A. W. S. Will Present Recreation Program

Carmen Dragon's Orchestra To Play For Dance After Swimming Events

Swimming Stunts Will Start Entertainment Of Evening

Carmen Dragon's popular orchestra will furnish the music for the two hours of dancing at the A. W. S. Recreation Night, this Friday, February 23. This orchestra is well known for its music in both on and off-campus college dances, and is expected to contribute in a large measure to the success of the evening.

For only thirteen cents apiece—or two for a quarter—all student body members, faculty, and alumni will be admitted to this gala event, which will start at eight o'clock with a swimming pageant put on by the Swimming Club under the direction of Miss Gail Tucker. Colored lights and costumes will be featured in a swimming extravaganza. The first of the parts of the extravaganza is entitled "In the Good Old Summer Time in the Good Old Days". An Earth Princess and a dragon take the leads in the irregular dramatic composition. A Houdini stunt and a performance of a trio under water will startle the spectators with their daring performances. Those in charge of different sections are:

- General Arrangements—Marion Boldon
- Publicity—Pat Pace
- Music—Ruby Peck
- Bathing Suit Review—Lorraine Pawley and D. Schwarz
- Cooperative Swimming—Adelle Roberts
- Diving—Jane Arnsberg
- Dragons—Gladys Whitney
- Water Nymphs—Kay Cronkite
- Gay Sea Dogs—Bertha Potts
- Strong Man's Contest—Julia Lytle
- Design Swimming—All chairmen
- Finals—Horus Shields

Recreation swimming in the college pool and games sponsored by W. A. A. in the gymnasium will provide entertainment from eight until nine o'clock. The rest of the evening will be spent in dancing to the rhythmic tunes of Carmen Dragon's popular orchestra.

Don't forget the date, Friday, February 23, eight o'clock.

Narcotic Squad Agent Lectures To Students

That everyone should know the evils of narcotics was the message of Mrs. A. A. Elliot, who spoke before the Trinity Students Wednesday noon in room 2 of the Homemaking building.

Mrs. Elliot has been a member of the state narcotic squad since it was organized fourteen years ago under the Harrison Narcotics Act.

"The Habit," she said, "was usually started by the association of a person with a drug peddler or an addict." A description of the three common drugs, heroin, cocaine, and morphine, and their effect on the human body was given. Heroin is sniffed through the nose and is so powerful a drug that it burns holes into the brain, which later causes insanity. Morphine users must have the drug to appear normal, its absence causes much pain.

It costs an average drug addict from four to twelve dollars a day to pur-

Dr. Dorothy Yates Exposes Notorious Psychology Fakes

Dr. Dorothy Yates, member of the psychology department and author of books on psychological subjects, spoke to the freshman orientation group last Thursday on "Fake Psychologists". Offering a little of the inside information on these fakes which she has collected in her investigations, Dr. Yates read several excerpts from her latest book, "Psychological Racketeers", published in 1932.

Several star examples were given of the helpful advice offered by some of these self-styled vocational advisors who tour the country. One woman, after an impressive inspection of one of her subjects and a judicial feeling of his head, issued the ultimatum: "You are fitted either for work in the scientific field or for business." After a little more reflection the woman saw light. "Ah, I know; you should go into a scientific business."

The case of Orlando Edgar Miller, one of the most notorious of present-day fake psychologists, was offered as a grand example. His career, which included work in journalism, law, and various other fields, was interrupted by a short sojourn in a federal penitentiary. While there he organized a Bible class. After his release he attempted various types of disease cures. A good many of his patients died, and it became advisable for him to leave the country. He went to France, then to England, and finally returned to the United States.

He began to teach psychology, considering it less dangerous than some of his previous professions. In San Jose he organized a group to favor "films with a psychological punch"; and another project of his was urging contributions to establish an ideal colony to which share-holders might retire to be happy for ever after. Many people were swindled, and once again Miller departed for foreign shores.

"This," said Dr. Yates, "is a horrible case of a man who has been a murderer many times and yet has served only two years in a federal penitentiary. You see what psychology will do for you." When these fake psychologists come to town, Dr. Yates recommends that "if you have any money, keep it; don't spend it on them."

