Alice Pilcher, served delicious refreshments, as Home-Makers can do.

The party was a huge success. Much credit is due the committee which had charge, for they certainly made the party just what it was intended for, a hearty welcome to new students and faculty members.

The party was originated by Katherine Hooker and Erna Epperson, the president of the club. They were assisted by Jeannette Wald, Ruth Morgan, Betty Hooker and Grace Aldrich, vice president of the club.

Members of the club are reminded to watch the bulletin board in room 19, for notice of the next business meeting.

Christian Scientists Hold Meeting on Thursday

The Christian Science organization of the San Jose State campus is having its regular meeting Thursday at four o'clock in Room 1 of the Home-Making building. All students and faculty members interested in Christian Science, are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Picture Appointments for La Torre Made

Adele Melone, the editor of La Torre for this year, wishes to inform the student body that La Torre picture appointments began on Tuesday, the 24th of October. All students who want their picture taken early should take advantage of this. The La Torre office will be open for appointments every Tuesday and Thursday from the hours of 10 to 3.

Musical Half-Hour Features Dale Porter, Cellist, Last Friday

Students and faculty were entertained Friday, October 21, by Mr. Dale Porter, flutist, who was accompanied by Miss Esther Phelps at the Musical Half-Hour in the Little Theatre from 12:30 to 1:00 o'clock.

Many were there and enjoyed the delightful program which was representative of both French and Spanish composers.

The program, which was arranged by the Y. W. C. A., was as follows:

- I a. Andalousse ..... Pessard b. Bagatelle ..... Flashman c. 2nd Minuet (L'Arlesienne). Bizet II a. Allegretto ..... Godard b. Offertoire ..... Doryon c. Tambourin ..... Gasses

Dr. Ira B. Cross Will Speak on Depression

"Prosperity and the Depression" will be the subject of a speech given the evening of November 2 by Dr. Ira B. Cross in the State auditorium. The lecture is open to the public and is being sponsored by the alumni clubs of the University of California and San Jose State. There will be no admission charge.

Dr. Cross, who is economics instructor in the Flood Foundation at the State University, is a well known authority on problems in the banking and labor fields. Besides being the author of several books dealing with economics, he has figured in public life. Dr. Cross is the field agent of the Carnegie Peace Foundation and special agent for the U. S. Commission on Industrial Relations.

Kindergarten-Primary Tea To Be Tomorrow

The Delta Phi Upsilon, honorary Kindergarten Primary Society, with the assistance of the Kindergarten Primary Club, is giving a tea on Thursday, October 27, at four o'clock, in Room 1 of the Home-Making building to the students of the Kindergarten Primary department. Transfers and freshmen are especially urged to come. Mrs. Lillian Gray, a new member of the Education department, will address the students, and plans will be formulated for the year's work. At this time students will be assigned to their special advisors—Miss De Vore, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Gray, and Miss Crumby. Helen Moore, Delta Phi Upsilon president, and the Kindergarten Primary president, Dorothy Taffe, are eager to meet all new girls.

Iota Delta Phi Society Is Host to Members

Iota Delta Phi met for dinner at Savin's Monday night, the occasion being the birthdays of Dr. Lubowski, Pauline Guida, and Alfred Gorostorday. The party adjourned after dinner to the home of Mr. Newby, on Hill Crest Drive, for dancing and games. There a huge birthday cake with the names of the guests of honor was enjoyed. Gifts were presented to each.

Dr. Lubowski's brother of Oakland, Dr. Yederquist, Miss Sullivan, and Mr. McKeown were visitors to this meeting of the society.

Threatening to return all mail that is not called for, Bill Townner, State postmaster, urged students to pay more attention to the Co-op mail boxes. Townner stated that some letters were left over from last quarter and were overcrowding the small mail space. He was supported in his stand by Adah Mae Rhoads who said that she was getting tired of reading the same old post cards over and over again.

Old Favorites Many favorites are appearing in the San Jose puppet performance. Starring in "Cinderella," are Ann Harding as Cinderella; Jose Mojica as the prince; and Marie Dressler as the step-mother.

