Council To Appoint Junior Justice At Monday's Meeting

Appointment of a junior justice to the Student Court will highlight the meeting of the Student Council Monday afternoon at 4:30 in the Student Union, announced Tommy Wall, student body president.

The junior justice position was left vacant when Winifred Helm was raised to chief justice by the Student Council at its last meeting. Qualifications for the vacant position require a woman with junior status on clear standing.

Also to be appointed by the Council will be a representative-at-large to the College Life committee, Wall added. Dale LaMar, former Council member, has made known to the Council his wish to be considered for the position. His letter was read at the last Council meeting.

The College Life committee representative position calls for a sincere junior student on clear standing.

Further business to be handled, Wall explained, will be appointment of a committee of Council members to organize and conduct nomination assemblies for class elections. They will confer with class presidents to set the time and place for the assemblies.

Student Court representatives will be present at all of the nomination assemblies.

Bill Swasey, senior Council member will report on the results of his investigation into the possibility of one of the service organizations constructing a trophy case to house Sparta's spoils.

"Women of the Amazon," a water color by Peruvian Artist Jose Sabogal, is one of 113 paintings to be displayed Monday in the Art wing. The show is sponsored by the IBM Corporation.

PAN AMERICAN PAINTING EXHIBIT OPENS MONDAY

Pan American water colors, representing almost every country in the Western Hemisphere, will be on display beginning Monday, Dr. Marques Reitzel, art director, announced yesterday.

Included in the exhibit are works from 20 South and Central American countries, eight Canadian provinces, and the regional United States, according to information from the International Business Machines Corp., owners of the exhibit.

The collection was chosen by the local art authorities of each country, and then purchased by IBM to assure representative art work from that particular area.

Most of the paintings reflect the surroundings of the artists. Scenes and landscapes of the Canadians depict snow and ice and wintry days. South American painters have done work on pageants and tropical scenes.

The water colors will hang in the hall of the art wing and the overflow placed in Room A1 and the library, said Art Instructor John Mottram, who is in charge of displaying the paintings.

RUSSIA ADDS LIVE BOMBS TO COLD AIRLIFT ASSAULT

BERLIN (UP)—Russia informed the Western powers that sweeping air maneuvers would be held near the Berlin Airlift corridors and a short time later a British pilot reported he saw Soviet planes dropping live bombs.

One pilot said he saw "bursts" of live bombs exploding beneath Russian bombers making practice runs 10 miles north of Fohnau on the northern boundary of the French sector of Berlin.

Immediate protests were filed by American and British authorities through the Four-Power Air Safety center.

SPARTAN GRIDDERS FLY TO LOS ANGELES WHERE THEY MEET PEPPERDINE

The Spartan grid team, 37 strong, hops aboard a special chartered plane Saturday morning for Los Angeles where they take on George Pepperdine college that evening at 8 p.m.

The players and three coaches, Top Man Bill Hubbard, Line Coach Bob Bronzan, and Hamp Pool, backfield mentor, leave the San Francisco airport at 11 a.m. An additional member of the squad, kickoff specialist Woody Linn, will make the trip by car, along with approximately 500 San Jose roosters.

ASB Cards Honored

San Jose State student body cards will be honored at the Pepperdine game at Inglewood tomorrow evening, Al Raffaelli, rally committee head, said today.

To be assured of a seat in the reserved section students must leave their names either with Raffaelli or in box "R" in the coop.

Pepperdine Game To Be Televised Tomorrow Night

The Spartans' game with Pepperdine Saturday night may be televised, according to Al Raffaelli, chairman of the rally committee.

Raffaelli also stated that San Jose State college student body cards would be good for admission at the game. The game will be played at Wrigley field, in Los Angeles.

More than 500 student roosters are expected to make the trip to Los Angeles to see the game, according to Raffaelli. A band will be on hand to aid Spartan fans. The San Jose State college yell leaders and the song girls may also appear in a telecast.

Although Pepperdine has lost its initial two starts this year, they were both to first class teams and the Spartans may be in for a tough football game. Raffaelli urges as many students as are able to make the trip to Los Angeles.

Helm Announces First Court Meet

The Student Court will hold its first meeting this quarter in the Student Body office today at 4:30 p.m., announced the newly appointed chief justice, Winifred Helm, yesterday.