Three vocal selections were offered by Mr. Ralph Eckert of the speech arts department. The students enjoyed his first numbers so much that he was called back for encores. His sister, Ruth Eckert, a music major here, accompanied him at the piano. He sang "The Call of Spring," by Hulton; "Shortnin' Bread," by Jacques; and Davis' "Lazy."

Aubrey Nunes of the music department, accompanied by Emil Bourret, sang "Everything I Have Is Yours" and "One Minute to One." He received a big hand from the audience.

Fresno Defense Bottles Up S. J. During First Half; Second Period Rally Wins

Meager Crowds Witness Poor Exhibition Of Hoop Game Saturday Night

Showing a decided lack of interest throughout the first half, Coach H.C. McDonald's Spartans coasted into the second win of the Fresno State series Saturday night by the convincing score of 38-18. Exhibiting a complete reversal of form over their Friday evening performance, the Bulldogs put up a mighty battle for three-fourths of the game before being overwhelmed by the Spartan sharpshooters and another equally tough opponent, fatigue.

The San Jose team fell into a hole in the first few minutes of the game and the Fresno boys ran up a 7-3 lead before a succession of Biddle free throws and a pair of buckets by Dave Downs stuck up an 11-10 lead at half time. Shot after shot fell for naught as a lackadaisical Spartan five played an obviously bored game against a hard-fighting quintet of Bulldogs.

Sigma Kappa Delta Elects Officers In First Meet Friday

Dan Cavanagh was elected president of Sigma Kappa Delta, newly organized journalism fraternity at the first regular meeting. Other officers elected were Delores Freitas, vice-president and Corrine Kibler, secretary. The executive committee is made up of Carl Palmer and Harry Hawes.

The constitution was adopted without revision after receiving the signatures of Miss Helen Dimmick, dean of women, and Mr. Charles Goddard, dean of men, and Mr. H.F. Minssen, vice-president of the college. Several by-laws were accepted, including one that there shall be twenty active members each quarter.

Four people were proposed for membership, who will be voted upon at a future meeting. Those considered were Clarence Naas, Gil Bishop, Steve Murdock, and Dick Hughes. The society is being started with twelve charter members who are now, and have been active in college journalism since the beginning of the fall quarter.

Following are the names of the charter members: Bob Leland, Corrine Kibler, Harry Hawes, Carl Palmer, Delores Freitas, Carl Holliday, Alice Parrish, Dan Cavanagh, Helen Tracy, Frank Hamilton, Thelma Vickers, and Jim Fitzgerald.

The purpose of the organization is the fostering of friendship and mutual assistance among students interested in college and professional journalism, to increase interest in this activity, and to promote the welfare of the college in aiding it to obtain suitable publicity. Meetings will be held bi-monthly on the date to be decided upon by the executive committee.

State Leads 28-6 At Half Time As Biddle Scores Twelve Points in 5 Minutes

The Bulldog came, the Bulldog saw, —and the Bulldog had a false set of teeth. That aptly describes the very lop-sided game presented last Friday night on the Spartan hardwood floor, with Stan Borleske's muchly-muddled Fresno State representatives falling under a San Jose bucket barrage. 51-13 the final score said, and those figures are far from showing the actual superiority the Spartans held.

From the opening whistle until three minutes passed, nothing much happened. The Spartans jumped into a narrow 3-1 lead and held it for the time being. Then things began to open up. Featuring Carl Biddle under the basket, "Shoes" Holmberg and Bart Concannon farther out on the floor and a pair of dynamite guards in the personages of Captain "Hank" Leibbrandt (note spelling) and Bud Hubbard, the starting San Jose line-up began to pile up the score until it reached 19-3. Here Coach Hovey McDonald began to interject substitutions and before the half had ended 12 players saw action. The score at half time was 28-6.