In the evening performance of "The Lost Adams Diggin's," Clark Gable will be featured as the hero; Janet Gaynor as the heroine; Ernest Torrence as the prospector; William Powell as the gambler.

Other famous puppets appearing on the bill will represent Joe E. Brown, Will Rogers, Richard Dix, Marion Nixon, and others too numerous to mention.

Spartan Knights Hold First Meeting With Organization's Pledges

The Spartan Knights held their first meeting with the new neophytes attending. These new pledges were informed of their duties and the time of the informal initiation. All Knights agreed that the theme song for the night of the informal initiation should be "A Hot Time In the Old Town Tonight."

A short business meeting was held. The club rooms of the Spartan Knights will be remodeled and redecorated. The committee in charge of this was appointed and will start work immediately. The committee is as follows: Jack Murdock, Carl Palmer, Junior Wilson, and George Thompson.

Soccer Squad In Conference Battle Today

Spartans Doped To Win from Stanford Cardinals: 13 to 0

ANNUAL GAEL-BRONCO GAME WILL BE "NATURAL" OF WEEK

By Theron Fox

Stanford won the statistics and Southern California won the grid game by a 13-0 score last Saturday when the two rivals met at Stanford. Which all goes to show that comparative scores do not mean much in the life of Howard Jones.

The Trojans are a ball team that have a habit of coming out on top in spite of pre-game odds. The only college in the country that seems able to knock them over often enough to prove that it was not a mistake is Notre Dame.

While the Trojans were giving the Cards a lesson and making them like it, Notre Dame was white-washing Carnegie Tech by a 42-0 score. Looks like the Irish-Trojan game on December 10, will just about decide the national championship for 1932.

Speaking of comparative scores, try to dope that Stanford-U. C. L. A. game. The Bruins defeated Caltech 51-0 and Oregon 12-7. Oregon beat Santa Clara and so did Stanford.

California took to the water to beat Washington in a downpour of rain by a 7-6 score. The Bears looked bad in the beginning of the season, but it looks now if they were headed for a strong finish.

Another 7-6 contest saw Washington State nose out Oregon State.

Probably the most interesting game this week will be between Santa Clara and St. Mary's. Both teams have shown spurts of outstanding power already this season. If they are enjoying good days at the same time, a real game will be dished out to the fans.

Here is a battle that would be worth watching. San Jose vs. Southern California. Dope shows that the two teams would battle to a scoreless tie, and here is my proof.

San Jose beat Pacific 7-0, and the Tigers trounced California Aggies, 30-0, therefore San Jose is 37 points better than the ranchers.

California Aggies beat Fresno by a 3-0 count, and the Bulldogs were nosed out by the Army by a 7-6 score. San Jose is then 39 points better than the Army. You are supposed to forget that San Jose played a scoreless tie with Fresno.

Stanford won by a 26-0 score from the Soldiers, so San Jose is 13 points better than the Cardinals. Southern California won 13-0 from Stanford, so San Jose has as good a team as U. S. C.

There you are folks, and remember, figures don't lie (but sometimes liars will figure) and forget the source of this reasoning. Or is it reasoning.

SAN JOSE HOLDS LEAD IN FAR WESTERN CONFERENCE

Team	Won	Lost	Tied	Pts.
San Jose	1	0	1	3
Nevada	1	0	0	2
Pacific	1	1	0	2
Cal. Aggies	1	2	0	2

Although University of Nevada has won one game, lost none, and tied none, while San Jose has won one, lost none, and tied one, the Spartans are leading the Far Western Conference, while Nevada is tied with Pacific and Cal. Aggies for second place. This is due to the point system by which standings are figured.

How Standings Figured

In the Far Western Conference two points are given for a win; one point is given for a tie; no points are given or subtracted for a defeat. By this means of scoring the Cal. Aggies are still tied for second place by virtue of their victory over Fresno State, although they have lost two games. Pacific and Nevada whipping them.