Main business on the agenda calls for the appointment of a court recorder and the writing of a set of rules governing misdemeanors on campus, Miss Helm explained.

Dr. Leo P. Kibby, social science professor and last quarter's faculty advisor to the Court, will address the meeting.

Council Appointments

Recommendations of candidates for the College Life committee are now being accepted by the Student Council, ASB President Tom Wall said today. Candidates must be junior standing and have a clear academic status.

Student Court appointments for the office of Junior Justice are being accepted (for women only). Qualifications: at least 75 units and clear academic standing.

STEIN LOSES TOOTH

First string left end, Mel Stein, gave the coaches cause to worry yesterday when he was taken to the health cottage after an abscessed tooth had been pulled that morning. The abscess resulted from an injury received in the opening game against Stanford, and has been bothering Stein ever since. According to Coach Bronzan, Stein should be in playing shape by game time, however.

JULIANO SHOULD PLAY

Regular left guard, Joe Juliano, has recovered sufficiently from his early shoulder injury, and will probably see action against the Waves. First string left guard, Dick Harding, should also be ready to bolster that position since the temple gash he suffered against Puget Sound has practically healed.

The Spartans looked none too good in defensive drills against the single wing style of play Wednesday. Although they were scrimmaging against freshman squad members who know even less about this formation than the varsity, yearling backs found gaping holes in their line a number of times.

Unless the local team plays its best brand of football against Pepperdine, the Waves may chalk up their first win of the season. Since the Stanford game, the coaches have had trouble firing the squad up, and after losing two straight, Pepperdine will probably be much higher for the contest than San Jose.

DOW AND MILLER IMPROVE

According to Coach Bronzan, two linemen who have looked especially good during the week are Tackles Harley Dow and Ed Miller. Both should see action Saturday. Among the backs, Hubbard said Left Half Steve O'Meara is definitely ready, and that Pete Denevi will be used to bolster the Spartan defense fullback spot.

The opening lineup for San Jose will probably be as follows: Junior Morgan, left end; Harley Dow, left tackle; Jack Lercari, left guard; Bob Pifferini, center; George Reeves, right guard; Jack Faulk, right tackle; Dean Sopha, right end; Gene Menges, quarterback; either Captain Billy Parton or Bill Schemmel, left half; Al Cementina, right half; and Fred Silva, fullback.

Menges, whose home is in the Southland, will be spelled by Chuck Hughes and Pete Denevi, while Harry Russell, who has recovered completely from a leg injury, should play a lot of right half.

Dr. Hermanns To Head Opera Trips

"Die Meistersinger," an opera by Richard Wagner, will be presented Oct. 10 in a matinee performance at the San Francisco Opera House.

Dr. William Hermanns, professor in the Language department, requested that all students interested in attending should be sure to sign up today by 2 p.m. in B-61 for tickets and transportation arrangements.

Dr. Hermanns stressed that all interested students are welcome to attend, not only those in the Language department. The $2.40 per seat charge need not be paid today, but will be taken at the ticket office in San Francisco, according to Dr. Hermanns. The number wishing to attend must be known in advance in order to reserve a sufficient number of seats.

Those students who will attend are asked by Dr. Hermanns to meet at 11 a.m. Sunday in front of the Student Union. Those who have cars are invited to help with the transportation of other students and will be remunerated for their expense.

"Die Meistersinger" is presented as a part of the program planned for the Autumn quarter by the Opera Guild of the Language department.

STUDENT INTERVIEW IS DANGEROUS WORK FOR DAILY REPORTER

Spartan Spinners Enjoy "Energetic" Dancing Session

"Enthusiastically energetic" are two words that best describe the throng of amateur and veteran folk dancers that crowded into the Women's Gym Tuesday night for three hours of strenuous dancing.

The occasion was the first meeting of the Spartan Spinners, an organization devoted to doing nothing but folk dancing, regardless of how far they have to travel to do it. More than 200 strong constitutioned Spartans polka'd, sashayed, and galloped, under the expert supervision of Dr. and Mrs. Carl D. Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wills, and, remarkably enough, were able to leave the gym on their own power at the dance party's close.