If the first half was full of action the second stanza was just one long laugh. The Spartans would gain possession of the ball and the merry-go-round would start. In under the basket (Continued on Page Three)

W.A.A. SPONSORS ACTIVITIES

SANTA BARBARA TO BE CONVENTION SCENE OF W.A.A. ON APRIL SIXTH

In common with many civic and national re-organization in the past months the Women's Athletic Association has changed its type of organization and activities. Under the old type, only the most highly skilled girls were encouraged in activities, and the unfortunate girls of average ability were ignored.

Participation was based on competition and the development of skill, rather than in playing for recreation and enjoyment. W.A.A. has recently been re-organized so as to be made a more inclusive organization, based on several smaller clubs for these separate sports. Every girl on the campus now has the opportunity of joining any club or clubs in activities in which she is interested. Clubs active at this time are swimming, Archery, Riding, Social Dancing, and Natural Dancing (Orchesis) Clubs.

Each club has its own separate organization, but all are co-ordinated by means of the W.A.A. council which is made up of representatives from each club, and other officers. Under this system a greater number of girls participate. In general this plan is better suited to the needs of a fast growing campus. It is hoped that other clubs in fencing, golf, badminton, ping pong, etc. may be formed as soon as enough interest in them is evidenced.

W.A.A. has also recently made a change abolishing all awards for participation in sports. The San Jose group is one of the few in the West who have ventured to do this. Formerly, a girl was given points for participation in various sports.

Naturally this favored the girls who were most active and skilled. Part of the money each girl pays in registration fees goes to the W.A.A. each quarter, and formerly a great deal of this money was spent on awards for a few special girls. This old system encouraged a masculine attitude towards sports, in which too often a few individuals were glorified at the expense of others. The wearing of a sweater does not glorify any girl and they are seldom worn after graduation, especially away from the college town.

Under the new system, this unequal distribution of money has been done away with and it is now used to promote such activities as "All State" play days, Noon bravers, skating parties and banquets. The system not only distributes finances in a more democratic manner, but encourages mass participation in recreative activities.

W. A. A. Extends Invitation To All State Organizations

W.A.A. invites you, and your society to an evening of free entertainment, in the women's gym, any night except Monday. Come and play ping-pong, deck tennis, paddle tennis, shuffle board, badminton and darts.

The Women's Athletic Association offers this unusual opportunity to any and all clubs who want to spend an evening in fun and frolic. We suggest that you have your meeting right in the gym. There is a kitchen where you may prepare that all-time essential, FOOD, and aside from that all entertainment is provided by W.A.A. If you wish, we will also include with no string attached, some exceedingly charming and capable women who will instruct you in any of the games you may desire to play.

There is no catch to this—is it even better than it sounds. See for yourself by making your reservations at the women's gym.

New Distraction for State Collegians

Starting on January 11, an extensive program of recreation has been sponsored by W.A.A. Illustrating the type of games which may be played are Jean Sewell Smith, with badminton equipment; Beth Frieremuth, ping pong, Saidee Mae Sanor, darts; Harriet Johnston, quoits; and Hugh Penn, Shuffleboard.

W. A. A. INITIATES NEW TYPE OF ACTIVITIES FOR S. J. COLLEGE STUDENTS

The campus W.A.A. is not only a local organization, but is a branch of the Women's Division of the National Amateur Athletic Federation, and the Athletic Federation of College Women. The latter organization is to have a Convention of the Western Division to be held in Santa Barbara on April 23 and 7 of this year. Delegates from this college will be sent.

The general purpose of both Federations is to further athletic interests and activities for girls and women.

Objectives for carrying out the plans are set to offer suggestions for the general W.A.A. program. The following represent the principal objectives:

1. Enlarged intramural programs to include class teams, organized groups, such as sororities and clubs and independent groups for those who have no club affiliation.

2. The promotion of Sports Days between neighboring colleges.

3. The promotion of Play Days between neighboring high schools.

4. Definite health programs for the entire year.

5. The organization of activity clubs to provide more opportunity for participation in sports by the average college women. (The clubs that were recommended include: Orchesis (dancing), Swimming, Outing, Tennis, Archery, etc.)