Fresno Out

Fresno State, after their tie game with the Spartans last Friday are now being tabbed "also rans." At the present time the only point they have was that netted by the tie. The Bulldogs can get back into the running for second place if they dump the Pacific Tigers on the coming weekend. On the other hand San Jose put themselves in a very favorable position by playing a tie game with the Fresno team.

Nevada Victorious

In an annual home-coming game on a very windy field the University of Nevada scored their first Conference victory by overwhelming the Cal Aggies, 16 to 0.

Nevada scored early in the second quarter on Crip Toomey's men, when Cashill, center, fell back to his 35-yard line and drop-kicked the ball through the up-rights for three points. In the same quarter, Ambrose, Wolfpack quarterback, raced 26 yards around right end for a touchdown.

Nevada's second and final touchdown came in the last quarter when "Brick" Mitchell's 200 pound fullback, Carroll, alternated with Ambrose, taking the ball 42 yards to the score.

Drop-kicking seems to be playing an important part in Far Western Conference football circles this year. It will be remembered that Cal. Aggies defeated Fresno by a drop-kick, and Nevada made the same thing against the Aggies.

First it was a case of lashing San Jose to an early season peak for Pacific. Then it was a battle against over-confidence followed by "let-down." Now the Spartans are a bit "stale" and the "building-up" process has to start all over again. The new rise, it is hoped, will carry San Jose over Chico, Nevada, and finally Cal. Aggies to the Conference championship. Ah! Such is the life of a coach!

Spartan Spasms

By Murdock and Bishop

Well, the Spartans went around it and over it, but they didn't get through it. "It" in this case was that two hundred and something line of the Bulldogs. We knew they grew them big in Fresno, but for sheer beef, that line was something to behold. All they had to do was lay down and a three-foot wall immediately confronted the Spartan backs.

That double shift seemed to have the opposition a little up in the air and the officials a little more than that. Twice the Spartans were penalized for using an illegal shift. It didn't come out what was illegal about it, but we don't quite see the catch.

And speaking of officials—the penalties came so thick and fast Friday that even the man with the black shirt, half white, was in a confusion. Jack Wool pulled one for the book in the fourth quarter, when, just before being tackled, he attempted to throw the oval out of bounds. Walt Glenn pounced upon the ball before it went out and sent up a mighty protest as it was ruled State's ball on an attempted forward pass. It did look bad.

Jack Wool got off two nifty punts in the second quarter, when with the wind at his back, he got two kicks that were beauties. The first was for seventy yards over the goal line and the second sixty-three, bouncing into the end zone.

That "M. R. Herrin, Assistant Coach," on the program under the Fresno side of the sheet was "Hoot" Herrin, former St. Mary's star, who is now coaching at the Raisin City institution. Incidentally, that was Herrin who packed Payne off of the field like so much salt in a sack.

Delos Wolfe seems to be getting better and better. Against Sacramento, only his runs stood out. Against Fresno he not only made some nice gains, but some nice tackles. More power to you—Wolfe!

Captain Bud Hubbard turned in what truly may be termed a shoe-string tackle. In the second half he dived through a three-man interference, hooked a detaining paw about Jiggs Payne's twinkling feet, and down came Mister Payne with a dull thud. It also seemed to dull Mister Payne up somewhat. A pain for—tut, tut.

Stating that they were "stale" as a result of three hard games in a row, Coach Dud DeGroot has ordered a complete rest for his aspiring gridders. "Don't come near the practice field till Wednesday afternoon," he told them following the game Friday.

DeGroot is hoping that the Spartans will be back in form for the Chico game and ready to display some of the offensive power that they flashed against Sacramento, but which failed to materialize against Fresno.

STATE STARS CERTAIN OF ALL-CONFERENCE RECOGNITION

If all those who are thinking of picking an all-Far Western Conference team at the end of the present season were at the Fresno game last Friday afternoon they certainly will have to keep in mind such men as Simoni, Baracchi, Hubbard, and Hornbeck.