DANCING PROFESSOR

The Duncans and Willses, who consented to instruct beginning and advanced classes in folk dancing on Tuesday nights, can well be classified as experts in the art. Dr. and Mrs. Duncan have been associated with the Palomaniacs, a Palo Alto group which is considered to be one of the outstanding demonstration groups in Northern California. When he isn't dancing, Dr. Duncan is the head of SJS's science department.

Mr. and Mrs. Wills also are well qualified to teach folk dancing classes as they have been members of several prominent Bay Area groups. Mrs. Wills, better known to State students as Dr. Clarice Wills, department of education faculty member, is a past president of the California Folk Dance Federation, of which the Spartan Spinners are a member organization. The Willses are members of the Federation of Folk Dance Institute, a body which trains instructors and standardizes folk dances done in California.

"SWISS GALLOP"

The most athletic dance that was taught during the entire evening, and the one that brought the most perspiration to the assembled brows was the "Swiss Gallop." When the fast strains of the "Gallop" came to an end, an undercurrent of feeble "Whews" and "Oh, my aching feet!" filled the room.

Observing the assembled panting multitude leaning weakly against the four supporting walls, Dr. Duncan commented, "Now you know why San Jose State students are called Spartans."

Some college newspaper editors spend a good deal of their working hours telling idle reporters to go out and interview students on a timely question. The timely questions might range from: "Is the atom here to stay?" to "Will sex replace night baseball?"

So, we were sent out to ask students what interesting things they had done during the summer. Their answers, while not satisfying, were honest.

With an eye for extra-journalistic possibilities, we approached a be-sweated freshman lass and asked the assigned question. She replied that she most certainly had, but she'd be hanged if she'd tell us.

A microcephalic football lineman next came along, and was duly asked our question. His answer was polite, but firm.

"Wass matta? You guys crazy or somethin'?"

A true Spartan!

Sex again reared its ugly head, and we approached another young lady in the Industrial Arts building. "Pardon me," we asked, "but what interesting work did you do over the summer?"

"You guys sellin' somethin'?" she growled.

"No," we admitted, "we just want to know if—"

"Scram outa here," she interrupted. "Men don't talk to me unless they're sellin' somethin'."

After selling the spavined wench a lifetime subscription to the Daily, the two reporters walked off and interviewed each other.

So, if anyone needs the services of an experienced hardware salesman and a former room service waiter, contact the Spartan Daily.

SPARTANS BUSY DURING SUMMER

"What'd you do this summer?" is the stock question among Spartans returning to classes after three months of sun, sittin', and sleepin'.

Vacation plans of State-ers ran the gamut from a trip to Europe to just sitting in the backyard at home doing nothing. (That's me.)

Many students did their required stints in the summer training camps of the National Guard. Some people traveled eastward to attend fraternity conventions. Still others stayed home and worked, with thoughts of college expenses running through their mental bankbooks.

Among these were the dauntless cannery workers, clad in levis, shirts, and kerchiefs, who made the production lines at the local canneries something they'd never been before.

What'd you do this summer?

Feminine intuition is mostly suspicion.

'EXPERT' GIVES FROSH 'INSIDE' ON REG DAYS

First quarter Spartans spend more time on campus than their elders. At least during registration.

Optimist (campus variety): first quarter frosh (last name begins with "S") who expects his "ideal" schedule to survive registration unchanged. That is, no 7:30 classes, no afternoon classes, no evening classes, and no classes on Tuesdays or Thursdays.

Result: 7:30 class daily, 6:30 lab two nights a week, and 4:30 class daily. Classes evenly spread throughout the day.

Ideal class: no text, no home work, no tests, interesting lectures.

Frosh comment on Spartan Daily: "Where's the gossip column?" When informed that Daily staff members frown on publication of such trivia (however abundant): "Gee!"

Realization that this is NOT a fifth year of high school: Entirely incomprehensible lecture delivered in a mumbled monotone upon which Friday's quiz is to be based.

Main problem facing new students: Learning to take legible notes which make sense when being reviewed two weeks later in preparation for an important X.

Faculty Socialites Plan Get-Together Halloween Dance

"Membership in the Dorians is open to the entire faculty and staff of San Jose State college, and all are invited to attend the Halloween dance Saturday, Oct. 23," stated Dr. Benjamin Naylor of the Science department, who together with his wife, is secretary-treasurer of that group.

