

Medium- and Heavy-Duty Vehicle Policies

This map contains state laws and regulations that affect medium- and heavy-duty vehicles. The policies include the following:

Tax incentives: tax credits for vehicle retrofit, new vehicle purchase, and refueling infrastructure.

Idle reduction mandates: fines for excessive idling and weight exemptions for vehicles containing idle reduction technology.

State fleet acquisition guidelines: mandates to acquire alternative fuel vehicles and retrofit existing vehicles to be more fuel-efficient.

Financial incentives for alternative fuels and advanced technology: grants for fleet modernization, truck stop electrification, and retrofits.

Note that the policies highlighted here target medium-duty and/or heavy-duty vehicles specifically. Thus, some policies by states apply to all vehicles including medium- and heavy-duty vehicles but are not included here. We describe policies for biofuels and low carbon fuel standards in other state maps. Source: U.S. Department of Energy Alternative Fuels and Advanced Vehicles Data Center.