6. An enlarged sports program to include sports that men and women can enjoy together such as mixed doubles tennis, mixed foursome in golf, archery meets, an occasional point meeting of women on each team.

Orchesis Member Of National Group To Attend Convention

Orchesis—what does it mean? It is a Greek term whose truest meaning is to dance. Orchesis is a national dancing organization sponsored by individuals who dance because they find joy in expressing themselves in bodily movement. This article isn't written to justify the place of the dance in the world today, for if you are at all cultured, or well read you have an intelligent grasp of the educational values derived from the dance. What we want you to know about is our own Orchesis sponsored by W.A.A.

Orchesis has been active on this campus since 1927. The dance dramas, the dance concerts and the informal evenings that this group has presented on our college campus have been graciously accepted and appreciated by many of the students, the faculty and outsiders. At present under the leadership of Miss Jewell the group is advancing and developing the fundamentals of the dance, is doing some dance composition and making a study of some phases of the modern dance. At present the group is anticipating a group meeting of Orchesis organizations from Mills College, University of Stanford, University of California, San Francisco State, Fresno State and San Jose State at Stanford, February 24, when the groups will discuss the modern dance and will be privileged to be instructed by Harold Kreutzberg, noted dancer of the world today.

Edith Boasso, president of the C.W.C., was the official hostess at a very successful Valentine dance given at the Center, Friday evening, February ninth.

Decorations were in keeping with the holiday theme, Mell McDonald's orchestra provided music for dancing. At the close of the evening a buffet supper was served.

State Co-eds Enjoy Skating Party Held At S. J. Roller Rink

Over one hundred girls enjoyed W.A.A.'s skating party, February 8 in the spacious Roller Rink Auditorium. It was a fine opportunity for those who could skate to show their skill and for some who could not, to learn. Even those who carry some black and blue spots as one of the W.A.A. officials, would like to go again and there are plans in the air for another skate for both men and women.

For the party on the eighth, W.A.A. paid twenty-five cents of the admission and the price to the girls was only fifteen cents. However, the rink management allows a refund of ten cents on each ticket if there are over a hundred present, thus making the party a very good investment, indeed.

Dorothy Todd, Women's Athletic Association Recreation Manager, was in charge of the skate. Future plans of this sort will be also under her supervision. Watch for further announcements of the next big skate for both men and women.

SPARTAN SPURTS

Bertrandias & Conroy

A Slap In The Face

We are very slow to take offense, and we don't make it a practice to deliberately antagonize other institutions, especially when we are in athletic relationships with them. However, innocents have been cast upon San Jose State in the past. They were not to be passed. Again we are met by an unpleasant discourse on a subject about which the author had no apparent knowledge.

Impetuosity is a fault that can not be corrected at time, but presumptuousness could be cured with a very small amount of investigation.

Sour Grapes!

In the last issue of the College of Pacific Weekly we are greeted with an Editorial, subtly labeled "Sportsmanship." It opens: "In one of the last issues of the Fresno Collegian you can find the following statement: 'This afternoon at 4 o'clock the team of players who will represent Fresno State in a basketball game at San Jose will begin practice. Although Fresno has disbanded its team, the Spartans refused to drop them from the schedule.' Pacific students will be interested to know that Pacific had a contract with Fresno, but the only thing a school with ANY PRIDE could do was release them from their contract. IF THE WINNING OF THE CONFERENCE BECOMES MORE IMPORTANT THAN REAL SPORTSMANSHIP, IT IS TIME FOR THE CONFERENCE TO DISBAND.

Pacific's relations with the Far Western Conference have always been of the highest type, and will continue to be so—win or lose.

And we might add that Fresno has proven herself a real sport by agreeing to play or forfeit to Pacific to compensate for San Jose's uncompromising position."

All So Much Blather

There you have it, Spartans, and a beautiful mess of nonsense and magnified misunderstanding we have never heard tell of.

The author was evidently abysmally ignorant of the true facts of the situation, entirely overlooking the part of the situation that so states by conference ruling that the games between San Jose and Fresno HAVE NO BEARING UPON THE CONFERENCE WHATSOEVER.