The Dorians, organized two years ago by Dr. Ralph J. Smith, Engineering department, are named after that great race which had the ancient Greek city of Sparta as its capital. The organization is purely social, and its purpose is to help the ever-growing number of faculty and office members become better acquainted with each other and the college itself, Dr. Naylor said. Wives and husbands of college personnel are urged to attend these functions.

Dr. Murray Clark, chemistry professor, is acting as head of the organization. At present, about 30 couples are in regular attendance at the five dances given each year by the Dorians. Most of the music is off-the-record, with one big dance featuring an orchestra. Mixer dances and programs are a part of each affair.

SJS AERONAUTICS LAB USING 'SAFETY PAINT'

Color dynamics is being adopted by the aeronautics section of the Engineering department in the aero laboratory on the San Carlos turf, announced Donald L. James, aeronautics head.

Accident-proofing machinery in the lab will follow the lines established in modern industry. James stressed the need for making the lab safe for students. There are many machines with sharp cutting edges and fast-moving parts. These are shielded but still a potential danger.

The color dynamics will draw the worker's attention to those danger points so that he may guard against injury.

The major part of the machine is painted grey, which is an eye ease color tending to lessen eye-fatigue. The workers are then better able to do their jobs with the least amount of discomfort.

Controls for the machines are to be painted yellow, which is considered highly visible. Guards, shields, and moving parts will be red or orange to identify them as danger points.

Color codes also assist in designating proper places for storage of parts, materials, and equipment. Work is thus expedited throughout the shop, increasing workers' efficiency.

Fire protection and prevention equipment will be red or have a background of red because the color is physically associated with fire.

In modern industry morale is higher since color dynamics produces an attractive shop and draws a higher type of personnel. James believes his laboratory will benefit greatly by this new improvement.

Poytress Teaches Palo Alto Nurses

Dr. William H. Poytress, Social Science department head, is teaching elementary economics at Palo Alto's Veterans' Administration hospital Monday and Thursday afternoons, his office reported recently.

Student Y Retreat Set for October 23

The first Student Y retreat of the current school year, tentatively scheduled to be held at Ben Lomond Lodge, will take place the weekend of October 23, it was learned recently from Bobbe Hillis, chairman of the committee.

The overnight outing, which is to be the first of many such events to be held this year, will feature varieties of outdoor recreation and fun for all students attending, Miss Hillis said.

Those wishing to attend the event may apply at the Student Y lounge, located at 220 South Seventh street, for reservations.

Seekers To Give Steak Barbecue

A steak barbecue will be given by the Seekers, First Methodist church organization, at the J. D. Crummy home, 1855 Park avenue on Saturday, Oct. 9, at 6:30 p.m., according to Bill Gray, president.

There will be tennis and swimming earlier in the afternoon. Regular Seekers meetings are held on Sunday evenings at 6:30.

Last Chance Today For "Otello" Tickets At Student Prices

Today is the last day on which main floor seat tickets may be purchased for standing room prices for Verdi's opera, "Otello," according to Toni Pitman, chairman of the Student Y committee in charge of the event.

The opera will be attended as part of an excursion to San Francisco, which will include a tour of Chinatown and a Chinese dinner, scheduled to take place Oct. 16, Miss Pitman said.

"The manager of the opera has been kind enough to reserve 35 main floor seats for us for $2.40 each," she added, "which is far below the price usually charged for them."

Reservations for the excursion must be made at the Student Y lounge, 220 South Seventh street, by 3 p.m. today, at which time the $2.40 is payable, Miss Pitman continued. Total cost of the trip to each of those attending has been set at about $5.00. Transportation will be by private car, expenses of which will be shared.

"The manager of the opera has indicated that if the excursion is a success, similar 'deals' will very likely be made available in the future," she concluded.

Illinois Company Claims Rights To Ants On Pants

Tucson, Ariz. (UP)—Can one company have the exclusive copyright on the use of ants on men's underpants?

That's the main question to be decided by the U.S. Federal Court here as a result of a suit filed today by the Mister Short Company, an Illinois corporation which alleged that the Douglas Manufacturing company, Douglas, Ariz., is infringing on its Antsy Pants copyright.

The Illinois firm sells men's shorts under the trademark Antsy Pants, with part of the trademark label being the picture of an ant. Other large printed red ants adorn the shorts.

