Editor's Note:

The second annual issue of the Osprey Journal of Ideas and Inquiry would not have been possible without the generous financial support of the Office of Academic Affairs at the University of North Florida. Interim President David Kline has been instrumental in supporting the Undergraduate Research Program and in creating the journal.

I would also like to thank former President Anne H. Hopkins whose continued support of the Undergraduate Research Program, in spite of state budget cuts this year, made the Osprey Journal of Ideas and Inquiry a University of North Florida institution rather than a one-time occurrence. The generous financial support of the University of North Florida Trustees and Foundation Board also helped to make this journal a reality.

Once again, my deepest gratitude goes to my student editor Mitch Miglis, a December 2001 Summa Cum Laude graduate of the University of North Florida and winner of the 2002 Ash Award for the most outstanding student in the College of Arts and Sciences at UNF. Mitch is continuing his research career at the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research this year and will enter medical school at the University of Florida in the fall of 2003. In addition to being a contributor to this year's journal, Mitch devoted countless hours to editing the journal, preparing the graphs and pictures, and seeing the project through to completion. He also trained his successor, Amanda Watson, to be his very capable replacement next year.