An opinion of no conservative proposition should be handed the writer who so vehemently denounced the tactics of us in our relation upon another without understanding the relationship between the two in question.

Also consider that at the time of passing judgement upon the Fresno contract, San Jose had no visions of regaining the conference crown, and any thoughts of enterprise at the time would have been perfectly ridiculous.

San Jose Pays For Fresno Expenses

Fresno simply withdrew from the conference hoop roll this year due to financial reasons, culminating from a loss incurred last grid season. Naturally a request was made to be dropped from contracts. San Jose and Fresno relationships have always been of the best, at least no unnecessary inferences have been cast by one upon the other, and there was no reason why the contents should not carry through, con-

SECOND GAME

The Spartan line-up, but nothing seemed to work until ten minutes of the twenty minute session had passed. Here Paul Rea and Dave Downs began to combine a few buckets to raise a 19-17 tally up to the final score of 38-18. The insertion of Jud Taylor along with Rea and Downs provided the needed spark to pull the Spartans out of a slump that had the handful of State followers present praying that nothing drastic would happen.

Downs led the scoring for the evening with 10 markers to his credit, but it was a pair of Fresno forwards named Coles and Iino that furnished the fireworks for the Bulldog five. The little Japanese drew a big hand from the crowd when he left the game.

Paul Rea played a fine floor game and dropped in 8 points for second high scoring honors of the evening.

SPORT SHOTS

Helen Wills Moody who has held every important women's tennis title has shown steady improvement since a displaced vertebrae forced her to default to Helen Jacobs in the 1931 national finals at Forest Hills, N.Y. It is expected that she will probably resume practice about May 1.

If England loses the Davis Cup this year it is reported Fred Perry their ace player will turn professional. It is said that Jack Crawford the Australian star also contemplates turning pro.

Good Time Planned For Bulldogs

San Jose State did everything in its power to arrange a pleasant stay for the Bulldog representatives, even extending her courtesy to secure dates and means of transportation to the dance held in their honor on the evening after the second tilt of the series.

There are no hard feelings between San Jose and Fresno, and after all it is the two mentioned institutions who are concerned. Perhaps in the future those connected with the "Pacific Weekly" will take the tip and confine their criticism and innuendos to their own campus or at least make it a point to understand a situation before attempting to pass judgement upon it. We hope we have made ourselves clear.

Frosh Grid Team Get Last Chance

Providing the weather permits and enough of the team puts in appearance, the freshman football squad picture for the La Torre will be taken Tuesday (tomorrow) afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the men's gym. If the Freshman team wants its picture in the La Torre it is up to it to put in its appearance. This will be absolutely the last opportunity to have this picture taken.

SPARTAN NINE TIES IRVINGTON IN TEN INNINGS

Battling to a tie game, the Irvington and State teams played until darkness put a stop to the festivities after ten innings.

Enjoying a comfortable 6-1 lead going into the last of the eighth, the "Farmer" lads lost their magnetic touch and before they had regained it they were only one run to the good. However, in the ninth the Spartans put over the tying run.

Two complete teams were used by both State and Irvington, since this was a practice game for both organizations. Para with two hits in three attempts Felice with two for four and Atkinson with two for two led the State sluggers. LeBon with two for three, Rivers with two for two and Muniz with three for five were the heavy hitters for the out of town boys.

Horstman, starting for State gave way to Watson in the third and "Big Boy" Bert went the route.

Maderious who started for Irvington allowed only five hits in seven innings while Blacow allowed four in three innings.

There is considerable rivalry between these two teams and another game in the near future would be a big attraction as a goodly crowd witnessed this one.

Divers Diving

Those who bemoaned the loss of Holt, including myself, at the beginning of the present season, are now commending to forget his loss and hunt for other fields upon which to spill their tears. The reason for this is the remarkable advancement of Kinsley. His diving against the Stanford boys was sure sweet. York's improvement in diving is also bringing joy to the heart of Coach Walker.