The plaintiff said it has invested more than $250,000 in the pants, and as a result of the Douglas company's alleged infringement on the copyright, by putting out an ant-covered pair of shorts and selling them at a lower price, it was suffered damages of more than $50,000.

The suit also warned the Douglas firm to keep the ants off men's pants.

The Boston Braves' last appearance in a World Series was in 1914, when George Stallings piloted them to their first National League championship.

McFadden Health Cottage Assists ASB Card Holders

If you'll flip your student body card over and glance at the back, you'll see McFadden Health Cottage, Inc., printed in bold type across the top. The small print says you are entitled to this health cottage's privileges.

You may well ask, "What is this? What service do I receive?"

The health cottage is not a hospital in the usual sense. Located at 430 S. Eighth street, it is a 15-bed infirmary where those holding student body cards may receive free nursing care for 30 days. It does not maintain clinic or emergency service. The kinds of cases for which it can care are limited not only by its equipment and personnel but also by the insurance which it holds and by the Hospital Licensing Act.

A college physician gives free medical supervision to patients in the health cottage but the patient may employ a private physician if he wishes.

Admission to the health cottage is ordinarily obtained through the physicians in the health office. When diagnosis is made by a private physician, admission should be arranged for through one of the following before applying at the health cottage: Dr. Fleta Williams, college physician in charge of medical care, Col. 10J; Miss Margaret Twombly, director of the college health service, Col. 4603W; or the nurse in charge at the health cottage, Bal. 7863.

Ashworth states that all who wish to go must sign up at the regular meeting tonight, as no tickets will be sold on Sunday.

JUST AMONG OURSELVES

By DR. T. W. MacQUARRIE

The new students won't notice it, but we are lots slicker this fall than usual. We have spent more than $165,000 this summer in repairs and minor improvements. But old students will like the tile on the Library walks. They will like the new floor in the Reserve Book room, when it is finished. (The cork tiling is on a ship in the harbor, and we'll get it when the strike is settled). We took out the old creaky floor, clear down to the concrete. It was a big job. Even used a big vacuum cleaner on the old stuff so the new will stick.

Then we have a new ceiling in the Little Theater, acoustic walls and loud-speakers in the Men's Gym. We took the roof off the Women's Gym and had it replaced properly. It shouldn't leak now! Equipped several laboratories and studios. We painted and painted and painted. It took tons of paint.

The grounds look better, too. Those hedges in the front quad cost more than a thousand dollars. Sort of interfering, too, we are, with the paths across our lawns. Got a lot more benches here and there. Had to install almost an entirely new electrical supply center. The wires were so overloaded last year that they were hot. Now we should be able to handle not only our present load, but the load for the new buildings when they come along.

The State Board of Public Works has ordered construction of the addition to the Women's Gym. It will cost about $650,000. The present structure, which was built the first year I came here, but which was authorized before that, cost $65,000. Our money isn't worth much these days!

The State Division of Architecture has been ordered to complete the plans and specifications for the Music, Engineering, and Speech buildings. An arch between the Commerce and Science buildings has been authorized. The money is available, $23,000, and we are going ahead with that. We might have it before the year is out. I hope so, for I don't like to see these open toed shoes sloshing along in the water.

Women's PE Meet To Be At Asilomar

Members of the women's Physical Education department faculty of San Jose State college will be hostesses, from Oct. 29 to 31, at the annual conference of the Western Society of College Departments of Physical Education for Women, which is to be held at Asilomar. Preliminary arrangements for the conference are being made by Dr. Irene Palmer, head of the SJSC department.

The society's territory embraces five states, California, Nevada, Utah, Oregon and Washington. The president of the organization is Ruth Weythmann, now studying for an advanced degree at UCLA. The vice president is Dr. Eleanor Matheny of USC.

S.F. Strike Ties Up Library Floor

Students who make a habit of visiting the reserve book room might have noticed that the room is still without its tile floor.

Librarian Caroline Bailey tries her best to ignore the scraping of chairs on the smooth cement, but still—otherwise, she says, the students have been cooperative in keeping the noise at a minimum.

"We thought it would be much worse than this," she remarked, "and we were afraid it would bother those attempting to study."

Through it all, Miss Bailey just smiles and carries on—fully appreciating the fact that completion of the book room floor is tied up by the strike in San Francisco harbor.