"Cy" Simoni no doubt was the most outstanding player on the field. His defensive playing was without a fault, breaking into the Fresno backfield time after time throwing the Bulldog backs for great losses. Dropping back and intercepting passes, getting down on punts and nailing the safety man in his tracks, and breaking up end runs were the most noticeable acts in the work of Simoni Friday afternoon. Simoni was directly responsible for a number of large gains that the Spartan backs reeled off by his superb offensive play in opening holes.

At present Hubbard and Baracchi look to be the class of the Conference at the wing positions. Mathiesen, the Fresno State punter, who has been averaging 50 yards on his kicks so far this season, was only able to do 30 yards per kick last Friday. That twenty yard decrease looks pretty big, but he was really quite fortunate in not having any blocked the way Hubbard and Baracchi were crushing in on him.

The Fresno game brought forth a new lineman—Jack Wilson, at guard. Wilson was playing at tackle until last week, when De Groot decided to change him to the guard position. Although his playing wasn't outstanding, he was in on every play, doing his share of the work. Wilson, who is a little lighter than the other guards, is fast and heady and has great possibilities.

Women's Tennis Tourney Under Way Soon

An announcement from the Women's Physical Education department will be of interest to those entered in the women's singles tennis tournament for this fall quarter.

The first round must be played off before Monday, October 31, not the 24th, as had been previously announced. This extension of the time should give every one time to get in touch with her opponent and complete the match before the appointed date.

Those who have not as yet played off their matches must forfeit if they are not played off by Monday, the 31st.

Added to the trophy cabinets in the hallway of the Men's Gymnasium just off the basketball floor has been placed the football with which the San Jose State Spartans defeated the College of Pacific, 7-0.

The ball is white, but is not a ghost ball, it is made from some new white skin which is not pig-skin. On the ball is printed—1932—Pacific 6—San Jose 7, with the signatures of all members of the football team.

Coach Walker Hopes for Win in Contest With San Mateo J.C.

SOCCKER TEAM HOPES TO BREAK INTO THE WIN COLUMN

After a week and a half of preparation, the Spartan soccer squad meets San Mateo J. C. this afternoon at San Mateo at 4 o'clock. Thus far the local team has met only with reverse; some by narrow margins, and today is out to try for its first victory.

Coach Charles Walker's squad has been hit by illness, and as a result will not be at full strength. Herman Wittenberg, whose reliable playing marked him the outstanding outside man, is on the sick list with an infected arm. He is up and around again, but is in no condition to play.

Al Rhines, one of the most promising right halfbacks, will be unable to play for some time because of an infected foot.

However, Walker has two capable reserves for Rhines in Claypool and Jencke. The forward line vacancy will be more difficult to fill.

Monday afternoon Walker sent his men through a hard scrimmage, and spent the time perfecting the squad's offensive tactics.

The team has functioned fairly well as a defensive unit, but has never proved a dangerous scoring threat. This afternoon the Spartans will go on the field with the aim to score goals, and many of them.

Feminine Football Fans Phooey on Football Rules

Based on a survey of feminine football knowledge conducted at other institutions, pretty State College co-eds who cheer so wildly at football games, are a trifle vague in their understanding of football terms.

Here is what the fair fans think of the following terms:

Punt—A term used when playing golf.

Huddle—When players put their arms about each other's neck.

End Sweep—Time out is called and end sweeps off player's backs with whisk broom.

Quarterback Sneak—When no one is looking, small man sneaks up on ball.

Line Back—Players suits made out of buckskin.

Off Tackle Play—Tackle takes off helmet and plays.

Quarterback—Very small person who seems to be in training for railroad signalman.

Place Kick—The ball is kicked from one place to another.

Water Boy—Tall, skinny man wheels water on field to wet grass which has been treated roughly by players.

Spartan coaches, supporters, and players are rooting for Bill Ingram's up-and-down Bears to do plenty to Brick Mitchell's Nevada Wolfpack this week-end. These same Wolves have a little engagement with San Jose a week from this Saturday, you know.