Crow Hops

Believe it or not, and I'm not trying to establish an alibi, those Stanford lads received a gift of second and third in the diving. On all their back dives they took a preliminary hop before their take-off. Known technically as a "crow-hop," this method of diving is supposed to cut a competitors' score in half for the dive upon which he takes it.

ket, then out—no shots, just passing as if that was all that mattered. Countless points were thrown aside. Twice in succession, Dave Downs stood by himself under the basket and passed out again. Just an example of the play that dominated the game. In the last five minutes, the starting five re-entered the game and with fifteen seconds to go, hurdled the magic mark of "50".

The Spartans won and they won going away. That just about sums it up.

Records and RECORDS!

This idea of coming down to San Jose and setting new pool records for all events which they won seemed somehow amusing to the Indian squad. Oh well, we know they're good, but I'll venture that some of those records will fall in the near future, at that.

Not so Hot

And then some of those records aren't so good when you look at the times of the world records in the events, anyhow.

Mistakes Galore

Both of the local city newspapers credit Bob Kinsley with being a former San Jose High School star. We'll agree with the star part, but he most emphatically is not a product of the local preps, having graduated from San Mateo High, one of the local's determined rivals.

Babes Win Easy Games To End Successful Year

The Spartan Babes celebrated the pre-game election of Jim Irwin, forward as captain, by coasting through a one-sided 38 to 16 victory over Pacific Grove High School.

Starting from the opening tip-off the combination of Waddington, Crawford, Welch, Hudson and Pease ran up a 15 to 3 score in the first ten minutes. Here Coach Bob Elliott inserted Captain Irwin, Bettencourt, DeSelle, Brown and Mortenson who though clicking as effectively as the first five managed to bring the score up to 24 to 8 at the end of the first half.

The beginning of the second period found the Pacific Grove boys putting up a stiffer fight. But with Bettencourt who was high point man of the game with 10 points to his credit, sinking them in quick succession, and a few interspersed by Irwin the third quarter ended in State's favor 34 to 14. The last was cut short so that each team was only able to score one goal.

Cowan and Hawkins were outstanding for the visitors. The former was high point man with 7 digits, and the latter outstanding as a floor man.

For the Frosh, Waddington, Crawford, Irwin and Bettencourt at forwards and Hudson, Pease and Brown at guards turned in their usual steady games.

Irwin and Crawford tied for second high scoring honors for San Jose with seven points apiece.

The series will be played between the Senior team headed by Robert Elliot and the Junior A's led by Marske.

Ed Atkinson is holding top position in the foul shooting tournament which will come to a close in the very near future. This boy has a fine eye for sinking them from the foul line and is doing just that.

Even though the Sophomore B team is out of the running for the championship series they showed what they could do in a last tilt with the Saratoga team by defeating them by a score of 30 to 10 Tuesday night.

Byron Lanphear has certainly shown some fine leadership in handling the Soph teams, although they were defeated by one game as far as being in on the play offs which will be held next week.

Orchids to Elmer

This column is not usually given to personal publicity, but in this case we believe credit should be placed where credit is due. That place is on the shoulders of Elmer Stoll, the capable student affairs chairman who was the man behind the gun in planning our first after game barn dance.

That dance was a success. No one who attended will say anything else about it. They couldn't without doing a very great injustice.

There was a spirit of gayety and friendly rivalry that bodes well for the future of sports and after sport dances. The man to thank for all that is this same Elmer Stoll.

Besides that, and other successful dances too many to mention, the boy wonder will attempt to put over the first Masquerade Ball ever attempted by the student body.

Give your support to Elmer. He needs it to make your dances even more successful in the past.

Times Questionnaire

In the near future, the Times will feature a questionnaire dealing with campus and other subjects. The object of this will be to determine the trend of the average college mind.

It has not been decided as yet whether to run the questionnaires in the Times or to circulate them in the orientation groups.

They will not be of too serious nature, still they will to some extent (we hope) reflect campus ideas on certain items. Chief among them will be questions concerning your favorite features of the Times (not limited to the fourth page), your favorite radio entertainer (comedian and singer), your favorite campus personality (male and female), favorite prof (same), favorite novel, musical composition (classical and popular), actor and actress and the like.