Water Polo Season Opens Tonight Against UC Bears

Spartans Clash With Golden Bears In Campus Pool Tonight At Nine, Freshman To Play Preliminary Tilt

Tonight at 9 p.m. in the Spartan gymnasium pool, the varsity water polo team splash off in their first inter-collegiate meet of the 1948-49 season against the University of California Bears.

Wednesday night the varsity, in their first full-game scrimmage, defeated the combined junior varsity and freshman team, 15-6. With the varsity scoring most any time they so desired, the JV's and frosh had trouble in controlling the ball long enough to score. Bob Keeler, center forward, looked impressive in his passing and scoring. Captain "Howie" Ruweeler, Fred Hanssen, ene Foley, Dave Thompson, George Hodgins, and Al Grass all looked good in this initial test of the team's strength.

The frosh game will begin at 8 o'clock with the San Jose fresh meeting the California frosh. Leading off for San Jose will be Goalie John Hibner, Center Back Bill Armstrong, Right Back Nelson Wright or Ted Lilley, Left Back John Spoon, Center Forward George Haines, Right Forward McFetridge, and it will be a toss-up between Roy Bennett, Dick Libedeff, Chesley Douglas, and Dale McElroy for the left forward position.

California has had two weeks more practice than the Spartans and are in excellent condition. They have had two practice games, losing both; one to the Alumni, 5-4, and the other, 11-8, to the Olympic Athletic club.

RIFLE TEAM TO PRACTICE ON RANGE

The Spartan rifle team will begin practicing Tuesday if the new range building is completed, announced M/Sgt. Alvin Ousey, Friday.

Sergeant Ousey, who is coach of the team, emphasized that the team is open to all fully registered students who are interested in firing the calibre .22 rifle in team competition. Those interested are asked to meet in room B-82, Monday at 9:30 a.m.

Three men from the spring quarter 1948 team are expected to come out again this fall. One, Carol Collier, was top man on the squad. The other two are George Steele and James Riley.

The new range will be located in a Quonset hut near the north end of Spartan stadium and in the southwest corner of the athletic field. The hut will contain five firing points.

Indians Win 4-1 On Lemon's Arm

BOSTON, (UP)—The Cleveland Indians supported Bob Lemon's steady pitching with a timely bombardment of base hits yesterday to defeat the Boston Braves and Warren Spahn, 4 to 1, and even the 1948 World Series at one game each.

Lemon, a converted outfielder who won 20 games for the Indians this season, gave up a run to the Braves in the first inning. After that, he was in trouble numerous times, but he always managed to shut the door.

SPORT STAFF TAKES SECOND LOOK INTO CLOUDY CRYSTAL

With another volunteer added to the ranks the Spartan Daily sports staff prepares to go out on the limb about as far as they can with more fearless prognostications on games this weekend.

Last week's COP-Loyola 14-14 tie knocked the "pert" out of the experts, tripping everyone on the staff including consensus. Best pickers were Pat Roan (female member of the staff), Cliff Daniels and Wade Wilson. The three, all newcomers, missing only the one game. Next, came Bob Blackmon and Arnold Wechter with eight correct picks out of ten, and last was Carl Underwood with seven right guesses.

Going completely wild this time is Sports Editor Blackmon who gazed into his crystal ball and found victories lying around for the Baltimore Colts over the Forty-Niners, Stanford over Santa Clara, and Cal Poly over Fresno State. The rest of the crew is more conservative as you can see below.

EL MUSTANG, Sept. 24—Relief from an otherwise mighty tough schedule comes to the Aztecs (SDS) in their Nov. 29 game with the hapless Mustangs from Cal. Poly. The Warriors should find their trip to San Luis Obispo a pleasant weekend vacation though the going promises to be a bit tougher than the 56-13 killing in 1947. A change of coaches and a large group of JC transfers should make a difference—but not enough to cause any headaches.

Ed. Note: This offensive bit of mud slinging was gleaned from the San Diego State paper and published in Cal. Poly's. Might be material for a fight talk by Mustang Coach Chuck Pavelko comes November.

Press Box Chatter

By ARNOLD WECHTER

During a football game the only place in the stadium where quiet reigns is in the press box. Here men do their work, no time for yells or foolishness. Work is the byword, and so it was last Friday night in the press box of Spartan Stadium until the third quarter of the game.

Then, as Mel Light, speedy halfback of the Loggers, received a kickoff and returned it 53 yards, loud screams of dismay and excitement were heard from the sanctum of the press.

Bob Blackmon, sports editor of the Spartan Daily, blew his thinly covered top. "He's away, no he isn't, somebody stop him, anybody, get him Hubbard." Blackmon was up, he was down and he was up. At last when Light was tackled, Blackmon sank in a heap, exhausted by the excitement of it all. Harried newsmen glanced up from their typewriters to give Blackmon a dirty look, but our sports editor didn't care—he was too worn out.

PUBLIC MENACE

Now we have no grudge against Bob's yelling, if anything it made the press box a happier place as far as we are concerned. But we do say that Blackmon is a menace to the public who sit directly below the press box. In his excitement he almost fell out of the small room. Now Blackmon resembles a junior-sized Pappy Waldorf, who would seriously hurt anyone if he landed on him from ten feet above. Our suggestion to the man in charge of the press box, one Danny Hill, athletic news director of the college, is to chain Blackmon to his seat. Then he could complete his job of covering the game without endangering the public.

CARL'S CHOICES

In Wednesday's issue of the Daily, Uncle Carl Underwood picks his choices for the CCAA and Pacific Coast Conference championships. Usually we would argue with Carl on principle, if nothing else, but we are forced to agree with him in his choices. They look sound, and barring unforeseen events, probably will turn out just as he says.

Yesterday the basketball squad held its first meeting. This should be McPherson's greatest year as a coach. He has a squad stronger than last year's conference champs and, of course, more experienced.

BOB CROWE

In addition to last year's stars there is a new man to watch, and he is Bob Crowe who transferred here from Compton JC. We first saw Mr. Crowe two years ago in the Modesto Tournament for the State Junior College championship. While Compton lost in the finals to the City College of San Francisco, Bob took most valuable player honors. Remember that name, Bob Crowe. He'll be a valuable addition to the Spartan cagers.

Wish we could see this fellow Darwin Horn, who will face the Spartans tomorrow night at Wrigley Field. According to Bob Bronzan, he hurdles over the line if there isn't a hole waiting, then if the linebacker moves up, he calmly hurdles him. That we would like to see. Just for your information, if you haven't read it before, Horn made Little All-American last year.

SERIES MOVIES TO BE SHOWN

The Eskay productions will present the first local showing of the action-filled 1947 World Series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees Sunday in conjunction with the feature "State Fair" in the Morris Dailey Auditorium.

The film shows all the highlights of last year's series and is being presented this week because of the interest in the current series being played this week in Cleveland and Boston. The show starts at 7:30 p.m.

VETERANS' CORNER

Counsel Aid For Vets

By CARL CASE

Spartan veterans are reminded of the free vocational counseling provided at the Veterans Guidance center, 408 Almaden avenue, by Torrey Smith, counsellor.

This service is provided for veterans by the Veterans Administration and the San Jose Unified School district. The counsellors are Earl Adams, chief of the center; Torrey Smith and John D. Brokenshire, vocational counsellors, Smith stated.

The purpose of the center is to aid vets who are undecided as to their vocational ability, to aid vets to determine if their training program is in line with their interests and abilities, or who feel that they are pursuing the wrong program, he explained.

The types of tests given include interest, mental ability, and special aptitude. The outcome of the tests are discussed between the veteran and the counsellor, and together they reach a decision as to the field in which the vet is most likely to succeed, Smith stated.

"There is no guarantee to success," Smith said, "but the veteran who visits the center will have a better insight into his own capacities. He will be better able to recognize himself."

"We have had a great deal of success guiding students, and we welcome the veterans to the center," he concluded.

No Checks In Oct.

Veterans enrolled in San Jose State college this fall may not receive their first subsistence checks before Nov. 1, the Veterans Administration warns.

The first checks will include all subsistence payments due from the date of enrollment through the end of October.

In most areas the first payments can not be made before that date because of the heavy workload the colleges and VA will face in processing extremely large enrollments.

Veterans are urged to make arrangements to meet their financial obligations until their first checks are sent out.