This questionnaire will soon be placed before you for consideration. Be sure to watch for it. And in the mean time, be thinking of your answers to the above samples of the questions to be asked.

The Metronome
by Alice Parrish

Tick, tock—
With the A Cappella Choir members gone, the music building is comparatively quiet. Can it be that the majority of the noise-makers are the Choir members? Or vice-versa?

Tick, tock—
Speaking of the A Cappella Choir, did you hear the concert? If you heard the concert, did you see the cat? It was the cutest little, fuzzy-wuzzy feline that ever climbed a back yard fence. But it somehow got into the Morris Dailey and onto the lap of a feminine member of the audience. It was very comfortable there until the final hum was hummed and the final clap was clapped. And then it became the source of much embarrassment to the young lady onto whose lap it had climbed. She couldn't very well walk out of the auditorium in front of all those peoples—carrying Christopher, or Katherine—or whatever it was! Bright child! She handed it to Mamma, and was Mamma's face crumpled as she passed through the door! ! !

Tick, tock—
With Mr. Erlendson gone South, some of Mrs. Brekelbaum's master class pianists have been "playin' Teach" in his classes. There ought to be a lot of funny things to tell about that, but we find only one.

This is on Robert Rath (Bobbie, to some people). One fine day he was giving his very best imitation of the departed mentor, when an elderly lady happened in. She carried one of the registration booklets in her hand and seemed very much interested in the professor's methods. At the close of the hour she approached him, with "Mr. Erlendson?"

"Did you wish to sign up for this class?" asked Bob, so courteously.

"Er,—why—no, I was just looking. Thank you so much for allowing me to visit."

Bob replied "Not at all," or words to that effect, and the lady departed.

And now we hear that she is from U.C.L.A., a teacher of curriculum in the music department! And Bob is Mr. Erlendson! OOOOH, MY.

Tick, tock—
Far be it from us to raise another rumpus, but the student recital was too much to let pass without comment.

Alfred Smith seems to have been the bright particular star of the morning. He not only got an encore—unheard of from that most critical of all groups, the music majors—but also acted as care-taker for the Steinway. What offended our sense of the appropriate was the fact that he had to take care of it even when he did the performing.

But what happened to Alfred ("Sunshine") after the program? We heard that the audience's admiration so terrified him that he ran all the way from the auditorium upstairs in the music building and there buried himself deep in a pile of clarinets. We only heard that, of course, through the clarinets.

THE WORLD AT LARGE
By Harry Hawes

The boast of the Fascists that they would someday rule the world seems in a part being carried out, with the Nazi uprisings in Austria. The Nazis are an organization similar in a military way, to that of Mussolini's in Italy. It is said that Russia is sitting back and enjoying the Socialist revolts in France, and the battle of the Socialists in Austria. This is just the kind of action she had been hoping for.

Spain is also having her troubles. Not to be outdone by the Nazis, and also perhaps living up to their threat of world dominance, the Spanish Reds are leading a big strike. Acts of sabotage and terrorism were resorted to by the communists. This is what would naturally be expected.

Moscow is reported to be watching with great interest, and thru the communist party paper, Preveda, cheering the efforts of the rioters in France and Austria. Between the Nazis and the Reds, the lives of the Europeans are being made miserable. And people talk about World Peace.

Having successfully passed the House of Representatives, Japan's largest peace time appropriation bill for the army in the country's history now goes to the House of Peers, where an equally easy passage is expected. It is no wonder, with the present unrestful condition in Europe, that Japan asks for an enlarged fighting force.

And now thugs are masquerading as sailors. Several suspects have been picked up by Federal authorities. They are believed to be part of a gang, who posing as ship-mates, offer to show sailors on liberty the city, and then lead them to cheap hotels, or booze parties, and rob them. This is a pretty low down trick to pull on the Bluejackets, who, seeing the uniform, naturally believe the thugs.

The following is reprinted from the Pathfinder.

Being an advertising man, Charlie Hatch, of Portsmouth, Ohio, couldn't resist telling the world about the fine son Mrs. Hatch presented to him recently. Loyal to his profession he went to a job shop and had the following ad printed for the announcement of the Blessed event.

ORCHIDS

An orchid to Malcolm Holmberg for his amazing variety of nicknames. "Shoes", "Honey", and "Dimples" lead the list.

And one to Letta B. Allen for her skyscraper nose.

And an orchid to Randy Smith for daring to ask a Kappa for a date at the last minute.

An orchid to Ann Franzia for her naive.

Also to Toby MacLachlan for his daily poised inspection tour of the halls.

A sunflower to Lee Barnes for fooling the publique.

An orchid to Dean Delaney for his continual parking in front of certain houses on eighth street. Is it Marjorie or Rae, Dean?

SPEAKING OF SPEECH

Who among us has not gazed with incredulity and amusement at the senseless representations of college life the cinema has given us? But at last Broadway presents something at which we can laugh out loud and still be polite. (That is, we could laugh if we could see it.)

With her tongue in her cheek, Broadway offers to the public 'She Loves Me Not', musical comedy, in parts. The joke is on Hollywood (and on Princeton, too, but methinks Hollywood deserves it most).

Chippendale furniture and grand pianos in dormitory rooms! In one inspired scene the hero knocks the Dean cold! Whoops! What a man! What a college. In another place the drama gets too big for the stage to handle, and the detested "silver screen" is used to show a fleet of U.S. battleships coming full speed to the rescue!

The story, by Edward Hope, ran in the Saturday Evening Post and manages to be amusing even without the benefits of the stage.

And then there was the speech student who was so dumb that he thought 'The Great God Brown' was a negro play!

There are two O'Neil plays on Broadway at the present. 'Ahm Wilderness', a simple charming comedy (Yes, O'Neil wrote it) and 'Days Without End' (Which I will not attempt to label).

However, it is a typical O'Neil production Masks and symbolism or is it symbolism? The critics haven't made up their minds yet.

You who dread your practice teaching will be interested to know that there will be a course in class-room speech given next quarter. This may be just the thing you need, then again it might not be quite adequate.

Here is an interesting piece of news—Laurence Mendenhall, of the speech department, is to direct a one act play exclusively for freshmen. Fresh cast, and presented in orientation.

WARDROBE WISHES

"The time has come, the walrus said
To speak of many things,
Of shoes, of ships, and sealing wax,
And cabbages, and kings."

So now, it is also appropriate for us, (us, those members of the more particular sex) to consider what we should be wearing this season, and where.

Just a glance around will convince one that this spring, and more particularly this month, we are to be treated to some of the snappiest riggings in the sports line. These three piece suits that they're wearing, consisting of skirt, short coat, and swagger coat, are so uncannily practical. You can wear the skirt and short coat with a dressy blouse; the skirt, a sweater and the top coat to create a stunning swagger outfit; all three pieces of the suit for street wear, and if you're exceptionally clever you'll probably be able to figure out several other combinations.

There's a fancy new cloth which they are using for sport this year. We've seen it in swagger coats and purses already, and we imagine you'd be able to get a hat to match. It's called Desert cloth—comes in white and different colors and the white looks grand over a dress of pastel shades.

At Roos' Bros. they also have an amazing beret bar. You gals who thought you'd never be able to don a beret without looking exactly like Exhibit A should resurrect your hopes. They have berets of every type, color, shape, and description, some with little brims for those who must have them. Most of the new hat-berets are off the face, however, and if you can wear 'em you're in the money.

There's one thing that finishes off a sports costume as nothing else can. It's a scarf, and this spring they're coming in the most attractive colors and designs. These are plaids, stripes, prints, and conservative plain ones in any shade you desire.

As a final tip let me add that if you're in doubt about what colors are the very best right now before the later spring shades drop down upon us, they rank with navy blue heading the list. Navy blue with white comes second, and navy blue combined with copper clay, third.

These are a few hints. More follow.