Remember C Number

Veterans assigned "C" (claims) numbers by Veterans Administration are urged to memorize them, so they can use the numbers readily when they write or call VA about their benefits.

Use of "C" numbers speeds up service to veterans, VA said.

A number is issued to each veteran applying for compensation, pension, schooling, on-the-job training or other VA-administered benefit. The number, appearing on his case folder, will identify him in VA records the rest of his life, and may be used by dependents after his death.

"C" numbers often are the only means by which VA can distinguish one veteran from another. With some 24,000,000 veterans' names in VA's files, many names are duplicated thousands of times over.

The files contain 217,000 Smiths, 12,500 of them named John. Also on file are 38,500 Adams, 960 of whom are named John Quincy; 7,000 John Browns; 9,000 William Browns; 12,000 Bradleys, and 102 Eisenhowers.

When a veteran requests information from VA pertaining to his case, his case folder, filed by "C" number, must be located first. If he does not know his number, VA must search its alphabetical index card file until the veteran's card is found.

From the card, VA obtains his "C" number. The case folder then can be located in the files.

The entire procedure is time consuming. As a result, the veteran is forced to wait longer for his information.

On the other hand, if the veteran knows his "C" number, his folder can be located immediately and he usually will receive a reply in a much shorter period of time.

File For Dependency

Student-veterans whose dependency status changed during the summer vacation are reminded by Veterans Administration to submit proof of additional dependency. This should be done as soon as possible to the appropriate VA regional office in which their records are filed.

Veterans with dependents, who are studying full or part-time in schools and colleges under the G-I Bill are eligible for additional subsistence payments because of the dependents.

However, legal proof, such as certified copies of public records of births, baptism, marriage, divorce or other evidence, must be in their VA training file in order to qualify.

Single veterans studying under the G-I Bill are eligible for monthly subsistence allowances up to $75. Veterans with one dependent may receive $105 per month and veterans with two or more dependents, $120.

Veterans should submit evidence of dependency at once, rather than wait, to insure receiving prompt payments of subsistence at the higher rates.

New Police Chief

Chester J. Miller, junior, was appointed student police chief of the regular police department Wednesday.

His assistant chief will be Don Larson, also a junior. Sergeants appointed are Stanley Lobodinski, Lloyd Luther, and Murl Tullis.

All members of the police school are eligible for the police force.

If ends ever meet again, they won't recognize each other.

Survey Of Printing Curricula Headed By Hartley Jackson

A nation-wide survey of courses of study in the field of graphic arts is being made by a commission recently appointed by the National Graphic Arts Education association. Hartley E. Jackson, vice-president of the association and director of the printing laboratory at San Jose State college, is chairman of the commission.

The purpose of the study is to determine basic curricula which will assist schools in providing suitable courses of study for students who are preparing for positions in the graphic arts industry.

These courses should not be confined to those of a technical nature, members of the commission believe, but should include a background of education in the sciences such as chemistry and photography, in higher mathematics and in written and spoken English.

The commission has been charged with the responsibility of developing four basic curricula for as many levels of education. These are: (1) the industrial arts or guidance level, (2) the vocational or pre-apprenticeship level, (3) the college level, and (4) programs for the training of teachers of printing.

FORMER COORDINATOR RETURNS TO SJ CAMPUS AS PERSONNEL ADVISER

Back on the Spartan campus after a year's absence is Edward W. Clements, former coordinator of veterans' affairs, and now a full-time counselor in the Personnel office.

Clements, who left after registration last autumn quarter to take over the VA at Stanford, will work with Dean West in an advisory capacity to the Student Council. According to present plans, he will be the chief advisor to the Council after this quarter.

The new advisor is a graduate of UCLA, receiving his A. B. in political science in 1938 and later his Master's from the same institution. Clements has also done graduate work at Stanford.

He stated today that he is glad to be back at San Jose, greeting old friends and enjoying the friendly atmosphere, remarking that it was "just like coming back home."

Engineers Add Four Members To Staff

Four new members have been added to the Engineering department, stated Dr. Ralph J. Smith, department head. They are Norman O. Gunderson, Hubert L. Morgan, James H. Anderson, and Mrs. Marion Young.

Gunderson taught last year at the University of Hawaii, Morgan at Clemson college in South Carolina, and Anderson at the University of Minnesota. Mrs. Young is the new secretary.
